RUSSIA IS REVOLUTIONARY, EVEN AS TO DISARMAMENT

Russian Delegation at Geneva Has Challenged the Whole World to Disarm—Offered to Destroy Land, Sea and Air Forces Provided Other Nations Would Do the Same—Other Delegates Were Dumfounded by the Proposal—The Suggestion is Not New, as It Was Put Forward by a Chinese Delegate at Geneva a Year or Two Ago.

GENEVA, Nov. 30 (AP)—Soviet Russia today challenged the entire world to disarm.

The Russian delegation to the preparatory disarmament commission of the league of nations offered to destroy her land, sea and air forces, provided other nations would do the same.

The stupendous proposal left the other delegates bewildered and gasping for an answer, but with the impression that Russia had definitely entered the peace fabric of Europe. However, the general impression, except possibly among the Russians, is that total disarment is an idealistic dream for the present at least. Nevertheless there is everywhere a disposition to give the soviet leaders full credit for their readiness to wipe out armaments.

That the Russians themselves realize their plan to lay down all arms and make even their manufacture impracticable is too idealistic for the present at least was shown, in the opinion of many, but the fact that they voiced their willingness to go ahead in a piecemeal form for the reduction of armaments if their radical proposal proved too revolutionary and as that they did not insist upon immediate consideration in detail of the sweeping program such consideration was adjourned until the next session of the commission early in 1928.

Furthermore, although contending that complete disarmament is the best guarantee of security, the Russians, in a spirit of conciliation, agreed to send an observer to the special committee on security which was created today. This committee will hold its initial session tomorrow. It will tackle the problem of how best to increase guarantees of security in order that the nations of the world may be more willing to cut down armaments when the international conference is convoked some time next year.

The American delegation announced it would be unable to accept membership in the security committee but would be happy to give careful consideration to its recommendations when they reach the preparatory disarmament commission on which the United states will continue its membership. President Loudon of the commission then voiced the earnest hope that Washington, like Russia, would send an observer. Hugh R. Wilson, head of the American delegation, agreed to consult the state department in this matter.

The Russians were clearly pleased at their reception at today's meeting. Whatever the delegates may have secretly thought of Moscow's far-reaching project no word of ridicule was uttered against it. On the contrary, several delegates treated the soviet programme with the utmost seriousness and recalled that it was really an old story retold.

WASHINGTON NOT SURPRISED BY THE RUSSIAN PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—(AP)—Nonmembership in the league of nations, coupled with traditional American disinclination to mix in European political affairs, prompted the decision of the Washington administration not to participate in the security conference now being arranged under league auspices at Geneva.

The American attitude was explained by Minister Hugh Wilson at the special meeting today of the league's disarmament commission, called for the specific purpose of preparing for the transfer of political aspects of the disarmament problem to the projected security conference.

The American position, however, reflected in no degree disapproval of the security conference proposal, it is explained, since the Washington government has been consistently advocating for many years and has been negotiating for itself arbitration and conciliation pacts which it believes have proved helpful in minimizing the danger of war.

In effect such international commitments as the Root arbitration treaties and Bryan conciliation pacts are regional peace agreements witnessing the American belief in this method of averting war. In addition, American initiative underlay the Pacific treaty negotiated as a supplement to the Washington naval limitation pact and the Central America five power treaty both regional security agreements. In view of this historic American policy, it is said, refusal to participate in the Geneva security conference obviously cannot indicate American disfavor toward the work the conference will attempt.

Russian proposals at the Geneva meeting today for complete disarmament by all nations caused no particular surprise in Washington. They are viewed both in administration and diplomatic circles, however, as largely in the nature of a dramatic gesture rather than having any practical application to the problems confronting the disarmament commission at this time.

Obviously, it is said, Russia could not have expected that any agreement to resume immediately discussion of practical measures of disarmament could be reached at Geneva since none of the powers participating in the work of the preliminary commission has sent its military and technical staffs to Geneva.

The Russian suggestion for complete disarmament is not new. It was put forward by a Chinese delegate at Geneva a year or two ago.

REMUS IS PICTURED AS A RAVING MANIAC

CINCINNATI, Nov. 30.—(AP)—John T. Rogers, for 12 years a reporter for the St. Louis Post Dispatch and winner of a Pulitzer prize for the most meritorious newspaper work of a year came into George Remus' murder trial as a witness today and held a crowded court room, jury and judge spellbound with his vivid pictures of Remus, a maniac.

Rogers testified he revealed to Remus alleged plots of Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus, the woman for whose slaying he is on trial for his life, and Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., to have him deported to Germany and later to have him slain by paying gangsters $15,000.

Those tales, with a host of others narrating the alleged misconduct of Mrs. Remus and Dodge, were the basis, according to Remus' plea of transitory maniacal insanity, for driving him out of mind.

Rogers testified that he had informed the managing editor of the St. Louis Dispatch as long ago as last summer that Remus was insane.

Rogers said that upon the occasion of a Washington outburst Remus raved from 8 p. m., and until 3.30 a. m. At that time he thought it safe to leave Remus and he retired with his door unlocked. Fifteen minutes later Remus awakened him and made him walk the street with him until 4.30 a. m. At 7 a. m., Rogers said, Remus had taken up again.

ELECTED REGULAR MEMBER OF THE FRENCH ACADEMY

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 30—(AP)—Dr. Michael I. Rostovtzeff, sterling professor of ancient history and classical archaeology at Yale university, has been elected a regular member of the French academy, according to notification which has been received here from Professor R. Cagnat, secretary of the academy. The formal decree of the French government, containing the official notice of election, is on its way to this country.

Professor Rostovtzeff has been elected to occupy the seat in the academy made vacant by the death of the famous Italian historian, Domenico Comparetti, whose predecessor in the academy was E. Curtius, equally famous for his history of Greece.

Professor Rostovtzeff will have the title in the academy of Associe Etranger.

COLLAPSED AS HE TOLD OF SINKING OF SUBMARINE S-51

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—(AP)—Alfred Geier, one of the two living members of the submarine S-51 crew, collapsed as the witness stand today as he told of seeing his fellow sailors drown all about him on the night the undersea vessel collided with the steamer City of Rome off New London, and sank in two minutes.

Relating the events he witnessed during the hour he swam about in the water before he was picked up by a lifeboat proved too much for his nerves and he finally sobbed openly as he was testifying at the limitation of liability suit brought by the Ocean Steamship company, owners of the City of Rome.

MARYLAND EXPERIENCING A TERRIFIC WIND STORM

CUMBERLAND, Md., Nov. 30.—(AP)—A terrific wind storm sweeping through Allegheny county tonight with a credited velocity of more than 70 miles an hour leveled several business plants in this city and did considerable damage to dwellings and lines of communication.

An automobile was blown from the highway outside of this city and plunged into the Cumberland narrows and first reports did not state whether any of the occupants of the machine had met with injury.

Two men, Joseph Sieffers, and Andrew Ney, were reported to have been severely injured when they were caught under the falling walls of the glass factory.

Within 15 minutes after the storm hit this city, it had passed and was reported moving in an easterly direction toward Hancock, a small town near the point where the state boundaries of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania join.

TROUBLE OVER REP. SLATE OF THE SENATE OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—(AP)—Rumblings of discontent over the election of some individual members of the republican slate of senate officers which it is proposed to put through with the convening of congress next week were heard today at a renewal of conferences of western republican independents.

Only a few votes would be necessary to upset the carefully laid plans of party leaders to retain control of the senate organization, but whether any of the independents will carry their dissatisfaction to the point of an adverse vote on the floor remains to be developed.

The independents were divided in their opinions as to opposition to the individuals, reported to have been Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, for president pro-tempore; Edward P. Thayer, of Indiana, for reelection as secretary, and David S. Oarry for reelection as sergeant-at-arms, and it was indicated that there would be no concert of action.

Senator Moses came in for attack because of his part in the senate filibuster in the closing day of the last session whereby the hands of the special campaign funds committee were tied during the recess of congress.

VERMONT ASSEMBLY VOTES FOR ISSUE OF $8,500,000 BONDS

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 30—(AP)—Acting quickly under suspension of the rules the Vermont legislature, meeting in special session here today, passed the bill recommended by Governor John E. Weeks authorizing an issue of $8,500,000 in bonds for the restoration of highways and bridges damaged and destroyed by the recent flood.

Under the terms of the bill, the state, directly or indirectly, has sole responsibility for restoring the highways and bridges.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

DUBLIN, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Eamon De Valera, Irish republican leader, is planning to leave for the United States very soon. Mr. De Valera said that his visit is not connected with a drive for party funds but to arrange the details of organization, mainly economic.

KOVNO, Lithuania, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Premier Waldemaras of Lithuania, accompanied by Dr. David Zaunius, former Lithuanian representative at Geneva, will leave for Switzerland Friday afternoon to represent his country at the forthcoming league council discussion on Polish-Lithuanian relations.

ROME, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The college of cardinals will be equally divided between Italians and non-Italians after December 19. The prospective appointment of a fifth cardinal who will bring the number of non-Italians up to 33, equalling the Italians, was announced today. The intention of conferring the red hat on four other cardinals at a consistory on that date was announced Monday.

"FLIVVER PLANE" FACTORY MAY BE LOCATED IN HARTFORD

HARTFORD, Nov. 30—(AP)—The factory which is to build the motors for the "flivver airplanes" of Clarence D. Chamberlain may be located in Hartford, the trans-Atlantic flyer said tonight. He was a featured speaker at the banquet which marked the close of Connecticut's fourth annual insurance day, and in an interview afterwards revealed that he would remain in Hartford part of tomorrow to "size up" the situation and probably call at the Hartford chamber of commerce to discuss facilities for his project in Hartford.

His motor factory will be located in New England, Mr. Chamberlin said tonight, while the ships themselves will eventually be built in the middle west. Decision on the factory site will be made, he said, by the middle of December, as he is anxious to be able to supply planes by next spring.

Qualifications for the factory city, he said, must include a supply of skilled workmen, "men who know their micrometers," and that at once placed the site in New England, he said. In spite of the automobile motor industry of the middle west, New England would be chosen for the plane motor factory because it had mechanics of greater skill, he said. The bodies of planes, requiring less exact work, would be made in the middle west, he said, although at first both motors and planes might be made in the same city.

RATIFIED RESOLUTIONS IN SUGAR PRODUCTION

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Colonel Jose Tarafa, of Cuba, concluded his negotiations with the German, Polish and Czech delegations tonight on the production of sugar when the conference ratified resolutions adopted by the Paris meeting November 14.

The central European producers agree to conform their production to the programme proposed by the Cuban republic by limiting the acreage and preventing the surplus sugar stock from being dumped on the market in 1928.

Berlin will be the seat of the executive council to be appointed next month. The Hungarian producers who were represented at today's conference agree to join the parties to the present pact.

PRESIDENTIAL TERM IN MEXICO NOW SIX YEARS

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The constitutional amendment extending the presidential term of office from four to six years, El Universal Grafico says, has been adopted by a majority of the state legislatures, and is therefore effective now.

The amendment passed by the federal congress, the paper adds, has been approved by fifteen state legislatures, constitutional majority of the states as required by law for the amendment of the constitution. Presumably the extension will not apply to President Calles, but will apply to his successor, who will probably be General Obregon.

FREED FOR SLAYING DAUGHTER'S ASSAILANT

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Hazel Hull, who shot and killed Gordon Watters, 26, a salesman, for allegedly attacking her 17-year-old daughter, was freed today when the grand jury declined to return a murder indictment.

The prosecutor, who sought the indictment, indicating an effort to unseat the "unwritten law" as a defense, simultaneously withdrew a complaint charging murder.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide yesterday.

EPIDEMIC OF CHOLERA IS SWEEPING BENGAL

CALCUTTA, India, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A cholera epidemic is sweeping Bengal.

Three thousand, seven hundred and three cases, with 2,139 deaths, have been reported from all parts of the province for the week ending November 19.

It is estimated here that if the epidemic follows the ordinary course, it will increase 50 per cent. in December.

SUSPECT HELD FOR TAXI DRIVER MURDER

FITCHBURG, Mass., Nov. 30—(AP)—Louis Pasakinski, 20, was arrested late tonight and held on suspicion of murder in connection with the slaying of Joseph Markus, Gardner taxi driver, whose body was found off a lonely road in Templeton yesterday.

OBITUARY.

Charles F. Choate, Jr.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Charles F. Choate, Jr., prominent Boston lawyer, died at the Massachusetts General hospital today after he had been suddenly taken ill while trying a case in the federal court.

For many years Mr. Choate had been a leader of the Massachusetts bar and had appeared as counsel in many noted cases, including that of the government against the United Shoe Machinery company, the New England Oil case and the Searles will case. He was prominently connected with the interests of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad during the anti-merger campaign which followed the late Charles S. Mellen's assembling of railroad properties in New England.

He was a director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and many other companies.

In 1892, Mr. Choate married Miss Louise Burnett of Southboro, who survives him, as do five children.

The Various Truck Types Will Range in Price From $460 to $610.

DETROIT, Nov. 30—(AP)—Prices of the new Ford car, given out here tonight show a range of from $385 to $570 for various types of pleasure cars and $460 to $610 for the various truck types.

The various types, and their prices, F. O. B., Detroit follow:

Pleasure cars: Tudor [illegible] $385; Ford sedan $570; coupe [illegible] sport coupe $550; phaeton [illegible] roadster $385; roadster with [illegible] body $395; chassis $325.

Trucks: Truck [illegible] $460; chassis with cab [illegible] chassis with cab and express [illegible]; chassis with cab and platform body $595.

The prices given out here tonight by the Ford Motor Car company, represent an increase over the cost of the old Model T machines with the exception of one type, the Tudor sedan. The F. O. B., price of the Tudor Model T car is $435, the same as that of the new type.

The old four door sedan, sold for $545, or $25 less than the Model A car of the same type. The new coupe price represents an increase of $10 over that of the old type.

The new sport coupe is an innovation as far as Ford machines are concerned, no similar type having been manufactured by the company.

The Phaeton or touring car, of the old type sold for $380 while the new type price is $395. The old type roadster was paid at $350, the new at $385 and the old type roadster with pickup body sold for $381 as compared with $395, the new cars. The old type bare chassis price is $300; the new $325.

Similar increases are shown in the trucks, a comparison of prices of which follow:

Truck chassis with cab (Model A) $545; $450.

Truck chassis with cab and express body $600; old type $515.

Truck chassis with cab and stake body (Model A) $610. (No similar type previously produced).

Truck chassis with cab and platform body (Model A) $595. Old type $525.

Officials pointed out that the new Model T type, and offers little opportype car, differs radically from the tunity for comparison.

FORD CAR DEMONSTRATED BEFORE NEWSPAPERMEN

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 30—(AP)—The new motor car that Henry Ford has built to replace his old model machine, was demonstrated before newspapermen today in an elaborate obstacle test.

Through blinding eddies of snow and over rutty roads, rim deep in mud, the car was driven at 62 miles an hour. Twirled about, brought to abrupt halts and taken around curves at a terrific pace.

At the conclusion of the demonstration, Edsel Ford, in charge of the ceremonies was besieged with questions regarding the secret of the leverage of the machine. It was explained as due to a combination of new elements which were previously announced. In answer to other questions Mr. Ford asserted:

"The company hopes to reach a production of 1,000 cars a day by January; will continue to make parts for the old model T machine; will produce cars of a smaller bore for the French and English trade to meet resistance of high horsepower tax in those countries; thatp lans for putting out the new car were conceived four years ago."

WINS PLACE IN FINALS OF ATWATER KENT AUDITION

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—(AP)—A young Philadelphia music student, known to radio listeners onlyas "No. 28," has won the right to compete in the national finals of the Atwater Kent audition in New York December 11.

He is Wilbur W. Evans, adjudged the winner by his radio audience and a board of judges in the recent regional contest conducted through radio station WEAF. There were fourteen male contestants between the ages of 18 and 25, representing New England and other eastern states.

Evans will be one of ten young men and women to compete in the finals. Two first prizes of $5,000 will be awarded.

AIRMAN INJURED IN FILM "THRILL PRODUCER"

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 30.—(AP)—John T. Kirk, 39, civilian aviator, probably was fatally injured tonight when his plane crashed 150 feet while he and a news reel camera man were attempting to film an act by a "thrill producer" who rode in a saddle strapped to the fuselage of another plane Kirk was piloting a "Jenny" plane, a type abandoned by the army some time ago. Martin Jacobs, the cameraman, suffered a dislocated hip.

STORM WARNING GIVEN OF NORTHWEST GALES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The weather bureau issued the following advisory storm warning at 10 p. m. tonight:

"Southwest storm warnings displayed Norfolk to Eastport, Me. Storm of marked intensity moving rapidly northeastward with center over northern New York. Southwest gales will shift to northwest late tonight or Thursday morning."

AMERICAN CIGARETTES BARRED FROM CUBA

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 30—(AP)—American cigarettes are denied entry into Cuba by reason of the new tariff which recently went into effect. The provisions of the new tariff prohibit entry of cigarettes containing substances or extracts other than tobacco, and it is asserted that all American cigarettes used here come under that category.

Large shipments of American cigarettes are now being held at the custom house at Havana.

RAILROAD CRIPPLED BY WASHOUT AND LANDSLIDE

GENEVA, N. Y., Nov. 30—(AP)—The Pennsylvania division of the New York Central railroad was crippled tonight by a washout and landslide at Mile Point, a short distance south of here. Heavy rains washed out the deep cut through which the double tracked road passes, filling the cut with earth several feet deep. The water cut a new channel beneath the tracks washing away the road bed.

Tilson Backs Tax Plan of Treasury

House Leader Will Oppose Tax Reduction in Excess of $225,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—(AP)—Brakes were clamped down by administration leaders today in an effort to prevent congress from over-running what the treasury regards as the safety line in the question of tax reduction.

At the capitol, Representative Tilson, the republican house leader, backed up the treasury recommendation for a cut not in excess of $225,000,000 and at the department itself Secretary Mellon reiterated that the treasury figure represented the maximum slice that could be effected with safety.

While Tilson and the secretary withheld specific reference to the announcement by the chamber of commerce of the United States reiterating its belief that a reduction of $400,000,000 should be authorized, both contended that it would be dangerous if congress exceeded the limit proposed by the treasury and favored by President Coolidge.

Secretary Mellon said that he believed the corporation tax, now 13 1-2 per cent, was too high and should be reduced as soon as possible, even below the 11 1-2 per cent figure approved by the house ways and means committee for incorporation in the new tax bill that it has drafted.

The treasury favors an immediate cut in the corporation rate to 12 per cent but Mr. Mellon indicated that his department did not regard the forthcoming tax reduction as the last to be recommended and that this levy probably would come in for more consideration in a future tax bill.

Mr. Tilson declared that with a presidential election only a year off and with every possible inducement before the party in power to curry popular favor, it amazed him that the republicans were charged with an unwillingness to reduce taxes as much as safety would permit.

"Tax reduction is always the most popular policy and one can advocate," he said, "and if the president, the secretary of the treasury and the house ways and means committee place a conservative limit on the reduction which can safely be made at this time, we may properly conclude that their decision is based on sound business judgment rather than political expediency."

BRIAND SAYS THAT ITALY HAS NO CAUSE TO WORRY

PARIS, Nov. 30—(AP)—Accumulating threats of trouble between European nations, particularly the friction between France and Italy, were given an airing in the French chamber of deputies today.

Several radical deputies professed to see a great many war clouds in the European sky but Foreign Minister Briand, in an eloquent resume of the foreign situation, was his usual hopeful self. He even was optimistic as to the possibility of France and Italy straightening out their difficulties amicably.

War between the two countries, M. Briand declared, was unthinkable and impossible. Some other deputies seemed to think otherwise. They repeated a few of Premier Mussolini's ambitious orations about Italy's rights and her dreams of empire. The radical socialist Montigny went so far as to say that there could be no doubt that Italian activity has turned against France.

"Italian youth has been worked up to a red-hot pitch," said Montigny. "The Italian newspapers pound away on the idea that Italy ought and must be the greatest nation in the world, writers in these papers say that the league of nation's disarmament policy is for Italy a poisonous tunic of nessus which would paralyze Italy's movements and is therefore unacceptable.

"There is a systematic effort to show the Italian people that France has become their mortal enemy."

The communist deputy Cachin was even more pessimistic. He saw war clouds everywhere even in America. He pictured Uncle Sam as gazing greedily at Central and South American countries.

Briand repeated once more that Italy has nothing to worry about in the recently signed Franco-Jugoslavian treaty of amity and arbitration, which was criticized in Italy as inimical to that country.

11 TAFT SCHOOL STUDENTS SUSPENDED FOR DRINKING

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Horace Taft, head of the Taft school at Watertown, Conn., tonight confirmed reports that 11 students had been suspended from the school on charges of violating the school rules by drinking prohibited beverages.

The incident occurred a week ago, Mr. Taft said. He declined to discuss the details on the ground that it might injure the students and their parents.

Drinking At Dance.

WATERTOWN, Conn., Nov. 30.—(AP)—According to a report current here tonight, 12 students at Taft school were expelled yesterday for being under the influence of liquor at a football dance given in the school gymnasium Thanksgiving eve. The report stated that three of the students were members of the football squad, all were members of the graduating class, and most of them were students whose homes were in New York. One is said to have lived in Denver, Colo.

Rev. Arthur Howe, chaplain at the school, refused to discuss the matter. Horace D. Taft, headmaster, is in New York city and could not be reached tonight.

OKLAHOMA CONTROVERSY REACHES SUPREME COURT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The fight to forestall a so-called investigating session of the Oklahoma legislature was carried to the state supreme court today.

An appeal from the decision of District Judge T. J. Chambers dismissing a petition to enjoin four legislators in their announced plan to convoke the assembly was filed with the appellate court in behalf of John Simpson, a taxpayer.

The session has been set for Dec. 6, and the appeal was expected to be brought to the attention of the supreme court tomorrow.

Advocates of the session, who proposed an investigation of state departments including the office of Gov. Henry S. Johnston, said the supreme court's decision would "finally settle for once and always the inherent powers of the legislature." In calling the session, they claimed they acted on their constitutional inherent authority.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

160 ELECTION OFFICIALS IN PITTSBURGH INDICTED

They Are Charged With Irregularities at the September Primary—The Indictments Are the Result of One of the Most Sweeping Elections Fraud Prosecutions in the History of Allegheny County.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30—(AP)—Indictments were returned by the grand jury today against 160 election board members and four overseers in the September primary on charges of irregularities in one of Allegheny county's most sweeping election fraud prosecutions. Officials of 32 election boards were indicted. Charges against officers of two other boards were ignored.

True bills returned against each of the 32 boards contained five counts. The charges included conspiracy to make a false count and false return; wilfully and negligently performing duties as election officers so as to defeat the objects of the election law and wilful fraud.

SUDDEN WINTRY SWEEPS DOWN ON MIDDLE WEST

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30—(AP)—Winter made a new bid in the middlewest today after several days of spring-like weather.

From the Rocky Mountains eastward across the Mississippi river and from the Canadian border down into Texas a cold wave sent the mercury plunging to low levels.

The first general snowstorm of the season was unleashed.

Several sallies by winter into the middle west heretofore had failed to gain a foothold, record high temperatures following each cold spell. The onslaught today, however, seemed to be in earnest and colder weather was forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

Snow fell in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, the Texas panhandle and in Missouri as the storm moved eastward from Colorado, Wyoming and Montana, where from three to seven inches blanketed the ground.

Sub-zero temperatures were recorded in Minesota and North Dakota early today, while at Edmonton, Alberta, the mercury descended to 26 below. In the southwest temperatures were below the freezing point.

Central Missouri experienced the heaviest November snow since 1906. At Columbia the precipitation measured 4 1-2 inches this afternoon. Sleet and snow was reported from St. Louis. Hannibal on the Mississippi river, recorded 2.6 inches of snow. Pansies were in bloom yesterday at Louisiana, Mo., which experienced the first snowstorm of the season today.

Frogs were lured out of ponds at Coffeyville, Kans., yesterday when the mercury ascended to 78 degrees. The temperature shot down to the freezing point during the night.

An inch of snow was Kansas City's share. Enough remained to whiten roofs and lawns.

COLORADO COAL MINERS ARE TO RESUME TODAY

DENVER, Col., Nov. 30—(AP)—National guardsmen were stationed today at every coal mine in the northern Colorado mining fields where operators announced they would attempt to resume operations tomorrow after a suspension of nearly seven weeks.

Only one mine, the Columbine, where six strikers lost their lives in a clash with state police on Nov. 21, has operated in the northern area since the I. W. W. strike call was issued in Colorado.

Colonel Paul P. Newlon, adjutant-general, completed plans whereby the military will cover the entire strike affected district north of Denver. Three central camps have been established with infantry, calvary and tanks at each and a small detachment of troops has been stationed at each mine.

Mines in southern Colorado reported larger forces of men at work today and the coal production of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company mines yesterday was the highest it has been since the strike was called, the company announced.

DISAPPROVED PAROLE FOR GASTON B. MEANS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—(AP)—Attorney General Sargent today declined to approve a parole for Gaston B. Means, former department of justice agent, who is serving a term in the Atlanta penitentiary for conspiracy to bribe government officials.

At the department of justice it was announced that the recommendation of the parole board that Means be released from prison had been turned down by the attorney general because Means had not paid fines totalling $20,000. It was said that he could not take a pauper's oath until his term, with allowance for good behavior, had been completed.

Means came into the limelight after several previous exploits of a sensational character as a star witness against Harry M. Daugherty when his administration of the department of justice was under investigation by a senate committee several years ago. He was recommended for parole last month.

THE COLORADO RIVER EXPLORERS ARE SAFE

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 30—(AP)—Thirteen men unheard from since they left Green River, Utah, Nov. 10, on a boating expedition down the Colorado river, were reported safe at Camp Pearson, Ariz., in a radio message received tonight at the Fort Douglas station of the army signal corps.

The message, sent from Camp Pearson, said the expedition was sighted by Indian runners in a canyon near Lee's Ferry late today and they beached their boats and went to the camp.

The party battled wintry conditions on their dangerous undertaking, the message said, and E. C. Larue, head of the expedition, asserted their sleeping bags often were found ice-caked from the cold. Camp Pearson is in the Painted desert, not far from the river.

ANOTHER EFFORT FOR RELEASE OF STEPHENSON

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Another effort will be made to obtain the temporary release from prison of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan who is serving a life term for murder, Lloyd O. Hill, attorney, said today.

Hill said the petition soon would be submitted to the same prison board which denied Stephenson a 90-day parole some time ago. The new plea also will ask for a 90-day parole. Hill declined to say on what grounds the petition would be based.

FLOODS COVER LOWLANDS IN WESTERN NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Floods covering thousands of acres of lowlands in western New York and the memory of recent damaging floods in northern counties and in New England prompted the calling tonight of one of the first flood prevention conferences in this state.

A conference of mayors and village presidents of northern towns discussed at Canton today what they believed was a real flood menace and took preliminary steps toward combatting the threat. Recent flood conditions in that section saw the establishment of new high water records for several large rivers. The flooding of portions of villages and the sweeping away of bridges, a committee appointed at the conference, will determine that action is necessary to prevent future floods of similar proportions.

Weeks of intermittent rain tonight had forced streams and lakes of Chautauqua county over vast areas of farm and wood land and into lower floors and basements of waterside homes and factories. Chautauqua lake, far above the spring flood level, invaded homes and forced residents to use boats in reaching highways.

In one case the lake level was reported four feet above a bridge.

Sections of Frewsburg, Levant and other small villages were under water. Trunk highways were threatened with submersion at several points.

The barge canal system, extending across middle New York state felt the effects of high water when traffic even for those fleets allowed use of the canal after the official closing date, was suspended. Operators estimated that 125 eastbound boats were tied up due to the flood.

BOY TESTIFIES IN THE LILLIENDAHL MURDER CASE

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Nov. 30—(AP)—A frightened little boy with a quivering chin was one of the most important witnesses at today's session of the Lilliendahl trial—a session otherwise filled with surprises and disappointments for the prosecution.

The boy was Lewis Behler, 12-year old playmate of Alfred Lilliendahl, son of Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl and the aged doctor, with whose murder she and Willis Beach are jointly charged. He was called to the stand to establish that an intimacy existed between the doctor's wife and Beach which caused a rift in the home life of the Lilliendahls and thus furnished a possible motive for the killing.

"Do you live across the street from the Lilliendahl's" he was asked. He nodded his head.

"You went there often to play?" Another nod.

"Willis Beach often came to the house?"

"Yes."

"Where was Dr. Lilliendahl at these times?"

"Out in the garden."

"And what would Beach and Mrs. Lilliendahl do while they were together?"

"Sit."

"Close together?"

"Yes."

"After Beach left did you ever hear Mrs. Lilliendahl and the doctor quarrel?" A solemn nod and a whispered "yes."

"What did they quarrel about?"

"I didn't pay any attention to what it was all about," he said and scurried from the stand as he was told that his ordeal was over.

REPORT OF FALL OF PLANE IN CONN. RIVER

HARTFORD, Nov. 30.—(AP)—An airplane was reported to have fallen into the Connecticut river a short distance above the Willimantic railroad bridge late this afternoon. Searching parties sent out by the East Hartford and the Hartford police searched along both shores of the river and were unable to find any trace of the plane or its pilot.

Henry F. McDonald, of New Haven, a fireman on the New Haven railroad reported to the East Hartford police that when he was crossing the Willimantic bridge at about 4.45 this afternoon he saw an airplane flash out of the haze, skim along the top of the water and then suddenly sink out of sight.

McDonald's story was corroborated by Alfred Wright and Frank G. Sweet, both of East Hartford, who are engineers and were in the cab of the engine with McDonald.

The East Hartford police were inclined to doubt McDonald's story and thought that he might have mistaken one of the several sand dredges that dig sand from the river bed on the East Hartford side of the river, for an airplane.

DAUGHTERS SHARE EQUALLY IN THE INGERSOLL ESTATE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Two daughters share equally an estate appraised at $181,984 under the terms of the will of Mrs. Eva A. Ingersoll, widow of Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, lawyer and agnostic lecturer and writer. The appraisal was made public today by tax authorities.

Mrs. Ingersoll died on February 2, 1923. The two daughters are Mrs. Eva R. Ingersoll Brown, of Riverside, Conn., and Mrs. Maude R. Ingersoll Probasco, of New York. The daughters also receive the books and personal possessions of their father under a stipulation that they shall pass to their children.

CAFFREY VS. LEE CASE HEARD IN WINDHAM COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 30—The session of the Windham county superior court here Wednesday was consumed with the case of F. Gordon Caffrey vs. Peter Lee of Putnam, a suit for $10,000 brought by the plaintiff for injuries received in an automobile accident in the town of Dudley, Mass., on the evening of March 6th last. Attorney Howard C. Bradford of Putnam was assisted by Attorney William A. King of this city. Attorney Charles L. Torrey of Putnam represented the defendant.

On the day in question about four o'clock in the afternoon, the plaintiff in the case who is 18 years old and Elbert Woodis, 19, met at Talbot's news store and while there the defendant employed by the Eagle Lunch company came into the store. Woodis asked him if he would give them (Woodis and Caffrey) an automobile ride to which proposal the defendant assented. They were just about to start when another young man, Sheldon Carpenter, appeared on the street. Caffrey and Carpenter then occupied the rear seat while Lee and Woodis were seated in the front of the car. An hour later, the car, a Durant touring car, left the road at Schofield avenue in Dudley, crashed into a tree and was wrecked. Carpenter was killed and Caffrey badly injured, being confined to the Day-Kimball hospital in Putnam for four weeks.

Lee was arrested after the fatality and bound over to the Worcester county superior court where he was found guilty of operating an automobile in a manner dangerous to life and limb, sentenced to jail for three months and fined $100. After serving a week, he was released on parole. A suit brought by the Carpenter family, it was stated yesterday, had been settled out of court.

The testimony of Woodis and Caffrey was practically the same. Woodis said that when the car reached Schofield avenue Lee said "Watch me go 45 to 50 miles now." Other witnesses in the case were Chief of Police George Reynolds of Dudley, Lee, Dr. S. B. Overlock of Putnam. After the completion of the testimony, Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin asked the attorneys if they wished to argue the points of the case and they decided to file briefs, this being acceptable to the court. The attorneys for the plaintiff were ordered to file briefs within one week and Attorney Torrey was allowed a similar period. Court then adjourned until Friday at two o'clock when a short calendar session will be held.

LOUIS VEGIARD HAS NARROW ESCAPE WHEN TRUCK TOPPLES

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 30—A narrow escape from death or serious injury befell Louis Vegiard of 265 Jackson street, truck driver for the Willimantic Lumber & Coal company, Wednesday morning about 9:30 o'clock when the truck he was operating in the direction of this city skidded on the slippery highway at a sharp curve between Katzmann's corner and the village of Columbia, turned completely around in the road and then toppled over into a swamp. Vegiard was pinned beneath and was extricated from the perilous position by twelve men who came to the scene shortly afterwards. He was taken to the hospital here where he was attended by Dr. Michael D. Riordan. Besides a severe shaking up, he sustained abrasions over the left eye, and left elbow and a bad bruise on the left thigh. The cab and the body of the heavy truck were badly damaged. The wrecker from a garage in Columbia towed the damaged vehicle to this city. Fear was at first entertained that Vegiard had met with instant death, when the truck was reposing in the swamp with the four wheels in the air and the driver underneath.

The funeral of Timothy McNamara, held from the late home, 216 South Main street, Palmer, Mass., Wednesday morning, was largely attended and numerous floral offerings were in evidence. A high mass of requiem followed in St. Joseph's church here at ten o'clock. Rev. Charles M. Kelly was the celebrant of the mass. Mrs. Edmund R. Portelance presided at the organ during the services. The entering hymn was "Nearer My God to Thee" by Miss L. Monica McKeon and Mrs. Henry Mathieu. The latter sang "Pie Jesu" at the offertory and Arthur Roy rendered "The Priceless Love of Jesus" as a waiting hymn. For a recessional, the trio was heard in "America." Taps were also sounded at the services. Interment followed in the family plot of St. Joseph's cemetery. The bearers were Spanish War veterans, Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton, Alderman William E. Jackson, John Gingras, Louis Ashton, Jeremiah McCarthy and Robert O. Snow. Killourey Bros. were in charge of arrangements.

A meeting of the athletic council of Windham high school was held Wednesday, at which these officers were elected, president, Edward Nichols; vice president, Howard Nelson; and secretary-treasurer, Ana LBu Ferguson. Max Heller was temporary chairman. The president was empowered to appoint a committee to take charge of the clas basketball league and one to supervise track activities.

The New Ford Car will sell at a SURPRISINGLY LOW PRICE

Complete details of the new car which will be officially announced this FRIDAY

THE MINUTE you see the pictures of the new Ford car you will be delighted with its low, smart lines and the artistic color combinations. There, you will say, is a truly modern car.

But a still greater thrill awaits you when you slip into the roomy seat behind the wheel and start away for your first ride. Then you will know that you have found the most unusual value ever offered in a low-price car.

You will like the feeling of speed and power that the new Ford gives you—the comfortable, prideful feeling that comes from having a car worthy of any occasion and equal to every emergency.

You will like the flexibility and safety of the new Ford car as you weave in and out of city traffic—its flashing pick-up as the light turns green and the sign says "Go." You will like its smooth, quiet steadiness on the open road where you can lazy along according to your mood, or do 55 and even 65 miles an hour if you desire. The new Ford has unusual speed—no doubt of that!

A smart, low, speedy car that has been built to endure

The new Ford will climb hills that you never thought a low-price car would climb on high. It will pass cars that you never thought you could pass. The longest trips will seem easy, for here is a car that puts new joy in motoring.

There is still another reason why the new Ford car is the most outstanding value ever offered in a low-price car. An important three-word reason that means a great deal to you — endurance — durability — long life.

The new Ford car is made to stand up under thousands upon thousands of miles of steady running over all kinds of roads. It has even more stamina than the Model T Ford because we have learned to make every part stronger and sturdier without increased weight or greatly increased cost.

Many of the Model T Ford cars are still in active service after 75,000, 100,000 and 150,000 miles. This new Ford car will do even better. In the words of Henry Ford: "It is our ambition to have every piece of machinery or non-consumable product that we turn out so strong and so well-made that no one ought ever to have to buy a second one."

Four-wheel brakes and standard, selective gear shift

On the right, we are printing, for the first time, the complete details of the new Ford car. Read them over carefully, especially the paragraphs dealing with the new engine, the new bodies, the new standard, selective gear shift transmission with roller bearings, the new four-wheel brakes, the new hydraulic shock absorbers, the new mechanical design ignition, the new oiling system and the new dry-plate, multiple-disc clutch.

Then decide that whatever else you do Friday you are going to set aside at least fifteen minutes to get the full story of the new Ford car. It is more than a new automobile. It is the advanced expression of a wholly new idea in modern, economical transportation.

FEATURES OF THE NEW FORD CAR

55 TO 65 MILES AN HOUR

The new Ford has unusual speed. It will do 55 to 60 miles an hour with ease. This is a conservative statement. In many road tests it has exceeded 65 miles an hour. So well does the new car hold the road that you can travel at high speed for long stretches with a new feeling of comfort and safety. Even bad roads may be taken at a fast pace. You will be delighted too with the way the new Ford climbs the hills. You will face the steepest grades with confidence, knowing you have power and power to spare to climb them all without greatly reduced speed, without strain, or unnecessary shifting of gears.

40-HORSE-POWER ENGINE

At 2200 revolutions per minute, the new Ford four-cylinder engine develops 40 horse-power. This r. p. m., or revolution speed, is low for such power and shows that the engine is unusually efficient. It also means long life, for the lower the speed of the engine, the less the wear on its parts. The bore is 3⅞ inches and the stroke 4¼ inches. (S. A. E. and N. A. C. C. rating for license purposes, 24.03 horse-power.)

REMARKABLE ACCELERATION

The new Ford is remarkably quick on the get-away. In tests in high gear, with a Tudor sedan body and two passengers, it has accelerated from 5 to 25 miles per hour in 8½ seconds. This acceleration is an outstanding feature of the new Ford car.

PREVENTING VIBRATION

The engine in the new Ford is practically vibrationless. This is due in part to its lower r. p. m., the statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft, and the aluminum pistons. To insure quiet, the timing gears are made of bakelized fabric instead of metal, and the cams on the camshaft are so designed that the valve push rods follow them closely, preventing valve clicking.

GASOLINE ECONOMY

You will get from 20 to 30 miles per gallon of gasoline, depending on the speed at which you drive. Feed to the carburetor is by gravity from a unique welded one-piece steel tank integral with the cowl.

UNIQUE NEW OILING SYSTEM

The oiling system is distinctly Ford in design, being a combination of pump, splash, and gravity feed. The pump delivers the oil to the valve chamber, from which it flows by gravity feed to the main bearings of the crankshaft. An oil dipper is provided on each connecting rod bearing cap, so that the force of rotation of the crankshaft drives oil into the connecting rod bearings, as well as splashing oil over all working parts within the engine. This is a simple but entirely dependable system, assuring proper lubrication of each bearing and each cylinder without pressure.

PERFECTED COOLING

The new Ford car has a centrifugal water pump, and large radiator. The fan runs on the pump shaft and is made according to airplane propeller design. It is exceedingly difficult to make the new Ford engine overheat; only abuse will do it, such as running without enough oil.

IGNITION SYSTEM OF NEW DESIGN

The ignition system of the new Ford is unique in mechanical design, extremely simple, and will give the car owner exceptional performance with a minimum of trouble. There is only one coil, in a water-proof case. The distributor is located on top of the engine where it is clean and easily accessible. Connections are made to the spark-plugs by short bronze springs. The coincidental lock on the new Ford is placed in the ignition circuit. It not only replaces the regular ignition switch, but in the "off" position grounds the entire circuit. From the switch to the distributor a steel cable protects the primary current wire, this wire being grounded to the distributor casing, thereby making it impossible to wire around the device. The new generator is of the power-house type.

STANDARD, SELECTIVE GEAR SHIFT

The new Ford transmission is of the selective sliding gear type, with standard shift. It has three speeds forward and one reverse. The main shaft runs on ball bearings, the countershaft on roller bearings, and the reverse idler on a bronze bearing. This is the highest type of bearing mounting and is unusual on light cars. All gears are made of heat-treated chrome alloy steel. You will be delighted with the easy, noiseless shifting of gears in this new transmission. You can go from one to another easily, silently, with the pressure of a finger.

EXCEPTIONALLY EASY TO STEER

The steering gear on the new Ford car is irreversible. Shocks are not transmitted back to the hands of the driver. You need not grip the wheel tightly. A light touch is enough to guide the car safely. Large steering wheel is made of steel, covered with hard rubber. Light switch and horn button are conveniently located on top of wheel.

NEW FOUR-WHEEL BRAKES

The brakes on the new Ford car are an exclusive Ford development. They are of the mechanical, internal expanding-shoe type and are self-centering. This is the most reliable and the simplest type of four-wheel brake and the easiest to adjust. All adjustments are made from the outside without removing any parts. No special tools are needed. Uniform, correct adjustment on each wheel is quickly and easily obtained. The brake pedal and the hand lever each operate all four brakes. Total braking surface is 168 square inches. All brake working parts are cadmium plated to make them rust-proof.

MULTIPLE DRY-DISC CLUTCH

The clutch in the new Ford is of the multiple dry-disc type, which is the most reliable. It is also the easiest to operate, for it takes hold gently and smoothly. It has four driving discs and five driven discs.

COMFORTABLE TRANSVERSE SPRINGS

The springs are of the transverse, semi-elliptic type, designed and built for the new Ford. This type, which was used in the Model T, was adapted to the new car because no better spring type could be found. They are built of the finest spring steel, and the leaves are wide and thin. Each spring is built up of varying sizes and number of leaves to give proper flexibility and to meet riding requirements of the different body types. The size and number of leaves used in these springs is one of the reasons why the new Ford is such a comfortable car. The construction of the transverse springs also contributes to the safety and efficiency of the 4-wheel brakes.

HYDRAULIC SHOCK ABSORBERS

The finest type hydraulic shock absorbers are standard equipment on the new Ford. These combine with the low center of gravity, the minimum unsprung weight, and the easy riding qualities of the transverse springs to make the new Ford one of the most comfortable cars on the road today.

THREE-QUARTERS-FLOATING REAR AXLE

The rear axle of the new Ford is of the three-quarters-floating type. The axle housings are made entirely of steel, built up by welding steel forgings to steel tubing. The differential housing, to which these housings are bolted, is made of rolled channel steel. The axle shafts carry none of the weight of the car, the wheels running on roller bearings on the housing. All bearings in the rear axle are of the roller type. Drive is by spiral bevel gear.

FORD-DESIGNED STEEL-SPOKE WHEELS

Original design and great strength are two features that mark the unique, Ford-designed steel-spoke wheels. Each wheel is assembled by welding, and becomes one piece of metal. Spokes cannot work loose. Each spoke has a tensile strength of 4000 pounds. Outside spokes do not cross, so that the wheels are easy to clean. There are only 30 spokes in each wheel.

BEAUTIFUL NEW LOW BODY LINES

There is a bit of the European touch in the coachwork and contour of the new Ford. Bodies are steel. Fenders are of the full crown type. Appointments and hardware are of a luxurious type seldom found in a low-price car. Upholstery is of rich, durable material. Cushions are deep and easy. Door handles and window lifts are fully nickeled. Speedometer, gasoline gauge, ammeter and ignition lock are mounted on an instrument panel of satin-finish nickel, illuminated by a lamp in center. Headlamps and radiator shell are fully nickeled. Closed cars have the new military-type sun visor and crown roof. Great care has been taken in designing the new Ford to provide generous seat space and ample leg room. Clear, unobstructed vision is assured at front by unusually narrow pillars and at sides by specially designed doors with large windows.

CHOICE OF FOUR COLORS

The color combinations used on the new Ford are especially artistic and attractive. Four color choices are offered for each body type—a most unusual feature in a low-price car. Purchasers may choose any one of the following colors—Niagara Blue, Arabian Sand, Dawn Gray, and Gun Metal Blue. Belt and reveals are finished in contrasting colors, with attractive striping. The finish is pyroxylin lacquer, one of the finest and most enduring finishes for automobile bodies. It is not affected by heat or cold, withstands all kinds of weather conditions, and is not easily marred or scratched. The lustre actually improves with washing.

A QUIET CAR

In designing the new Ford, every precaution was taken to prevent squeaks, rattles and drumming sounds. Body panels and frame sections are welded and riveted together wherever there is possibility of the body weaving. In all structural details the new Ford bodies are built to afford the utmost quietness and comfort.

GREASE GUN LUBRICATION

The chassis of the new Ford is lubricated by the pressure grease gun system, the simplest and most effective method of lubrication.

HELPING THE FARMERS

Connecticut doesn't occupy a leading position as an agricultural state and yet it has its opportunities and its agriculturists. The number of the latter is not so large but what it ought to be larger. Connecticut can and should produce much more of what it consumes. With acres that are available and with markets right at the door truck gardeners and other producers should be interested in getting that trade which goes to those similarly engaged in other states. Connecticut isn't selfish, but when there is room for expansion of an industry, whether it be the tilling of the soil, the growing of fruit or the manufacture of a variety of articles, it ought to be interested in its own development through the utilization of its resources.

Nothing is better calculated to promote such an interest than the various conferences, conventions and meetings that are held at various points about the state every year. The programmes of the vegetable men, the dairy men, the fruit growers, even the experiences and advice of the specialists as they are put forth, are extremely valuable to the man on the farm. This applies to the agriculturist who does things in a big way and to the little fellow who does the whole farm job in his own way. In any line of activity there is always something that can be gained from the other fellow. Farmers are much given to swapping ideas and experiences. They have as good a right as anyone to talk shop and it is fine that they should have the opportunities that are provided for them in various ways of getting in touch not only with what their immediate neighbors are doing but what is being attempted and being accomplished in other parts of the state. They are certain to get much that can be applied to their own farm plant.

Thus each and every chance which is presented deserves to be employed for all that it is worth, whether these chances are offered at Storrs, Hartford, Norwich or at the many county demonstrations.

SHIPPING AND SUBSIDY

One of the matters that is sure to take a conspicuous position in congressional activities during the coming session is that concerning the merchant marine. It will be dealt with from various angles and there will be various plans for consideration, so much so that there's no telling what will be done.

There will be those who will urge more speed in the selling of the ships, those who will advocate the building of more and faster vessels by the government and those who will back the idea of a government subsidy for merchant ships.

The subsidy plan is not a new one. It is as old as the hills, and with a persistency equalling its age it has been successfully opposed. It has never been able to gain sufficient favor to put it through although President Harding urged it in connection with the merchant marine and believed that it would be less expensive for the government than the retention of the ships and their operation at a loss or the loss involved through keeping them tied up.

Every time the ship subsidy plan is put forth it is possible to point out the extent to which other nations indulge in it, and as the result the advantage which the ship operators in those countries get. Likewise it is maintained that with such aid being provided for the shipping of other countries it is an impossible position in which American shipping finds itself when it comes to competing therewith.

Possibly the subsidists can present their arguments in such a way and produce figures which will show the economic advantage of adopting their plan in one form or another. It will do no harm to try. Enlightenment is always desirable. Congress has done such a thing as change its mind. But the fact that the mere mention of subsidy has been so severely frowned upon in the past, and the belief that the administration does not approve, because of the precedent that would be established, gives little promise for the effort. It is a phase of the shipping problem which needs to be aired, nevertheless, even though more favorable legislation for general shipping is the aim.

AMBASSADOR MOUKHTAR BEY

Probably it was inevitable that some one should raise the question of the advisability of accepting the newly arrived ambassador from Turkey, but it can and should amount to nothing. By the arrangement which has been made between this government and the Turkish government, in lieu of a treaty, each country sends an ambassador to the other quite as if a treaty existed. They are expected to perform that service. Our appointee has been accepted by the Angora government and the appointee of the Turkish government has been found acceptable at Washington.

To raise the question now as to what Turkey did in years that have gone gets us nowhere. What was done cannot be undone. It certainly cannot be changed by trying to bring it up now over an ambassadorial appointment.

This lone outcry appears to be the follow up of the efforts that were put forth against the treaty that was negotiated between this country and Turkey at Lausanne and which succeeded, or helped, in preventing ratification.

This country was plainly outspoken in its attitude concerning the Armenian situation. It never did and doesn't now countenance it, but it is necessary at the present time to deal with present conditions, to realize that there are Americans in Turkey and their interests need to be cared for, to appreciate that some relationship between the two governments is needed for trade purposes and to attach due weight to the fact that Americans who have spent decades in Turkey not only approved the treaty and the present arrangement in place of it but regard the existing Turkish government as the best ever experienced.

There have been representatives of the Turkish government here before but this is the first time an ambassador from the Turkish republic has been in Washington. He may not hold an enviable position, but he has the opportunity to demonstrate the desirability of an early resumption of full treaty relations with that government. We have consistently and persistently denounced Turkish acts of the past. They will never get approval but there are evidences of a change for the better which cannot be disregarded.

RUSSIA'S PLAN

The presence of Russia at any and all conferences having to do with disarmament has long been desired. It was sought for the purpose of learning the Russian attitude and giving Russia first hand information relative to the attitude of the others. It is in fact necessary that Russia should participate in any programme that is adopted before many of the nations will participate. It will always be considered that there is a Russian menace until that country joins hands with the rest and does it sincerely.

When, however, Russia went to the present meeting of the preparatory disarmament commission at Geneva it went not to listen but to participate. Evidently it figured on dominating and took the view that if there was a desire to reduce armaments they might just as well go the limit. It therefore put forth a plan that showed it had gone from one extreme to the other. Its plunge into a movement to oppose war, if it would, would be complete and it would take all the others with it.

For a government which has been giving its support to world revolution, the idea of eliminating all armaments, navies, forts, gas and air equipment and other weapons is decidedly radical. So much so that it creates a feeling of uncertainty, a suspicion that it is another invitation by the spider to the fly.

Something more than a theoretical plan must be presented to get anywhere. Possibly the merits of reduced armaments, carried through repeated stages, will so prepare the nations that they will be ready to make large reductions in both land and sea armaments but there's no chance for complete disarmament. Every nation must maintain its police force quite the same as every city even though peace reigneth.

FATALITIES IN MINES

It is a case of keeping everlastingly after it when it comes to reducing the number of mine fatalities. The various reasons that contribute to such losses each calls for its particular remedy, but there is no doubt of the value of close inspection, safety education and the careful compliance by all concerned with the necessary protective measures.

According to reports received by the department of commerce there have been 1825 deaths in the mines as the result of the eight disasters in the first ten months of this year. This is much more favorable than in the ten months of 1926 when there were 14 big mine disasters and 2037 deaths.

Reports will probably show that many of these deaths and disasters were needless, that carelessness was an important factor in connection with them and that had due caution been observed either on the part of the miners or the mine owners the list of both would have been different.

When disasters occur there's no telling how extensive they will be or just what effect they will have upon human life. Thus the more impressive the urge can be made for the establishment of safe equipment in anticipation of trouble and the observance of safety requirements in the use of the mine devices and as to conduct, the better chance there will be that disasters and fatalities will be kept at a decreasing minimum. It is in fact a goal which everyone involved should keep constantly in mind. And yet from the figures it would appear that the mines are safer than the highways.

WHO? WHAT? WHEN?

"Curiosity is a funny thing," observed Andrews as he sank into the depths of an overstuffed leather chair in the smoking room of the Jefferson club. "And I am convinced that the male of the species is as curious as the female, even though he pretends otherwise."

"Yep," agreed Bancroft, rubbing the bowl of his pipe thoughtfully. "And the funniest thing about us males is that though we may be consumed with curiosity we have not the female to satisfy it."

"You said it," laughed Andrews. "And that reminds me of something that happened a few nights ago—Monday, to be exact.

"I had been to the theater. When I got out on the street again, about 10:45, and saw the moon riding over the Temple building, I decided it was an ideal night to ride home on top of the bus and drink in the fresh, healthgiving Chicago atmosphere Dr. Bundesen is always eulogizing.

"It was just a little before midnight when the bus turned the corner of Irving park and Clarendon, which is a few blocks south of my street. What I saw as we turned the corner, however, induced me to get off right there. And from the way the bus unloaded I guess I wasn't the only one following the dictates of curiosity.

"At first I thought an accident had happened. The traffic headed south was at a standstill with cars lined up quite a distance north. Yet there was none of the commotion attendant upon an auto accident.

"Looking up the avenue, I saw a crowd gathered in front of one of the apartment buildings — the kind of crowd you might see at noon on Madison street in front of a display window or political bellower.

"Finally I reached the frayed edges of the crowd — the timid souls, you know, who lack courage to venture nearer. I approached a man who stood hunched against the wall of a building.

" 'Can you tell me what has happened?' I asked.

" 'Sorry, sir, I've been wondering myself,' he replied, shaking his head dolefully as he drew his coat more closely about his shivering body. I glanced at him sharply. The long ulster did not suffice to disguise the rest of his attire. Here was a man who had jumped out of bed to satisfy his curiosity and then hadn't had the nerve to discover what the excitement was all about!

"As I crossed the street I noticed the 'paddy wagon' and began to feel as excited as a kid. Before I knew it I found myself in the thick of the crowd which formed a sort of an arc in front of the apartment building where a couple of oversized policemen walked up and down in tantaurn indifference to the curious spectators.

"There was a strange, brooding silence. What little conversation there was was carried on in whispers. 'What's happened?' I asked a young chap next to me who had the air of one already wised up. He grinned at me and replied: 'Wish I knew. I've been tryin' to get the lowdown on it myself, but no one knows any more than we do.' One of the policemen turned and gave us both a menacing look.

" 'You know,' confided the young chap, 'I've been wanting to ask one of those birds to loosen up, but I've got an idea he might hurt my feelings.' And do you know, Brancroft, I felt the same compunction. Call it cowardice if you like. But for the life of me, I couldn't budge from the crowd, although my curiosity was by now really acute.

"Suddenly a piercing scream rent the air. Gosh, I felt as though all the blood in my veins had turned to ice water. There was a convulsive movement of the crowd, a confused babble of voices, a perceptible surging forward, a new sharpness in the glances turned on the two policemen. But those two individuals continued to patrol the premises as if nothing had happened.

"I glanced at my watch. It was almost 1 o'clock. Two vestibule doors banged and two more policemen emerged. 'It's all over,' grinned one of them, glancing at the crowd with malicious amusement. And without further adieu the four officers clambered into the 'paddy wagon' and shot off up the avenue, leaving the rest of us enveloped in a cloud of gasoline smoke and ignorance.

"The blank dismay registered by that crowd would have been funny to me if I hadn't been a part of it. But to go home with one's curiosity unappeased because one lacked the nerve to question an officer of the law was ironic rather than ludicrous."

"But did you never find out what happened?" asked Bancroft.

"Yes," smiled Andrews sheepishly. "I learned the next morning that a certain wild party got a little too wild for the slumbering neighbors. And the unearthly scream we heard was the result of a bad dream."

"How did you learn all this?" persisted Bancroft.

"From a woman."

"Oh—and where did she get it?"

"Why"—sliding down farther between the protecting arms of the leather chair—"she asked one of the policemen!"—Chicago News.

YOUR HEALTH

CAUSES OF FOUL BREATH USUALLY IN MOUTH OR NOSE

By V. A. Funk, M. D., Vincennes, Ind.
Member Gorgas Memorial.

Foul breath is often erroneously attributed to stomach trouble, and the innocent stomach immediately suffers, being filled with all kinds of patent dope to sweeten the breath. We usually need to search no further than the mouth and nose to find the cause of a foul breath. It is true that in stomach disorders of childhood, and also adults, the breath may have an unpleasant odor, but not foul. Some few diseases of the stomach in the adult are accompanied by very foul breath, but they are comparatively rare.

Now that we know where to look for the trouble, what must we look for? Pyorrhea, which is a chronic infection with pus at the gum margin, is the most common cause for foul breath in people past middle life. Teeth, which without care have been allowed to continue to decay, not only cause foul breath but are likely to undermine one's health. Chronic tonsilitis, when the small glands and ducts of the tonsils are filled with a thick, decayed, infected substance, gives off an odor very similar to Limburger cheese. Infection of the adenoids will also produce a very foul breath. Inflammation and chronic infection of the nose and sinuses may be present and cause a foul breath without enough symptoms to cause the patient to suspect trouble in that region. Inflammation of the mouth, whether in young or old persons, and form any cause, always gives a foul breath.

Physician's offices are frequented by patients who apply for treatment for the stomach because they have discovered they have foul breath. They may have some stomach symptoms, to be sure, because the secretions from a putrid mouth or nose constantly poured into a well stomach certainly derange it and cause it to become rebellious. The trouble with most people is that they draw their own conclusions or allow some friend or neighbor to lead them astray. They too often become frightened and want to make a mountain out of a mole hill, after being careless and unconcerned about their physical well being for years. They are not concerned about their health until the undertaker begins to think "It won't be long now," and then all the horrible things haunt them.

So with a foul breath, as in all other ailments, do not jump at erroneous conclusions, either those of your own or those of your friends. Obtain the advice of men who will give you good, scientific service. Let your dentist examine your teeth, x-ray them if he thinks it necessary. Go to your eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist and have a thorough examination made of the nose and mouth. If he cannot find the cause of the foul breath, then the chest, stomach, and intestines should be investigated.

Today's Anniversaries

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

"The friendship of England and America is both obvious and inevitable," declares Sir Rennell Rodd, who is now paying a visit to the United States. Sir Rennell Rodd is one of the veterans of the British diplomatic service whose 45 years' experience has given him an intimate acquaintance with nearly all parts of the globe. He was born in 1858 and graduated from Oxford twenty-two years later. He has served at Berlin, Stockholm, Athens, Rome, Paris and other European capitals and for a number of years filled important posts in northern and central Africa. During the critical period following the war he was British Ambassador to Italy. He has found time in the midst of his diplomatic duties to write numerous volumes of history and he is also well known as a poet, his best known book of verse being "Poems in Many Lands."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry if thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Against Disorder and Lawlessness

Mr. Editor: Ten years ago great joy filled the hearts of women all over the country, when the message came that the 69th year propaganda for equal suffrage had been won. Then they turned their faces to the future, wondering what the next decade would bring forth in the way of political service for women! Truly this is the first chapter in the history of women in politics. Many have been disappointed because women have not been more aggressive, that they have lacked political acumen. Granted that they were far less equipped and less nobly zealous than the idealists desired, is it not also true of the men on whom until ten years ago the fate of the nation hung? If in ten years women have not shown any great political sagacity there has been a reasonable excuse for it. Ten years is a short time to become versed in the science of politics. After years and years of practice men have not as a class manifested any great political intelligence in the science of politics. Every fair minded person must acknowledge that a more advanced political education is sadly needed. A rallying cry is needed that hearts should be quickened and fired with a new zeal to preserve the principles of the declaration of independence by obeying the laws of our land. Not only indifference but an actual defiance of the law has been most characteristic of some of out men who have had the best advantage. It is now the men and women who must resolve to uphold in spirit and letter the purposes of government, as declared in the Constitution. That women are awake to the defaults of men voters, the democratic women of the west and south have recently thrown their hats into the political ring and have organized the new national Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement league, which may prove to be an irritating thorn in the side of the national democratic committee. It has adopted as its principal plank a motion opposing abrogation of the two third rule at the next democratic national convention. There is no lack of political sagacity in the following declaration. "While we declare our firm allegiance to the preservation of every right of individual liberty under the law, we declare that public peace and public order are absolute and essential conditions of free government and we, therefore will oppose with the utmost power the forces of disorder and lawlessness from whatever source they many emanate."

The politicians who ten years ago asked, "what will women accomplish with the suffrage?" have their answer in the above emphatic declaration of these earnest democratic women.

It is an undeniable fact that a huge woman movement to prevent the naming of "wet" candidates for president, in the 1928 general election is on foot. The work is being done quietly, effectively in every section of the country.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Cubby Asks Questions.

Questions ask to knowledge gain,
And this endeavor to retain.
—Old Mother Nature.

Cubby had been properly scolded and spanked. He was still whimpering, but it was a very different kind of whimpering from that of only a short time before. He was whimpering now as much from joy as anything else, whereas before he had been whimpering from fright pure and simple. Cubby would have been perfectly willing to take another spanking so long as Mother Bear didn't send him away from her.

But he didn't like to see his little sister grinning at him from a safe distance. And she was grinning. That hurt more than the spanking. She tossed her head as if to say "It serves you right and I'm glad of it." That wouldn't have been quite so bad had not Cubby known right down in his heart that it did serve him right. For if he had not gone wandering off by himself he wouldn't have been lost. He wouldn't have met Buster Bear and he wouldn't have had that terrible fright. But all's well that ends well, they say, and now Cubby was back with Mother Bear and his twin sister.

Mother Bear stood for several minutes quite motionless, looking off through the Green Forest. It was as if she were trying to make up her mind about something. Finally she swung her head toward her two little bears. "Follow me," said she. "I think there is going to be more snow and it is time for us to go to bed for the winter."

"What do you mean by going to bed for the winter?" inquired Cubby, as he made little footprints in the snow behind Mother Bear's big footprints.

"Exactly what I say," replied his mother.

"When will we get up again?" asked Cubby.

"When spring comes," replied Mother Bear.

"When will spring come?" Cubby asked.

"When winter goes," replied Mother Bear.

"When will winter go?" asked Cubby.

"When it is time for spring to come," replied Mother Bear.

"Will it be a long time?" inquired Cubby.

"About three months," replied Mother Bear.

"What is a month?" asked Cubby.

Mother Bear turned and looked very hard at Cubby, but he appeared so innocent that she decided he was just seeking knowledge. "A month is a long time," replied Mother Bear.

"How long?" asked Cubby.

Before Mother Bear could answer this question Cubby's sister spoke up. "Won't it be funny not to eat in all that time?" said she.

Cubby stared at her. "What do you mean by not eating?" he demanded.

"Why, we'll sleep all that time and not eat at all," replied his sister.

"How do you know we will?" grumbled Cubby.

"Mother told me so," replied his sister.

"I don't believe it," said Cubby. Then, as he saw his sister hurry forward as if to tell Mother Bear what he had said, he hastily corrected himself. "I mean," said he, "I don't understand it and I don't like the idea of it. I would much rather eat than sleep."

"What do you mean by going to bed for the winter?" inquired Cubby.

Little Talks on Thrift

One Thrift Plan.

A successful American comedian, telling recently of his early struggles, said that when he was making $30 a week he made believe to himself that it was $40 and saved the other $10. When he was making $75 he took the attitude that he was earning $60 and saved the remaining $15. As his salary and income from investments grew, he adopted the same thrift plan.

This is indeed an ingenius idea and worthy of imitation. The trouble with a very large number of persons, however, is that they insist on raising their standards of living to the same level as their income.

It is easier to do this but there is value in choosing the harder way. The comedian who, in his younger days lived on $40 a week when he had $50 at his command, undoubtedly made many sacrifices. He probably passed up many so-called "good times." He was thrown with associates, no doubt, who continually were tempting him to indulge in extravagant habits. Doubtless some of these persons thought of him as being close-fisted, narrow, and something of a "tight-wad." But had he yielded to these temptations and been a "good fellow" he might have drifted into habits that would have interfered with his progress as an actor, and today, instead of standing on the heights of success, he might have been a failure.

It is not the easy road always that should be chosen. There are times, especially in youth, when it is better for us if we make our job a hard one. It is better always to plod the harder road, to climb the steeper hills, to choose the sterner restrictions when we can choose these severer surroundings of our own volition than to be forced later to trod the unhappy paths of failure.

Those who follow the line of least resistance are only fooling themselves.

Happiness, success, usefulness to others, and all the other worthy things of life are not the gifts of idleness, of temporizing or of dodging responsibilities. They are the rewards of sacrifice.—American Society for Thrift.

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction without starvation diet or burdensome exercise, often at a very rapid rate and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion will produce not only a loss of weight without harm and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of overstoutness, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, etc., not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. Stout persons suffering from such diseases as Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema, Asthma and high blood pressure are greatly relieved by a reduction of their superfluous fat.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you the renewed energy and vigor which come as a result of the loss of superfluous fat.

If you are overstout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE if you so desire.

CALIFORNIA CONGRESSMAN .... SPEAKS FOR TILSON

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30—Congressman Curry, dean of the California congressional delegation, today strongly urged that Congressman Tilson of Connecticut be the choice of the republicans for vice-president in the 1928 election. Said Mr. Curry: "Tilson is the best man the republicans can put up. He has shown great ability in congress and has the confidence of men of all factions. I hope he will be the choice of republican convention."

Railroad Warns Against Trespassing

You Have Chosen a Dangerous Place to Walk is the heading on a neat little card being passed out by the local police of the New Haven railroad directing attention to the danger in trespassing on railroad property.

The card calls attention of the reader to the fact that it is unlawful to trespass on railroad property and for impression states that 155,873 persons have been killed and 169,268 persons have been injured while trespassing on railroad tracks.

The card, which also warns the reader to Safeguard Yourself, Avoid the Peril, and Keep Off the Tracks, is handed to all who are found walking on railroad property by the railroad police.

CLAIMS JOINT NEGLIGENCE IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Two suits in which the damages claimed aggregate $7,000 have been brought in the superior court against Whitney M. Prall, of New London, because of an automobile accident on July 16, 1927, on Pequot avenue near lighthouse in that city Prall is sued for $3,000 damages by Kenneth H. Doyle, of Sprague, while Prall and Doyle are jointly sued in another action for $2,000 by Bertha M. Robinson, minor, who prosecutes the action through T. Edward Robinson, of Sprague.

The Robinson girl was a passenger in the Doyle machine, it is alleged, which figured in a collision with the Prall car.

It is claimed that Prall attempted to pass a third car while the Doyle car was approaching in the opposite direction, resulting in the accident, Doyle claims that Prall was negligent in causing the accident, while the Robinson suit sets out that there was joint and concurrent negligence on the part of both drivers.

The Robinson girl claims that she sustained many serious bruises and contusions about her head and body, was rendered unconscious for a considerable period of time and she suffered intense physical pain and mental anguish; and her injuries caused her to be confined to a hospital for two weeks; and she has paid or had incurred an expense of $300 for hospital care, medical services and medicines; and at the time of the accident she was regularly employed and was earning about $40 per week and by reason of her injuries she lost all her wages for a period of about five weeks; and the wearing apparel which she had on at the time of the accident was completely ruined and destroyed, and she thereby sustained a loss in the sum of $150.

Doyle claims he was confined to the hospital for five weeks, was unable to work for six weeks, and is still suffering from a partial disability to perform his usual work, and has lost $400 in wages; and will be obliged to expend the sum of $400 for hospital bills, etc. The machine was damaged to the extent of $500.

It was claimed at police headquarters that the name of the girl was not known there.

$25,000 DAMAGE SUIT TO REACH JURY IN SUPERIOR COURT HERE

Arguments are to be made, and Judge John Rufus Booth will charge the jury in the superior court here this (Thursday) morning in the suit for $25,000 damages brought by Mrs. Jessie H. McCullough of 375 Fourth avenue, New York city, against Mr. and Mrs. William A. Norton, of 227 Broadway, this city. Testimony in the suit was concluded late Wednesday afternoon, after attorneys for the defendant had made a motion for nonsuit, which was overruled by the judge.

Mrs. McCullough sues on a claim for injuries incurred when she alleges she was struck by an automobile driven by Mr. Norton and owned by his wife. In her complaint the New York woman alleges that on Sunday, July 26, 1926, at Eastern point, she was struck by the Norton automobile while she was on a pathway leading from the bath houses at Shenecossett beach. She claims that she was thrown to the ground, that she received severe nervous shock, had a finger on her right hand badly sprained and right ankle injured. As a result, she claims she was unable to use her right hand for four months and unable to walk for three weeks.

Mrs. McCullough, who was the first witness, testified that she and her husband were patrons of the Griswold hotel.

When counsel for the defendants asked to have the location of the accident explained, Edwin C. McCullough, husband of the plaintiff, was called to the stand.

He sketched on the blackboard in the court room a plan of the pathway parking space and roads near the bathhouses. Mr. McCullough gave testimony that he was standing with his wife's niece, 7-year-old Ruth Riley, on a grass plot just off of the boardwalk, leading from the beach to the main highway, waiting for his wife. When the little girl screamed, he looked around, and saw the Norton car bearing down on him and the little girl. He jumped back, and pulled the little girl with him, with the result that the Norton car just missed them. However, it struck his wife, a short distance away, who had taken only about two steps from the walk.

The witness said he picked his wife up and took her back to the hotel in the Norton car.

Mr. McCullough claimed that the Nortons were sorry the accident had occurred, and that Mr. Norton told him he was not looking at the time it happened.

His wife, the witness said, was taken to her room in the hotel, where a nurse attended her, due to the fact that the house physician was busy. The accident occurred on a Sunday and on Tuesday, he said, they went back to New York, where his wife received treatments of various kinds, for her injuries received in the accident.

On cross-examination, the witness admitted that the Norton car did not go very far after it had struck his wife, but stopped almost instantly.

The plaintiff, Mrs. McCullough, corroborated most of the testimony as given by her husband, and added that the Nortons told her they had some trouble getting out with some man next to them. The witness told of her injuries as described above, sufferings, etc., and of the treatment she had received. She stated that she went to the Sprague Institute, N. Y., to have her joints baked, took massage treatments continuously for three weeks after the accident and twice a week thereafter for some time, which cost her $150, and was put to other expense.

After depositions by Dr. Frederick A. Lund, of New York city and Eastern Point, and by Miss Estelle Richards Perkins, attending nurse at the hotel, had been read, the plaintiff's attorneys rested their case.

Asking to have the jury excused attorneys for the defendants made the motion for non-suit, which Judge Booth overruled and presentation of evidence for the defendants then proceeded.

William A. Norton, the defendant, explained the plan of the vicinity of the roads and layout at the bathing beach and said that on a Sunday in the last of July there would be from 75 to 150 cars parked there. Cars were parked on the day of the accident. Mr. Norton told of having taken his sister to Eastern Point and gone to the beach, leaving his car parked, and when he came to leave he drove to the pathway entrance from the beach and picked up his sister. He started his car and had just shifted into second when Mrs. McCullough appeared in front of the machine about 20 feet away. She was hurrying. Mr. Norton testified that he brought the automobile to a stop and as he did so Mrs. McCullough was in front of the right hand fender. He said she put her hand on the fender and turned her ankle, causing her to fall. Her husband appeared and helped her up. The witness said she said she wasn't hurt. He took Mrs. McCullough, her husband and little girl to the hotel and when they got out at the hotel she went around in front of the machine and said "I don't see how I did it". On the way to the hotel they passed Dr. Lundis' house and Mr. Norton said he suggested that Mrs. McCullough see the doctor, if she felt bad, but she said she didn't need to.

Mr. Norton denied that he had any conversation at all with anybody at the time of getting out of the parking space and said the car was traveling about 4 miles an hour at the time he first saw Mrs. McCullough.

Dr. Judson C. Fischer, of New York, who made an examination of Mrs. McCullough on Aug. 4, said there was no restriction of motion in her finger and ankle at that time and she did not mention anything about water on the knee. She has no disability of the finger now, said the witness, and he did not consider there had been necessity for baking treatment.

Mrs. Angelina Norton Fuller, Mr. Norton's sister, who was in the automobile with him at the time of the accident, testified that Mrs. McCullough was running out between two parked cars when the witness first saw her. The witness said that the car was moving a little when Mrs. McCullough was struck. After the accident, the witness said Mrs. McCullough kept repeating "you would have run over me unless I had pushed you off." Mrs. Fuller said that everything was very amicable between them all after the accident and Mrs. McCullough said: "You have done everything you could."

After the defendant had rested, Mr. McCullough and his wife were both recalled to the stand by her attorneys. They both testified that some posts Mr. Norton had spoken of were not at the entrance to the board walk at the time of the accident or during the year 1926.

In rebuttal, Mrs. Martha Brewer Norton, wife of the defendant, was called to the witness stand. She testified that these posts were there at the time of the accident.

Both sides rested and court was adjourned at 4:30 to have the arguments in the case made this (Thursday) morning to give the case to the jury.

The following is the jury: Charles H. Geisthardt, Wm. W. Service, Preston; M. Geisthardt, William W. Service, Joseph Roode, Griswold; William G. Totten, Elmer N. Fultz, Lebanon; William H. Partello, North Stonington; Edward A. Bishop, Bozrah; George A. Miller, John E. Frank, Frainklin; John Morrison, Sprague; Clarence Fitch, Lisbon; John H. Herbert, Voluntown.

HARTFORD ROTARIAN IS SPEAKER ON "THRILLS"

Rev. Frank B. Haggard of West Hartford Baptist church, a member of the Hartford Rotary club, was the speaker at the noonday luncheon of the Norwich Rotary club meeting on Wednesday noon. Rev. Mr. Haggard gave a very interesting talk, his subject being "The Thrills of Life and How To Get Them."

He opened his talk by saying that every Rotary speaker usually talked on his own specialty and that the specialty of the clergy if they have such a thing, is human life. Most of us lead more or less of a monotonous life, with our humdrum of business routine and everyday home life and as Mark Twain once said, "Life is getting up in the morning, washing and going to bed at night, with a few other things scattered through the day." So that all of us are continually looking for something which will give us a thrill and jolt us into a new interest in life.

As youngsters you remember the thrill we got out of skating over thin ice, hearing it crack and bend under us. We got a lot more thrill out of it than in skimming over ice a foot thick and safe. Back in Missouri on the old homestead a pack of cards were considered implements of the devil but I can remember the thrill my brother and I got out stealing away and playing seven-up in back of a cornshock. We felt as though we were doing something. There is always an irresistible attraction to do the forbidden. Adam and Eve were forbidden the fruit of a certain tree and right away that fruit became what they most desired. It satisfied their longing for a thrill. Take prohibition as another example. Prohibition forbids the use of liquor and right away people who never drank before must have it. They are satisfying their desire for a thrill. They like to go out and boast about their trouble in getting it and what a good bootlegger they have. When we did not have prohibition there was no thrill to be had so it was passed up.

But after all the most thrill is not in doing the things forbidden but in cultivating a self-control that can resist this irresistible attraction. If we achieve this self-control then there would be no need of these prohibitions. Some people imagine that happiness is the greatest thrill of all but I think the supreme thrill is the thrill of having achieved something useful and of benefit to humanity. It is a thrill of satisfaction, and it is this thrill that moves men to go out and do something worthwhile. This spirit of achievement has made America the nation she is today. The magnitude of the nation's commercial and industrial field bears evidence of this.

It is rare that men build fortune for the money alone but they do it because these fortunes are monuments to achievement. Still the simple amassing of a fortune does not satisfy all men, they insist on doing something useful and they get an additional thrill out of this. Andrew Carnegie used his large forture to give to the youth of America something that he himself had missed when he was a boy.

He who serves humanity serves God also. And whoever does these gets a big thrill out of them and discovers his own soul.

Rev. Mr. Haggard who was introduced by William G. Park, was given a hearty vote of appreciation.

District Governor Allan Bagg made an unofficial visitation to the club and was royally welcomed. In a brief talk to the club Gov. Bagg outlined the attendance contest which begins in January among the clubs of the 30th district.

At the business session President Clarence A. Spear presided and Walter E. Turner was the song leader with Henry J. LaFontaine at the piano. There were the usual group selections and chorus singing. The usual contribution to the Christmas seal drive was voted.

Charles L. Taylor, chairman of the boys' work committee, said that entry blanks had been distributed in the schools and the Academy for the petty and hobby show to be held on Saturday, Dec. 10th. The entries must be filed on or before Friday, Nov. 9th.

Harold D. Larrabee, in charge of the program for December announced his program as follows:

Dec. 7—Academy football team to be entertained. The speaker will be from Connecticut college. Song leader, Emory Davis.

Dec. 14—Speaker, Robert W. Adams. John J. O'Rourke, song leader.

Dec. 21—Christmas party. W. G. Park, song leader.

Dec. 29—Howard T. Sands, speaker. Lucius Briggs, song leader.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

HITS DEFENSE ACT SAYS STORRS CAPTAIN

Agitation to cut out military training in colleges and universities, which has once more made itself known in the middle western institutions, will not necessarily affect the operation of the reserve officers' training corps but will emasculate the defense act of 1920 if the agitation becomes widespread, according to Capt. Paul L. Ransom, professor of military science and tactics at the Connecticut Agricultural college. The act authorizes the provision of the organized reserves which is that branch of the United States army with which the R. O. T. C. is chiefly concerned.

R. O. T. C. is the source of officer supply for the citizen army upon which, in the event of a major emergency, the safety of the country will depend. It is not a component of the defense forces of the United States but is closely related thereto. The graduated students, commissioned in the various branches, constitute the replacements for the veterans of the World war, who have heretofore made up the bulk of the officers' reserve corps. The strength of the O. R. C. June 30, 1927, as shown by the records of the adjutant general's office, is 110,014. In the same month, 4,917 graduates of colleges and universities throughout the country were commissioned in the O. R. C. The need of the R. O. T. C. is shown again by the fact that West Point does not furnish enough officers even for the regular army. In the infantry of the total number of officers 3,693 the U. S. M. A. furnished only 1,030, while 260 came up from ranks and 2,403 were commissioned from civil life.

Would Cut Officer Supply.

Removal of military training from colleges, will, therefore leave the United States without a source of citizen officer supply. The present system is a very efficient one and in the event of such an action congress would be forced to provide for another source of citizen officers. It will be hard to find one better suited to the ideals and temperament of our people than the present one which definitely repudiates a large standing army, recruited by compulsory service with a large body of professional officers, and which places the dependence for national safety in the event of a major emergency upon a citizen army to be trained and officerized by citizen rather than professional or "regular" officers.

It should be understood that military training is not and never has been compulsory by edict of the federal government. In order to meet certain minimum requirements as to enrollment and believing in the educational value of the courses in military sciencse and tactics, most institutions have made the course compulsory for freshmen and sophomores. Any institution which bases a decision adverse to the R. O. T. C. purely on local problems is failing to consider the broad national aspects of the corps and its relation to our system of national defense. Any wholesale action against military training in schools will go against the national defense act.

New England Not Affected.

New England on the whole has hardly ever been affected by movements towards the abolishment of the R. O. T. C. and consequently, the withdrawal of the corps units from a few mid-western colleges will not affect the efficiency of the organization in this part of the country. There are 11 universities and colleges in New England having the R. O. T. C. and all are in a very high state of efficiency. This is due chiefly to the united support of the faculty and governing bodies. There must be complete harmony between the military department and the faculty in order to insure the success of the R. O. T. C.

The Reserve Officers' Training corps at the state college in Connecticut has flourished within the last few years to a great extent. The freshmen and sophomores are compelled to take the course, unless physically unable, and receive regular academic credits for the work. The advance courses for juniors and seniors have become very popular and a large percent of the students carry on with the military course until graduation. Last summer 12 students of the state college went to Camp Devens for their summer work and made a distinctive record while there. The corps at the college has, above all, received the united support of the faculty and with other supports, the unit has been increasing in efficiency with large steps.

Student Band Formed.

A new organization has made itself known at the state college through the action of the R. O. T. C. It is the student band which is made up of students who are most of them enrolled in the corps. The instruments were given them by the federal government last March through the efforts of Capt. P. L. Ransom. The band plays at the regular drill periods each Thursday and also takes part in any athletic contest of special note. Another organization in connection with the military training at the state college is the Officers' club which is made up of all advanced cadet officers in the unit. This is also an active group and at the last meeting a discussion was held on the possibility of a chapter of the Scabbard and Blade being organized at the state college. The Scabbard and Blade is a national honorary military fraternity and its presence on the campus of Connecticut will be a great distinction to the college.

NEW YORK STATE WANTS PART OF CONNECTICUT

Declaring that "by all the laws of geography and mutual welfare" a portion of Fairfield county about 144 square miles in extent should be relinquished by Connecticut and annexed by Westchester county, New York, the Port Chester Daily Item, of Port Chester, N. Y., urges Connecticut to return "our Aslace-Lorraine."

The plea for the return of this "lost province" is made in the paper's leading editorial. The territory referred to is approximately the same as that described in the New York Merchants association's definition of the Connecticut portion of the metropolitan area. It is a section of about 144 square miles with a population of 111,900 and includes Greenwich, Stamford, Darien and New Canaan.

"Not everyone may know that that land once belonged to this state and that it was traded to Connecticut," the editorial says, "after troubles over early customs duties and bounties between the states, in return for a few islands, not many of which are of any great value to this state at present.

"By the laws of geography and mutual welfare, that portion of Connecticut described above belongs to this state and Westchester county. A straight line continuing the Connecticut border from above would bring it into New York. And the interests of the residents are practically submerged with those of Westchester county.

"What a great thing it would be for that section and for this county if the lost province could be reclaimed! The metropolitan area extends beyond Port Chester on the east as much as it does beyond Tarrytown on the Hudson. And the problems, the business, the homes of that province are wholly akin to those same problems of Ossining and Peekskill and Mount Kisco and Katonah.

"How about returning our Alsace-Lorraine, Connecticut?"

SUES HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT FOR SLOW HOUSE MOVING

Gertrude V. Buffington, of Old Saybrook, has brought suit against the state highway department claiming $1,500 damages. The suit involves the moving of a house of the plaintiff for the construction of the new highway in Old Saybrook. She alleges the defendant took from May 13 to August 19 to do the work when it might have been done in 30 days, whereby she lost rent, and also that the work was done in a faulty manner.

New Seat for Bingham

As a result of the seating arrangements in the senate chamber, Senator Bingham the coming session will sit a little closer to the center of things. His seat in the back row has been shifted towards the center aisle to the seat held last session by Metcalf of Rhode Island. He will sit between Senator Metcalf of Rhode Island and Senator duPont of Delaware, the senator who recently had a throat operation and talks only by mechanical aid, it is said. The humorists in Washington say that duPont, at least, will not be able to talk back very effectively to the Connecticut senator.

Heard Doctor's Testimony

In the superior court here Wednesday, Judge John Rufus Booth heard the testimony of Dr. Charles C. Davis of Middletown in the uncontested divorce suit of Ruth Blaisdell Bahr of New London against Walter T. Bahr, a former state policeman. The suit was partially heard at a short calendar session. After hearing the testimony of the doctor, Judge Booth took the papers, reserving decision.

Suit Brought On Bill Claim

Lester Bendett of this city is made a defendant in a $500 civil action brought in the court of common pleas by the Vacuum Oil Co., New York city, according to papers served by Deputy Sheriff Oscar H. Main. The suit is based on the common counts for a balance due on a bill of supplies.

FAMILIES DRIVEN OUT BY EARLY MORNING FIRE

Prompt discovery of a blaze in the attic of the two and a half story frame house at No. 374-378 West Main street, corner of Mt. Pleasant street, a hurried telephone call to the fire department and their quick response probably saved the building from destruction, early this (Thursday) morning. It was about one o'clock that an occupant sleeping on the top floor was awakened by smoke. He made a hurried exit and other occupants of the building were notified of the fire. All three families in the building went to the street, some of the people being scantily clad.

A telephone message to the Central fire station brought Engines 5 and 6, Squad A and the deputy chief's car. A line of 1 1-2 inch hose was run into the building as was a line of chemical hose. A small quantity of water and the contents of one 40 gallon chemical tank were used on the blaze. The resulting damage by fire was small. The fire started from some undetermined cause near a partition on the top floor of the building.

One section of the lower floor is used as a store by Sam Ehrenberg who owns the building. Given a few more minutes leeway and the flames would no doubt have quickly spread to all parts of the frame structure. As it was the blaze had the makings of a good sized fire.

BALLOONS AND CONFETTI SHOWERED ON DANCERS

An enjoyable rainbow dance was given Wednesday evening in the Wauregan hotel ballroom by the L. H. D. club. The decorations were in rainbow colors and a feature of the evening was the shower of small balloons and confetti which descended upon the dancers from a big balloon suspended over the center of the hall. The music was by Thumm's orchestra and the committee in charge consisted of the Misses Elizabeth Sullivan, Loretta Gadle, Catherine Finnegan, Frances Kelly and Marie Desmond.

PLAINFIELD PROS WIN EASILY FROM MERIDEN INSILCOS. 50 TO 80

(Special to The Bulletin)

PLAINFIELD, Nov. 30.— Plainfield Pros finally eluded the jinx that had pursued them through the past four games and tonight defeated the Meriden Insilcos at the Community House, 50 to 30. The home club showed its best form of the season and, after a shaky start, was never really in danger.

Bernot, Stevens and Normandin, working a three-man combination had the Silver boys completely at sea for a good part of the way and between them they threw in 35 of the 50 points.

Every man on the floor in the game tonight, that was more thrilling than the score would indicate, scored but Stevens, Bernot and Evans led the way respectively with 15, 13 and 9 points. Meriden played a nice game but Plainfield was great tonight. The Insilcos scored on several spectacular shots, especially on those from her forwards, Evans and McCarthy.

Meriden took the lead at the opening whistle and on field goals by Evans and Druhel and a foul by Davis had five points. Normandin scored first for Plainfield, with a doubledecker while Bernot and Dissinger followed shortly with the same species of shots and Madden tossed in a foul so that half way through the first 20 minutes Plainfield had the lead which they held forever after. At half time Plainfield had a 12 point advantage but in the opening part of the second half Meriden closed the gap a bit before the locals again put on steam and stepped out to finish with a score of points for a margin.

Brusso, who played tonight has been signed for the season. He replaces Billy Schofeld, resigned.

Plainfield goes to New Britain Saturday to face All-New Britain claimants of the state title in 1926-27.

Next Wednesday the Boston Whirlwinds, one of the leading teams of the country, come to Plainfield. They will lineup with Crotty, lg; Morley, rg; Martin, c; Curtin, lf and Kiley, rf.

The summary:

Plainfield Pros

	G.	F.	Pts.
Dissinger, lf	1	1	3
Normandin, lf	3	1	7
Nichols, lf	1	0	2
Brusso, rf	2	1	5

MARINO OUTPOINTS PAYNE IN BRIDGEPORT AMATEURS

BRIDGEPORT, Nov. 30. —(AP)—Al Marino, Waterbury, light heavyweight, outpointed Gilbert Payne, of Bridgeport in three rounds in the feature bout of the Redmen's weekly amateur boxing here tonight.

Billy Bridges, of Norwalk, outpointed Young Sharkey, of Waterbury in four rounds.

Eddie McCarthy, of Bridgeport, knocked out Joe Davis, Waterbury, first round.

Paddy Dunn, Waterbury, won on a technical knockout from Jerry Griffin, Bridgeport.

Buke Coleman, Waterbury, outpointed Sammy Lawson, Norwalk, in four rounds.

D. Hawkins, Waterbury, knocked out Pete Curran, Bridgeport in the second round.

Eddie Balko, Stamford, knocked out Ray Daly, Waterbury, in second round.

Sailor Banty, Bridgeport, outpointed Fox John, Bridgeport, in four rounds.

Frankie Smith, Norwalk, won on a technical knockout from Jackie Rogers, Waterbury.

Leslie Tyler, Norwalk, knocked out Frank Accardi, Stamford, in the first round.

CONNOR WILL BE MEMBER OF ALL-EAST TEAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Jack Connor, captain and quarterback of the 1927 New York university football team, today received permission from the N. Y. U., board of athletic control to play on the All-Eastern Eleven in an east-west charity game at San Francisco, on Dec. 26.

The assurance of Connor's services, together with those of Myles Lane, Dartmouth halfback, accounted for all positions but the ends on the squad that Coach Andy Kerr of Washington and Jefferson will take to the Pacific coast. Prominent possibilities for the vacant wing berths include Dwight Fishwick of Yale and George Cole of Dartmouth.

With the addition of Connor and Lane the makeup of the eastern group includes: Captain Bob Reitsch of Illinois, center; guards, Ray Baer, Michigan, and Frank Pauly, Washington and Jefferson; tackles, Ray Randels, Nebraska, and Jap Douds, Washington and Jefferson; halfbacks, Bruce Caldwell, Yale, and Glenn Presnell, Nebraska; fullbacks, "Blue" Howell, Nebraska, and Bill Amos, Washington and Jefferson.

NO RADICAL CHANGES IN OHIO COACHING STAFF

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30—(AP)—Likelihood that there will be no radical change in Ohio State university's football coaching policies was seen tonight in the re-appointment by President George Rightmire, of all five faculty members of the university's athletic board.

Disquietude of some alumni over the team's showing under Head Coach Dr. John W. Wilce during the past football season, and demand of the student publication, The Lantern, for "new blood" on the board, apparently was not heeded by the president as he reappointed the faculty members of the board who have been in office since 1920.

HOLLINSBERY STARTS PRACTICE FOR HIS ALL-WEST TEAM

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—When Coach Orin E. "Babe" Hollingbery lines up his squad of western players here next month to begin practice for the annual east-west charity game Dec. 26, he will have some of the greatest stars on this side of the Rockies from which to pick a team.

Eighteen players so far have been invited by those in charge of the benefit contest for the Shriners' Crippled Children's hospital. They include three members of this year's university of Washington team—Lewis Tesreau, halfback; Pat Winson, fullback, and Wright, guard. In addition, Gilmore, halfback on the Pacific Coast's Army Service Eleven, has been asked to participate.

Hollingbery, who is head coach at Washington state college, declined to give out a prospective lineup until the squad assembles here Dec. 18. However, he probably will have the following to select from:

Fullbacks—Wilson, Washington.

Halfbacks—Kaer, Southern California; Kutsch, Iowa; Sassanova, Santa Clara; Hunt, Texas Aggies; Gilmore, Army.

Quarterbacks—Meeker, Washington State; Mann, Southern Methodist (Texas).

Ends—Behrndt, Southern California; Matthews, Texas Christian University; Sikes, Texas A. & M.; Scarlet, St. Mary's college.

Tackles—Hicks, St. Mary's; Yoder, Carnegie Tech.; Brewster, University of Texas.

Guards — Diehl, Idaho; Wright, Washington.

Center—Carrothers, St. Ignatius college.

Larry Bettencourt, St. Mary's candidate for All-American center honors, also was invited, but far Western Conference rules prohibit his playing as he will not graduate until next year.

Wright of Washington was selected for guard on virtually every all-coast this season, while Diehl, Idaho, also was the choice of many critics. Yoder and Kaer were among all-American selections in 1926.

EASTERN INDOOR TRACK SEASON STARTS JAN. 7

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Olympic year in international athletic competition will find the lid pried off the eastern indoor track season in Brooklyn on January 7 with six invitation feature events in the "Olympic" meet of the Columbus council, Knights of Columbus.

The program made public today by Dan Ferris, new secretary of the National A. A. U., included sprints over the 60, 80 and 100 meter distances, the Columbus "500" for the governor, Alfred E. Smith trophy, the Mayor Walker half mile, and a freak four mile relay for two man teams, each man running every other lap.

The eastern indoor season will produce track and field games at least once a week in the principal centers until the windup on March 3 when the intercollegiate championships will be staged here.

Some of the more important meets scheduled follow:

January 28, Massachusetts K. of C. (William C. Prout Memorial games), Boston; February 2, Millrose A. A., New York; February 4, Boston Athletic association; February 8, Newark A. C.; February 18, Metropolitan A. A. A., championships, Brooklyn; February 20, New York A. C.; February 22, Philadelphia School of Osteopathy; February 25, National A. A. U. championships, New York; February 29, New York K. of C.; March 3, Inter-Collegiate indoor championships, New York.

NO SUCCESSOR TO JONES BEING CONSIDERED AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn. Nov. 30.—(AP)—Selection of a football coach to Yale to succeed T. A. D. Jones whose contract has expired has not been considered by the Yale Athletic association in any way, it was stated with authority today, in answer to reports that have come here that Ed Leader, rowing coach, might become football coach.

It was stated that many reports of prospective candidates for the coaching position have come here most of them linked with names of coaches at other universities. The novelty about the Ed Leader report is that he is already at Yale. Despite this fact, there has been no hesitancy on the part of those close to football in saying that it has become almost a tradition at Yale to select a coach who has been identified with the Yale development of the sport by Yale men.

It was also said that there was no indication of any departure from the principle in appointment of Mr. Jones' successor, and there has been no evidence from Yale alumni that it desires the board of athletic control to go outside of Yale alumni in recommending a choice.

MRS. WHITNEY AND MRS. HERTZ OWN THE BIG MONEY HORSES

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—(AP)—Figuring actively in 1927 records on the New York race tracks, Mrs. Payne Whitney, owner of the Greentree Stable, and Mrs. John D. Hertz of Chicago stand out among the leading purse winners.

Data compiled shows Mrs. Whitney's entries won 32 races, finished in second place 42 times and took third money on 49 occasions, earning a total of $172,469. Jolly Roger, the steeplechaser, was the biggest money horse in Greentree Stable silks winning six events to earn $62,075, the largest portion of Mrs. Whitney's winnings.

Mrs. Hertz's filly, Anita Peabody, was the biggest individual star of the season with gross earnings of $96,965. Mrs. Hertz took $108,265 in purses, receiving $91,700 when Anita Peabody won the futurity.

In a compilation printed in the New York Evening World, Mrs. Whitney heads the list of winning owners while Mrs. Hertz is placed fourth.

ARGENTINE POLO TEAM TO COMPETE HERE NEXT SPRING

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 30—(AP)—Jack D. Nelson, president of the Argentina Polo association, announced today that the association had accepted the invitation of Louis E. Stoddard, of the United States Polo association, to participate in the major tournaments there next June, July and August.

An early visit to the United States to compete in the national championships of the indoor season is at present "unfeasable," Nelson said, due to preparations for the later trip. President Robert A. Granniss of the Indoor Polo association, announced today that invitations had been sent to Argentina and Canada to send teams to the national competition in New York this winter.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—So far at least the latest of the winter heavyweight "eliminations" show no signs of breaking up the prospects for the third edition of the Dempsey-Tunney championship feud in 1928.

No menacing gestures are being made by any of the new figures in the tournament, such as Phil Scott of England while some of the veterans of the elimination seem to be a little the worse for wear.

Too many flip-flops sprained Paulino's back and kept him out of a prospective match with Scott, resulting in no little annoyance to Scott as well as the Spaniard. Knute Hansen, substituting for Paulino, knocked out Scott in one round while Paulino, on his return to action last week, was outpointed by the Cleveland "Rubber Man", Johnny Risko.

Jack Sharkey, a semi-finalist last year, is out of action temporarily with an injured finger that forced postponement of a match with Tom Heeney. These two are slated to meet in January in what may turn out to be one of the most important eliminations of the lot. Heeney has impressed critics with his rapid development since first appearing here a year ago. The rugged New Zealander is expected to give Sharkey a severe come-back test.

Despite all the pressure that may be brought to bear upon him "Tad" Jones, Yale's head football coach, is expected to stick to his determination to hand over the reins to some one else for next season and retire to his coal business in New Haven.

Jones may find it especially difficult not to yield when he gathers with the football men and "old grads" at Nick Roberts' famous Yale barn party this Saturday in Montclair, N. J. This is an annual Eli "classic," as a get-together, and "Tad" may be sure that he will be slapped on the back with considerable gusto and told by most of those in attendance that, in consequence of Yale's brilliant gridiron year, it is essential that he stay on the job as head coach.

If Jones fulfills his intention to retire it will not be surprising to many Yale men if Marvin Stevens, now a backfield coach, is given the main job. Stevens is considered to be Jones' "right hand man" and the choice of the veteran head coach if the mantle is to fall on a present member of the tutoring staff.

Stevens played only one season at Yale, 1923, because of the transfer eligibility rules, but he painted his performances that year in dazzling colors. A product of Osborne, Kans., Stevens blew on the gridiron at New Haven like a Kansas cyclone and was a big factor in the success of "Memphis Bill" Mallory's great eleven that season. Since then Stevens has been an assistant coach. He is only 27 years old but "knows his football."

It seems definitely settled that the only thing that severed Ty Cobb's connection with the Athletics was Connie Mack's pocketbook. The Georgia peach hit the ball hard, stole several bases and fielded well enough in the Philadelphia uniform. Connie Mack has said emphatically that there was never a rift between him and his star during the season.

In spring training the Philadelphia manager said Tyrus would be worth his salary if he did not play 50 games. "He will be an inspiration to the other players," said the tall tutor. "When he goes out to do something the other fellows will know that there is a man in action who knows all there is to know about playing baseball as it should be played."

ALUMNI OF BUFFALO SEEK TO RETAIN FOOTBALL

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 30—(AP)—Discouraged by a disastrous season and spurred by a report that football is to be dropped at the University of Buffalo, Alumni rallied today to see what could be done about the situation.

Meeting at a luncheon, the graduates named two committees, one to confer with Chancellor Samuel P. Capen and another to draft a resolution favoring retention of the gridiron sport, and then voted approval to a permanent organization to aid the university.

This year's eleven lost every game except one and that ended in a tie. Attendance was poor all season.

CLAIMS STONINGTON HAS BEST RECORD IN E. C.

A writer, evidently a Stonington supporter, pens a communication to The Bulletin taking exception to the claim that the Academy and Stonington are tied for the leadership of the "Big Six" for the season. He claims that Stonington has finished the season with 6 wins, 2 losses and a tie, defeated the Alumni as against being defeated by that club.

The Academy won five, lost three and tied one but this writer claims that even throwing out both Alumni games, the win for Stonington and the loss for the Academy and still Stonington has the edge, and the best claim to the eastern Connecticut title.

RIDES 207 WINNING HORSES IN A SEASON

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 (AP)—Lee "Longshot" Hardy, a lad of 18 with only one year's experience in the saddle, holds the world's record for winning mounts on thoroughbred horses for a single season, by virtue of riding to victory in 207 races.

Previous records were held by Ivan Parke, with 205 winners and Guy Garner, with 203.

Hardy is the third jockey to cross 200 in the history of the American turf. He broke in on Ohio tracks in 1926.

TIGERS BEAT ARROWS IN HOCKEY GAME

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30—(AP)—The Boston Tigers tonight defeated the Philadelphia Arrows, 2 to 1, in the opening here of the Canadian-American Hockey league season.

Goals by Mackey and Oatman in the first ten minutes of play gave the victory to the league leaders, who have not been defeated in five starts this season. After the first ten minutes the Arrows outplayed the visitors, but were unable to break through their defense. Rheaume's work for Boston at goal was a feature.

AGGIES BASKETBALL GETS UNDER WAY WITH L. A. ALEXANDER AS COACH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

STORRS, Nov. 30.—Connecticut Aggie basketball practice is under full swing with a squad of about 20 players, six of whom are letter men, hard at work under the direction of Coach Louis Al Alexander. Prospects for a strong five at the state college may be considered fair, at least.

This will be Alexander's first season as coach of the varsity basketball team at Connecticut, as heretofore Sumner A. Dole, who came to Storrs in 1923, has coached the varsity teams in football, basketball and baseball. In addition to his coaching duties, Dole has also done some teaching in the mathematics, physical education and English departments of the college. These various duties, especially coaching three varsity teams over a period of practically ten months, have been a considerable burden to Dole. Because of this, he volunteered to turn over the varsity basketball team to Alexander, and devote his time to the organization and coaching of a varsity hockey team, which in th ebeginning at least would make less demand on his time and energy than basketball. There has been a considerable demand on the part of some students for a hockey team at C. A. C., and Dole's plan was to organize a team and play only a few games the first year, and work to the ultimate end of developing teams of strong enough calibre to have hockey recognized by the athletic council as a major sport at C. A. C. Lack of funds this year has unfortunately made it necessary to abandon earlier plans of organizing a hockey team, but the original plan of having Alexander coach varsity basketball will be carried through. Dole meanwhile will coach the girls' varsity basketball team at the request of Prof. Roy J. Guyer, who wishes to be relieved of that assignment because of more pressing work in connection with the duties as head of the department of physical education.

Alexander is a graduate of Connecticut Agricultural college in the class of 1923, and in his under graduate days was a star in football, basketball and baseball. He is without question one of the greatest athletes to represent the state college and by close students of basketball he was regarded as one of the outstanding college forwards in the country. For two years he was selected on the mythical "All-New England" five. Since 1923 Alexander has coached freshman teams in football, basketball and baseball at C. A. C., achieving marked success as a developer of not only winning teams but also varsity material well versed in the fundamentals of the game. When Dole was taken ill with appendicitis just before the start of the past football season, Alexander stepped into the breach and directed the varsity squad through the first six weeks of the campaign, doing a fine piece of work.

Freshman basketball this year will be conducted under the direction of Paul E. "Knute" Bitgood, a graduate of C. A. C. in the class of 1926, and a star performer in football, basketball and track in his undergraduate days at Storrs. Moreover, Bitgood spent last year at Springfield, where he played on the football, basketball and track teams of that institution.

The present Connecticut varsity squad does not lack capable players and even stars; such men are present and will undoubtedly give a good account of themselves. Take Captain Arthur V. William, '28, of Danielson, for instance, he is without question a star court performer, and one who may rise to the heights this sgeason. Williams showed well what he could do in the Aggies memorable defeat of Harvard last year at Cambridge, when the then Captain Schofield was forced to remain on the sidelines because of an injury. Williams, as acting captain, played an inspiring game adn led his team to an impressive victory, jumping into the lead at the first whistle and holding it throughout the game. In that contest Williams gathered eight baskets besides playing a wonderful floor game.

Williams at present is unable to work with his men, however, because of a knee injury received in the past football season. His knee at present is held in a cast and it will be at least two weeks before he will b eable to work with the squad. Willard Eddy, '28, of Simsbury, captain of the Aggie eleven and a regular forward for the past two seasons is another who for the present is forced to watch practice from the sidelines. Eddy suffered an ankle injury in football that may keep him out of the game for another two weeks. Gene Lamoreaux, '30, of Hartford, a member of the freshman team last season is also out with ankle injury received in football. He hopes to report for work in another week.

In addition to Williams and Eddy, there are four other lettermen from last year's varsity squad still available for duty. Harold Watson, '28, of Hartford, is a forward, and one who played more or less regularly last season. He has a good eye for the basket and is a hard worker, and is considered as a strong candidate for a regular position in his last year at C. A. C.

Myer Ellovich, '29, of Hartford is another letter man who is working hard as an understudy to Captain Williams at center. He played in several games last year and showed considereable promise. He is especially adept at long-range basket shooting. Alexander Krayeski, '28, of Thomaston, and Henry Schrildrgen, '29, of Naugatuck are a pair of capable guards, both of whom won their letters last year for the first time. Schildgren was a regular all season and developed fast, starring consistently in the latter part of the campaign. Two other dependable reserve guards available are Howard Kennedy, '28, of Mount Carmel and Andy Dall, '29, of Hartford.

The 1927 frosh quintet which returned intact has for its lineup Ray Ryan, of New Haven, and Gene Lamoreaux of Hartford, forwards; Leo Duffy, of Hartford, center; Rhoar Flydal, of Hartford, and Marvil Osterling, of West Hartford, guards. Carl Pivnick, of Hartford, who played considerably at forward for the yearlings last season, is also out with the varsity.

Others who have reported for practice include Marty Gilman '29 of Norwich, a guard; Roderick Root '29 of Springfield, Mass., center; John E. Thulin '30 of Thomaston, center; David N. Mullaney '29 of Hartford, forward. Charles J. Anderson '29 of Middletown and John J. Callahan '29 of Revere, Mass., both of whom were considered likely varsity material are ineligible because of scholastic difficulties.

HARDING HIGH MAY PLAY INTERSECTIONAL GAME

BRIDGEPORT, Nov. 30—(AP)—The Warren Harding high school football team claimants of the Connecticut scholastic championship, in company with several other northern high schools, has been invited to submit terms to play the Andrew high school, of Jacksonville, Fla., in an intersectional game on December 17 at Jacksonville, officials of the local school announced tonight.

WARNER BELIEVES PLAY SHOULD HAVE BEEN TOUCHBACK

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Nov. 30—(AP)—Glenn Scobey Warner, Stanford football coach, believes that the disputed play which cost Southern California a victory over Notre Dame at Chicago Saturday should have been called a safety, not a touchback. A safety would have given California an 8-7 victory instead of a 6-7 defeat.

This game officially opens the 1927-28 season for the Emps and also for Norwich. In view of the intense interest the manager has prepared for the handling of the large crowd expected.

Foley to Coach B. C. Hockey

BOSTON, Nov. 30. —(AP)— James (Sonny) Foley will coach the Boston college hockey team this winter, the college athletic authorities announced today. Foley was graduated from Boston college two years ago, after winning his letter in three varsity sports. He has since played with various professional hockey teams and is coach of the hockey squad at the Rindge Technical school in Cambridge.

PASTIME A. C. HAS BIG ENTRY LIST

An imposing array of boys have been lined up by Jackie Burns and Jim Quinn for the Pastime A. C. regular amateur boxing carnival Friday night at Olympic hall. Boxers from Putnam, Danielson, Westerly, New London and Norwich, to the number of 22 had been listed by Wednesday and there is the possibility of a few more entries from Putnam and Danielson.

Pominent among the entries appear the Koziol brothers, Al and Stanley, Mickey Quinn and Frankie Adams from this city. Special interest attaches to these boys. Quinn has now become a regular favorite with local fans while Adams another idol will tomorrow night be out to right himself after a discouraging start last week. Stan Koziol also will be hitting the comeback trail in this bout tomorrow after supper for in this appearance two weeks ago he went under but only after showing plenty of fighting heart.

The other communities also have plenty of likely looking prospects lined up. Boots Lary of Norwich, hard punching youngster, it will be noticed, is included in the lineups.

The following with their weights have signed: Putnam—Ed Goulet 122, Grenier 130; Danielson—Peloquin 114, Bleault 135, Paradis 116— Westerly—Jimmy Metcalf 130, Young Comfort 114, Billy Kaferey 120; New London—Al Springer 118, Young Burrows 126, Dick Whitey 130, Bert Cyzin 140, Dan Rochford 147, Bat Hooper 136; Norwich—Al Koziol 132, Frankie Adams 135, Jack West 150, Mickey Anthony 122, Joe Martin 127, Boots Lary 125.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Oregon Agricultural college is preparing to put a strong pony polo team in the field next season.

Senorita de Alvarez, the popular Spanish tennis player, is an expert ice skater and also plays a good game of billiards.

A Danish women's hockey team is to visit England for a series of matches with the leading women's teams of that country.

Miss Mercedes Gleitz, first English woman to swim the channel, won a championship at knitting during the late war.

In the West Point-Notre Dame football series the Army has won four games, Notre Dame nine games and there has been one tie.

In less than three months, on February 5, the 1928 Olympics will be started with the ski competitions at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

For 35 years football relations have been carried on between the University of Chicago and University of Illinois without the use of signed contracts of any kind.

At the recent dog show at the Crystal palace, London, there were nearly 70 different breeds, over 50 judges, including 15 women, 70 ring stewards and a mile of benches.

In the Yale-Princeton football games, extending over a period of more than fifty years, the Tigers never have succeeded in defeating the Bulldogs in three successive games.

The International Skating Union of America, which for many years has governed amateur speed, figure skating and roller skating in the United States and Canada, has now been divided into two national bodies, one representing the United States and the other Canada.

The first "big money" fight in the annals of pugilism took place at Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 9, 1906, when Joe Gans and Battling Nelson fought for the lightweight championship and a purse of $34,000. It was Tex Rickard's first venture as a fight promoter and the size of the purse he offered made the ring fans of that day fairly gasp with astonishment. Probably none dreamed that within two decades the same Rickard would be staging fights in which the winner would pull down not a paltry $34,000, but a cool million.

In the Yale-Princeton football game of 1884 Yale scored a touchdown from which a goal was kicked, while Princeton made a touchdown, but missed the goal. This game was called by darkness twenty minutes before the completion of the second half. The referee under the rule which required two full halves of forty-five minutes each to be played to constitute a game, declared the contest "no game and the score as 0 to 0." Two years later the game between these two universities similarly terminated, Yale being in the lead at the time by 6 points to 0.

Mrs. W. B. Scott, an Englishwoman, has won a French trophy awarded to the fastest woman auto driver. Mrs. Scott learned the game from her husband, who is one of the famous racing drivers of Europe. Recently she registered 124 miles an hour for three laps, the second fastest time ever made at the Brooklands track.

When a dozen years ago "Jim" Coffroth, prize fight promoter and all-round sporting man, announced he was going to establish a racing plant of Tijuana, none would have ventured to predict that his track in the out-of-the-way Mexican hamlet would become the scene of the world's richest race for three-year-olds and over.

The steadily increasing demand for cork for use as insulation in refrigerator draws heavily upon Spain and Portugal, the leading producers. Algeria and Tunis rank second in production and France and Italy third. Cork is stripped from trees, the first crop coming in the trees' twentieth year and the better quality between the fortieth and 100th years. Yields vary from 50 to 100 pounds a tree, which may live several hundred years.

A major league baseball record that has stood unbroken for 33 years is that of the Pittsburgh Nationals in scoring four home runs in a single inning.

In 1888 the Washington team of the National league hit for .307, which is the lowest batting average ever recorded for a major league team for an entire season.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, 66-year-old mentor at the University of Chicago, hopes to continue coaching football at least four years more. He says he will be ready to retire at 70.

Reggie McNamara, who will compete in the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden again this year, has won thirteen six-day races, which surpasses the record of any other rider.

Temple University of Philadelphia, which this year won seven out of its eight games against strong opponents, made a most surprising showing for an institution which did not start football until three years ago.

Fears that anti-gambling legislation may have a detrimental effect on the future of greyhound racing have caused the promoters of many racing concerns in England to insure their undertakings against loss from this cause.

Polo enjoyed the most successful season of the sport in America last summer, and the preparations now being made for indoor polo indicate that this form of the galloping game may attain a correspondingly high place.

Participation in the Olympic yachting regatta and in a challenge match for the Scandinavian Gold cup, together with the Spanish-American trans-Atlantic race, means that American yachts will be quite conspicuous in European waters next summer.

All but two of the seventeen tennis players who have held the singles championship of the United States have been native Americans. The exceptions were the late Hugh L. Doherty, who was born in the British Isles, and Jean Rene Lacoste of France.

FIRE THREATENING PHOENIX BLOCK IS SUBDUED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, Nov. 30.—A threatening fire in the very heart of Danielson's business section and in one of the borough's finest business blocks, shortly after one o'clock this afternoon, was squelched by the firemen after a battle with a blaze that proved more or less elusive and stubborn. The Phoenix block was the one that figured in the fire.

From some undetermined cause, the fire started in the quarters of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company on the second floor of the building and at the north end of the big brick structure.

Though neither handicap proved serious, the fire alarm system failed to function when an alarm was pulled, a solitary blast being the only response of the alarm, and a big motor pumper stalled from ignition trouble just as it was pulling out of the central fire station, and there was a delay of a few minutes in getting it going again. Meanwhile other apparatus and firemen were on the job.

The large amount of water that it was necessary to pour into the building to subdue the fire, which was running around between partitions and between the floors eventually began to find its way into the New York Fruit store, directly under the offices where the fire started, and did a considerable amount of damage to the stock to that concern.

Smoke poured through the offices and apartments on the floor of the building where the fire originated, and for the time being occupants were in doubt as to letting their chances rest with the firemen staying the fire or to begin to move their possession out.

Being where it was, the fire quickly attracted an unusual crowd of spectators and for a time there was heavy congestion of traffic, which was traightened out by Chief John McFarland and fire police who went on duty.

Because of the failure of the fire alarm to function this afternoon for the Phoenix building fire, a number of the firemen of the local volunteer department were delayed in getting to the fire and meanwhile citizen volunteers including Chief John McFarland helped those firemen who were on hand in the early stages of the battle against the blaze.

A. R. JAMES, DANIELSON GROCER, DIES SUDDENLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 30.—One of the deaths that shock a community came this morning with the passing of Arthur R. James, 57, at his home on Oak street. Mr. James, who had been in the grocery business here for years, was about as usual Tuesday taking orders and delivering them over the route he covered daily and, while he was not feeling particularly well, there was nothing to indicate his end was so close at hand. As late as last evening he waited upon a customer that came to his store to make purchases. During the night Mr. James became violently ill, and though physicians who were summoned did all they could to save him, their efforts proved fruitless.

Mr. James was born in Danielson Nov. 26, 1870, a son of Newman W. and Etta Truesdell James, and he had lived practically all of his life here. He had been in the grocery business for a long term of years and so engaged for himself since 1908. Mr. James leaves his wife, a daughter, Mrs. William Nuttall, his uncle, Rowland R. James, and two cousins, Albert R. James of Santa Monica, Calif., and Mrs. O. F. Bellows of Brooklyn, N. Y.

TWELVE VIOLATORS ARE TAXED $5.57 IN LIGHT DRIVE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, Nov. 30.—A total of twelve cases—10 this morning and two this afternoon—were disposed of in the town court today. All of these were new cases growing out of the campaign for enforcement of the lighting regulations applying to motor vehicles or to such vehicles being equipped with windshield-cleaners. In each instance Judge W. Fenner Woodward imposed what has come to be regarded as the standard fine in such cases, $1 and actual costs, a total of $5.27. Two or three other cases growing out of last night's operations by state officers working here are scheduled for hearings later in the week.

There is no mistaking today that a decidedly unfavorably reaction on the part of the great mass of motor vehicle operators in this territory has set in against further prosecution of the campaign against defective headlights. In numbers of cases actual wrath has been shown, while in others one hears that many people are avoiding this territory after dark, in fear of arrest, and that such a condition is injurious to business.

In this connection it should be made a part of the record that the local public holds no animosity against the state officers who are engaged in making the arrests, for it is fully appreciated that they are acting under orders from their headquarters at Hartford, to which a formal protest likely will be filed by the Chamber of Commerce within the next few days.

It seemed inevitable today that some change will be sought in the next session of the legislature in the motor vehicle lighting regulations, changes that will protect persons who do their best to comply with these regulations, but who have no protection against a headlight or a taillight burning out unexpectedly and, many times, without their knowledge.

Mrs. Susie G. Williams, Brooklyn, secretary of Quinnebaug Pomona grange, is sending out notices of a held with Natchaug grange at Chaplin Saturday of this week.

The morning session is to open at 11 o'clock for business in the fifth degree. At noon a dinner is to be served by Natchaug grange.

The Windham County National bank, Danielson, Conn., is today paying to its saving's depositors a dividend at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, declared last June. Be sure and deposit your surplus earnings with this century old financially strong and modern banking institution.—ady.

At this session Martin Robertson, superintendent of rural schools, will give an address on The Connecting Link between the Home and the School. Another address will be by L. Edwin Hill, of Putnam, secretary of the Windham County Y. M. C. A., and a reading by Mrs. Myra Frink, of Brooklyn grange, also will feature this session.

Sunday's initiation is to be a public one, with the majority of the supreme officers of the order in attendance. Among those expected here are the Supreme Chief Ranger, Hon. Telesphere LeBoeuf, of Webster, assistant attorney general in the federal court of that state; Wilfred J. Mathieu, of Woonsocket, supreme financial secretary; Philip Y. Errard, Springfield, chairman of the board of health of that city. Music at the initiation will be by an orchestra of seven pieces. The musical program also will include vocal and instrumental solos.

PUTNAM

ENGINEER SAVILLE FAVORS A CONCRETE AND STEEL TANK

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 30—Engineer Caleb M. Saville of Hartford, who was called as a consultant on the water situation in Putnam, favors a concrete reservoir on Richmond Hill with a storage capacity of 1,500,000 gallons and a steel bank on Bates Hill to hold 500,000 gallons. Mr. Saville is the chief engineer of the water board of Hartford and was called by vote of the city council on October 13 to advise as to the best method of improving the water system, about which, water commissioners, councilmen, and interested citizens have disagreed.

The report of the consultant was sent to Mayor Chapdelaine and it will be presented at the council at its next regular meeting or if it is deemed best at a special meeting. The details of the plan cannot be given to the public until first presented to the council but the two principal points in the report are that: The building of a cement reservoir on Richmond Hill to hold not less than 1,500,000 and the erection of a steel tank on Bates hill to hold not lese than 500,000 gallons, are recommended.

The "Bridge Widows" Auction Bridge club composed of ladies whose husbands are playing for the Elks or Masons in the tournament met this week with Mrs. Edward Burt at her home on Grove street. Mrs. Lewis T. Champlin was awarded the prize for winning the highest score for the evening.

A Ford truck owned and driven by S. E. Watson, a painter living on Center street and a Reo truck owned by the Putnam Candy company came together at the junction of Main and Richmond streets this morning. The Candy truck was going down Main street and the Ford truck was coming out of Richmond street. The Reo truck struck the Ford truck in the center of the body, tearing off the mud guards and damaging it to the amount of about $100. The acident was due to the slippery street. Neither driver was injured.

The largest number of players took part in the weekly contest of the Elks-Masons card tournament this week that has participated since the beginning of the tournaments in the fall of last year, twenty-two tables being in play. The Elks won by a score of 12 to 10 but not until the last hand had been played at the twenty-second table was finished was it known whether the Elks would win or this week's contest would end in a tie. Chadwick and Murray for the Elks won the last rubber from Perry and Metcalf by a margin of seventy-five points. The Elks have won three out of the five of the series but the total score is tied, each club having won 48 games. The score follows, the names of the members of the Elks club appearing first.

Does your vacuum cleaner clean small rugs?

The Westinghouse does!

The new Westinghouse Vacuum Cleaner never "scuffles up" small rugs. Push down slightly on the handle and you tilt the nozzle up. That breaks the suction so you can pull the machine back without ruffling the rug. You don't have to lift the cleaner except to carry it up or down stairs. You don't have to bend or stoop. And your small rugs are cleaned better than ever before.

DR. MYRON M. MAINE DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I. Nov. 30—Dr. Myron M. Maine, 77, who died this morning at Manchester, Conn., Memorial hospital was a dentist of Bolton, a former resident of North Stonington and a summer visitor to Westerly. His death followed a lingering illness. There survive him, a brother, A. Stanley Maine of North Stonington and a sister, Mrs. Anna M. Merrias of Bradford, R. I.

NEW MOTOR PUMPER HAS BEEN ACCEPTED BY FIRE DISTRICT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Nov. 30—Westerly fire district is now owner of a new 1000-gallon Ahrens-Fox combination motor pumper and hose wagon, replacing the 900 gallon one burned in the fire of April 30th last. The powerful pumper has been accepted by the board of engineers of the district. The necessary papers were signed by Chief George E. Egger, Assistants Robert Bonner, George McKenzie and Columbus Pasetti at a meeting held in the town hall. The apparatus was accepted after word had been received from the New England Insurance Exchange of Boston that the pumper had successfully passed the contract requirements in a test at the Sherman dock Friday. The new pumper, which had been kept in the Rhode Island garage of Max Raithel, the Ahrens-Fox agent, on Broad street was placed in the Morrone garage on Main street this morning. The other apparatus of the district which is in use is kept in this garage.

The following transfers have been recorded in the office of Westerly town clerk:

Nov. 29. Joseph E. Champlin and wife to Quony Realty company a farm of 32 acres, the property of the heirs of Samuel Champlin, on the north side of the Boston Post road.

Charles P. Eccleston et al to Dina Martinoli, land on the easterly side of Spruce street, lot No. 10 on the plat of building sites.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co., to Narragansett Electric Light Co., transmission electric line of 33,000 volts across the southeasterly side of High street, about 2025 feet east of the Westerly waiting station of the New Haven road.

Lease of the above, Narragansett Electric Light company to United Electric Power company.

The transfer of the property of Arthur G. Smethurst at 193 Mechanic street, Pawcatuck, was made Wednesday afternoon to the Standard Oil company of New York, owner of adjoining property. The reported price was $20,000.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at his home, 15 Lester avenue, Pawcatuck, there was a prayer service for Edward Robbins Allen. The service was conducted by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, D. D., pastor of the Pawcatuck Seventh-day Baptist church, of Westerly. The body was taken on the Mayflower express, leaving Westerly at 10.58 a. m., an escort attending from Granite City camp, No. 9159, Modern Woodmen of America. William Martin, Otto G. Findlesen, Lawrence Crandall and Howard Greene. At Shelton, Conn., where Mr. Allen for many years conducted a livery stable, the funeral was held at 2.30 p. m., at the Lewis home, with services conducted by Rev. F. S. Moorehouse, rector of the Church of the Good Shepard. Committal services at River Side cemetery, Shelton, were in charge of King Hiram lodge, No. 12, A. F. and A. M., of Derby to which Mr. Allen belonged, the bearers being members of the lodge.

About 9 o'clock Tuesday evening two blasts were sounded on the Pawcatuck fire whistle on the printing press works of the C. B. Cottrell and Sons Co. The whistle was blown by members of P. S. Barber Hose Co., the purpose being to test out the alarm.

There was a large attendance Tuesday evening at whist given jointly by Narragansett lodge, No. 7, I. O. O. F., and Hope lodge, No. 19, R. D. The affair, the first of a contemplated series in Odd Fellows' hall. The first prize was won by Mrs. Annie B. Benson, and the consolation went to Mrs. Clifford Barber of Potter Hill. Robert Stewart won the first prize for men, and Gino Savasini received the consolation award. Refreshments were served.

The docket at the Kingston sitting of Washington County Superior court in the November term was reported as shortened Tuesday so that adjournment may be taken to Westerly soon to consider the Westerly Trial calendar.

Henry Kellogg Goetchius, who has passed seasons at Watch Hill and occupied "The Dormers" cottage on Everett avenue, died Tuesday at his home, 1115 Fifth avenue, New York, after a long illness.

Mr. Goetchius was for years connected with the chemical industry. After preparing at St. John's Military Academy he entered Yale University and was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific school in 1888. He entered the firm of John L. Morgan & Co., with which his father, the late John Milton Goetchius, was connected. With the absorption of the Morgan company by the General Chemical company in 1889 Mr. Goetchius continued with the new organization until 1919, when he retired. He was for several years president of the St. Anthony club in New York and was one of the originators and first president of Seamans hall at Charleston, S. C. His clubs in New York included the University, Racquet and Tennis, Down Town, Yale and the Oakland Golf club. At Watch Hill he belonged to the Misquamicut Golf club and the Watch Hill Yacht club. Owing to ill health Mr. Goetchius did not live at Watch Hill this past summer, but instead stayed at the Westerly hospital and received treatment. His mother, Mrs. Sarah Kellogg Goetchius and brother, John M. Goetchius spent the summer at Watch Hill as usual. He also leaves another brother, Morgan Goetchius.

Howard M. Barber left Wednesday on a business trip to New York state.

Miss Flora Siart has returned to Norwich, after passing a few days at her home in Pawcatuck.

E. J. Robinson left Wednesday morning on his way to the south.

F. O. Lanphear left Wednesday morning for Boston.

Kenneth C. Everett of Jewett City was in Westerly Tuesday evening.

Philip L. Peterson of Moosup visited in Westerly Tuesday evening.

Herbert Martin of Hartford was in Westerly Tuesday.

Henry L. Burdick, having passed some time in Providence began commuting from Westerly to Providence Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Champlin were in New London Wednesday.

NOANK

Rollin Rathbun, a well known fisherman of the village, has set a smelt catching record that will be talked about for the next 10 years. He is the champion smelter of Noank. In all kinds of weather, sitting in a boat with a pole and catching the yellow fish like flies on a cow's back, many times Capt. Rathbun said he has sat there for 8 hours without a bite, but it is spot when they are biting good. To make a good fisherman one has to keep at it every day, warm or cold weather. This has been the best season for smelts, since whaling days, 60 years ago, Young Rathbun, at the packing house dock, said, taking from his inside pocket a notebook, "Brother fishermen," he said, "for this season at smelting, I have caught 11,500 with the aid of one pole. The most in a single day was 1000. It is a record to be pround of for such a young captain, only 22. He is also a clammer and crabber. He is now putting away his smelt pole for this season. The Stove-pipe club will tell during the long winter months about the smelts Rathbun caught. The old fishermen are wondering how he does it, for you cannot whistle to them or tell a bed time story; the smelts come with a rush and go out with the tide.

Down at the railroad station is a large red box were two gasoline engines 45 horse-power each, and the name on the address reads "Noank Shipyard." So a truck Tuesday was unloading them for the 90-foot fishing boat at the yard. The yard's best expert on gasoline engines is Almon Meister and he will install them without a book to go by or any glasses. Foreman Charles Butson said to the expert "There they are—all for you! So put them in." The engines are Fairbanks & Morse. From Boston, Mass. Dexton Holliday has entered the shipyard as boss deck builder on the boat.

Lewis Menin, of New Haven, has been home on a short visit.

Leon Sistare has resigned as driver for the Tonyee Truck Co.

Parker Wilde, of Spring Hill, is visiting relatives in Noank for a few days.

A wedding performed at Goodyear Thanksgiving day by Rev. Charles A. owns united Della St. John and George L. Pope.

Last evening a number of members of Moriah lodge, A. F. and A. M., were in New London to attend a meeting of Brainard lodge.

Friends here have received cards from William F. McDermott, who is in Quebec on a business trip.

Whitney Weinrich, a student at M. I. T., Hart Wood and William Love of Harvard university, all of whose homes are in Honolulu, visited with Leslie Downs in Goodyear. Miss Lucile E. Downs, who is teacher at Dedham, also has been a visitor in Goodyear with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Charles A. Downs.

It was two years ago Dec. 1, that the present motor coach service was inaugurated by the Connecticut company through this territory, and two years ago today that trolley cars made their last trips through Danielson. The coaches have offered a splendid substitute service, functioning steadily and satisfactorily.

Officers of Killingly grange are to confer the first and second degrees on a class of candidates next Monday evening. Recently 17 members of the grange were at Oaklawn, R. I., to witness the conferring of the third and fourth degrees by the grange of that town. The work was so well done as to especially repair the local grangers for the long trip.

This morning a fine fox pelt was shown by Eli J. Dagenias as a trophy of a hunt on which he and John Harrington of Brooklyn engaged. These two hunters, with William Chantry, of Danielson, took three foxes in a red letter day hunt the past week-end.

A meeting of the members of the Civic federation is to be held with Mrs. H. D. Crosby, of Academy street, Friday afternoon.

The service at the Goodyear church Sunday morning was conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. Downs, who preached on the subject of Faithfulness, taking as a text Joshua II:15 "He left nothing undone of all that the Lord commanded." Miss Nancy Whitaker sang a solo during the service.

Out of New Bedford one hears that operations are to be resumed early in the new year at the Devon mills of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, where Herman M. Coulter, formerly here, is in charge as assistant treasurer.

ANDOVER

A dance was held in the town hall Saturday evening. A good crowd attended.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Thompson had as their guests over Sunday their son, Frank E. Thompson and family, and Mrs. J. C. Pelton, all of Springfield, Mass.

George Bartlett, Jr., and Nathan Gatchell, of Storrs college, spent the holidays at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Bartlett.

Wednesday in the town hall the married members of the local grange served a supper to the single members as a result of losing points in a recent competitive program. Following the supper there was a public whist.

Says F. H. Marble. This is Nature's Signal of "Danger Ahead."

Fred H. Marble, Danielson, Conn., says in his own home paper, the Danielson Transcript: "My bladder bothered me 4 or 5 times every night. After taking Keller's Lithiated Buchu a few days I saw I was improving. Now I am not troubled at all. They have also relieved my friend Elmer Martin. I will tell or write my experience to anyone."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the bladder as epsom salts do on the bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieves the irritation that causes "Getting up nights." The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, or locally at Geo. Engler's, druggist.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

With one more month to go there is every indication that a record number of permits will be issued the last quarter of 1927. During the month of November there were 28 permits issued which together with the 30 issued during October makes the total for the quarter 58 which is 20 more than for the same quarter a year ago.

During November the 28 permits call for an outlay of $28,975 as set forth by the owners of the new building. To this can be added at least 25 per cent. to arrive at a more correct estimate of the cost of the work, which would bring the outlay to approximately $31,000. During the past week only three permits were issued by Fire Marshal Stanton, one of which was for a new dwelling house on Fanning avenue. The permits issued were as follows:

To Harriet P. Tubbs to erect a one-car frame garage on McKinley avenue, 16x16. The garage will have concrete foundations.

To John Massoros to build a frame garage 12x18 feet for David Sadinsky on North Cove street. The garage will be of frame construction with stone foundation and composition roof.

To Ben Gwasdoff to build a 6-room frame house on Fanning avenue for himself. The house will be 26x26 feet and two stories high. There will be six rooms with bath and pantry. The ceilings will be of concrete with brick underpinning. The interior will be finished in hard plaster with Arkansas pine trim and hardwood floor. The exterior will be in clapboards and shingles.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

During the past week there were 15 sales of real estate in Norwich, three times as many sales as during the same week in 1926. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $75,885 and $8,950.

There were six sales of real estate in New London during the past week, five less than during the corresponding week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $48,-700 and $67,500.

Decline in Building Totals.

The trend of new building commitments dropped rather precipitately in October, according to the offical reports from 331 cities made to S. W. Straus & Co. The total of building plans filed for permits issued in these cities was $235,879,612, compared with $2,252,932,837 last October, a loss of 32 per cent. In September the totals were $297,834,153. The cities included in this survey account for more than 50 per cent. of the entire urban population of the United States and are the major centers in the 48 states. These figures, therefore, represent the only approximately complete official data on building prospects in the country and are to be distinguished from reports of activities already passed. These records also exclude estimates of road building and engineering projects, which at times are erroneously incorporated in building figures.

NEW LONDON.

Five new houses are included in the 17 building permits issued by the city council this week, and also four garages. The number of permits is much less than is the usual average but is quite consistent with the average for this time of year at which time a general slump in building operations is noted. Included in the list this week is also a permit for construction of an apartment house for which a permit was previously granted but the plans being revised the application for permit was again submitted.

Work is rapidly nearing completion on extensive alterations to the Elks home at 51 Washington street. The work consists of complete remodeling of the lodge room and is now about more than half finished.

Work has been completed on alterations at the police station providing an enlarged office for the detective bureau in the rear of the police court room. The work consisted of erecting a new partition and two new doors.

Work has been started on the construction of a new frame cottage for one family on Lester street. The new house is 24 by 24 feet and with all modern improvements and conveniences is estimated to cost $6,500.

A local builder has started work on the construction of another new cottage on Washburn road. The new house will be 32 by 28 feet, of modern design with all modern improvements including the most up-to-date electrical and plumbing fixtures. Work is being done by the day from private plans.

A new store front is being constructed by the N. S. Building Corp. at 319 Bank street for John James. The work will give that address a modern display window similar in general appearance to several which have been remodeled in State and Bank streets recently.

The frame work is being constructed on a new cottage being built in Cape Ann court. The foundation of concrete block has been completed and the first floor of framework and sheathing erected. The new house is 24 by 24 feet with a sun porch 24 by 6. Work is being done by the day from private plans.

Work has been started on the construction of a three story apartment house on West street for Victor Castaldi. Work is now being completed on the construction of the foundation. The new structure will be 40 by 90 feet, containing 12 apartments of four and three rooms, with tile baths and open fireplaces in each apartment. The front will be attractively finished with tapestry brick and artificial stone trim and the sides and back will be of regular brick. Each apartment will be fitted with modern apartment devices including built-in ironing boards, dumb waiter service, Frigidaire systems, oak floors and modern electrical and plumbing fixtures. The basement will contain the boiler room, etc., and a small apartment for the janitor. Work is expected to be completed before April 1, 1928.

Building Permits.

Victor Castaldi, apartment building, 43 West street, $50,000.

Bulkeley School Athletic Field, Inc., grandstand, $5,000.

Norman Swindells, et al., enclose porch, 23 Fitch avenue, $300.

Clyde R. Smith, garage, Washburn road, $300.

WESTERLY

The absence of cold and stormy weather has helped with the work of completing business blocks in process of construction the past few weeks in Westerly. On Railroad avenue on the site of the former storage garage of Carl V. Brucker, recently demolished on property of the estate of Albert L. Chester, following excavation work, much progress has been made in construction of cellar foundation walls several feet from the brick side walls enclosing the site. When the brick business block is completed here there will be a continuous store brick front from the Ford station building to the Canal street end of the Chester block.

At the new business block of Morrone and Castagna a roof now covers the building on Canal street in front of the Alba Inn and but little work is left to be done to finish the front parapet on the Canal street front. At the Green Stores, Inc., the new brick business block which replaces the old Alling Rubber building, in the northern half night work has hastened the building's completion. All the front plate glass windows have been set and the copper facing of the store fronts has been nearly completed. The sidewalk in front of the building has been excavated for the placing of sidewalk skylights for the basement of the building and a large sidewalk freight elevator with two sidewalk iron doors has been placed in position.

The cement second floor of the addition on the east side of the Westerly Memorial and Public Library building on Broad street has been completed and the brick side walls of the second story without windows, which will enclose the new art room can now be carried to the roof which will be poured in cement and then covered with terra cotta.

For the last week of November, 1927, Westerly Zoning Inspector Louis J. Rossi has issued the following zoning permits:

Nov. 22. Fred S. Binns, White Rock road. Cottage house, 26 feet by 20 feet and two-car garage, 20 feet by 20 feet on plot of land on the White Rock road. Bids being asked.

Nov. 22. Herbert H. Hoadley, 68 Margin street. Two-car garage and workshop, 22 feet by 30 feet, at 68 Margin street.

Nov. 23. Mrs. Carbeia M. Quottromoni, 7 Pond street. Reshingle roof with slate-coated shingles. New Art Tile Roofing company of Norwich, contractors.

Nov. 25. Miss Charlotte Payne, 20 Chestnut street. Cut-in two windows in side of present house at 20 Chestnut street. Moses Payne, contractor.

As it was Mrs. Borden's birthday, the following Tuesday, she was remembered with gifts from those present. Refreshments were served; Mrs. Forrest C. Leffingwell and Mrs. A. H. Beebe poured.

Sunday evening over 60 were present at the Thanksgiving concert at the First Boxrah Baptist church at Leffingwell, Mrs. Nathan E. Whiting, organist. The choir consisted of Mary Hrabyk, Carolyn L. Beebe, Mildred F. Leffingwell, Linda Mourey, Mrs. G. W. Borden, Mr. A. H. Beebe, John and Michael Hrabyk. The program included song, "Swell the Anthem, Raise the song." 118 Psalm read by Rev. G. W. Borden, followed by prayer. The collection was taken and is to be sent to Rev. Francis Rose of the Philippine islands. Then followed the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past," a pageant in 3 parts very well given by the school children—"Babyhood of Hiawatha," "Childhood of Hiawatha," and "Hiawatha, the Hunter." Mrs. Borden gave a reading about the Pilgrim Fathers; a quartette, Mrs. G. W. Borden, Mildred Leffingwell, Linda Mowrey and Mary Hrabyk, sang "The Indians Give Corn to the Pilgrims," was followed by the hymn "Come Ye Thankful People, Come." The benediction was pronounced by Rev. M. Borden. Hiawatha was Saul Caroline, the Indians, Margaret Bedat and Raymond Murray. Jennie Catini recited the poem "Hiawatha." The Pilgrims were Herbert, Helen and Lucile Spicer; America, Catherine Elliott. Others taking part were Louise Bedat and Ruth Caroline.

A Bedroom Suite for Christmas

The idea of furniture as a Christmas remembrance is steadily gaining favor. Furniture is a permanent addition to the beauty and comfort of the home, a gift enjoyed by the whole family for years. For wife or sister, what better than a four-post bed in mahogany, maple or walnut; a new dressing table or boudoir chair, or a whole new bedroom group. Our stock embraces many complete suites and odd pieces in the new designs, and a variety of reproductions of colonial furniture. We mention in particular a beautiful suite in American walnut, consisting of Vanity, Dresser, Chifforobe, Bed, Bench, Chair and Rocker. The price has been greatly reduced, to $300, an exceptionally low figure for this fine furniture. This suite deserves your careful consideration.

Beautiful 3 fold screens, covered in artistic wall papers, make ideal Christmas gifts. These screens are new and distinctive, and may be decorated with paper of your own choosing to suit your decorative scheme. Your inspection is invited.

20 LEADING INDUSTRIAL STOCKS REACHED NEW HIGH LEVEL FOR ALL TIME

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Speculation for the advance was resumed with considerable violence in today's stock market. Buying embraced an unusually wide assortment of issues, nearly two score of which attained record high prices on gains that ran as high as 19 points. The average of 20 leading industrials compiled by the Associated Press also reached a new high level for all time. So great was the accumulation of orders that the ticker fell 20 minutes behind the market shortly after mid-day, and never caught up, the day's total sales running just over 2,950,000 shares.

The advance was not associated with anything in the day's news, although the lowering of the call money renewal rate from 4 1-2 to 4 per cent, the stiffening of export copper prices and the predicted increase in steel mill operations by the trade journals had a favorable effect on sentiment. Commission houses reported a large increase in public participation particularly in odd lots.

General Motors, which has been sluggish for about a fortnight on selling for both accounts, presumably inspired by fears of Ford competition, suddenly leaped into the limelight by rallying from a low of 125 3-4 to 130 1-2, closing at 129 3-4 for a net gain of 3 1-4 on the day. Dupont, which sells ex-dividend $6.75 tomorrow and has large General Motors holdings, advanced nearly 8 points to 326 5-8. Peerless advanced 3 points and Jordan 2, despite the denial of the head of the Continental Motors company of reports that a merger of the three concerns was under negotiation.

Montgomery-Ward, which has been heavily bought by interests associated with Arthur Cutten, Chicago operator, soared nearly 10 points to a new high record, of 111 3-4, as compared with the year's low of 60 3-8. Sears Roebuck advanced 3 1-2 points to a new top at 86 7-8. Radio Corporation, nearly 150,000 shares of which changed hands, crossed par for the first time in history. Other issues to better their previous top prices included Abitibi Power, Auto Sales, Bloomingdale Bros., Cerro De Pasco, Corn Prod., Eureka Vacuum, Goodrich Rubber, Marlin Rockwell, National Biscuit, Pacific Coast, Peoples Gas, Reid Ice Cream, Stewart Warner, Victor Talking Machine and Warren Bros.

American Machine and Foundry soared 19 points to 220, the common advanced 17 1-2 to 172, and American Radiator, Collins and Aikman, Commercial Solvents, Continental Insurance, Pullman (old) and Timken Roller Bearing advanced 5 points or more. Pan-American Petroleum and American Republic was comparatively heavy.

A jump of nearly 10 points in Canadian Pacific to a new peak at 208 featured the rail issues. Strength of Pere Marquette and Wabash was based on expectations of increased earnings through large Ford business.

There was no change in time money and Commercial Paper rates.

Leading commodity markets moved within narrow and irregular limits, cotton advancing slightly while grain futures lost ground. Coffee and sugar quotations were practically unchanged.

A drop of 16 points in Spanish pesetas to 16.44 cents was the only change of consequence in the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was slightly easier at $4.87 3-8.

THE CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Violent fluctuations in high priced industrials featured the irregularly higher movement of prices in today's curb market. More than a score issues reached record high levels, although some of the gains were cancelled in a late wave of profit-taking. Seats on the curb market advanced $5,000 today to $65,000, a new high record and more than double the year's low.

Ford Motors of Canada opened 15 points higher at a new high of 725, broke to 690 and rallied to 692. Tubize Art Silk advanced nearly 20 points to a new peak at 49½, but slumped on rumors of another stock dividend next month.

New peak prices for the year, or longer, also were registered by a Allison Drug, Amoskeag, American Solvents Chemical, Atlas Plywood, preferred, Brazilian Traction, Hellman, Warrants, International Cigar Machinery, International Utilities "A", Maryland Casualty, Midland Steel common, Standard Sanitary Manufacturing, United Electric, U. S. Freight, and a few others. Substantial gains also were recorded by the Celanese issues, Firestone Tire, Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad and Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

Most of the oils were reactionary on selling inspired by reports of increasing crude production, but International Petroleum advanced nearly a point within a fraction of the year's high.

New England Industries

PLANING MILLS.

Note: The industry classified as "planing mills" as a special division of the lumber industry, and includes plants which make dressed lumber, sash, doors, blinds, interior woodwork, moulding, builders finish, etc.

The planing mill industry is well distributed through all the New England states, Massachusetts leading with 44 per cent. of total value of products and Connecticut second with 20 per cent. New England's share of the country's output in value is 5 per cent. An industrial survey of New England conducted by the United States Department of Commerce in cooperation with the New England Council indicates that the longest average period of operation of individual plants is in New Hampshire, where it is 37 years, and the shortest average period of operation is in Connecticut, while the New Hampshire average of present management is the lowest. New Hampshire is the only state in New England where total sales of reporting firms increased in volume in 1925.

Nearness to market is the chief reason for location of plants here with accessibility of raw materials and favorable labor conditions also reported as important factors. There is no tendency to establish branch plants, since individual establishments are small, the annual volume rarely exceeding $1,000,000. Lumber is obtained here for the northern states, but a decided majority of plants in Massachusetts and Connecticut do their lumber buying outside of New England. The less important raw materials are generally purchased within this section.

The average number of employes on piece work or incentive wage bases is only 5 per cent. due, probably, to the difficulty of establishing accurate standards of measurement. Such methods are not used in any Massachusetts establishment. In the one instance reported where 100 per cent. of workers are on a bonus basis, the relation of labor cost to value of product is 12 per cent., as compared with 32 per cent. for the entire industry in that particular state.

A third of the firms have reported efforts to develop supplementary production to meet slack periods, while others manufacture for stock.

Improvements have been made on a wide scale, with better methods of accident prevention reported as the most important. Better methods of organization and executive control, production control, maintenance of plant and equipment and cost accounting have also been adopted by the companies reporting.

Combined sales have increased 35 per cent since 1921. Among 92 concerns making reports, 48 report increased sales since 1923, and 44 report decreases. Extension of territories and new sales methods have helped, and many companies have felt the benefit of the increase of building activity since the war. Competition and change in demand have accounted for declines in most cases, with labor cost also a factor. Eighty-four of the 92 plants reporting in this survey make 90 per cent. of their total sales in New England. Distribution is generally made direct to the consumer (usually the building contractor).

Elimination of unintelligent competition is reported by some manufacturers to be the immediate and outstanding problem of this industry. This condition is in general due to lack of accurate knowledge of manufacturing costs, resulting frequently in price quotations actually below costs of manufacture. Accurate measurement of labor and material costs, and elimination of waste through standardization of products, seem to be pressing needs.

FLOGGING CASES IN ALABAMA ARE TABLED

LUVERNE, Ala., Nov. 30—(AP)—Alabama's fight against masked violence came to an abrupt end here today following the acquittal of two men accused of complicity in hooded whippings and a controversy between Attorney General Charlie C. McCall, the state law enforcement department and the Ku Klux Klan.

Judge A. E. Gamble adjourned court today after withdrawal by Solicitor Calvin Poole, of the state's cases against 31 men remaining to be tried for participation in a score of masked lashings in Crenshaw county.

Solicitor Poole, who has aided Mr. McCall in prosecuting the cases, said he was not willing to quash the cases, but asked that they be tabled. "until such time as there is a different sentiment in the county."

The remaining cases, the solicitor explained, "can be tried at any future term of court, or they may never be tried."

RULES FOR ACCREDITATION IN POULTRY INDUSTRY

The poultry breeding industry of the United States is making a determined effort to bring harmony out of the confusion that now exists, because of the difference in the rules and regulations applied to certification and accreditation of flocks in the various states.

A national conference of official state delegates is being called at Chicago on Wednesday, November 30, to enable the states to arrive at a mutual understanding in the adoption of a national uniform plan that will apply to the poultry industry of the whole country.

Under the present conditions when a prospective purchaser of hatching eggs, baby chicks, or breeding stock comes across the word "accredited" or "certified" in connection with the advertised flocks, he does not know just what factors were taken into consideration to certify or accredit these flocks, unless he is familiar with the regulations governing such work in each state. The difference in methods, plans, and rules governing the accreditation and certification of poultry in the different states is serving to retard the progressive development of the industry and in unfairly shielding some breeders whose flocks are certified under less stringent rules than others.

At present there are 22 states which have adopted regulations for certification and accreditation of flocks. The difference that exists between the regulations in these states is seen in the case of baby chicks. In one state chicks are sold by grade based on the production of the parents; in another case two grades of chicks are offered, one grade being from accredited flocks that are not tested for bacillary white diarrhea, and the other grade from flocks that have been tested and are found free from the disease.

The United States Department of Agriculture has made a survey of the situation and is of the opinion that if the states can get together to discuss these differences much can be done to stabilize the poultry breeding industry. Also, from the standpoint of interstate commerce in hatching eggs, baby chicks, and breeding stock, it is felt that uniformity in the state rules and regulations concerning the accreditation-certification work is necessary if poultrymen are to retain this business.

GOOD LAWNS FROM FALL SEEDING

Lawns that are seeded in the fall remove just that much work from the busy spring season and will get an earlier start than those seeded in the spring. In fact, fall-sown lawns have considerable advantage over spring seeding in that germination will be quicker, the tiny germs being ready to burst their casings after the softening process of winter freezing and thawing.

Preparation of the soil is the chief task and the soil for a lawn should be as carefully prepared as for a garden. The first requisite is ample fertilizing. Liberal dressings of commercial sheep or cow manure are now about as economical as a stable supply and they are always available, while stable manure is not. They also have the advantage of being easily handled and containing no weed seeds. Stable manure usually gives the lawn a fine crop of weeds and gives a double task in getting a lawn started, that of making the grass grow and eliminating the weeds.

SUGGESTIONS FOR FARMERS

After the cups are hung and the first streak cut in working pine woods for turpentine, several weeks should elapse before regular chipping begins. If cups are hung in November or December, it is desirable to cut a second streak some weeks before regular work starts.

To produce a good flow of milk, a dairy cow requires certain kinds of proteins. No one feed supplies these in sufficient quantities. By combining a variety of feeds, however, the desired result can be obtained. Alfalfa hay, silage, linseedoil meal or cottonseed meal, bran, and ground corn make a good combination.

Logs or stumps of the black walnut have a market value of from $150 to $200 a thousand feet. By liberal planting of seed, farmers in the upland and hill sections of the south, the Ohio river basin, or the central Mississippi valley regions, may obtain good returns from both the nuts and the timber when ready for harvesting. The U. S. forestry service urges every farmer to "plant a bushel of black walnuts this winter."

To prevent stored ice from melting make the ice house air tight at the bottom, so the cold air inside will not filter out. There should be at least 12 inches of sawdust for insulation, packed around the sides of the ice stack, and underneath and on top of the stack. It is important to drain out through an air tight trap any water that may form at the bottom of the stack.

Galvanized iron pails should not be used for milking because the acids in milk act on this metal and they also are hard to clean. Neither is it advisable to use buckets made of wood or other porous substances. Dairy utensils always should be made of material that is non-absorbent, easily cleaned, and not readily affected by milk.

Lengthening the hen's working day during the winter months, by putting artificial light in the poultry house and increasing her feed consumption with a view to greater egg production, is advisable within reasonable limits. Overstimulation of the hen may cause a spring moult or other undesirable results with a consequent lower egg yield.

Discegarding the cost of his own labor, materials and curing, the owner saves an average of $15 on every hog he slaughters himself. A 200-pound hog will render about 20 to 25 pounds of lard, and a 300-pound animal about 50 pounds of lard.

GOOD LAWNS FROM FALL SEEDING.

With the soil well fertilized, finely pulverized and leveled, the seed should be sown as evenly as possible, selecting a still day for it. The next move is to roll it in with a lawn roller, a necessary adjunct for a good lawn. The water rollers, those having hollow cylinders to be filled with water to give the necessary weight, are the easiest to handle. The seed should be rolled in to speed up germination by closer contact with the soil, as well as to prevent it from blowing. A second reason for rolling is to firm the soil so that it will not wash too easily in the winter rains.

The roller also will be useful in the spring each year to smooth down bumps due to the heaving of the winter season. In fact, it is impossible to have a first-class lawn without a roller. In many communities two or three neighbors club together and purchase a roller jointly, as it is not used often enough to make it a subject of controversy.

Most important of all in starting a lawn is to buy tested seed from a seed house of known reliability and reputation. Lawn mixtures are cleaned and reclaimed to free them from weed seeds. They are blends of several varieties of grasses with a proportion of some quick-growing grass to give speedy effect while the slower and more permanent sorts which will ultimately form the sod are taking hold. State the soil and shade conditions in ordering lawn seed, as mixtures are made to fit.

AGRIC

FALL IS TIME TO POISON GROUNDHOGS

Whatever may be the secret purposes and sacred rites of the various humorous orders known as "Worshippers of the groundhog," or some similar name, the Biological Survey of the United States department of agriculture would recommend to the initiates of these local societies that they cooperate in controlling this undesirable citizen in agricultural areas. The groundhog, or woodchuck, feeds on alfalfa, corn, and other crops, and to some extent preys on poultry. In orchards it often burrows under fruit trees and like the pocket gopher will knaw off the roots close to the trunk, and thus kill the tree. The groundhog will often root-prune well-matured apple trees, and thus cause severe damage. In alfalfa fields, being a clumsy animal, it wallows down a great deal of plant growth in addition to what it eats. It is especially fond of corn in the roasting-ear stage, and later a few families of groundhogs along the border of a field will, during a fall season, hog down an acre or so of corn.

While mild fall weather lasts, and through the period of Indian summer, the groundhog is usually enjoying the sunshine and feeding destructively. This is the time for eradication measures, for very shortly the groundhog goes into winter hibernation. A few handfuls of poisoned grain at the entrance to each main burrow or den will put many groundhogs permanently to sleep and prevent emergence the next season, with an enlarged family soon appearing.

If the gas method of control is employed, however, it should be done only during the spring months to prevent endangering valuable fur animals.

Exceptionally warm weather during October and absence of frosts and freezes until late in the month favored the maturing and harvesting of crops throughout New England and final yields, generally, were better than was expected earlier in the season. On the basis of reported yields on Nov. 1 the Connecticut potato crop is estimated to be 1,400,000 bushels, 36 percent less than was harvested last year. The New England potato crop is estimated to be 40,328,000 bushels, 2 percent greater than was estimated a month ago, 13 percent less than was harvested last year and 12 percent less than the five-year average.

The Connecticut commercial apple crop is estimated to be 172,000 barrels compared with 350,000 barrels harvested last year and 249,000 barrels the five-year average. Favorable weather during October increased New England commercial apple prospects 5

The New Idea of Cancer

Many Cases Can Be Cured If Reported Promptly

BULLETIN No. 3.

THE DANGER SIGNALS OF CANCER.

One of the reasons why so many people died of cancer lies in the fact that the disease usually exists for some time, before it is properly treated. It has then progressed from a local and miniature cancer to a large and dangerous one. Therefore, everybody should learn what the first symptoms are and what to do when they are believed to be present.

Any lump, especially in the breast, which comes and remains for some time without satisfactory explanation should be looked upon with suspicion. One should go immediately to a competent physician. In nearly all instances the suspicion of cancer will have been unfounded.

Any sore that does not heal—particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips—is suspicious of cancer. The lower lip, especially among men, is a favorite starting point. Sometimes the tongue or other part of the mouth is the place where a cancer begins. Beware of the spot where a broken tooth or ill fitting dental plate has rubbed until a sore has resulted. When such a condition is found go immediately to a capable physician to make sure of the diagnosis. It may not be cancer, but if it is that trouble, your action may prevent very serious consequences.

Any irregular bleeding or abnormal discharge from any of the orifices of the body is a danger signal which should be promptly heeded.

Persistent indigestion with loss of weight is a symptom of cancer of the stomach which is so frequent as to make its earliest possible detection imperative.

Periodic physical examinations made with an eye alert to cancer afford one of the best means of protection against this disease. They should be taken once a year after the age of thirty-five has been reached.

WOMAN, 84, FOUND IN ROAD— POSSIBLY STRUCK BY CAR

NEW LONDON, Nov. 30—Mrs. Susan Greig, 84, of 47 Mechanic street, Westerly, is a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, suffering from a fractured left leg, which she sustained last night and in a manner which she cannot explain. It is believed that she received the injury by falling in the highway. Mrs. Greig was on Bank street and at Lee avenue she started to cross the street to visit a friend, before continuing to the residence of her son, Andrew Greig, Waterford. That is all Mrs. Greig remembers. A short time afterwards an automobile truck, driven by Angelo Pepa, 280 East 150th street, New York, came along and Pepa noticed the form of Mrs. Greig lying in the road. Pepa alighted and placing the injured woman on the truck drove her to the hospital. Pepa was presented to the police court this morning charged with driving without a registration, but judgment was suspended and Pepa was held pending officers making an investigation, to determine if it was not Pepa's truck that had struck the woman. Pepa was held until late this afternoon when he was released for Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith was unable to find any witnesses who saw the aged woman struck.

The funeral of Eugene C. Cook, former New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad employe, was held this morning at his residence on Eastern Point road, Groton, at 10:30 o'clock and was attended by a large number of mourners, including many railroad employes. The service was read by Rev. William J. Fox, pastor of Sacred Heart church. Bearers were E. J. Foote, T. J. Duggan, W. S. Farrow, I. E. Trail, D. L. Shea and B. F. Smith, all railroad employes. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, New London.

Mrs. Florence Chaney, of 160 Broad street and John Castaldi, 59 1-2 Bank street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Pequot Realty company has sold a building lot, corner of Worthington road and Lower Boulevard, to Percival W. Woodruff.

Mrs. Donald Corcoran, of Faire Harbour place, was operated on at Lawrence Memorial hospital yesterday for appendicitis. Her condition today was reported favorable.

In the police court today, the contested case of Marion Lewis, colored, proprietress of a resort frequented by blacks and whites at 80 Potter street, charged with conducting a disorderly house and the cases of Erma McRae, colored, of Hempstead street and Ethel Daly and Corinne Morris, both colored and residing at the Potter street house and Daniel W. Douglass, white, of 21 Garfield avenue, charged with frequenting, were disposed of. The Lewis woman was fined $50 and costs and was sentenced to 30 days in jail, but the jail sentence was suspended. The McRae woman was fined $25 and costs. The other frequenters received a suspension of judgment. The Lewis house was raided several nights ago.

Another resort frequented by blacks and whites was raided last midnight when Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolman Elwood Bailey went to the house, 14 John street and arrested Matty Jones, alias Wilson, charged with conducting a disorderly house. A white youth, a minor, was charged with frequenting. In the police court today the cases were continued to tomorrow.

The funeral of Emil Wimmul, formerly of New London, who died in New York last Sunday was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at 15 Masonic street, the service being conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ. The bearers were members of the Sons of Herman, of which order Mr. Wimmul was a member. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Funeral services for Patrick T. Feeley, of Waterford, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, attended by a large assemblage of mourners, including delegations of members of the Stone Cutters' Union of America, Ancient Order of Hibernians and New England Order of Protection. High mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. William C. Fitzsimons. As a waiting hymn, Edward F. Murray sang "There's a Beautiful Land on High." The bearers were Michael Conway, William Gaird, Thomas Woods, Edward Heffernan and Eugene Riley, this city, and William Caird, Waterford. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Geer, wife of Theron Geer, died last night at her residence, 9 Prest street, after a lingering illness. Besides her husband, Mrs. Geer is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bernard Howard and Miss Josephine Geer, of this city; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Rourke, of New Britain and Mrs. Amy Reeves of this city and by three brothers, Edward A. Howard, East Islip, N. Y.; Robert C. Howard, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Frederick L. Howard of this city. Mrs. Geer was employed as a silk warper by the Corticelli Silk company. She had always resided in New London. She was born March 9, 1880, the daughter of Josiah W. and Josephine C. Howard.

BIG LUMBER FREIGHTER IN PORT AFTER SIX WEEKS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 30.—The Norwegian lumber freighter, Kris Knudsen, arrived in port today with a mammoth cargo of lumber and work has already been started at the state pier transferring the lumber from the freighter to freight cars. The work will require several days. The Knudsen was inspected by Quarantine Officer Joseph M. Ganey, who found health conditions aboard the freighter excellent and gave Capt. Aaronsen a clean bill of health. The freighter came to New London from Trinidad and Barbadoes, in the West Indies and has been en route about six weeks.

IRVING AYERS, WATERFORD, WANTED TO STAB HIS WIFE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 30.—Irving Ayers, of Waterford, was arrested tonight charged with breach of the peace in creating a disturbance at his home and threatening the life of his wife. He is locked up at police headquarters and will be in the Waterford town court Friday afternoon. Ayers went to his home about 6 o'clock, quarreled with his wife, becoming boisterous. Ayers left the house and Mrs. Ayers communicated with the state police barracks and requested that her husband be arrested. Officer Smith, going to the Ayers home, found Ayers waiting beneath a window, close to the entrance, with a large-bladed knife in his hand, presumably for the purpose of attacking his wife should she leave the house. Ayers was disarmed and then brought to New London.

VOTING MACHINE OPENED FOX STATUS UNCHANGED

NEW LONDON, Nov. 30.—In accordance with an order issued by Judge Christopher L. Avery, of the superior court, in response to a petition by counsel for William C. Fox, defeated at the polls last September for member of council, that as an apparent discrepancy existed in the count in the fifth ward, the machines be opened and the check lists be rechecked, the machines were opened in the office of City Clerk Julian D. Moran today. The machines were found to have recorded the votes accurately, but the re-check of the lists used by the checkers shows errors. However, the situation is not altered, for as the matter stands it is practically the same as before the machines were opened and the checking lists inspected.

Alice Snyder, 18, of Graniteville, was presented on continuance in the police court this morning on a charge of lascivious carriage, she having been arrested last Friday. The authorities have been assured by the parents of the girl that they will see to it that her conduct in the future will be such as not to need police attention. The girl was arrested at night in Williams Memorial park where she was in the company of two sailors. Patrolman Al Iverson was attracted to the trio and with Policewoman Jane Cassidy, arrested the girl.

Timothy F. O'Neill, 54, former park policeman, latterly employed by the Robert Gair company, Montville, died today at his home, 7 Crescent street, after an illness of several weeks. He is survived by his wife and five children, Timothy J., John and James O'Neill and Misses Marion and Julia O'Neill. He leaves a brother, Michael O'Neill, a former member of the New London police department. Mr. O'Neill was born in Ireland, but had resided in this city since he was a young man.

The police tonight are seeking the driver of an automobile that collided with another car on Bank street and then came dangerously close to running down Patrolman Harry Watterson, who went to the highway in an endeavor to cause the drivers to stop. When the machine was on Bank street and between Division and Shaw street it struck an automobile owned by Andrew Trione, Bank street merchant. When the driver attempted to speed away without stopping to determine the extent of the damage he had occasioned, Officer Watterson went to thestreet and signalled the driver to come to a stop. Instead of doing so, the driver stepped on the accelerator and as the auto gathered speed the officer was forced to jump to one side in order to avoid being struck. The markers on the auto are N-7642 and the car is registered in the name of Henry W. June, 5 Clement street, Waterford.

A fellow, a stranger in New London, was at the station this evening, intoxicated. He made a nuisance of himself and became abusive when Special Agents Perreault and Daly ordered him off the railroad property. He even attempted to strike the officers and was arrested. He will be in the police court tomorrow.

Capt. John O'Neill, 74, a tugboat master, father of Jeremiah O'Neill, Fishers Island, died yesterday at his home at Newport, R. I. Besides his son, Mr. O'Neill is survived by his wife and another son, John O'Neill, both of Newport.

William Crocker died this afternoon at his residence in Bridgewood park, Waterford, death ending a brief illness.

TODAY'S EVENTS

One month from today you'll be writing it "1928"—if you don't forget.

Patriotic societies throughout the United States today will observe the 150th anniversary of the arrival in America of Baron Steuben, the great organizer of the Continental armies in the revolution.

The Italian chamber of deputies has been ordered to reconvene today for what promises to be one of the most important sessions of recent years.

The winter social season at the White House will be ushered in this evening with a reception and dinner in honor of the members of the Cabinet.

The annual convention of the American Construction council of which Franklin D. Roosevelt is president, will meet in St. Louis today for a three-day session.

Mining, the Keystone of Industry, will be the keynote of the thirtieth annual convention of the American Mining Congress, which opens today in Washington, D. C.

Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian minister to the United States, is to be the guest and chief speaker at the annual banquet tonight of the Canadian club of Boston.

A new labor college with purposes similar to several already existing in the United States is to be opened today at Appleton, Wis., under the auspices of the Trade and Labor council of that city.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theatre

See the widely heralded picture South of the Equator showing for the last time tonight at the Strand. Kenneth McDonald has the leading male role and has the support of beautiful Virginia Warwick as the heroine in this interesting story of a lone American, who settles a southern revolution.

Where the North Holds Sway with Jack Perrin in the leading role is a story of the Northwest Mounted Police and has plenty of action, romance and a swift moving plot. Mr. Perrin has the support of a prominent cast of clever players.

New Ford Charts to be Shown

Four wheel brakes, standard selective-gear transmission, extraordinary acceleration, a speed of sixty miles an hour and more, a practically vibrationless engine, and unusual beauty in line and color are among the outstanding features of the new Ford cars the first of which will be shown in many parts of the country next Friday. The generator, oiling system, steering gear and rear axle are of new Ford design, it is announced. And its 40-horse-power engine has been so designed that it runs 20 to 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline. This car, which is to succeed the famous Model-T line, will be shown on Friday by Ford dealers in many of the larger cities of the country. In Norwich only photographs and descriptive charts of the new cars will be on display at O. C. Wolfe Inc., showrooms, where the public will be given the complete story of the new Ford car. Later various models of the new Ford line will be on display here.

So far the new cars have been examined only by those who will have charge of the first showings and demonstrations. Salesmen and demonstrators are studying charts and diagrams which will be used in explaining the various details of design, appearance and performance. For months factory models of the new car have been undergoing severe performance tests in and around Detroit. One of these factory models recently made a road run of 120 miles in 124 minutes. This run, it is said, was made on an ordinary paved highway near Detroit.

O. C. Wolfe, treasurer of the O. C. Wolf, Inc., in commenting on the forthcoming show, said his first view of the new Ford car had substantiated Henry Ford's statement that "there is nothing quite like it in quality and price."

"Mr. Ford's statement had prepared us for a surprise," said Mr. Wolfe, "but the new Ford car is better even than we had hoped for. It is certain to make history in the automotive industry, just as its predecessor, the famous Model T, has made history for 20 years. We are proud of the new Ford car and feel certain that its appearance and performance will attract unprecedented attention among automobile owners."

Has Norwich Representative

Thomson, Fenn & Company, investment bankers of 56 Pearl street, Hartford, with offices in New Haven and New Britain, announce the appointment of Mr. Elmer F. Farnham as their representative in Norwich, New London, Westerly and Providence.

Mr. Farnham, who was formerly of East Hartford has recently made his home in Norwich Town. He is a native of Collinsville and a son of Mr. Charles A. Farnham, president of the Collinsville Savings society. He is a graduate of the Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs and after graduation served as an instructor of agronomy at that institution. During the World war he served as a second lieutenant with the 303d Field Artillery, A. E. F., and saw long service over seas. Prior to his appointment Mr. Farnham represented Thomson, Fenn & Co., in northwestern Connecticut.

Mr. Farnham is married and has two children.

Palace Theatre

Strange electrical effects, shadows of huge chains, and hideous faces, dismal rain scenes, dark cellars, covered with cob-webs, dimly lighted hallways with murderous eyes glaring from tiny portals, are a few of the many startling scenes incorporated in "The Thirteenth Hour," now playing at the Palace, which makes it one of the most thrilling stories ever filmed. The story is an original one portraying modern crime problems in a new guise. From the opening scenes to the final fade out suspense is sustained by the presence of a mysterious character, suspected of committing a notorious murder, and it is not until the last scene that the identity of this character is revealed by the detective hero and his dog pal.

The cast is headed by Lionel Barrymore who plays the part of Neville Leroy, a mysterious professor interested in occult science. Others in the cast include Charles Delaney, Jacqueline Gadson, Fred Kelsey, Polly Moran and "Napoleon" the German police dog.

Accompanying the picture is a very good vaudeville program, consisting of five acts comprising the best obtainable in singing, dancing, comedy and novelty entertainment.

Connecticut Light and Power Co.

A banking group headed by Estabrook & Company and including Putnam & Co., Hincks Brothers & Company and Charles W. Scranton & Co. and The R. F. Griggs company and Thomson, Fenn & Co., are making public offering of a new issue of $6,500,000 5 1-2 per cent cumulative preferred stock of the Connecticut Light and Power company. This stock, dividends on which are exempt from present normal federal income and Connecticut state taxes, is priced at par flat, if purchase and payment are made on or before December 6, 1927, and thereafter at par and accrued dividends, yielding in both instances 5.50 per cent.

The Connecticut Light and Power company, a consolidation of gas, electric light and power generating and distributing companies in Connecticut, supplies electric light and power to 48 cities and towns in the important industrial Naugatuck Valley district. In addition, the company also supplies gas to seven cities and towns.

Company has a total owned and real estate property investment of $57,574,327. Proceeds of present issue will provide in part for construction of a 32,000 h. p. hydro-electric generating station building at New Milford, Connecticut, expected to be completed in the summer of 1928. This project will add about 40,000 kwatts to the company's generating capacity and involves the erection of a huge dam, making a lake ten miles in length, with 60 miles of shore line, covering nearly 6,000 acres of land, absorbing four smaller lakes. The power station on the bank of the Housatonic river carries a turbine of 32,000 h. p. The power station will house besides the turbine two huge electrically driven pumps with capacity of 112,500 gallons per minute. After the water has run through the turbines and produced electricity, this same electricity runs the pumps which will force the water back to the lake, from which the water is again released to go through the same process. Proceeds of this issue will also provide for other additional extensions.

Net earnings of The Connecticut Light and Power company, for dividends and surplus for year ended September 30, 1927 were more than 1.69 times dividend requirements on outstanding cumulative preferred, including this issue—this without any direct benefit from over $6,750,000 already invested in as yet non-operating developments and over $4,000,000 of cash available for construction.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broad Theatre

Battleships foaming into action in the greatest sea battle of history; 2,000,000 soldiers being carried overseas to France and at home a girl dying a thousand living deaths that the Convoys might sail in safety.

Those are the highlights of "Convoy," Robert Kane's great epic of the navy, which comes to the Breed theatre today for a run of three days with an all-star cast headed by Dorothy Mackaill, Lowell Sherman, Buster Collier, Lawrence Gray and Ian Keith.

Produced with the cooperation of the United States navy, the First National special was hailed in Washington as the film history of the navy at war, when Joe Boyle, the director took the picture to the capital for a government pre-view.

The mobilization of the United States at the outbreak of the war, the methods by which German secret service agents were apprehended and the organization of the historical convoy system form a background for one of the most dramatic tales ever put on the screen.

The picture was four months in production, cost over $1,000,000 and engaged the efforts of more than 3,000 actors and extras. Actual pictures of the battle of the North Sea, with ships sinking, thousands of guns firing and the sea becoming a literal volcano, taken during the war by British, German and American official photographers are featured.

Connecticut College Concert

From the pen of Herbert F. Peyser in the New York Telegram of October 24, the following is taken.

"The miracle of the English Singers is as lasting as it is inscrutable. From a tenth hearing of this incredible half dozen, seated like spiritualists about a table, one turns with the same bewildered delight as from the first. The magic of it all resolves itself as little as the mystery of its compassing. Will it do to say that they have trained tirelessly or to recognize that they are animated by one heart, one spirit and one truth? Other choirs have labored and sweated to the finest ends of technical cultivation and have wrought with a noble unity of purpose. But which of them has occupied its eminence in the same splendid isolation as this handful, or represented so singular and handsome a departure from the unlovelliest tendencies of its age?"

The English Singers who come to Bulkeley auditorium next Tuesday evening are extremely entertaining. Beside that, they have so much to give of the art of singing in all that the term implies, that every singer, especially choir singers, should be there to hear them and to imbibe as deeply as possible at the Pierian spring.

Broadway Theatre

Add one more success to that striking list of Zane Grey western stories which have been stirring the hearts of men, women and children for years on printed page and screen. Its title is "Nevada," ust released by Paramount and due to take its place with "The Thundering Herd," "The Vanishing American," "Wanderer of the Wasteland," "Forlorn River," "Drums of the Desert" and a dozen others. Zane Grey fans will see it at the Broadway theatre where it will run for three days.

The Zane Grey name and the Paramount trademark are always good entertainment insurance and this latest release "Nevada" is declared to be one of the best western tales so far translated to the screen. The cast names promise splendid performances. Gary Cooper is the star, a husky young daredevil, born in the west and typical of western heroism.

The co-feature is "The Night Bride" a new Metropolitan comedy starring Marie Prevost, will prove a delight to local picture fans. The story has snap and ginger and there are many amusing complications in which Harrison Ford and Franklin Pangborn, who appear in featured roles, share honors with the star. The production is one of the best to be seen here in recent months. The supporting cast notably Robert Edeson, Constance Howard and George Kuwa, are excellent. The comedy is quite worth while.

Women Voters' League Speaker.

Mrs. Florence L. C. Kitchelt, of New Haven, is to be the speaker for the regular monthly meeting of Norwich League of Women Voters to be held next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Slater hall annex.

Mrs. Kitchelt has just returned from a six months' trip in Europe, including Spain, the Balkan countries, Central Europe and ending with several weeks in Geneva at the Institute of International Relations and at the assembly of the League of Nations. Mrs. Kitchelt's topic will be "The Congress of the World," with illustrations from that section of the world she so recently visited.

POETRY

Rain on the Roof

When the humid shadows hover
Over all the starry spheres,
And the melancholy darkness
Gently weeps in rainy tears,
What a joy to press the pillow
Of a cottage-chamber bed,
And to listen to the patter
Of the soft rain overhead!

Every tinkle on the shingles
Has an echo in the heart;
And a thousand dreamy fancies
Into busy being start;
And a thousand recollections
Weave their air-threads into woof,
As I listen to the patter
Of the rain upon the roof.

Now in memory comes my mother,
As she used, in years agone,
To survey her darling dreamers
Ere she left them till the dawn;
Oh, I see her leaning o'er me,
As I list to this refrain
Which is played upon the shingles
By the patter of the rain.

Then my little seraph sister
With her wings and waving hair,
And her bright-eyed cherub brother—
A serene, angelic pair—
Glide around my wakeful pillow,
With their praise or mild reproof,
As I listen to the murmur
Of the soft rain on the roof.

And another comes to thrill me
With her eyes' delicious blue:
And I mind not, musing on her,
That her heart was all untrue;
I remember that I loved her
With a passion kin to pain,
And my heart's quick pulses vibrate
To the patter of the rain.

Art hath naught of tone or cadence
That can work with such a spell
In the soul's mysterious fountains
Whence the tears of rapture well
As that melody of Nature,
That subdued, subduing strain
Which is played upon the shingles
By the patter of the rain.

—Coates Kinney.

Shadow Evidence

Swift o'er the sunny grass,
I saw a shadow pass
With subtle charm—
So quick, so full of life,
With thrilling joy so rife,
I started lest, unknown,
My step—ere it was flown—
Had done it harm.

Why look up to the blue?
The bird was gone, I knew,
Far out of sight.
Steady and keen of wing,
The slight, impassioned thing
Intent on a goal unknown,
Had held its course alone
In silent flight.

Dear little bird, and fleet,
Flinging down at my feet
Shadow for song,
More sure am I of thee—
Unseen, unheard by me—
Than of some things felt and known,
And guarded as my own,
All my life long.

—Mary Mapes Dodge.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Bob—The girl I marry must have lots of personality.

Bert—I don't like them fat.—Answers, London.

"What do you think of your new sister, Tommy?"

"I don't blame the stork for wanting to get rid of her."—Detroit News.

"Do you own a flivver?"

"No," answered Mr. Chuggins. "I made an original deposit. I regard the cost of batteries, oil, gas and new parts as perpetual rent."—Washington Star.

"I don't owe anybody and now I can look every man straight in the eyes and tell him to go to the devil."

"What's the idea of doing that if you don't owe anybody?"—Life.

"How are you on chemistry, Bill?"

"I know something about nitrates."

"What, for instance?"

"I know they are cheaper than day rates."—Boston Transcript.

The old cowboy character actor was trying to kid the demure leading lady. "You know," said he, "a man is only as old as he feels, and I feel like a two-year-old!"

"Horse or egg?" asked the cute little thing.—Los Angeles Times.

This joke is from Punch, but we have taken the liberty of translating it into our American idiom:

Golfer (leaning against his auto)—Longest drive of my life today. Drove nearly 200 yards.

Friends—Well, well! The old bus is doing better, eh?—Judge.

Complaining customer at coffee stall—I haven't come to any ham in this sandwich yet.

Proprietor—Try another bite.

Customer (after huge mouthful)—I haven't come to any ham yet.

Proprietor—Darn! You must have gone right past it.—Montreal Family Herald.

KALEIDOSCOPE

The average life of a butterfly is believed to be about a month.

Tarahumara Indians of Mexico pace the deer until it falls exhausted and then they kill it.

Actually and figuratively toy balloon exports soared during the first half of this year. The United Kingdom took half of the $359,743 worth sold while British India, Canada and Mexico took most of the rest. Canada paid $27,620 for a major share of rubber toys and balls exported. The United Kingdom spent $20,351 for the next largest consignment.

As officials prepared to hand out medals struck in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the state government of New York at Kingston, they were shocked to find that the letter "N" had been left out of the most important word on the medals—"Sesquicentennial." The legend on the bronze read: "Sesquicentenial." Hasty conning of dictionaries confirmed the suspicion that there was no authority for such simplified spelling. But optimists perceive a silver lining in the cloud. They point out that errors have made stamps and coins valuable, and that maybe the mistake will add to the value of the disc.

Once the dazzling beauty and central light in the oriental splendor of the court of Petrograd, Maria Feodorowna, 87 year old dowager empress of Russia, is now living the Spartan life of a humble citizen. Her home is a modest seaside residence, Hvidoere, just outside Copenhagen, bought years ago by her sister, the late Queen Alexandra, of England. It is without central heating or stoves of any kind, for it was built as a summer residence only. Amid this comparative poverty the empress knits and embroiders and sells her handiwork at the charity bazars for the benefit of Russian refugees. Her bedspreads and scarfs fetch fancy prices. Once a day she goes for a short drive in the adjacent woods, and this is the only break in her daily life. On the doormat outside her bedroom sleeps a gigantic old Cossack, guarding the life of his mistress as he has done for 20 years.

Look at Child's Tongue if Sick, Cross, Feverish

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless, "fruity laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

"Burnham's Corners" by J. Eliot Enneking, now on exhibition with 30 small paintings, at Braters in New London.

SPAN THIRTY YEARS IN SOMERSET LODGE'S PAST MASTERS' NIGHT

JUSTIN HOLDEN
Past Grand Master

HENRY FOLENIUS
Worshipful Master

Thirty years in the official life of Somerset lodge, No. 34, F. and A. M., of which Henry Follenius is worshipful master for the present term, were spanned in past masters' night which was held by the lodge Wednesday evening at the Masonic temple, when Justin Holden, the only living past grand master of the state in the lodge membership, filled the master's chair for the exemplification of the M. M. degree.

The following were the past masters filling the chairs with the year in which they held office:

W. M. Justin Holden, 1896-97; S. W. Robert W. Otis, 1912; J. W. Herbert R. Kind, 1913-14; Treasurer William S. Elliott, 1920; Secretary Arthur M. Thompson, 1915; Sr. D. John A. Scott, 1921; Jr. D. Alexander Finlayson, 1922; Sr. S. Herman Stelzner, 1923; Jr. S. William W. Tannar, 1924; Chaplain George A. Keppler, 1910.

The degree work was exemplified in splendid form by the staff of officers under the leadership of P. G. M. Holden and one of the impressive features of the evening was the lecture given by Howard L. Stanton, 33rd.

There was an attendance of about 200, which included visitors from Springfield and Boston, New London, Hartford, Jewett City, North Stonington, Ashaway, R. I., Vermont and South Carolina.

A buffet lunch of escalloped oysters, rolls, coffee, lady fingers and ice cream was served after the work.

WEDDING
Ericson-Watters

A pretty wedding took place at the rectory of St. Mary's Memorial church at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening when Rev. William A. Keefe, pastor, united in marriage Miss Helen Elizabeth Watters, the daughter of Mrs. Theresa Watters, of 14 Cliff street and Verner Ericson, son of Oscar and Tekla Ericson of 41 Convent avenue.

The bride was beautifully attired in yellow georgette with hat to correspond and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid, Miss Vera Watters, a sister of the bride, was handsomely gowned in orchid crepe de chine with hat to match and her bouquet consisted of pink tea roses. Herbert Neilson was best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on Cliff street. The bride received many attractive gifts including linen, cutglass, checks for substantial amounts and silverware. Mr. and Mrs. Ericson left on a wedding trip to New York city. The bride's traveling gown was of blue satin. On their return the couple will reside in a newly furnished home at 201 Franklin street. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ericson have a large circle of friends, who wish them every success in married life.

Mr. and Mrs. James Vandermark have returned to their home in Waterbury after spending a few days at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. J. Bernard of Boswell avenue.

A successful supper and sale of aprons, fancy work and candy was held Wednesday evening in the guild room of St. Andrew's church by the Ladies guild with two hundred people attending. The hall was prettily decorated, also the tables with eight red candles on each, which were lighted at the beginning of the supper by Mrs. Fitch Dolbeare, the president of the society. The center of the table was also decorated with a long string of evergreen representing the Christmas colors of red and green. Much credit is due to the chairman of the committee, Mrs. A. J. Bernard, who had as her assistants, Mrs. Howard Gordon and Mrs. John Tilford. The waitresses were Mrs. William Shaw, Mrs. J. Rees Jones, Mrs. Frederick Fitch, Mrs. William Crowe, Mrs. William Mabrey, Mrs. Winterbottom, Mrs. Finlayson, Mrs. Charles Erwin and Mrs. Amos Brosofske. The waitresses were in charge of Mrs. Richard Seed. Mrs. William Banfield and Mrs. Wooley were in charge of the supply table; Mrs. Charles Perry and Mrs. Ebberheart, handkerchief booth; Mrs. Charles Evans and Mrs. Frank Prodell, apron booth; Mrs. John Hall and Mrs. James Johnson, fancy work table and Mrs. Edward R. Risley and Mrs. Howard Adams, candy booth. Mrs. William A. Taft had charge of selling tickets and Mrs. Fitch Dolbeare was general chairman of the committees.

George Kramer of Central avenue and Donald Bartlett of Willimantic have returned home from a two weeks hunting trip in Maine, where they shot two moose. Mr. Kramer brought down one weighing 1,300 pounds while the other, killed by Mr. Bartlett, weighed 900 pounds.

LEILA TROLAND GARDNER MAKING GOOD IN MILAN

Mrs. Leila Troland Gardner, the New York singer, who visited Norwich, the city of her birth before sailing for Italy this fall, is now established in Milan until next May. Mrs. Gardner is with musical friends and will teach English diction to students who come to Italy for instruction.

She was a passenger on the Italian liner Duilio from New York and after the first concert on board she won the admiration of her listeners for her fine singing of Negro spirituals and other selections. So popular did she become that the captain gave a dinner in her honor Oct. 28th, the special menu including Astrakan caviar, jubilee cream, filet de sole Otero, roast loin of baby lamb a la mascotte, breaded cauliflower, surprise omelette, French pastries, dessert. Mrs. Gardner's name led the honor list, the other special guests at the captain's table being Miss Marion Brett, Mrs. J. S. Cooke and Mrs. C. W. Biegen. The menu folder was white and gold.

Nov. 1st, the leader of the ship's orchestra, Maestro Rotta Alfredo, complimented Mrs. Gardner by putting at the head of his concert program "Gardenia Waltz," a favorite instrumental composition, by Mrs. Gardner which has been played by a number of leading orchestras. This, too, was announced on a handsomely gotten up gold-embossed program.

Her pupils in Milan are of several nationalities, Danish, German, Swiss and Italian, but as Mrs. Gardner speaks three languages fluently she has no difficulty on this account. It is an interesting fact that these pupils are all young and all frankly headed for America—to them the Land of Gold. She began her course of instruction Monday, Nov. 21st.

Before settling down to work Mrs. Gardner spent a day in Genoa, visiting the house where Columbus was born. Regarding this she writes: "When in Spain last year I visited the great cathedral in Seville and touched the sarcophagus where all that is mortal of him remains. We Americans should all go there and humbly kneel and pay homage to a man who found for us the most glorious country in the world—God rest his soul."

The musical friends with whom Mrs. Gardner is associated have a fine modern apartment, heat, electricity, gas, etc., and she mentions being as comfortable in her own large, sunny room as in New York. The Chevalier Carpi and his wife, Signora Carpi, gave a fine reception for Mrs. Gardner Sunday the 13th, after which they attended concerts at the Royal Conservatory There Mrs. Gardner intends to study harmony, theory and composition.

It is interesting to her musical friends throughout eastern Connecticut that Mrs. Gardner, proverbial for her hard work in her profession, has attained such advantages and is engaged in such a congenial atmosphere and amid such agreeable surroundings this winter.

MADE THANKSGIVING TRIP TO NEW HAMPSHIRE

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bullard, Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Bullard and daughter, James Rutherford, Miss Doris E. Bullard, and Miss Marion Allen spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. C. Richard Potter of Charlestown, N. H., enjoying a very pleasant visit.

While at Charlestown, some of the visitors took side trips about the "coded section of Vermont including Rutland, Mount Holly, Cavendish, Springfield, East Bridgewater, Ludlow and Mendon, these places suffering considerably. They claim there was no exaggeration by the newspapers in regard to the damage caused by the recent flood.

NIGHT SEASON HUNTERS WERE FINED IN SALEM

Hunting with a high-powered rifle "for rabbit and partridge" at night in the orchard of George Goldie, netted a fine of $20 for Charles Carlson Tuesday night at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Charles Beebe in the town of Salem. Carlson was fined one dollar and costs on two counts for trespassing on the Goldie property and the Fairy Lake farm property. William Booth, Carlson's companion, was fined $1 and costs for trespassing on the Fairy Lake farm property. Carlson also had his hunting license and badge suspended for a year. The costs in each case amounted to $11.68.

The two men were arrested on complaint of Mr. Goldie, who saw the two men on his property. Mr. Goldie, himself armed with a rifle, was scouring his six-acre orchard for deer, which in spite of constant vigilance and protecting ten-foot wire fence, destroy young trees averaging $500 a year in value.

The owner of the orchard saw Carlson in the orchard and after questioning him, accompanied him to the orchard gate, where Booth was waiting in an automobile. The car was parked on Mr. Goldie's property.

Carlson was charged with hunting deer. He offered no reason for hunting partridge and rabbit with a high-powered rifle in darkness that make it extremely difficult to see either.

A large crowd of spectators jammed the courtroom for the hearing.

Game Warden Chappell has deputized several men to assist in patrolling the town as a protection against stray shots from hunters of the night.

GLASTONBURY ROAD IS TO BE REBUILT SOON

State highway department plans for finishing the highway between Middletown and Hartford, through Portland and Glastonbury, on the east side of the Connecticut river, are in the works. Bids were requested and will be opened in Hartford at department headquarters.

The specifications call for the construction of 29,100 feet of reinforced concrete on that part of the highway from the Portland and Glastonbury line to near the junction of the New London turnpike.

When the job is begun it will be still another state improvement for the highways leading into Middletown. The stretch of road is one of the best in the state in the matter of scenery and views, specially in the summer time. The job of improving this road was begun about three years ago. The change was especially welcomed by Portland people. This additional bit of road building will be pleasing not only to Portland, but to South Glastonbury as well. East Hampton, too, will find it worth while to use this route to Hartford, rather than to go to the New London turnpike.

COVENTRY OWES $5.60 TO TWO TOWN OFFICIALS

The town of Coventry accounts do not balance by the sum of $5.60, of which $2.60 is owing to the town treasurer and $3 to the tax collector, according to an exhaustive audit of the town books by a Hartford firm, the report of which was presented to Frank E. Hull, moderator of the annual town meeting. Mr. Hull said he had not yet received a bill for the audit and would not say what he thought the cost would be. Report here is that the cost of the audit will be $1,000 and that a special tax may be necessary to pay for it.

Burton E. Flint, unsuccessful democratic candidate for first selectman, in the annual town meeting Oct. 3, moved for the appointment of a committee of six, three from each major party, to audit the town accounts. William E. Higgins, first selectman, moved an amendment, which was carried, for an audit by outside accountants.

The examination of the accounts of the selectmen showed no discrepancies, according to Mr. Hull. The auditors, he said, reported that it was "not customary" to list the interest due on tax liens as a town asset, but this procedure, Mr. Hull said had been followed in Coventry for 45 years and was also the practice in surrounding towns.

Mr. Hull will present the report of the auditors at an adjourned town meeting to be held Dec. 10.

CROWN EXTRACTION CAUSE OF SUIT AGAINST DENTIST

On the claim that while he was giving her dental treatment, consisting of the extraction of six teeth, he allowed the crown of one to drop into her right bronchial tube. Mrs. Annie M. Fanning of this city has brought suit for $10,000 damages against Frank N. Bidwell, a Norwich dentist. The suit is returnable in January in the superior court.

It is alleged that the accident happened Nov. 5, 1926 and that the lost crown remained in Mrs. Fanning's bronchial tube for about seven months, causing her to suffer intensely from difficulty in breathing, from violent coughing spells and from night sweats, and she became sick and weak. She claims that she has been required to spend about $1200 for nursing, medical care, and attention.

Suit Settled And Withdrawn

Withdrawal without costs from the docket of the superior court has been filed with the clerk in the $5,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Mary Bayerle of New London against the city of New London. Mrs. Bayerle sued as the result of a fall in Broad street. The suit was recently settled out of court for $750.

ASPIRANTS CHARY AS THEY AWAIT COOLIDGE ADDRESS

Republican National Committeemen, Arriving in Washington, Are Hoping For an Amplification of the Coolidge "I Do Not Choose" Statement—Leaders Are Disposed to Keep the Field Clear so Long as Mr. Coolidge is Undisposed to Clarify His Position Upon the Presidential Nomination—Early Discussion Tends to Place the Date For the National Convention About June 12.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)— Accelerated by the approaching session of the republican national committee to select a convention city, politics came in for its full share of attention today with speculation divided as to where the convention will be held and the part to be taken by President Coolidge in next year's campaign.

Professing to see little beyond a wide diversion of opinion, many of the early arriving committeemen expressed the hope that the president would give a clearer definition of his Black Hills "I do not choose" statement. It was apparent that many were looking forward to Tuesday, when Mr. Coolidge receives the committee at the white house, as an opportunity to relieve the uncertainty which some of them believe is restricting their activities. Others however, were of the opinion that the president would not elaborate on his position.

The reiteration by Vice-President Dawes at the white house today that he is not a candidate for president and favors Frank O. Lowden served as a basis for considerable discussion but, while various candidates were mentioned, the disposition on the part of many was to keep the field clear so long as Mr. Coolidge is undisposed to clarify his own position.

As speculation claimed the committeemen, the main business to be transacted at the meeting beginning Monday—selection of a convention city—was in a definite preliminary stage.

Headquarters for Detroit were opened in the Willard hotel where a delegation from Philadelphia already had established itself. Representatives of San Francisco and other cities seeking the convention are expected to set up headquarters over the week end.

Although sentiment was said to be far from crystallized, a number of the early comers were of the opinion that a city not more than an overnight trip from Washington should be selected because congress may not have adjourned when the convention opens. This sentiment gave the supporters of Detroit, Cleveland and Philadelphia considerable encouragement but it was pointed out by committeemen that San Francisco and Kansas City had many points in their favor although entailing a longer journey. In all, a dozen cities are after the convention.

Early discussion also tended to place the date for the convention at about June 12. As usual it is expected to behold before the quadrennial meeting of the democrats.

With the ranks of the incoming committeemen rapidly increasing, headquarters of the national committee in the Munsey building were becoming the center of political activity. Most of the committeemen besieged the office of Chairman Butler in the hope that he might throw more light on the position of President Coolidge, but although the chairman spent last evening at the white house, and is a close friend of the president it was said he had little enlightening news to offer.

Butler did inform them, however, that he saw no likelihood of the president amplifying his Black Hills statement in his speech to them Tuesday, declaring he expected it to be strictly confined to a dissertation of republican party principles.

One of those most outspoken about was termed the need of a clarification by the president was R. B. Creager, national committeemen for Texas. He said the committee would be hampered in the absence of a more definite pronouncement by Mr. Coolidge.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS IN PARTY CONFERENCES TODAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—(AP)—While rather late in developing, the usual biennial hubbub about senate organization is in full swing with the situation admittedly full of possibilities.

Western republican independents have the power to upset the carefully laid organization plans of the republican old guard by virtue of the close division between the major parties. Whether they will use it depends largely upon developments tomorrow at the party conference for the selection of candidates for senate officers.

As the situation was viewed tonight, it appeared as though the republican leaders were a bit apprehensive that their plans might go awry and that democratic leaders were wondering whether they would be forced to organize the senate against their wishes in view of the slight republican majority.

FORGED CHECK BECAUSE OF OTHER DIFFICULTIES

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—(AP)—An alleged bad check for $17,000 which it was testified he had used to extricate himself from other difficulties with the police, brought a conviction of second degree forgery for its author today.

Paul Guerin, 37, who, the prosecution charged, in July 1926, obtained $17,900 by means of a forged check on the Springfield National bank of Springfield, Mass., was found guilty by a jury which deliberated three hours after hearing the story of Guerin's manipulation of money.

Guerin was arrested last April upon information furnished police by Edward J. Mays, his former confederate.

Guerin, according to Mays' story, was arrested for grand larceny five days after he had obtained the $17,000 and deposited it in a bank. Through Mays he withdrew $12,500 of the money, paid $250 as security for his bail-bond to obtain his release, $500 for a lawyer's fee, another $500 to his wife who had charged him with desertion case. It was also testified that he paid $1,500 to a woman in discharge of a debt.

Mays testified that Guerin divided a portion of the remaining money with him, then fled to Ireland upon learning that the forgery had been discovered. He was arrested when he returned.

Guerin denied the forgery charge, asserting that he had received the money in payment for eight barrels of whiskey which he had sold to a bootlegger.

DR. C. W. LARSON, HEAD OF NATIONAL DAIRY COUNCIL

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—(AP)—The nation's $4,000,000,000 dairy industry has been placed under the guidance of a director.

The new "czar" is Dr. C. W. Larson, chief of the bureau of dairy industry of the United States department of agriculture who was chosen today by the National Dairy council at its convention here.

"Development of the $4,000,000,000 dairy business has made it necessary for an executive director," said M. D. Mann, president of the council in announcing Dr. Larson's appointment. Dr. Larson was largely responsible for the establishing the bureau of dairy industry in 1924 and for several years was head of the dairy department at Pennsylvania state college.

Women were told to drink as much milk as they wanted without fear of getting fat by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the American Public Health association, in addressing the council. "Drink milk, eat vegetables and have bright eyes," the doctor urged.

KEITH-ALBEE INTERESTS PURCHASE IN WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 1—(AP)—The declaration of the Keith Albee interests that coincident with the sale of the Poli theatres they would invade Worcester materialized today when announcement was made that they had purchased extensive Main street property and had filed plans for the erection of a theatre. F. Sam Albee announced that he had bought the property in conjunction with the Stanley Company of America and the Orpheum circuit from Dr. Thomas J. Hewett and the City Central company. The theatre plans call for a capacity of 3522 which would make it the largest theatre in the city.

CANADIANS WERE BARRED FROM ENTERING DETROIT

DETROIT, Dec. 1.—(AP)—An augmented force of immigration inspectors inaugurated the new modified alien immigration order here today by barring more than 4000 residents of Ontario border cities from entering Detroit to work. The foreign born commuters affected took steps to obtain non-quota immigration visas from the American consul in Canada.

Several special boards of inquiry will begin sessions here shortly to consider the cases of those debarred, it was announced by John L. Zurbrick, district director of immigration. Five additional inspectors from Montreal have been summoned.

Approximately 3,500, commuters employed in factories in the Detroit district were permitted entrance under the eleventh hour modification agreed to yesterday by the departments of state and labor.

The immigration inspectors detained 27 persons for investigation by the special boards of inquiry. Those denied entrance today were quota aliens who had failed to obtain quota immigration visas before December 1, and native Canadians who failed to obtain non-quota immigration visas.

PUT TO SEA TO RESCUE MISSING FISHERMAN

PORTLAND, eM., Dec. 1—(AP)—Refusing to believe that Carlton A. Smith, 23, a member of his crew, was lost, Captain Frank Doughty, skipper of the fishing schooner, Lochinvar, sailed his vessel out of Portland harbor today and shortly after 2 o'clock brought the missing fisherman back home.

Smith said that after he became separated from the schooner on New Ledge at noon Wednesday, he sailed until he was in sight of Portland, chambered aboard Portland lightship, five miles off Cape Elizabeth, at 7 o'clock last night, and stayed there until the Lochinvar went out.

When the Lochinvar came around the breakwater this afternoon, a crowd of fishermen were waiting for her at the end of central wharf.

"Her flag's down," shouted in one voice when the entire schooner was visible around the breakwater.

They crowded aboard the vessel to congratulate the young fisherman when the Lochinvar was moored to central wharf.

NEW BRITAIN PARCEL POST CARRIER ARRESTED

HARTFORD, Dec. 1—(AP)—James B. Keough, of 535 Burritt street, New Britain, a postal carrier in the New Britain post office, was arrested today by Postal Inspector Edward A. Courter, charged with having embezzled $990.32 from C. O. D. returns. Keough admitted the charges when he was confronted by the inspector and Postmaster Erwin.

Presented before U. S. Commissioner Charles J. McLaughlin here, Keough was bound over to the United States district court under bond of $2,500.

CONTRACTOR FOUND 126 PEARLS IN ONE OYSTER

MERIDEN, Dec. 1—(AP)—Oysters in the half shell are a profitable and valuable delicatessen so Charles M. Allen, local contractor believes, for while enjoying a dish at the home of a friend here today he discovered 126 pearls in one oyster. While the stones have not been appraised it is understood that many of them are very valuable. The pearls vary in size from that of a pin head to a small pea.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

CHERBOURG, France, Dec. 1—(AP)—Governor Alvan T. Fuller of Massachusetts, who has just completed a quiet vacation in France, unperceived except by close friends, is homeward bound aboard the steamship Olympic.

BERLIN, Dec. 1—(AP)—Official investigation of charges against Guido Meisel, American chemist held prisoner at Dusseldorf for nearly six months without trial has been completed but no indication given as to when he may be tried.

DEFENSE WITNESS IN THE REMUS MURDER TRIAL

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 1—(AP)—The prosecution in George Remus' trial today set about proving that the outbursts of the defendant which nearly a score of witnesses had testified indicated insanity were nothing more than fits of anger common to him long before he had heard anything concerning the alleged misconduct of the wife he killed.

Willie H. Haar, Savannah, Ga., former bootlegger, who served a sentence in the Atlanta federal penitentiary at the same time Remus was there for violating the prohibition law, was in the witness box as a defense witness.

"Didn't Remus get very mad when the prisoners in the Atlanta penitentiary would cry out: 'Who ate the cheese?' and answer themselves with, 'Remus the rat'" asked Carl E. Basler, assistant prosecutor on cross-examination.

The defense objected strenuously, Charles H. Eisten, co-counsel with Remus, asserting that the only purpose of such an interrogation could be to prejudice the jury or cause ill feeling towards Remus.

"We want simply to show these spells simply were mad spells, that they were simply fits of anger and not insanity at all," Basler told Judge Chester R. Shook. "We want to show that Remus had them long before anything came up about Mrs. Remus."

Remus, who had sat quietly all day, bounced to his feet with an attack upon Basler.

"There was not a prisoner down there wide enough, large enough, or powerful enough to insinuate a thing like that," Remus roared, his face and neck flaming red.

"If Mr. Basler has any evidence like that let him present it and not try to inject it by conjecture, supposition, innuendo or presumption. You drank pints of whiskey on your eastern trip. You hypocrite you."

"Was that remark made?" Basler calmly asked Haar.

"That remark was made," replied the witness.

"What did Remus do?"

"Remus resented it. He tried to find the people who had made the remarks and wanted to fight them."

FLOODS ARE SPREADING IN NORTHERN NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 1—(AP)—The western half of New York state tonight watched with apprehension the gradual encroachment of flood waters from scores of streams and lakes upon the settled communities and farm lands lining their banks.

With one death indirectly attributed to the flood, many families temporarily homeless and facing hardships with the prospect of colder weather, transportation facilities badly crippled, and the limit of the rise not yet reached, widely-separated communities were bending every effort to avert a repetition of the disaster which a month ago befell the neighboring states of Vermont, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

The cause in both instances was the same—excessive rainfall over a period of several days. In some cases the precipitation in the flooded districts has been unprecedented. The weather bureau at Jamestown, announced today that the total rainfall during the past month was 10.07 inches as compared with an average monthly rainfall of 3.398 inches for the past six years.

From Syracuse on the east to Jamestown on the west—a distance of approximately 175 miles—came reports of floods, although the greatest damage appeared to have been done in four or five counties of south-central and southwestern New York. The single fatality was reported from Olean, when the home of Ephraim Head, isolated by the flooded Allegheny river, burned. Firemen who finally reached the dwelling in rowboats found the man's charred body.

Considerable apprehension was felt at Jamestown for the safety of the Broadhead block, one of the principal business buildings of the city, the undermining of which was threatened by the Chadakoin river. Farmers on the flats south of Jamestown were reported to be also in need of help.

DECISION MAY CHANGE THE DRY ENFORCEMENT POLICY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Four Chicago men today were acquitted of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act by selling unfermented grape juice, but tonight speculation as to the effect of the jury's verdict on future prohibition enforcement policy far overshadowed the case itself.

The men discharged were Elmer F. Neibuhr, Carl A. Futter, Lester Hynes and J. R. Grable, officers and salesmen of the United Vineyards association and the California Vineyards company, both Chicago concerns.

Speculation arising from the case was on the subject of whether the acquittal would stifle prosecution of similar cases and thus lend a practical, even if not legal, sanction to the distribution of unfermented grape juice which, under normal temperature conditions, will develop an alcoholic content far beyond the one half of one per cent. contemplated by the Volstead act.

Two views predominated in discussions with which the federal building seemed after the defendants were freed. One line of reasoning was that although the verdict of a jury did not have the effect of an enunciation of law by a higher court, it would have the practical effect of diminishing the vigilance of prohibition officers on this score.

The overt act charged in the conspiracy indictment was the sale of a five gallon keg of unfermented grape juice of lawful alcohol content to Miss Helen Ardery, stenographer in the office of George L. Kinkler, deputy prohibition commission for Indiana. This keg was placed in a room of normal temperature, its contents exposed to the air, and frequent tests made of its mounting alcoholic content. After twenty-five days, Winkler said at the trial, the samples taken from the keg showed a 12.85 per cent. content of alcohol by volume.

SERIES OF PROHIBITION RAIDS MADE IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 1—(AP)—Coming as a climax to the agitation which followed the recent charges of Major Chester P. Mills that New Haven is one of the "wettest cities in the United States," a squad of at least five federal prohibition officers tonight conducted a series of raids in this city.

Denies Counter-Revolt in Ukraine

Soviet Authorities Assert That Reports of Fighting Were "Utter Falsehoods."

MOSCOW, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The soviet foreign office today reiterated its emphatic denials of a counter-revolution in the Ukraine.

The authorities, declaring that it could be shown on the spot that reports of fighting in the Ukraine were "utter falsehoods," intimated that reports were emanating evidently from a newly hatched counter-revolutionary news factory in Rumania.

German consular agents in the Ukraine have reported to the Germany embassy at Moscow that there has not been the shadow of a disturbance in hte Ukraine during the past three months, while the Polish embassy here has received no disquieting reports from its representatives.

Dr. Henry Moskowitz of New York, chairman of O. R. T. who recently travelled extensively through the Ukraine in behalf of the reconstruction organization, said that he had met no signs of disturbances.

Dr. Ezekial Grover, assistant director of the American joint distribution committee, pursuing relief work in the Ukraine, denied reports coming from a Bucharest newspaper of fighting, saying that the Moscow headquarters of his organization had received no reports containing any intimation of disturbances from its branch offices at Kanenetz-Podolsk or elsewhere.

Samuel Lubarsky, a representative of the joint distribution committee, who returned from an extensive trip to the Ukraine today, said that he did not meet with the faintest sign of trouble. He travelled by automobile from Krivoyrog to Kherson, in the southern part of the Ukraine.

Attention has been centered on the Ukraine in recent days by publication of reports that severe fighting between government troops and insurgents has taken place in recent months with heavy loss of life.

L. OF N. COUNCIL TACKLES INTERNATIONAL PROBLEMS

GENEVA, Dec. 1—(AP)—Before an audience of two mighty non-member nations, the United States and Russia, the league of nations today began efforts to arrange international affairs so that the war god will be driven out of business for lack of customers.

The special security committee of the preparatory disarmament commission held its first session today. It was promptly warned by Joseph Paul-Boncour, chairman of the French parliamentary commission on national defense and president of the foreign relations committee of the chamber of deputies, that regional agreements are becoming a menace to world peace because they tend to introduce the pre-war system of alliances.

The committee saw in this an allusion to the recently concluded Italo-Albanian pact of defensive alliance which the French concede to be in opposition to the Franco-Jugoslavian treaty of amity and arbitration, ratified shortly before.

M. Paul-Boncour declared that all regional pacts must be co-ordinated and brought within the scope of the league of nations and that efforts must centralize in building up a general agreement for security which would prevent misunderstandings.

Russia, represented by an observer and not participating in the security committee meetings, nevertheless contributed an admonition that the frenzied piling up of armaments amply justifies the fear of another gigantic war. The admonition was contained in a supplementary communication which Maxim Litvinoff, head of the soviet delegation, deposited with the preparatory disarmament commission.

MRS. LILLIENDAHL BROKE DOWN AND SOBBED IN COURT

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Dec. 1.—(AP)—The Lilliendahl murder trial moved toward a speedy conclusion today just before adjournment when the state unexpectedly rested its case, a defense attorney asked and was denied a directed verdict of not guilty, and Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl broke down and sobbed in court.

The state's side of the case against the widow and Willis Beach, charged with murder of the woman's aged husband, had been expected to continue into next week. Only 65 of the 100 witnesses the state had said it would call had occupied the stand when Prosecutor Hinkle suddenly turned to the judge and said: "The state rests."

Robert H. McCarter, counsel for Mrs. Lilliendahl, recalled one state witness for two questions for cross-examination and then entered a plea for a directed verdict. As he delivered his argument to sustain the motion, Mrs. Lilliendahl began to cry and her eight-year-old son, Alfred, ran to her side. He also wept.

Soon after Justice Campbell denied motion for a directed verdict, court adjourned. Beach had not been visably affected even while counsel for his co-defendant was pleading with the court.

SPRINGFIELD EXPRESSMAN WINS VERDICT FOR $10,000

WATERBURY, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A superior court jury this afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant in the two $10,000 civil actions against William Kneeland, Springfield, expressman, which have been on trial here the past week. The plaintiffs in the actions were Charles Musante, of Meriden, administrator of the estate of his son, Anthony, and Mrs. Angelina De Lucia, of Waterbury, administratrix of the estate of her husband, Martino. A fatal accident on January 1, 1926, in Wallingford was the cause of the litigation.

Musante and De Lucia were riding in an automobile operated by Philip Cianciolo at 9 p. m., on that date when the machine collided with the rear end of a truck owned by the defenant. Both men received injuries causing their deaths.

NEGRO SHOT WOMAN WHOM HE ATTEMPTED TO OVERPOWER

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1—(AP)—A Negro today shot and seriously wounded Mrs. Margaret Pumphrey, 29, after he unsuccessfully attempted to overpower her in the Pumphrey home in the exclusive Whitley Heights section. The butler, Richard Ewell, 39, killed himself when neighbors responded to the woman's cries for help.

May Reduce Radio Stations By Half

Federal Commission Contemplating Wholesale Reduction During 1928.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)— A wholesale reduction of radio stations through reduce their number by half during 1928 is contemplated by the federal radio commission.

Announcement today upon the policy, the commission declared the determination to deny re-licenses after February 1, to a large number of stations, in an endeavor to clear up the broadcasting situation and explained why it considered such action advisable.

"Individual members of the commission have, from the very first, realized that the elimination of some 300 broadcasters was eventually the only real solution for the present overcrowding of the air channels," the commission's statement said. "But the commissioners recognized also that important constitutional questions are involved in license denials and transfers and that in some cases court action could be expected.

It therefore proceeded to make the best of a bad situation. X X X denying licenses to none. But now, the commission finds itself in a wholly different situation. Local and national reception will within sixty days have been put in the best condition possible with the present number of stations on the air.

"Further improvement will have to come by elimination of stations not rendering service corresponding to the interference they cause. Court injunctions in such cases cannot now interfere with the clearing that has been accomplished in the long wave portions of the spectrum. From this time on the commission therefore can devote itself to clearing up the remainder of the broadcasting band by transfers and denials of licenses."

Commissioner Pickard said that in the contemplated license denials the commission would be guided by recommendations of the commerce department radio inspectors stationed in the various districts. The announcement said that on December 1 all broadcasters will work under temporary licenses which have been extended to February 1. There ar now 694 licensed stations.

GANGSTER WITNESSES IN CHICAGO WERE SLAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—(AP)—That "dead men tell no tales" is a gangland axiom, the federal government discovered when it induced two of the 70-odd persons arrested in a prohibition round-up at Cicero a year ago, to testify against the others.

The two, Santo Celebron and John Castenora, agreed to appear as prosecuation witnesses, their attorney today told Judge James N. Wilkerson, of United States district court. They didn't do so because they were killed a week before the trial last April.

The murders were revealed when the government called a case against one of the Cicero defendants. Celebron and Castenora were to have been witnesses. The government will investigate the episode.

The several times promised sanguinary warfare between rival Chicago gangs for control of gambling and bootlegging now is only a matter of days, it was reported here. The opinion is based, in part on word from Springfield, Ill., that a kinsman of Joseph Aiella, accused of plotting the assassination of "Scarface Al" Capone and Tony Lombardo, sought to obtain machine guns, pistols and rifles there. One of the guns the buyer was examining went off, killing the proprietor. The buyer is in jail.

"Appleness" was the reply of the manager of the Atlantic hotel to a police statement of several days ago that a machine gun nest was found in the hotel. If a gunner wanted to spray a cigar store across the street, as police claimed, he would have needed the nimbleness of a contortionist, the manager added. The cigar store was frequented by Capone and Lombardo. It was the police theory that enemies intended ambushing the pair.

There were no guns, or tripods, or other equipment for sniping in the designated room when police entered it, the manager said.

It was reported in some circles today that the claimed plot against Capone was a coup by him to turn over his enemies to the police.

PONTOON BRIDGE SWEPT AWAY AT WINOOSKI, VT.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Dec. 1.—(AP)—the conditions resulting from the great flood of early November were recalled today when a pontoon bridge built by army engineers to replace the steel bridge over the Winooski river which was carried away by the flood gave way and was swept down stream. Tonight the neighbor cities of Burlington and Winooski were without a connecting link, and call was sent to Major General Preston Brown, commanding the First Carps Area, for a new Pontoon bridge.

Heavy rains yesterday and last night sent the river up five feet from its normal stage, and debris carried down by the swollen torrent damaged the pontoons.

TO PROTECT P. O. CARRIERS AGAINST BAD PAVEMENTS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 1—(AP)—Life and limb of letter carriers must be safeguarded against bad pavements, at least, in the opinion of the postal department. Today, the New Haven post office announced that no more mail would be delivered by carrier in Russell street, Fair Haven section, because the condition of the pavement there "endangered the life and well being" of the carrier who made his rounds to the fifty or more families resident in the street.

Russell street is two very long blocks in length with numbers on the structures going to the eight hundreds.

LIQUOR CONFISCATED IN WALLINGFORD RAID

WALLINGFORD, Dec. 1—(AP)—Officers of the United States prohibition enforcement office in New Haven late this afternoon raided the place of business conducted by Thomas Conheady at Meadow street, confiscating a small amount of alleged liquor, according to announcement made by Frank T. Putney, enforcement director.

Conheady, who was in charge at the time, was ordered to appear before U. S. Commissioner Alcorn in New Haven tomorrow morning to face a charge of violating the federal liquor law.

UNITED STATES AT APEX OF PROSPERITY DURING 1927

Secretary Hoover in His Annual Report Declares That Economic Progress in 1927 Brought Americans to the Highest Material Living Standard This Country or Any Other Country Has Ever Known—Period Was Marred Only by Depression For Agriculture and Some Backwardness in Individual Lines of Industry.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Economic progress during 1927 brought Americans to the highest material living standard this country or any other country has ever known, Secretary Hoover declared today in his annual report to the president.

A situation of prosperity which he said "has now been characteristic of American industry for six years," was maintained, marred only by some continuing depression for agriculture, and some backwardness in individual lines of industry.

Mr. Hoover's statistics showed a steady level of wholesale prices, declining slightly in recent months; a maintenance of relatively large building construction programs; an increase in the expedition of railroad transportation along with a bettered service to users; and a year of "sound but uneventful growth" in the banking field.

Foreign underwriting by Americans during the fiscal year exceeded that of any corresponding period in the history of the United States, the report said. Foreign capital securities privately taken, plus direct new investments abroad probably raised the total to $1,850,000,000 for the year. Financial reconstruction abroad continued on the whole to be encouraging.

"The value of American exports during the fiscal year 1926-27 was greater than that of any other fiscal year since 1920-21, and when account is taken of the much lower price level, as compared with the war years' trade, was the largest in our history," Mr. Hoover continued. "The value of imports was about 5 per cent less during the last fiscal year, but here again a fall in prices occurred after allowing for which there is a quantitive increase."

"New construction undertaken in 1927, amounting to some $7,000,000,000 in value, constituted a powerful factor in maintaining business activity and prosperity," Mr. Hoover added.

He paid high tribute to the management of American railroads, asserting that "the continued advance in the efficiency of the railways which has been going on since the war" had "reacted favorably upon the entire economic structure." The rapidity of freight transportation in the United States had increased since 1919 by 30 or 40 per cent.

"In seeking out the causes of the material prosperity, Mr. Hoover described E. Dana Durand, of the department's bureau of statistical research, laid down the proposition that "extraordinary increase in the production of American industry during recent years" had most to do with a "corresponding advance in the standards of living."

"Between 1899 and 1925 the output of agricultural products increased about 47 per cent," Dr. Durand said, "that of mining about 248 per cent, and that of manufactures about 178 per cent, while the volume of railway service increased by 93 per cent. Meanwhile population had grown only about 55 per cent, so that per capita output rose also by about 55 per cent."

"Even that comparison," it was added, "failed to measure fully the progress in production, since larger proportions of the country's population in recent years have engaged in professional, mercantile, and service occupations, rather than in actual production.

"The true causes of the prosperity and economic progress of the country are not difficult to discern," Dr. Durand continued. "At the foundation lie the rich resources of the country, not taxed by an excessive population, and the emergency, intelligence and attitude toward work of the producing population.

"In our earlier days, advance was in considerable measure attributable to the opening of new resources, but during the past quarter century this has not been a major influence. The principal factors in the recent increase in productivity are what may be called human as distinguished from natural factors. One of the most profound modern tendencies is the swiftly expanding use of electric current."

For the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, Dr. Julius Klein, its chief, pointed out that American foreign trade today represented 16 per cent of the world's total commerce, whereas in 1913 it represented only 11 per cent. He pointed that "manufactured goods will continue to gain in relative importance in our export trade," while the growth of population at home will "continue to call for the consumption of a larger and larger proportion of foodstuffs and raw materials produced by our farms."

He foresaw vigorous competition for foreign trade in the future, but predicted that with proper effort on the part of American business men, "we shall be able to maintain our share of the steadily expanding world commerce."

COLORADO MINES HAVE RESUMED OPERATIONS

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Under the protection of National Guard troops, six northern Colorado mines resumed operations today after being closed since the I. W. W. strike was called in the Colorado coal fields on October 18.

Although only a few miners reported for work today, operators were confident that it was an entering wedge that soon would bring about complete working forces. Strike leaders said that the strikers were prepared to stay out of the mines until their demands were granted.

Re-opening of the mines was without incident. Military patrols on horseback and in automobiles covered the entire northern coal field which has been divided into three sectors. In addition, troops were on duty at the various mines.

Thomas Annear, chairman of the state industrial commission, charged today that members of the I. W. W. are blocking the circulation of petitions among working miners asking the industrial commission to assume jurisdiction of the controversy.

The Rev. A. A. Heist, Denver minister, who has been active in the cause of the striking miners, appeared before Gov. W. H. Adams and alleged that families desiring to move out of the Columbine mine camp in northern Colorado were prevented from doing so and that those who returned to the camp cottages for their possessions were told that the goods could not be moved.

The southern Colorado coal fields were quiet and operators reported a slight increase in working forces in the district. Colorado Fuel and Iron company mines now are digging between 8,000 and 9,000 tons of coal daily, while the average production before the start of the strike was 12,000 to 14,000 tons, the company reported.

REPRESENTATIONS SENT TO GERMANY ABOUT MEISSEL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—(AP)—The state department announced tonight that representations had been made to the German foreign office by the American embassy at Berlin in connection with the prolonged detention under arrest at Dusseldorf of Guido Meissel, an employe of an American Dye company on charges of violating the German law against unfair competition.

Meissel has been detained without bail since June 19 but the American consulate at Dusseldorf reported that he had been well treated. The message added that Meissel was represented by an American attorney who had charge of his case and who was assisted by local German counsel. No details of the charges against the American were contained in the advices.

Representations made by the embassy apparently had to do only with the long period of confinement and did not question the legality of the arrest or of the proceedings against Meissel.

DIED IN NEW LONDON OF SLOW STARVATION

NEW LONDON, Dec. 1—(AP)—Sanford L. Carter, 60, died tonight in New London Memorial hospital, a victim of slow starvation. The man was admitted to the hospital on November 25 and since that time has been in a semi-conscious condition. His condition had left him speechless.

Nothing is known of Carter except that he was supposed to have a wife living in the vicinity of Providence.

WINTER SOCIAL SEASON OPENED AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—With traditional formality, the White house winter social season was opened tonight when President and Mrs. Coolidge entertained at dinner for members of the cabinet and their wives and Vice President and Mrs. Dawes.

This dinner is the first of a series including those for the diplomatic corps, the speaker of the house and members of the supreme court. In return, the president and Mrs. Coolidge during the winter attend dinners given in their honor by the vice president, the speaker and cabinet members, the few occasions on which they dine outside of the White house.

After the cabinet dinner tonight, a group of friends were invited for a musicale in keeping with the custom established by Mrs. Coolidge to round out such evenings.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Dawes and the cabinet group the dinner guests included William Green, president of the American Federation of labor; Frank G. Allen, lieutenant governor of Massachusetts and Mrs. Allen; Chairman Butler, of the republican national committee and Mrs. Butler; Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the republican national committee; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Mellon, of Pittsburgh; Alexander P. Moore, former ambassador to Spain; Mr. and Mrs. William F. Whiting, of Holyoke, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. A. Atwater Kent, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Edward B. McClean, of Washington.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF GUNMEN IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—(AP)—Terrorist gunmen carved another notch in their pistols tonight and Fred A. Drillard, a union electrician, is dead.

Drillard fell with two bullets in his heart as three men in an automobile sped by him and opened fire as he started to enter his own machine.

In a burst of speed the gunmen roared away, but two blocks farther their car careened into the curbing and was wrecked. The slayers fled.

When police arrived Drillard was dead. A pistol was found in his pockets.

Whether he was the victim of the new gang war or possibly labor terrorism the police could not determine.

OBITUARY

Herbert S. Hadley.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Former Gov. Herbert S. Hadley, chancellor of Washington University and well known in national educational circles, died at his home here at 7:15 o'clock tonight after a prolonged illness. He had recently returned from the hospital after a breakdown in the latter part of August, and was thought to be recovering.

Known as one of the "progressive" type of republicans, he acted as floor leader to have the late Theodore Roosevelt nominated at the republican national convention at which William Howard Taft got the nomination.

He gained fame is Missouri when he ousted the big oil interests from the state when serving as attorney general. He served in that office from 1905 to 1909 and then occupied the governor's chair for four years. Shortly before accepting the chancellorship at Washington university he was offered the presidency of the University of Missouri but declined this.

J. W. EADIE SPEAKS AT EXCHANGE CLUB MEETING

WILLIMANTIC, Dec. 1—At the weekly meeting and dinner of the Exchange club in the Nathan Hale hotel Wednesday evening, the speaker was James W. Eadie of Boston, a widely known accountant. The subject of his talk was "Creative Management on the Road to Action." He told of the opportunities facing New England to improve its financial and general constructive business conditions, pointing out the channels by which the present methods could be improved upon. He said that co-operation was a requisite to success in any undertaking. A rising vote of thanks was tendered him at the close of his talk. Guests were "Al" Chase of New Haven with David Loree and Lawrence W. Case of Highland Park, Manchester, with President C. C. Case who was in charge of the largely attended session. Prayer was offered by Rev. F. C. Williams.

In the Chaplin town court Wednesday afternoon on a charge of hunting without a license was Frank Rosa of Hartford who was arrested by Deputy Game Warden Ash. Justice of the Peace Charles B. Russ found the accused guilty and imposed a fine of one dollar and costs, amounting to $12.35.

Mrs. James Summers, 68, a highly esteemed resident of this city, died Wednesday evening at her home, 50 John street, after an illness of one week's duration. Born in Glasgo, Scotland, August 14th, 1859, a daughter of Patrick and Mary (O'Rourke) McCormack, she is survived by her husband; one daughter, Miss Charlotte M. Summers of this city; three sons, James P. and Raymond J. Summers of this city and Nathaniel G. Summers of New Haven; two sisters, Mrs. Mary T. Doyle and Mrs. C. R. Beattie of Bridgeport; one brother, James McCormack of this city; several nieces and nephews and four grandchildren.

Police Chief Thomas F. Grady has received notification from the state motor vehicle department that the operator's license of Alfred Legace of 8 Arnold's Lane has been suspended. Legace was convicted of a motor vehicle violation in the Mansfield town court recently.

The funeral services for Mrs. Minnie W. Avery held Thursday afternoon in the South Windham Congregational church were largely attended by relatives and friends. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Joseph F. Cobb. During the services, Mrs. Clara Williams of Radiant chapter No. 11, O. E. S., presided at the organ and there were two vocal selections rendered by Mrs. Frank Grant. Interment took place in the Windham Center cemetery, the bearers being James M. Larkham, Charles Huntington, Joseph R. Smith and Charles Maynard. Avery & Van Zandt were in charge of arrangements.

Sample voting machines, operating on the same principle as those that will be used in the city election on Monday, have been installed at several locations so that voters may have the opportunity to familiarize themselves with them. They have been placed at the J. J. Hickey drug company store at the corner of Union and Jackson streets, Dinneen's studio on Church street and F. X. Caisse's store on John street.

City Health Officer Dr. W. P. S. Keating announced Wednesday his November report compiled upon the returns from the physicians of the city. The report contains seven cases of scarlet fever, two of lobar pneumonia and one of poliomelitis.

For satisfaction in a judgment at the present session of the Windham county superior court on an attachment in the case of Delos S. Grosvernor vs. Hattie M. Thompson, property of the defendant in Windham Center was sold Monday by Deputy Sheriff Lester H. Blish of this city to Charles W. Tryon also of this city.

Charles H. Caswell of this city, supervisor of music in the West Palm Beach, Fla., schools, was in charge of the musical program for the Thanksgiving service Sunday evennig at the West Palm Beach Congregational church and he was also heard in a baritone solo. He is also director of the church choir and has increased the personnel of the junior choir.

Tuesday evening, the directors of the Willimantic Trust company met for dinner in the Nathan Hale hotel after the regular board meeting. The occasion was one of a series of evening meetings for the purpose of discussing banking subjects. Guests and speakers were Nathan D. Prince, president of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust company, who dwelt on "Bank Credits" and John Thompson, state agent for the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company, whose subject was "Life Insurance Trusts." An open forum led by President E. Frank Bugbee was also held. The directors present were Clifford J. Alpaugh, Arthur H. Benton, John E. Brick, E. Frank Bugbee, Leslie F. Hartson, Henry A. Bugbee, George S. Elliott, Herbert W. Huber, William P. Jordan, Raymond A. Parker, John R. Pickett, Lewellyn J. Storrs and Charles A. Wheeler.

The property of Mrs. Hester M. Rowsell, including a dwelling house and buildings at 135 Walnut street with land, was sold at auction today afternoon to Daniel P. McCarthy of this city for $1,100 above the equity. The sale was to satisfy a judgment of $3,362.60 handed down by Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin in the Windham county superior court in a civil action brought by the plumbing firm of W. H. McCarthy against Mrs. Rowsell, a foreclosure suit.

Miss Ellen Swanson of Mansfield who has been a patient at St. Joseph's hospital for the past three weeks will leave for her home soon.

Mrs. Arthur Vanesse and Mrs. Mary Bashore of this city and Mrs. Eugene Bonly of Taftville were in Groton with friends yesterday.

Mrs. William E. Wheelock of New York is closing her home at Babcock Hill for the winter and will sail on the S. S. Franconia for a trip around the world with friends on January 7th.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ellsworth of Pleasant street are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Almon Fish, and grandson, Almon Fish Jr., of Bloomfield, N. J. Mr. Fish spent the recent holiday with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Cartier of Babcock Hill who have departed for their winter home at Winter Haven, Fla., spent several days recently with friends in Virginia.

"A Cup of Coffee, a Sandwich and You"

A SEASON or two ago, one of the "hits" of New York featured a gay little song, "A Cup of Coffee, a Sandwich and You"—implying that the world is an all-right place when those three requisites are present.

The "sandwich" and the "you" are matters of variable preference, but there is no question that the "coffee" should be YUBAN, the coffee which adds joy to the simplest occasion.

Coffee-Making Pointers

One of the reasons why good coffee is not more uniformly produced in the average home is because of carelessness in measuring the coffee and water. In the hotel or restaurant the coffee is carefully measured by weight, and the freshly drawn water when furiously boiling is accurately handled by measure. At home the coffee should be measured with a spoon and the water with a cup.

CHRISTMAS SEALS SALE IS A WORK OF MERCY

JEWETT CITY, Dec. 1—The sale of the Christmas seals, to help stamp out the dread disease, tuberculosis, commenced in the district assigned to Dorcas Circle of The King's Daughters, December first, the date set by the state commission. The seals are on sale in stores, at the homes of Miss M. A. Burdick and Mrs. E. H. Hiscox, and by the school children. Every child knows that the seals are helping sick people to get well. No other kind of seals, so far, are being sold by the children, so there can be no confusion. When a person buys these seals he is helping people in this town as well as in Voluntown, to fight the disease. Half the money received goes into the special tuberculosis fund, which is at the service of any tubercular person, regardless of nationality or creed. Milk and eggs and nourishing food for those affected can be provided at home. If a person desires to go to a sanatorium for treatment, the necessary outfit will be provided, and assistance toward the fees given. The other half of the money goes to the state, and is of just as much value in the state work. It costs twenty dollars a week to care for a patient in the sanatoria. The patient is required to pay only four dollars; the state paying the remainder. It can be seen, therefore, that the sale of these seals is of the greatest value. In Voluntown the fund is in the hands of the town clerk. In Jewett City, it is in charge of the above named circle. There is also a town fund, of which A. C. Burdick is treasurer and Whatsoever circle of The King's Daughters has a special fund for this disease. Without giving the matter consideration people may complain that it is something of a nuisance to answer the doorbell so frequently. But the children are being taught in this way, helpfulness for those in trouble, ust as the Christmas season is beginning. Since Dorcas circle has had charge of the Christmas seal fund which the members assumed in 1924 $263.92 has been spent for care of local patients.

Sunday afternoon at 4.30 there is to be a candle light vesper service in observance of National Guild day. The World Wide guild girls, under direction of their councillor, Mrs. R. A. Wilbur and vice councillor, Mrs. J. P. Post are in charge of the program. There is to be an address by Mrs. A. M. Brown, a state director of the Women's Baptist missionary society and a program of solos and poems. A very effective part of the service will be the candle lighting. At the front of the church there will be four candles, the large white candle symbolizing the light of the world. The other three candles signify the intelligence, spirituality and service life of the guild girls. Each person will receive a candle when he enters the church. At the close of the service everyone will go forward and light his or her candle by the light of the world and quietly go out of the church. The guild girls' slogan is "Worth While Girls of the World Wide Guild Working With God for the Whole World's Good.' Their emblem is a white rose and their color is blue. Their motto is "No Retreat, No Retreat—They Conquer or Die, For Whom There is No Retreat."

MAURICE NADEAU DROWNED—BODY FLOATING IN CANAL

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Dec. 1—Maurice Nadeau, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Nadeau, living in the Ninigret section of the town was drowned in Slater Pond this morning. He carried his father's breakfast to the mill at seven o'clock and that was the last the family saw of him. A Cretian boy said that he started for school with him, going along the locality known as Tinpot road. The Nadeau child stopped to throw sticks into the pond, but the other boy went on to school. No one saw the Nadeau boy after that. When he did not come home the family began to search for him, going to Voluntown and Norwich, finally to Danielson to notify the state police. At the time, they only could find out that he had not been seen since carrying the breakfast to his father. They feared that someone had taken him to ride and that he had lost his way. About quarter of five, at night, Paul Ramsey saw the body floating in the canal where the current had carried it from the pond, probably. Medical Examiner Dr. G. H. Jennings was summoned by Supt. W. A. Richardson and the body was removed to Hourigan Bros. undertaking rooms. The boy was born in Jewett City, the son of Philip and Mary Dez-Champlaine Nadeau. Besides his parents he leaves four half-brothers and sisters, Ameda, Ora, Irene and Felix. The lad attended St. Mary's school and was a very bright, attractive child.

EASTERN VOLUNTOWN

At the Thanksgiving dinner at Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood's in Eastern Voluntown they had roast duck chickens, chicken pie, brown bread, oatmeal bread, potatoes, mashed turnips, onions, cranberry sauce, squash and mince pie, fruit cocoa cake, for drinks coffee, tea, water, sweet cider right from the mill, fruit, oranges, bananas, grapes and assorted nuts. The party that was there were Mr. and Mrs. Dr. E. M. Bitgood of Middletown, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bitgood of Poquetanuck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barber and son, Joel, and granddaughter, Ruth Richmond of Jewett City, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Remington and children, Otis, George, Woodrow, Milton and Edith, Oneco Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood and son, Robble, Pachaug, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bitgood and son, Lawrence, of Griswold, Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood of Eastern Voluntown and Mrs. Lizzie Maynard of Ekonk. There was 24 at dinner. Sixteen sat down at the first table and eight at the other. When they all got through eating there was enough left for as many more. They all had a happy time. They all went home hoping and wishing they will all meet with Mr. and Mrs. Bitgood another Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. James Congdon and son Freddie, went to their son's home, Frank Congdon, at Plainfield, for Thanksgiving dinner. It was a family reunion. They had for dinner roast chicken and everything to go with it and two kind of pies, mince and pumpkin and different kinds of cakes. Coffee and tea for drinks. They had a nice time. They found Mrs. Frank Congdon's father quite feeble.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Gray had their family home for Thanksgiving. Martha Gray, their daughter, who is at the hospital in Norwich, was home over Thanksgiving. She is much better than she was when she went. She has gained six pounds. Your correspondent is glad to hear she is gaining so fast. Hope she will be home soon. She went Oct. 2, the day that Mrs. William Bitgood got hurt. Mrs. Bitgood is gaining but very slowly. She can't bear any heft on her foot yet.

Mrs. William Bitgood had a telephone from Mrs. Stankovich recently. Mrs. Bitgood was near the telephone so she could talk with her. They have not talked before in about nine weeks before Mrs. Bitgood was hurt. Mrs. Bitgood said her voice sounded good.

Warren Tanner of Ekonk was a caller at William Bitgood's Nov. 28.

Mrs. William Bitgood was pleased to get a card from Mrs. George Gallup, now in Florida. Her home is on Ekonk hill.

Mrs. Bitgood's Moses is getting his feathers back again. He is looking good now. He has been in to see Mrs. Bitgood. The door was open and he heard her voice and went in and ate with her. She had him do his tricks. He had not forgotten them. She told him to pick up all the crumbs. He did it. He seemed pleased to see his old mistress and so was she to see Moses. Mrs. Bitgood is not able to get around much yet.

Mr. Bitgood has Herbert Barber and Winfield Moran helping him on the road to fill up the bad places.

Charles Douglass is home for a few days. He works for his cousin in Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Tanner of Ekonk had a nice coon supper Saturday evening. There were 15 to eat. Mrs. Tanner worked hard to get the supper. When she had got it ready she could not eat as she had a bad cold and sick headache, so bad she could not enjoy it with the rest.

DANIELSON

H. J. BARNETT BUYS THE PELLETT BLOCK

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Dec. 1.—One of the most important real estate deals of the year in Danielson was disclosed this evening when the Herbert J. Barnett announced the purchase from the estate of Charles H. Pellett of the three-story business block that Mr. Barnett had occupied for several years with his automobile business. The building is a three-story concrete block building, extending from Depot square northward to Academy street and is one of the largest buildings in Danielson. Mr. Barnett had been occupying the building for a long time under a lease. The price of the building was not disclosed.

FIRST CHECKS OF XMAS CLUB MONEY MAILED

DANIELSON, Dec. 1.—This afternoon the gates were opened to let forth the first golden flood of the Christmas season—the release of many thousands of dollars in checks to the members of the Christmas club of the Brooklyn Savings bank. It was the first club release in Danielson this season, and came, quite as a surprise, to many who are receiving the checks, on the very first of the month.

For fifty weeks the several hundred members of this bank's club have been saving stated sums each week, with a special view to having a fund already for Christmas gift buying when the 1927 holiday season came to hand. Many of those to whom checks were sent today are club members of other years, and while getting a Christmas club check is no longer a novelty with them, it never fails to furnish its little thrill and leave one with the fine sense of satisfaction of having been forehanded.

It has been the experience of the past here that the release of Christmas club checks has brought almost an immediate boost for the retailers of the community. That much of the money so released goes in local trade circles is demonstrated by the number of the checks that are tendered in payment for purchases.

Exact figures on what the total of Christmas club releases in Danielson will be this season have not been given out by the banks, but it is known to be in excess of $100,000. The club idea was first used here by the Windham County National bank about fifteen years ago and has grown steadily, as to the number of club members, from year to year, until today many hundreds of checks are distributed each December, many to people resident in various communities throughout this corner of the state.

Killingly's grand list probably will show a more material increase when completed than the one on which the taxes for this year was based. There are an increased number of lists in the hands of the assessors, these representing new buildings and other sources of tax incom for the town. There is particular interest in the forth-coming list. Even if it be not materially larger than the last list, it will be the basis for fixing the tax rate for the coming year, and the general hope and expectation is that, under it, Killingly may get along with a lower tax rate than had to be met during 1927 because of some extraordinary expenditures of the past year that will be missing from the budget this coming year. The new list is expected to be ready about the first of the year, following which the board of relief will hold its sessions during February. The tax rate will be fixed at the adjourned annual town meeting in March.

The Chamber of Commerce's final meeting for the year is scheduled for next Tuesday evening. A feature of that meeting will be the election of officers for the ensuing year, but there are various other matters to claim the attention of the members, and the meeting is expected to be an especially lively one. The Chamber has been up and coming during 1927. It has achieved things, obtained a large degree of co-operation between its important interests here and secured a large membership. President M. H. Berthiame has given a great deal of time and energy to make the success, and in his efforts has had the active work of live committees who have labored earnestly to carry out all plans.

At the annual election of officers of the Tri-Y girls held at the home of Beatrice Beckett on Manie street the following were elected: President, Eleanor Gardner; vice president, Beatrice Beckett; treasurer, Doris Shipman recording secretary, Alice Olson; enrollment secretary, Ethel King; flower committee, Florence Bedard, Gladding Hutchins; musicians, Florence Moran, Doris Shipman, Cora Brown, Florence Bedard.

A feature of the meeting was a talk by Doris Shipman on activities of the National convention of Girls' Friendly societies, which she attended, in Boston, as a delegate. The usual discussion period was given over to the topic Friendship. There was a song period and a recreational period. Refreshments were served by Miss Beckett as hostess.

Further releases of Christmas club checks in Danielson will not be made until December 8, it was given out this afternoon. On that date checks will be mailed by the Windham County National bank and the Danielson Trust company to the several hundred members of their clubs. Treasurer Clifford H. Starkweather, of the trust company, said this afternoon that the release date of these checks by these banks had been agreed upon after conferences with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce. The checks will be mailed out next Thursday and should be in the hands of all those to whom they are addressed not later than Friday.

This afternoon the mails brought to many in Danielson their first allotment of Christmas seals. A circular communication goes with them, setting forth that the purchase of the seals one takes a real part in the prevention and cure of tuberculosis in this country and especially in Danielson, where 85 per cent. of all the revenue derived from the seals will remain for use in the work done by the Civic federation. The death rate from the great white plague has been cut one-half in this country, and money derived from the sale of seals has been a large factor in bringing about that happy result.

Captain F. O. Armington has received orders from the regimental commander to reduce the enlisted personnel of the Service battery stationed here by ten men. It was given out this afternoon that those who are negligent in attending drills will be the first to be dropped.

Director H. H. Ellis of the state trade school at Putnam was the speaker at this evening's meeting of the Danielson Rotary club and he took for his subject What the State Trade Schools are Doing and What They Hope to Do. Mr. Ellis, a highly experienced and efficient executive, has made a great success of the administration of the trade school at Putnam, where more than 600 are now registered for day or evening courses.

DeForest Wells, president of the Brooklyn Growers' association, is to be one of the speakers next week at the Hotel Garde in Hartford, at a meeting of Connecticut Vegetable Growers' association.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. George Phaneuf are leaving Danielson Friday for Albany-Decatur, Ala., where they are to be employed for several months at the new fabric plant of the Connecticut Mills, helping develop the working organization down there.

One heard of plans this morning for the development here next summer of an enclosed park where baseball games and out-door boxing exhibitions can be held during the late spring and summer seasons.

With tonight's game between the Danielson Town team and the South Manchester team, in the town hall, the basketball season of 1927-28 was inaugurated in Danielson.

A plunger not working properly in the siren on the central fire station was said by Chief A. P. Woodward today to be the reason why the alarm did not function properly when a box was pulled Wednesday afternoon for the Phoenix block fire.

So successful is the gift plan of Danielson merchants working out during this Christmas season that it has been decided to give away, in addition to the motor car already announced, a $300 Orthophonic Victrola, a $250 Fada radio set, electrified, and a fine washing machine.

George E. Guild, superintendent for the Crystal Water company, is confined to his home by illness.

Alfred T. Kennedy, who has been employed here for some time, has gone to Moosup to take a position as a barber.

Significant of the year's approaching end is the distribution of 1928 calendars now starting in Danielson.

At this morning's session of the town court one more case dealing with improper lighting equipment on an automobile was disposed of by Judge W. Fenner Woodward.

Priests of St. James' parish continue to devote time to the arduous task of compiling the annual parish census.

Mrs. George Stone of Academy street, returned from a stay with relatives in Salem and Marblehead, Mass.

Another drive to sell stocks, many of them unknown quantities, is on by mail and scores of Danielson people who are supposed to have some money are being bombarded by circulars almost daily.

F. E. Warren, of New Bedford, a former resident of Danielson, has been a visitor with friends here.

ELKS ANNOUNCE PROGRAM FOR LODGE OF SORROW

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Dec. 1—The Putnam lodge of Elks wil hold their annual memorial services at their rooms on Sunday afternoon, December 4 at 3 o'clock. Rev. Ulric O. Belerose, pastor of St. Mary's church in this city will deliver the address. The program will be as follows:

Overture, Pep's orchestra; march, Pep's orchestra; invocation, Rev. James F. English; opening ceremonies, officers of Putnam lodge, No. 574; solo, Ave Marie, Gounod, Miss Selma LaRochelle; solo, No Night There—Danks, Chester H. Miller; eulogy, Rev. Ulric O. Belerose; selection, Pep's orchestra; solo, Face to Face—Johnson, Miss Selma LaRochelle; solo, The Trumpeter—Dix, Chester H. Miller; reading, Thanatopsis, Thomas Mulgrew; cornet solo, Roses of Picardy—Hayden Wood, Stanley Livingston; solo, Just a Memory—Henderson, Miss Selma LaRochelle; solo, Vale (Farewell)—Russell, Chester H. Miller; Aul Lang Syne; benediction, Rev. James F. English; selection, Pep's orchestra.

The singers come from out of town and have been highly recommended. Miss LaRochelle is a native of Berlin, New Hampshire, completing her education at the New England Conservatory of Music and is said to possess a beautiful lyric soprano voice and is in demand in the concert field. Mr. Miller is the announcer at radio station WEAN at Providence, a member of the well known Overseas quartette and the baritone soloist at the Pawtucket, R. I. Congregational church. The general public is most cordially invited to attend this service.

TO CELEBRATE 25TH ANNIVERSARY IN PUTNAM

PUTNAM, Dec. 1—Members of the order of the "Daughters of the Holy Ghost" whose mother home is on Church street in this city, are to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their arrival in the United States on Thursday, December 8th. Sisters from all over the New England states will be here and it is expected that Bishop Nilan will be present, but if he is unable to come arrangements will undoubtedly be made to have one dignitary of the church here who ranks as high as Bishop Nilan. An appropriate program is now being arranged.

The order which was founded in Brittany in 1706, adopted the costume of the Brittany peasants as its uniform, making the colors all white in honor of the blessed virgin. In 1902, owing to the French anti-congregation legislation forbidding members of a religious order to teach, the sisters were o'liged to leave France, many of them going to England and a few coming to the United States. At that time the late Bishop Tierney invited them to his diocese in Hartford, where the Provincial house was established. In 1904, the late Bishop Harkins invited them to Providence and the Nazereth house was established in that city.

In 1917, the mother house of the Sisters of the Holy Ghost was established in Putnam and has continued here since that time. At the present time more than 300 members of the order are in this country, while in all there are about 2,000 in different parts of the world.

Rev. Joseph D. Casey has been appointed as the new curate at St. Mary's church to fill the vacancy made by the return of Rev. Fr. Dykeman to his native country of Holland. Fr. Casey's home is in Waterbury but for the past four and a half years since his ordination, he has been the assistant pastor at St. Mary's in Danbury.

Mrs. Cortland D. Arnold left today for a two month's visit through the west. She will visit relatives at Mesa, Arizona and will then go to visit her daughter at Glendale, California. Mrs. Arnold expects to return about the first of February.

The American Legion of this district which includes all of the towns in Windham and Tolland counties will hold a meeting on next Sunday afternoon at Odd Fellows hall on Pomfret street. Francis J. Pritchard of Rockville, district commander, will be present and a number of the state officers of the Legion are also expected.

There will be the business meeting pertaining to the affirs of the organization and also a musical program has been arranged in which Mrs. Katherine S. Lown, Mrs. Dorothy Prince and Miss Gertrude Warner of this city with Miss Pike of Woodstock will participate.

The committee in charge of the meet-

STOP THE NEEDLESS

Many distressing fatalities have occurred when individuals have been shot for game or when they have lost their lives by the accidental discharge of their firearms. Probably it is too much to expect that the time will come when there will be no cases of that kind, but it is invariably the verdict where investigations are made in such cases that they ought not to have occurred.

As the result of the recent open season for hunters in New York state 28 persons were killed and 71 injured. The conservation department of that state makes the statement that "practically all the accidents could have been avoided by a thorough knowledge of firearms and care in their use."

This gets back to the old story of carelessness. It is the cause of great losses in other directions, many thousand lives are sacrificed each year because of it and yet there is an apparent unwillingness to get rid of it. Hunters in many instances entirely ignore the fact that they are carrying death dealing weapons which may mean the end of life for themselves or other human beings quite the same as for the game which they are seeking. They make no extra effort to avoid that possibility. They carry guns all cocked ready to shoot, they pull them through brush or fences as if there was no chance of discharging them by so doing, they lean on the muzzle and wonder why they didn't know better.

New York is not the only state where human life is invariably sacrificed during the open season. The search for big game is almost always responsible each year for one or more fatalities in Maine and Massachusetts. Too frequently it is the case that a hunter shoots at what he thinks may be game only to find out that it was another hunter. If the hunter is a good shot the "game" is laid low.

Knowledge of firearms and care in their use are essential. Accidents may not be completely eliminated under such conditions but they would be greatly reduced, and there is certainly great need for the avoidance of the needless casualties.

DOHENY'S PLEA

Long, long ago the question arose as to what would become of the investment which E. L. Doheny made at Pearl harbor in connection with the lease of the Elk Hills oil reserve. Then the courts had not passed judgment upon that oil lease and found it illegal. Since then the United States supreme court has found that fraud and corruption entered into that transaction and declared that he is not entitled to make claim for reimbursement for what he spent through application to the courts.

With that avenue closed, Mr. Doheny is nevertheless desirous of getting back over $13,000,000 and he thinks there is a chance of doing so by appealing to congress and getting that body to pay him for the outlay he made at Pearl harbor.

Congress hasn't acted. No one knows what it will do, but one can hardly be impressed by the possibilities of Mr. Doheny getting his money back. It doesn't seem probable that if his acts have made it impossible for him to use the courts to get his money back that congress is going to rise to the occasion and pass out the millions. This is not a proposition that is going to be looked upon with any more favor in congress than it will throughout the country. The whole transaction, branded as it has been by the supreme court, creates a strong disaproval, so much so that it would not be surprising if the petition failed to get any consideration.

Of course Mr. Doheny refers to this outlay as a complete loss, but he makes no reference to what he expected to do to the country or what he did do in carrying the deal as far as he did. He went into it with his eyes open. He was not invited by the government to start something. He went into the scheme and made his outlay as a part of it with the expectation of having it go through. It did go through but not in the way that he expected and now it remains for him to stand the strain unless he can persuade congress that he ought to be reimbursed. If he succeeds in that there were certain other sizeable expenses in connection with the lease which he may later ask to have made good to him. His plea promises to fall upon deaf ears.

HARSH TREATMENT

Massachusetts has come across one of those situations where obedience to one law, or the orders of a policeman enforcing the law, means the violation of another.

It is often the case that a policeman will commandeer a car to chase another motorist who has violated the law. In so doing he is asking the driver to go no faster than he would himself if he were chasing in a police department car and expecting to overtake the person wanted. Under such circumstances the driver of a commandeered car is liable to punishment if he refuses to respond when ordered, and yet if he does respond, does so at a pace which is necessary if it is to be effective he exceeds the speed law and is not only liable to trouble from that source but the loss of his driving license.

This is what has just happened to a Boston motorist. The situation would probably never have come to attention but for the fact that a pedestrian got in the way of the auto which was complying with police orders, resulting in an accident which got much publicity. Even though it was established that it was the pedestrian's fault and the fact that the motorist was only doing what he was ordered by the police to do he is nevertheless without his license.

The motor vehicle registrar takes recognition of the violation of the speed law, but gives no consideration to the fact that the police had ordered it. It was an unusual situation, a case where a court would doubtless have found that there were extenuating circumstances, but it makes no impression upon the motor vehicle registrar, and it likewise makes certain that none of the speeders or the "hit and run" drivers are going to be caught in the future through pursuit if it is impossible for the pursuit car to exceed the speed law. This makes it easy for those who have no respect for the law but increasingly difficult for those who are supposed to bring them to court. The Boston motorist with a smashed machine and no license as recompense for compliance with one law is certainly left in an indignant frame of mind, and he will have many sympathisers.

CROWDING THE FERRIES

New York is a conspicuous example which shows that the ferryboats are no longer meeting the transportation situation in a way to satisfy the public. The Holland tube is getting a tremendous business which was either taken care of by the ferries or which was not accommodated. It will not be long before a great bridge across the Hudson will also be contributing to the further relief of the traffic jam.

It was not so many years ago that the highway bridge across the Thames and those across the Connecticut at East Haddam and Saybrook were required to replace ferry service.

Further evidence of the manner in which the ferry must yield to something faster and more accommodating is obtained from the plans to construct a bridge from Bristol to Newport, R. I., to handle the traffic which is now dependent upon ferry service. This will be a toll bridge, quite the same as the Holland tunnel exacts a fee and the Connecticut bridges once did until they had collected the equivalent of the construction cost, but it will be welcomed nevertheless by all those who have waited for hours at one end or the other of the ferry lines in and about Newport in order to reach their destination. For such service, much more in keeping with present day mode of travel, all users will gladly pay and consider they are fortunate to get such improved facilities.

Rhode Island understands of course that it will have the right some time in the future, if it wants to exercise it, to take over that bridge, run it at its discretion and probably in time make it free from tolls. In the meantime the public is being accommodated. Ferryboats are not fast enough or numerous enough for carrying autos.

SMITH AND VARE

The Smith and Vare cases commanded much attention in the last session of congress and they will do likewise in the session which is to open next week. It is to be expected that the senate will meet the situation fairly and squarely. There must be full consideration for all the facts. It isn't a case of applying sharp practice.

The opposition to these senators-elect taking their seats is based upon the claim of large expenditures in their campaigns and there are those in the senate who insist that that body can accept or reject them at their pleasure.

It is to be remembered that these men were duly chosen candidates for the office of senator. They came before the people as such and as the result of the ballots that were cast they were found to have been elected. The voters of Illinois and Pennsylvania had a right to vote as they wished and to have that vote respected. This doesn't mean that every other state would have done it. It doesn't mean that these men would have gotten necessarily the approval of the voters elsewhere, any more than they might have voted to send to the senate some of those who are seated there as representatives from other states.

So far as can be seen Smith and Vare measure up to the requirements of membership in the senate as set forth in the Constitution. Their cases present a situation which ought not to be dealt with under snap judgment. More is at stake than the actual interests of the individual senators-elect for they are the representatives of the people of two big states and those states are entitled to their voices in that body. It isn't hot-headed treatment that is called for but a calm, deliberate judgment under the laws and in accordance with the facts.

THE PALE CAMEO

They must have been just three unrelated facts. That Smith Bros., jewelers, had a new assistant; that Mme. Greenleaf of the Bon Ton Apparel shop needed a new model; that Sophie Northam lifted the lid and dust from Aunt Jane's old trunk one day with screwdrivers and sighs. But Mother Mischief came along and——

Sophie plunged impious young fingers through the foaming pith of Aunt Jane's trunk—crumpled laces, old, blackened jewelry, yellowed sheaves of letters that began "Dearest Love" and ended in a swathing of pallid pink ribbons.

"Golly, Aunt Jane," Sophie muttered reproachfully to the shades of the illustrious ancestor, "why couldn't you have tucked a dollar bill somewhere in this old box of an inheritance? And here I am down to the base alloy of my last dime! But what's this?"

A cameo wrapped in cotton, big, oval, like a cloud with the sun and moon and stars shining through in a dawn of old gold setting. Regal! Sophie drew it from the cotton. There was a light in her eyes like the lights that have come into woman's eyes since jewels were first wrung from the earth's body and given to her to prize as well as wear.

"Pretty snappy-looking," she admitted. "Ought to be able to raise something on this—enough to get an outfit to interview Mme. Greenleaf for that modeling job. I'll drop it at Smith Bros.' for an appraisement."

"I can't tell its value offhand," Mr. Smith parried diplomatically, "but if you'll be back in a few hours——"

She was, but Mr. Smith had just stepped out, unfortunately, the new assistant confessed. Would she wait? Or perhaps he could be of some help? Ah, yes, the exquisite cameo that had come in that morning. She owned it? She didn't say, now! A moment, please. Yes, here it is, and a notation with it right in Mr. Smith's desk safe.

"'—Which Jacobs states is of the late Elizabethan period, of perfect design and workmanship, bearing an unknown coat of arms. An indication that it may be of an earlier date. Valued at $5,000."

Five thousand! Coat-of-arms, the Northam coat-of-arms of course. Funny, Aunt Jane never mentioned that they were of old English stock!

The new assistant had grown pink with deference. But wouldn't she be seated? Perhaps Mr. Smith could arrange a satisfactory transaction? It would be worth while.

"Sell, sell the precious old Northam cameo?" Sophie said coldly. "The impertinence of the suggestion, sir!" She pinned the cameo to the high collar of her old black silk dress. She looked a queen, felt one. Two clerks hastened to open the door.

"I always knew I was built for better things than near chiffon hose."

Elizabeth court ladies in silks, perfumes, plumes, huge sleeves, low bodices, jewels. Gentlemen in much lace, ruffs, velvet, long curls and silken limbs. A thousand candles sparkling in stately halls, winking at the dainty tracery of very pointed shoes. Little sleepy-eyed pages close to the throne and regal hem. The queen, bored, imperious, good-natured by whim. Ladies-in-waiting, hovering in shy and whispering groups, making eyes at the beautiful courtiers. The court chamberlain, fat, important, fingering the hilt of his sword and wondering if his embroidered cloak hung in graceful folds.

And so down Michigan avenue where people hesitated in their progress to gaze after the young princess in shabby silk and wearing the handsome cameo at her throat. Her tread was slow and graceful; her head high, her spirits higher.

Mme Greenleaf was impressed, even through her lorgnette.

"Poor and proud, a member of the beggared, but certainly a valued acquisition to the Bon Ton Apparel shop, where old-world atmosphere is so important," madame's brain tapped out to herself. Sophie got the job.

A telephone call that evening.

"Mr. Smith, you know, of Smith Bros., jewelers. Sorry. Unfortunate mistake. New assistant, got notations and appraisements confused with that of a museum specimen from New York."

"But if my cameo isn't late Elizabethan, Mr. Smith, then what is it?" Sophie wailed. Mr. Smith chuckled.

"Just early Woolworth, my dear."—Exchange.

YOUR HEALTH

Keep Home Air Moist.

By Alice G. Bryant M. D., Boston, Member Gorgas Memorial.

(The following is one of a series of articles prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial as part of its better health and longer life program. President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Memorial, which has been organized and endowed by prominent doctors and laymen throughout the country to perpetuate the work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 400 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.)

Shortly after the heating season many families find thier furniture coming apart. The reason is that there is not moisture in the air in those homes.

The dryness in the home atmosphere which harms furniture is likewise dangerous to health. It dries out the protective secretions of the delicate linings of the air passages and permits the germs to multiply. Colds, coughs, bronchitis, influenza, and pneumonia result.

There should be at least one-half gallon of water evaporated daily in every room of every home. There are several humidifying devices, but many of them are worthless due to the meagre amount of moisture given off. If we wish a simple humidifying outfit we can resort to a wide shallow pan filled with water. It is more important to have a wide shallow pan than a narrow deep one that will hold more water, because the evaporation is faster when more surface of water is exposed. Electric fans will increase the evaporation. One should establish a regular habit of filling the pans with water; otherwise they will be neglected. The pans need not be unsightly, neither should they be placed where they will be in the way.

Growing plants in a home also aid in humidification, but they cannot be depended upon to do the job alone of course.

Some interesting studies of babies are being made in Boston. The air they breathe is washed and filtered and the temperature, moisture, and air currents are automatically controlled. A series of experiments show the babies in question have increased in weight and, above all, there has been a marked lessening in illness and mortality.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

A. J. Cook, who led the march of the Welsh miners to London to present a petition to Parliament asking the government to intervene in the coal industry, which no longer affords them a livelihood has been fighting the battles of the miners for many years. Born in barracks, the son of a private in the British army, Mr. Cook was compelled to shift for himself at the age of twelve. For four years he worked on a farm, and at sixteen he was a preacher in a Baptist chapel. Then he went to work in the mines of the Rhondda Valley, where he was doomed to work with pick and shovel for twenty-one years. In 1918 he became prominent in the affairs of the Welsh miners' union and in 1924 his years of toil and endeavor were rewarded with election to the position of secretary of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain. It is said of Mr. Cook, who is now 42 years of age, that he has never found time for recreation.

THIS SCOURGE WAS DRAGGING HIM DOWN

ALL-BRAN gave him new lease on life when it checked constipation

No matter how chronic constipation has become—no one need give up hope of relief. Read Mr. Williams' cheery message:

"I am on the down-grade in life. Never had any sickness, but of late years have been troubled with constipation. Began to make up my mind that I was about done up. Have taken tablets, eaten fruits, etc., but did not get much help. Began to use your ALL-BRAN twice a day. Have gained 5 pounds. Feel like a fighting cock. Bowels are regular. You have certainly done a lot for humanity."

L. C. Williams

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend Kellogg's because it is 100% bran—100% effective.

Delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Ready to eat. Fine in cooking. Sold and served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Recipes on package.

A DANISH PROVERB

A Danish proverb says: "A lazy boy and a warm bed are hard to part."

You really cannot blame anyone who does not want to get up in a cold house. The day could be started better for the whole family if the house were warm and inviting in the morning. Breakfast could be eaten in comfort, and everyone would set out for work or school feeling his best. The coal which the Edward Chappell Company sells is of the highest grade. The Lowdown on an Upstart

We're good old friends—that is, of course, as fur as you can see—
But he's got one iniquity ignites th' fire in me;
That's his doggoned new radio, long boughten after mine,
Which makes me call him upstart—he acts so superfine!

He'd come to my house ev'ry night before he got his own—
Not even knock or demonstrate he had a telephone.
You'd thought my radio was his, th' way he would begin
Condemnin' my detector tubes an' style o' tunin' in.

Then he got his! I've never asked what kind it is, or price,
But way he talks you'd think 'twas him invented th' device;
He sits there grinnin'—lookin' up, as if to let you know
He'd just tuned in on Kingdom Come with his blamed radio!

He says he gits Philanthropy, Fascist an' Soviet—
Say, if there's any towns like that I've never had 'em yet!
But what makes me feel terrible—th' worst that ever wux—
Down in my heart I've got to say—I'm purty sure he does!

HARRY M. LAND SECURES BIG MAIN ST. PROPERTY

A purchase which was arranged for several weeks ago and has been quite generally known since then was consummated Thursday and the deed recorded in the town clerk's office by which Harry M. Land, owner of the Wauregan hotel property, bought from Joseph Boylan and Patrick J. Morley the so-called Stead building, 206 to 210 Main street, which adjoins the hotel property. The Stead building contains the Cosgrove company shoe store and the Morley gent's furnishing store on the main floor and office rooms on the floors above. It is understood that the proprietors of both stores have been granted short term leases and there is a strong possibility that ultimately this building, in conjunction with Mr. Land's other property, may be developed into a large store space for lease to one of the nationally known chain stores.

JUDGE AND JURY HEARING TRIAL OF SUIT OVER SALEM MOTOR CRASH

Trial was begun in the superior court here late Thursday afternoon before Judge John Rufus Booth and a jury in the suit of Norman A. King of New London against Edward K. Crane of Essex for $1,500 damages because of an automobile collision between machines owned and driven by the two men on Sunday, Nov. 28, 1926. The crash took place on the New London-Hartford turnpike at the Willows corner in the town of Salem and Mr. King sues to recover for the damage done to his car. He was driving from the direction of New London and Mr. Crane was coming towards this city on the Haddam road.

Attorney G. C. Morgan appears for the plaintiff and Brown & James for the defendant.

Norman A. King, the plaintiff, was the first witness called. He is now employed in New Haven. He testified that he bought his car July 24, 1926 for $944 and he had four people with him on the day of the accident, one with him on the front seat and three on the back seat. They were on their way to South Manchester to see a football game. He was driving on the highway, he said, at 30 miles an hour but slowed down to 25 miles approaching the corner at The Willows. He gave three long blasts on his horn, about 100 feet from the crossing. In the collision, the witness said, his machine was hit in the left rear wheel, rolled over three or four times and landed in some brush off the road. When he saw the Crane car close to his he stepped on the gas to jump out of the way. The Crane car, the witness, proceeded in its same general direction, made a three-quarter turn and rolled over on its side. The witness said he was picked up and taken into a garage at the Willows corner. His machine was removed to a New London garage by a wrecker and is still in the garage, a total wreck, Mr. King said.

On cross examination it was brought out that the King car came to a stop 80 feet from the point of the collision after it had rolled over three or four times. Mr. King said he was paying for the car in installments, $40 per month, and had made his final payment in July, 1927. He described the damage to the car which made it a complete wreck.

Clarence W. Thompson of New London, a former alderman of the city and the automobile dealer from whom Mr. King bought the Chevrolet sedan, testified that the price of the car was $865 delivered and the additional figure named by King included fire and theft insurance and finance charges. At the time of the accident the car was worth from $700 to $750 on a trade-in value. It was so much wrecked, he said, that it was not worth repairing, but has a value of from $100 to $125 at present.

Irving M. Snitkin of New London, who was standing at the Willows corner where he could see all the roads, testified that the Crane car was going at a pretty good clip. He saw the crash and saw both cars turn over. Both cars he said, landed on the right hand side of their respective roads.

Salvatore Ficarra, a barber of New London, who was on the front seat of the King car, testified that King was driving on the right of the road and blew his horn before reaching the corner. When the King car was hit, the witness said, it had got almost past the intersection.

John Holmgren of New London, another party in the King car, testified that he sat in the rear seat and the first he knew of the accident was when he felt the shock of the crash. He said the other machine hit the King car in the left rear door. He thought the speed of the King car was not over 30 on the way from New London.

Court adjourned at 5 o'clock with trial of the suit to be resumed next Tuesday morning.

The jury in the case consists of the following:

Henry Gebrath, Frederick A. Gallup, Norwich; Erva L. Barnes, William W. Service, Preston; Henry S. Parks, Colchester; William G. Totten, Elmer N. Pultz, Lebanon; Edward A. Bishop, Bozrah; George A. Miller, Franklin; John Morrison, Sprague; Clarence Fitch, Lisbon; John H. Herbert, Voluntown.

AMERICAN LEGION LEADS IN CITY PINOCHLE LEAGUE

The second night's play in the city pinochle tournament was held at the Knights of Columbus home on Broadway Thursday evening when the team representing the American Legion held first place by winning both games.

So that there will be no interference with the various lodge meetings the next session will be held on Monday, Dec. 12 at the Foresters club.

The schedule for that night follows: Duwells vs. Junior Order; Colonials vs. Polishers; Moose vs. Grotto; Eagles vs. American Legion; Foresters vs. Knights of Columbus; Yantic Fire Co. vs. Sons of Hermann.

Second half: Duwells vs. American Legion, Colonials vs. Knights of Columbus; Moose vs. Yantic Fire Co.; Eagles vs. Junior Order; Foresters vs. Polishers and Sons of Hermann vs. Grotto.

JURY GIVES DEFENDANTS VERDICT IN $25,000 SUIT

Verdict for the defendants, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Norton of this city, was returned here Thursday afternoon by the jury in the superior court where Mrs. Jessie H. McCullough of New York city was suing the Nortons for $25,000 damages.

Mrs. McCullough alleged that she had been seriously injured when struck by an automobile driven by Mr. Norton at Eastern Point on July 26, 1926.

The case reached the jury about noon, after the arguments by the counsel and the charge by Judge John Rufus Booth. It was three hours later when the jury returned with its verdict. In the meanwhile Judge Booth had them kept in the jury room without allowing them the usual recess for lunch.

WILL ENTERTAIN N. F. A. FOOTBALL SQUAD TONIGHT

The local Hi-Y club is to have the entire academy football squad as its guests this (Friday) evening at the regular club meeting. Supper will be served promptly at six o'clock. The Hi-Y orchestra will furnish music during the meal and assist in the singing program. Between 60 and 70 boys will be present. The club is proud of the record made by the team this year and is taking this method to show them their appreciation.

UNITED CHURCH MISSION BUDGET CALLS FOR $4,400

The proposed missionary budget for 1928 of the United Congregational church, was submitted to the church membership Thursday evening at a supper held at the Community house. The budget calls for a total of $4,400, for missionary purposes, divided as follows:

Foreign work, $1,450; home work, $1,520; state work, $325; local benevolences, $905.

The proposed budget for church expenses for 1928, submitted along with the missionary budget, calls for $15,900, of which $11,500 is to be raised by pledges. The annual every-member canvass of the church will take place Sunday, December 11th, the purpose of the canvass being to secure pledges for the year 1928, for the support of the church and its benevolence objects.

The supper, which had an attendance of about 250, was served at 6:30 o'clock, the menu being as follows: Cold meats, escalloped potatoes, string beans, rolls, coffee, cake and ice cream.

At the close of the supper the pastor, Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, introduced Miss Ruth Seabury, of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. Miss Seabury told of what Congregational missionaries are accomplishing in China and of the methods they use in carrying on their work. She spoke particularly of Betty Cushman, Mary McClure and Caroline Suell, well known missionaries and told of the value of their missionary work to the people of China. China wants us, as never before, and China needs us, as never before, she said.

Miss Seabury spoke of missionary activities in India and made special reference to Gertrude Avery, the Norwich missionary, at Bombay. She spoke of her highly commendable work among the girls of India. Miss Fowler, another missionary in India, was spoken of by Miss Seabury, who told of the boarding school Miss Fowler conducts. Reference was also made by Miss Seabury to the Yokahama settlement work in Japan and of the work in Turkey.

As the next speaker, Rev. Mr. Abbott introduced Rev. William S. Beard, of the Laymen's Committee of Home Missionary society, of New York. Rev. Mr. Beard admonished his audience not to be disturbed about the future of the church and went on to quote figures showing how the membership of the Congregational church had grown greatly in the last 25 years. Rev. Mr. Beard devoted his talk principally to the missionary activities in the southern part of this country. He told of the need for continued mission work in the Ozarks and exhibited pictures of the missionaries and of scenes among which they work in that section of the south. He said it is a long hard undertaking to bring schools enough to the 324,000 colored children in the south. He also spoke of the work being done among the Indian boys and girls in this country, briefly mentioned the work in Tennessee and made reference to the Ryder hospital in Porto Rico.

Rev. Mr. Abbott explained the $4,400 missionary budget and spoke of the every-member canvass which he announced will take place December 11. The gathering was brought to a close about 9 o'clock with prayer led by Rev. Mr. Abbott. Mrs. Walter F. Lester had charge of the supper committee.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET PLANS PROGRESS

Plans for the 13th annual father and son banquet are progressing in good shape. Considerable interest is being manifested in all of the twelve churches that are uniting in this annual affair.

The general committee announced Thursday, that the Salvation army band of So. Manchester, would be on hand to lead the parade, and give a concert at the Y. M. C. A. where all of the groups will assemble, after the supper. This band also has a glee club that will render several selections.

This band has from 30 to 40 members.

GUILFORD EXPERT WILL BE POULTRY SHOW JUDGE

At a recent meeting of the Norwich Poultrymen's association it was voted to secure Paul P. Ives of Guilford as judge for the poultry show to be conducted. He is a director of the American Poultry association and his experience gives him prestige with the raisers of fine bred poultry.

Entries from Willimantic and New London have been made for the show and two of the specially interesting exhibits will be the Barred Plymouth Rocks that won the silver cup at Westerly and some white Cochin bantams to be shown by an Old Mystic exhibitor.

FIRE-HOUSE BIDS VARY FROM $72,000 TO $103,000
(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Dec. 1—Fifty contractors interested in construction bids gathered at 8:15 this evening in the Council chamber of Westerly town hall, Chairman Clifford W. Campbell of the Building committee for Central Fire headquarters building, presided when the bids in the shape of sealed proposals were opened. The bids were asked for in the following classifications:

General, plumbing, heating and electrical.

The eleven general bids and two electrical contract proposals were opened in the following order:

Thomas H. Morrison, Westerly; C. Amos Batson, Brockton, Mass.; Rowley Construction Co., Pawtucket, R. I.; John W. Power, Worcester, Mass.; Walter H. Barker, Taunton, Mass.; Walter C. Hiscox Co., Westerly; Peter Nardone, Westerly; Central Engineering Co., Pawtucket, R. I.; The Peck-McWilliams Co., Norwich; R. A. Sherman Sons Co., Westerly; Shawmut Constructing Co., Boston.

The electrical bidders were: H. H. Coleman Electric Co., and Whitall Electric Co., both of Westerly.

The difference in proposals for two sizes of buildings was that the larger (Scheme B) considered a larger second story than the smaller (Scheme A) with a view to further expansion, while the ground and basement floors were the same in each.

The range of figures received for the larger building in granite in approximate bids ran from a low bid of Morrison at $97,000 to Hiscox at $120,000, without heating and plumbing, for which $5000 to $6000 and $4000 to $5000 should be added respectively. For the least expensive and smaller building with mill-frame and brick construction from $65,328 of Shawmut Construction Co., to $90,110 of Hiscox.

The general range of bids was: For larger building in granite, $97,000 to $120,000; with mill-frame construction and granite, $90,000 to $102,000; mill-frame and brick, $70,000 to $98,000 and fire proof and brick $77,000 to $88,000.

For the smaller building, granite construction and fireproof, $94,000 to $103,000; with mill-frame and granite, $86,800 to $98,000; mill-rame and brick, $65,000 to $84,000 and fire proof andb rick, $72,000 to $88,000.

SHIPPING FISH FROM GROTON TO TEXAS

In a refrigerator car cooled by a recently developed system of refrigeration using silica-gel, a carload of fresh filet of haddock will be shipped from the Groton plant of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries Corp. today (Friday) to Texas for distribution in that state.

The shipment is one of the longest ever planned of frozen fish and is made on the guarantee of the manufacturer of the new car that delivery will be made of the goods in perfect condition. The car is the first to be built and is understood to be the only one in the world. At present it is still considered to be in the experimental stage and mass production is being withheld pending further improvements.

The cooling formula occupies the space of only one ice bunker in the refrigerator car and is controlled by thermostatic control, which holds the temperature always below 20 degrees above zero, 12 degrees below freezing. The smaller space needed for the cooling system than that used by ice allows the car to be loaded with ten per cent. more fish.

CAR DISAPPEARS WHILE OWNER IS AT DINNER

Shortly after noon Thursday a Packard sedan, said to be out of running order, mysteriously disappeared from in front of No. 62 School street. The theft of the machine was reported to the police. It is thought that the car was towed away.

Harry J. Duchalner, No. 213 Hamilton avenue, Waterbury, who is here on a visit, was working on the machine and left it to eat his noon meal. When he returned to continue work on the machine it was gone. The registration number of the machine is V-3554.

It was learned by the police Thursday night that the automobile was probably taken by Atwood Bros. of Waterbury from whom Duhaime bought the machine on the installment payment plan. He was behind in his payments to the Waterbury men who came here and recovered the car, it is believd.

MOTOR TRUCK LANDS IN LAUREL HILL YARD

A fnce, grape vine trellis and sewer pipe in the yard of John F. Vallin's residence at 269 Laurel Hill avenue was broken Thursday night by a motor truck driven by Max Feinberg and owned by the Fring dairy on Town street, Norwich Town.

Considerable damage was also done to the forward end of the truck.

Found With Defective Lights.

Paul Gager of Quaker Hill, Waterford, and Timothy Couch of R. F. D. No. 1, Norwich, were found with defective lighting equipment on their automobiles at MossBroker's corner, Waterford, Wednesday night by State Policeman Kenerson and were ordered to appear in the Waterford town court this (Friday) afternoon.

It's a pretty safe plan to judge a man by the people he doesn't keep company with.

THE ENGLISH NORWICH IS TO HONOR LINCOLN

Because of communications which the city of Norwich, Conn., has had with Norwich, England for which it was named, there is local interest in the news that the Norwich City Council the past week unanimously approved a proposal to commemorate President Lincoln's ancestral association with Norwich, England.

At the time Benefactors' day was celebrated in Norwich, Conn., June 6-7th, 1914, the late William C. Gilman had charge of transmitting cable greetings from this city to the ancient English town, also received the reply from the Lord Mayor. The late Arthur H. Brewer and John C. Averill served as members of the same committee.

Water Pipe Break Repaired.

A break in a water pipe in Franklin square about opposite the Thayer building entrance was repaired by the water department Thursday afternoon.

How Often Should Bobbed Hair Be Shampooed?
As often as a man's, say authorities, that is, about once a week. Use a good soap to banish germs with the dirt—the pine tar in Packer's Tar Soap (the standard shampoo soap for 55 years) is antiseptic. Use two lathers and rinse thoroughly with hot water. Massage, too, is helpful. You can get Packer's at any good store.

Hold Your Glasses Up to the Light
Are the lenses clean, or are surfaces scratched and pitted? Cleaning your lenses daily usually causes the surfaces to become scratched and marked, and these fine scratches often make clear vision difficult on the eyes.

ACADEMY'S FALL SPORT SEASON IS CONSIDERED A FAIR SUCCESS

The Academy's fall sports season can be classed as successful. Eight victories, five defeats and a tie came the way of three teams in two sports.

The football team won five, lost three and tied one. The first team in cross-country won its three dual meets but finished third in a field of four teams in the Interscholastic run. The second team in cross country lost its only start.

The event that stands in the way of proclaiming the past few months as most successful is that 6-6 tie that Bulkeley tacked onto the Red and White. That is really the only black mark on the records of the schedule for autumn for it was a top-heavy favorite that suffered that reverse at the hands of the Whalers.

The Stonington Alumni and Warren-Harding defeats on the gridiron did not seem to make such an impression as this draw with Bulkeley. Harding was better and ultimately proved itself state champions. In the other two self state champions. In the other two more than the opposing team injuries having taken heavy toll.

The highlights of the football season were wins over Windham and Wilby of Waterbury. Those showing consistently good games all year were Jakie Marks, Johnny Greene, Harry McGlone, Mish, Jim Kelly and Kahn.

In cross country practically all of the inexperienced material that Coach Matthew Sheridan had on hand at the start of the season did well.

The following are the records of the teams:

Football

N. F. A. 18, Chapman Tech 0.
N. F. A. 7, Torrington 6.
N. F. A. 19, Westerly 6.
N. F. A. 6, Warren Harding (Bridgeport) 19.
N. F. A. 19, Wilby (Waterbury) 13.
N. F. A. 7, Windham 0.
N. F. A. 6, Bulkeley (NL) 6.
N. F. A. 0, Stonington 6.
N. F. A. 6, Alumni 15.

Summary: Won 5, Lost 3, Tied 1. Total points scored 82. Opponent points 71.

Cross-Country

First Team

N. F. A. 27, Westerly 28.
N. F. A. 24, Bulkeley (NL) 31.
N. F. A. 26, Stonington 35.

Interscholastics, Chapman Tech 25, Westerly 47; N. F. A. 48, Stonington 54.

Summary, won three dual meets, finished third in league run.

Second Team

N. F. A. 27, Bulkeley (NL) 28.

The season's record show that the Academy hats 1000 percentage against Torrington, Wilby and Windham.

Here is the slate showing the games the Academy won, lost and tied with their opponents:

Stonington	2	1	0
Bulkeley	1	1	1
Chap. Tech	1	1	0

Notes

Last year the Academy's fall sports team turned in five wins, four losses and two ties.

Wilby and Tech are the same as last year, according to the table.

This was the second year that Harding defeated the Academy and it was likewise the second year of their grid relations.

In the above table Westerly and Tech were conceded a victory by placing ahead of N. F. A. in the interscholastic.

And, in the same way, the Academy was given a win over Stonington by finishing ahead of her in the league run.

Those behind the guns this year were: Football, Coach Courtland Whitney and Capt. Jackie Marks; cross-country, Coach Matthew Sheridan, Capt. Paul Holdridge.

DAN SHAY DIES OF SELF-INFLICTED WOUNDS

KANSAS CITY, Dec 1.—(AP)—Daniel C. Shay, 52, veteran baseball player and former manager of the Kansas City American association baseball club, died in a hospital here today, apparently a suicide victim.

Shay was found wounded last night in his room at a local hotel, where he lived alone. There was a revolver on the floor. Shay suffered a stroke of paralysis about a year ago and friends said he had been in ill health and despondent since then.

"Hustlin' Dan," as he was known as a player, was a teammate of John McGraw with the New York Giants 20 years ago, and played shortstop with the Giants. He was obtained by the Kansas City Blues in 1909 from the Stockton, Cal., club, and managed the Blues in 1910 and 1911, leading them to second place in the association the latter year.

TRINITY HAS EXTENSIVE TRACK AND BASEBALL SLATES

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 1—(AP)—Nineteen contests are listed for the Trinity college track and baseball teams next spring, according to the schedules announced by Graduate Manager Stanley H. Leeke.

The track team is scheduled for the eastern intercollegiates at Worcester, May 12, and four dual meets, three of them on Trinity field. This comprises the most ambitious track season attempted by Trinity since the war, and reflects the great improvement shown in this branch of intercollegiate competition last season. The dual meets are as follows:

April 28, Worcester Tech at Worcester.
May 5, Massachusetts Aggies.
May 9, Connecticut Aggies.
May 26, Clark University.

MARSTERS WILL BE MEMBER OF HURDLES TEAM

HANOVER, N. H., Dec. 1—(AP)—Harry R. Heneage, supervisor of athletics at Dartmouth, today confirmed reports that negotiations are under way to arrange an international hurdles race between teams representing Dartmouth and Cambridge, and possibly Oxford, during Dartmouth's eastern vacation next spring.

Heneage said that an invitation from the Achilles club of London, composed of graduates of Oxford and Cambridge, to attend its May carnival, would be necessary before the Dartmouth athletic council could take official action on the proposed trip. He said that he understood such an invitation was to be extended, in which case Dartmouth probably would accept.

N. K. Parker, who was captain of Dartmouth's undefeated 1925 football team, has been negotiating with the athletic authorities of the British universities. Parker now is a Rhodes scholar at Oxford.

Three Dartmouth hurdlers who probably will be members of the team of four to go abroad are: Eber Montgomery Wells of Winthrop, Mass., intercollegiate A. A. A. A., high hurdles champion; Richard Black of Pekin, Ills., captain-elect of the 1928 football team; and Al Marsters of Arlington, Mass., Dartmouth's all-American halfback.

BALTIC INDEPENDENTS WIN EASILY FROM WILLIMANTIC

Displaying a fast brand of basketball the Baltic Independents swept into the lead early in the game and swamped the Willimantic Independents 36 to 22 at the Baltic gym Thursday night. The Baltic boys played a carefully planned game and their passing completely baffled the Thread City quintet. There was no indivual star on the Baltic club, each playing a steady and well balanced game. Mandell the Willimantic left forward with five baskets from the field was the high scorer of the evening.

In the preliminary game the Taftville Eagles nosed out the Baltic Maroons, 21 to 19 in a close and exciting game. The summary:

POP WILLIAMS LANDS PLACE ON ALL-NEW ENGLAND

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Dec. 1—Arthur V. (Pop) Williams '28 of Danielson, Connecticut Aggie football star and the Aggies' leading scorer, has been selected as a halfback on the Boston Evening "Transcript's" mythical "All New England" small college eleven.

Williams, who has been a regular on the State college eleven for the past two seasons, is rated by many football critics as one of the best ball carrying backs in eastern college ranks. For the past two seasons he has been the backbone of the Aggie offense. A bad knee injury, as a result of which his leg is in a cast at the present time, hampered Williams somewhat during the latter part of the past season, but he was selected for All New England honors despite this handicap.

WALLINGFORD TEAM NOW OWNED BY HOME INTERESTS

WALLINGFORD, Conn., Dec. 1—(AP)—A syndicate of Wallingford sportsmen, headed by M. Francis Kennedy, today purchased the Wallingford franchise in the American Roller Hockey league from Harry Starkie, Hartford man, who has been at the helm of the Tiger crew during the first two weeks of the season. The new owners will take over the team on Monday.

Several changes in the lineup of the Orange and Black quintet have been planned to strengthen the club, the first of which is the addition of Bill Cusick at halfback. Mossy Conley, goalie, may be replaced, and a trade involving "Wild Bill" Duggan is now in the making.

DANIELSON FIVE PLAYS CO. C. THIS EVENING

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Dec. 1—Company C. meets the Danielson big five with "Billy" Schofield Friday night at the state armory court. The game will be started at 8:15 o'clock and will be initiated by a preliminary between two local teams. "Tommy" Pickett, former Emerald star, is coach of the local five and he also plays at one of the guard positions.

GRANTLAND RICE NAMES HIS ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—(AP)—Five stars from the middle west, four from the east, with one each from the south and far west compose the 1927 all-American football team selected by Grantland Rice for the current issue of Colliers Weekly made public today. Eleven different colleges are represented in the first strong mythical lineup which follows:

Ends: Oosterbaan of Michigan and Nash of Georgia.

Tackles: Raskowski of Ohio State and Smith of Pennsylvania.

Guards: Smith of Notre Dame and Crane of Illinois.

Center: Charlesworth of Yale.

Quarterback: Drury of Southern California.

Halfbacks: Cagle of the Army and Welch of Pittsburgh.

Fullback: Joesting of Minnesota.

LITTLE COLONEL PAYS HIS BACKERS WELL

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—(AP)—Little Colonel, an outsider owned by S. J. Kelly, annexed the fourth race at Jefferson Park today, a $1,000 claiming event for two year olds over the six furlong distance, winning by five lengths from Emphatic. Lily Sue came in to show. The time was 1:15 3-5. The victor paid $20.60 for a $2 stub.

Shasta Graney was home first in the fourth race at Tijuana, an $800 claiming stake for three year olds and up, covering five furlongs in 1:01 4-5. For Me took the place, with Honey Bunch third.

WINDHAM BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS DEC. 16TH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Dec. 1—Windham opens her basketball season Friday evening, December 16th, at the state armory. Two games will be staged, the varsity boys and girls meeting the alumni teams. For the boys, there are unusually fine prospects and Coach serions relapse in the condition of a successful season. The first practice session was Thursday afternoon. The girls also have fine material with whom to turn out a strong sextet.

YALE WOULD HAVE WON CONFERENCE TITLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—(AP)—If the eastern Big Ten conference idea that crept into football's "hot stove league" conversation last year had become an established reality this fall, Yale's great team, unbeaten in the east, would have won undeniable right to the "conference" title.

Pfeil Suffers Relapse

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 1.—(AP)—A seious relapse in the condition of Charles O. Pfeil, recently elected president of the United States Golf association, who has been critically ill for over a month, was announced tonight by attending physicians. He is suffering from septicaemia, and is not expected to recover.

Challenge

Jewett City Whirlwinds challenge any basketball team in eastern Connecticut, especially Noank Crescents C. F. C. Norwich, Battery E. Westerly, or any other team. Jewett City has one of the strongest teams in eastern Connecticut. Answer through this paper or call Walter Minski, Jewett City, Tel. 111-12.

Watterson Elected Bulkeley Grid Leader

James Watterson, '29, tackle and center on the Bulkeley squad this past season and chosen on the second All-Eastern Connecticut team, was elected captain for the coming football season.

TEN FAST AMATEUR BOXING BOUTS AT PASTIME A. C. SHOW TONIGHT

Ten fast amateur bouts are to be served up for the boxing fans of Norwich at the amateur boxing show at Olympic hall this evening under the auspices of the Pastime Athletic club. Tonight's show will be conducted under A. A. U. rules as the bouts have been sanctioned by the A. A. U. and an inspector will be present at the show to help in the matching of the boys.

Just how the boys will shape up in the matching tonight is uncertain and al that the matchmakers say is that there will be four boys in the flyweight division, six in the bantamweight, six in the lightweight, four in the featherweight and two in the welterweight class. It is possible that a number of boys not yet entered will come in at the last minute.

All the favorites including Al Koziol, Barney Keenan's protege, who gave the New England champion such a battle recently at Putnam and Jimmy Quinn who defeated his man at the Putnam show will be on hand.

Putnam and Danielson are sending down their usual strong quota of mittslingers. These boys have always furnished plenty of trouble in particular and excitement in general for both fans and opponents so there should be no exception this time. Several who have appeared in local rings before will be present while others likely prospected are also slated to make the journey southward.

From New ondon comes probably the largest delegation for at least six ranging all the way up the weights are now booked with a strong possibility of three or four more making their appearance before the matchmakers take pen in hand. The Westerly delegation is limited to boys living just across the line in Connecticut it is reported because of a recent ruling barring out of the state amateurs from competing in Connecticut rings.

Alltogether, there will be quite a bit of inter-sectional rivalry with at least four towns having representatives. As far as possible it is expected that boys from different cities will be matched thereby adding extra rivalry to the bouts.

With the entries on hand to date it is probable that the following matches will be made: 120, Young Burrows vs. Mickey Quinn, Young Comfort vs. Al Springer, Ed Goulet vs. Young Paradis; 125, Joe Martin vs. Boots Lary, Jimmy Metcalf vs. Grenier; 135, Frankie Adams vs. Kid Breault, Al Koziol vs. Dick Whitey, Bat Hooper vs. Young Grenier; 145, Jack West vs. Dan Rockford and others.

The bouts will start promptly at 8:15.

Mike Kelley and Jack Sweeney will be the judges with Jack Wilson and Danny Doyle as referees and Jack Carney will handle the watch.

Jack Callahan will do the announcing.

Ladies will be admitted free and the doors will open at 7:15 with the Moose orchestra furnishing music as usual until starting time.

"Y" Emps Hold Final Workout

The "Y" Emps held a fast workout in preparation for their initial game with the Willimantic "Y" Emps Saturday night at the local "Y" floor.

A fast scrimmage was held between the two first teams of the Emps. The team showed the result of their faithful practice in their wonderful defensive and offensive playing. The five man defense was perfected and Coach Conklin seemed very pleased with the teamwork. He also warned the team against over-confidence and expressed his desire to see the team's long string of victories continue unbroken. The advance sale of tickets is reported strong and all those wishing to procure them can do so at the Y. M. C. A. or from any Emp member.

CANZONERI WHIPS FERNANDEZ IN TEN SAVAGE ROUNDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, challenger for featherweight laurels, whipped Ignacio Fernandez, rugged Filipino, in a savage ten round feature bout at Madison Square Garden tonght. Canzoneri weighed 125 pounds, Fernandez, 124 1-2.

The tiny brown battler who knocked out Abe Goldstein, former bantam weight champion to gain the front rank among the top-notchers, gave the New York star one of the fiercest fights of his career. Canzoneri won only through a courageous rally in the closing rounds, after Fernandez stiff hight hand punching had gained an edge in the early fighting.

Most of the distance, the youngsters battled in fierce toe-toe exchanges, with the Filipino's stiff head punching drawing blood from Canzoneri's nose and lips.

The New York Italian battered Fernandez badly toward the close with a two fisted body bombardment. There were no knockdowns, although Fernandez staggered Canzoneri twice in the sixth and seventh rounds with right smashes to the head.

The Filipino was wabbly in each of the last three rounds from Tony's body smashes.

GREENEVILLE TIGERS TO PLAY OCKFORDS SUNDAY

At Morgan Park, New London, on Sunday afternoon, the Greeneville Tigers and the Ockford Hose Co. football team will clash in the game that will decide the professional football championship of eastern Connecticut. The Ockfords and the Tigers seem pretty evenly matched. The New London club has played teams from New Haven and other sections, breaking even with the East Rocks while the Tigers have met only teams in the immediate vicinity. The Tigers have lost but one game, that to the Italian American A. C. of Westerly but as the margin was small that should mean little by the time of the opening whistle Sunday.

No doubt a large crowd will journey to the Whaling city for this clash, which carries all the old Norwich-New London rivalry. The Tigers have played good football and deserve the support of local fans. The local eleven has been getting in some steady work this week in preparation for the coming Sunday and it was rumored about Thursday night that the Greeneville club will blossom out with reinforcements for this game.

Smith to Lead Fordham

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—(AP)—John Smith, tackle on the Fordham university eleven, has been elected captain of the squad for 1928. Smith, a resident of Providence, has been a member of the team two seasons. Sixteen members of the squad were awarded letters.

Sayers To Be Aggie Captain

STORRS, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Andrew M. Sayers, of Hartford, was elected captain of the Connecticut Agricultural college football team for 1928, tonight. Sayers has played right tackle regularly for the past two seasons. He is a graduate of the Hartford schools.

DANIELSON FIVE LOSES OPENING GAME

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Dec. 1.—The Danielson Town team opened its season tonight in the town hall before a good sized crowd of fans and were defeated by the snappy South Manchester quintet by the score of 43 to 27. The first half ended with the Manchester boys leading 21 to 14. Billy Schofield, playing for the Danielson boys was high scorer with 4 field goals and two fouls, and Haulker high scorer for Manchester with 3 field goals and two fouls.

The second half opened with all kinds of speed but the Manchester boys took a commanding lead and held to the final whistle. Mantelli and Boyle starred for Manchester in the final period while the local boys divided the honors equally. The game proved interesting from start to finish and the Danielson boys showed up much better than expected as they have been handicapped for a place to practice as the town hall was just made available for the team. There is no question but what Danielson will have one of the best teams they have ever put on the floor as every man is showing rapid improvement under the leadership of Billy Schofield.

Next week the Millville team plays at Danielson and the fans should look forward to a great game as the Millville team played one of the best games seen on the local floor last season.

PASTORS' ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Dec. 1—The Westerly Pastors' association held its annual meeting Thursday at the Westerly Memorial and Public Library building. It was voted to send Rev. Lewis A. Walker, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, to the National Anti-Saloon league conference, Dec. 5, 6 and 7, in Washington, D. C. The president, Byron U. Hatfield, pastor of the First Baptist church presided. Officers elected are: President, Rev. Arnt L. Schoning, of the Broad Street Christian church. Secretary, Rev. Luther G. Coburn, of the Pawcatuck Congregational church. Treasurer, Rev. Lewis A. Walker, of the Calvary Baptist church.

The delegate, Rev. Lewis A. Walker will report on his attendance at the national conference of Anti-Saloon leagues at a union meeting of Westerly churches Sunday evening, Dec. 11th at 7:30 o'clock at Grace Methodist Episcopal church.

The Young People's society of Elmwood Christian church will make a visitation Sunday evening to the society of the Young People at the Broad Street Christian church. The trip from Providence will be made by automobile and the meeting will be called at 6 p. m.

As officers for the coming year of Westerly Masonic club, No. 176, of the National League of Masonic clubs, the following slate has been posted: President, Francis G. Haswell; vice president, Clifford T. Barber; secretary, Albert E. Barber; treasurer, Lewis Stanton; directors for three years, Leonard L. Hiscox, Samuel Counsell; auditing committee, Horace E. Burdick, W. Russell Dower. The nominating committee was Byron C. Taylor, Elisha C. Burdick, John R. Oppy, Ernest H. Ozanne and Fred W. Lueck.

The annual every-member canvass of Christ Episcopal church, Rev. G. Edgar Tobin, rector, will begin Saturday and will continue to Dec. 11th. The committee in charge consists of John Albert Pawson, chairman; Hobart B. Livingstone, Francis W. Taylor, David A. Lowry, Arthur L. Perry and William E. Weeden. A meeting of the drive teams, numbering about thirty-five will be held this (Friday) evening at the rectory on Elm street to perfect organization for the campaign.

At the meeting of Westerly Zoning board, attended in the council chamber by Frank A. Sullivan, Charles L. Fontana, D. Harold Rogers, James Jolly and Secretary Louis J. Rossi Wednesday evening, two applications for special zoning permits were heard and granted.

Peter Giatrelis, at the southerly side of Granite street and the easterly side of Rocket street, in a residential C district, asked for permission to erect outside stairways leading from the second to the third floor. The permit was granted with the requirement that building code laws be observed.

C. B. Bliven, proprietor of the Wigwam hotel, Pleasant View beach, asked for permission to extend by widening present garage located 300 feet east of Winnapaug road on the south side of Atlantic avenue, with the addition of three feet to meet present automobile requirement with increased length of wheel base. The permit was granted.

Pawcatuck Lodge, No. 90, A. F. and A. M., George A. Stillman worshipful master, Thursday evening at the Masonic rooms, High street, held its 549th special communication, when the lodge officers worked the third or Master Mason degree upon a class. Refreshments were served in the commandery armory banquet hall at the close of the meeting.

Westerly players held a largely attended meeting Wednesday evening in tht assembly hall of the Library building. The clever comedy, "The Show-off," under the direction of Miss Honora Brennan, was well received. Parts were read by the cast as follows: Mrs. F. M. Robertson, Mrs. Carroll Blackler, Miss Viola Litman, J. L. Marston Charles Marsh, John R. Troy, Myles Brennan, George Ward and Rupert Coleman.

One hundred members of Westerly Masonic club gathered in the club room Wednesday night for a pig supper. Cards and pool and billiard games were enjoyed until the serving of refreshments of sweet cider, pork sandwiches, pickles, ice cream, cake and coffee. The supper was a contribution of card shark members of the club.

Miss Lillian G. Thomas, a teacher in the White Rock grammar school, left Wednesday for Montague City, Mass., where she was called by the death of her mother Mrs. Robert E. Thomas.

Byron C. Taylor, of Potter Hill, was in Westerly Thursday morning en route to Norwich and Willimantic.

Misses Margaret S. and Helen Louise Buffum left Thursday morning on the Mayflower express from their summer home, for their winter home in Jacksonville, Florida.

Henry Davis, of Groton, scale tester for the New Haven road, was a Westerly business caller Thursday.

Frank L. Furness, of Pawcatuck, was in Providence Thursday.

This (Friday) evening the first of the Everglades Limited expresses will make the Westerly station stop, at the beginning of the season for passengers to the Florida winter resorts. Five trains will have gone south before the first makes its return trip north.

Miss Eleanor F. Mitchell has returned from a visit with friends in West Mystic.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kenneth, of Washington, D. C., are guests of Westerly relatives.

NOANK

Boy Scout troop No. 19 has formed a cross country team. Eugene Butson, Bulkeley fast man on the cinder path, will be in charge. The team of five members had a run against the second team from their rooms on Main street to Old Mystic, over stone walls, up hills, etc. The team men were in their white running suits going at a good rate of speed. Near the home goal the second team was ahead but Deer Butson said "Come on! Step on it!" and Danny Roberston beat out Speed G. Patterson by a few feet, taking first place. Team No. 1 made 29 points, while Team No. 2 had 27 points. Capt. Roberston was his team leader and Capt. G. Patterson was leader of team No. 2. Coach Butson was well pleased with their first work out and will have a first clas cros country team to give any of the fast teams around this section a hard run. Vincent Douglas will class with Nurmi, the express runner, after a little more training.

Several of the young basketball fans went to Plainfield Wednesday to attend the game and dance. The trip was made by auto.

Jerry Bacon is in Cuba for a few months.

Charles Rogers was in Stonington on Wednesday.

Capt. Everett Davis has hauled up his boats at West View yard until next spring. Wednesday morning in his automobile with Rodney Clark, he started for South Carolina for the winter. It will take about six days to make the trip. Each year Capt. Davis spends the winter months where the sun is shining and in his shirt sleeves sits under a palm tree while his friends up north are wearing heavy ov coats. Mr. Clark, the owner of the well-known tea room will make the trip from South Carolina to Key West, Florida, by train.

Wednesday proved the warmest November day in the history of the village. In the morning at Albert Fitch's store the thermometer read 65 degrees. The warm wind was like walking into an oven as it blew across the village. The house carpenters said they hoped December would keep up the good record.

The village was saddened Wednesday morning by the death of Robert Francis, 78, at the home of Mrs. T. Dale on High street, after a short illness from heart trouble. Death came suddenly. For over 20 years he had boarded at the home of Mrs. T. Dale, coming when a young man from Bath, Me., and getting a job at the ship yard as a caulker's helper to learn his trade. After a few months he was a first class caulker. He has been a resident of the village for over 35 years. Mr. Francis was born in Windsor, Nova Scotia. He was well liked and known to everybody as Bob. The old shipyard men are thinning out; his death makes two within two months. As far as can be learned he has no surviving relatives.

Boat Crusader was blown up at the north dock about a month ago. Wednesday afternoon a large derrick scow arrived from New London and Frank Carpenter took charge of raising the boat. After working for two hours he got it up quite a ways, so he and his men can get out the engine and gas tanks which Capt. Fish wanted to save. The boat is a total wreck.

Crescents basketball team are putting in some hard practice under the eyes of Coach Billie Crane by passing the ball and shooting on the run. Several of the players have colds but they will be in the line-up when the team goes to Westerly this week to play the Rhode Island sharp shooters, Battery E, at the armory. The soldiers have landed two new men.

At the opening of a big theater in New York next week a movie picture "Comrades" will be shown. The scenes were taken in the village last summer under the direction of Bradley Baker. People here will be waiting to see the picture when it comes to the village hall and puts the town in movieland again.

MARY LEWIS

Prima Donna Lyric Soprano of The Metropolitan Opera, Who Sings at

Slater Hall This Evening

USES THE Chickering

EXCLUSIVELY

The debut of Mary Lewis at the Metropolitan Opera marked the climax of a career as dramatic as any in American musical annals. And to the Chickering piano Miss Lewis gives gracious credit, saying: "My first music lessons at the age of eight were taken on the Chickering and it is an inspiration that I am again to be associated with it in my career."

Miss Lewis is one of a great many artists who use the Chickering exclusively on the concert stage and in their homes. These artists chose the Chickering because it is musically the most beautiful piano of today, possessing an unequalled loveliness of tone and because of its superlative perfection.

Hear the Chickering in our warerooms and you will know why it is the choice of great artists.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

STATE POLICE HOUSED IN FINE NEW BARRACKS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STAFFORD SPRINGS, Dec. 1—The new state police barracks have been occupied by Lieutenant Harman and his men who are now occupying an attractive building on East Main street. The building was contructed to house a garage large enough for cars and motorcycles and is conveniently located at the building. The office is in the front of the building with a desk and a telephone connected with this office with Lieutenant Harman has his office in the building. A rest room for the men, dining room and kitchen on the first floor. A chef has been hired to prepare the meals for the men who will be served their meals while on duty at the barracks. The sleeping quarters are on the second floor and run the length of the building. A separate room is provided for each man. Sub-station No. 4 is, at present, one of the best equipped barracks in the state.

George M. Potter of Fabyan was before the borough court Wednesday morning, charged with reckless driving and driving without an operator's license. He was fined $28 and costs of $15.27. At the same session of court, Frederick Hall was fined $15 and costs of $18.22 for speeding.

William Parizek of West Willington was given a judgment of $100 against Delbert W. Goodell, in the borough court Wednesday morning. Mr. Parizek sued to recover on a four months' note, given him by Mr. Goodell April 10th, 1927.

Tom Skeykill, "Student of the World Affairs," is to give a free public lecture in Memorial hall, Stafford Hollow this (Friday) evening. The H. P. U. lecture course is sponsoring this lecture.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Mother Bear Explains Some Things.

Who dares to undertake the task
Of answering all a child may ask?
—Mother Bear

For a while Mother Bear was too busy to answer questions and Cubby was wise enough to know it. So he stored up his questions in his little head and waited. Mother Bear had led Cubby and his twin sister deep into the Green Forest, where a great tree had been blown over and in tearing up its roots had made a great hole. Other trees had been blown over at the same time and had fallen in such a way that this hole was partly roofed over. With her big claws Mother Bear had scratched and dug away the earth at the back and then she had raked in a lot of deal leaves to make a bed. It wasn't very much of a bed, but it was enough to cover the ground and all that a bear needed.

"But it'll make us all cold and shivery," whined Cubby

When Mother Bear had everything fixed to suit her she called the two cubs inside. "This is our winter bedroom," said she. "We are going to bed now, the three of us together, and we are going to sleep until old Jack Frost decides it is time to go back 'way up North where he came from."

"But" protested Cubby, "won't the snow cover us all up?"

"I hope so," replied Mother Bear. "The sooner it covers us up the better suited I'll be."

"But it'll make us all cold and shivery," whined Cubby.

"Nothing of the sort," replied Mother Bear in her big deep rumbly-grumbly voice. "t'll make us all warm and comfy."

"Well, how can we sleep all that time without eating?" asked Cubby.

"Did you ever eat in your sleep?" growled Mother Bear. "Didn't I tell you we would be asleep all that time? It isn't a question of how we can sleep without eating; it is a question of how we could possibly eat while sleeping."

"But I should think our empty stomachs would wake us up," protested Cubby.

"They shrink," replied Mother Bear.

"What does shrink mean?" asked Cubby.

"It means to grow smaller," replied Mother Bear.

"But it'll make us all cold and shivery," whined Cubby.

"And our stomachs really grow smaller?" asked Cubby.

"That's what I said," replied Mother Bear. "They keep growing smaller and smaller until they get so small they wouldn't hold anything if we wanted to eat. So it wouldn't be any use to try to eat. Therefore we keep right on sleeping until Mistress Spring comes to waken us."

"Don't we feel the cold?" asked Cubby.

Mother Bear fairly snorted. "Cold!" she exclaimed. "What do you think we have these big fur coats for? What do you think we have been stuffing fat beneath our skins for all these weeks? Cold! You'll never know my son, that Jack Frost is around.

Cubby sighed. "I wish," said he, "that my stomach would shrink right off quick."

"Why," asked his sister.

"Because I'm beginning to get hungry right now just thinking of having nothing to eat for so long."

JOY COMES TO KANSAS CITY WOMAN

Face was almost covered with pimples

Simple treatment makes skin smooth and clear

Kansas City, Mo., June 12:—"I am delighted with Resinol Soap and Ointment, they have benefited my skin so much. The soap leaves it so smooth and gives just the results I have been looking for. I had pimples and blackheads almost covering my face at one time, but by using both soap and ointment I have succeeded in conquering the disorder. I tried several other remedies, but didn't get any results. We take both Resinol Soap and Ointment with us on our vacation trips as we find them always needed, and the ointment is especially good for almost any kind of insect bites."—(Signed) Mrs. Carl Schulze, 2311 Wabash Ave.

Your druggist sells the Resinol products. Keep your skin clear and velvety by daily use of Resinol Soap. For the occasional pimple apply a touch of Resinol Ointment.

MYSTIC

The W. C. T. U. met in the vestry of the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon. The meeting opened by singing, reading of the 103rd Psalm and prayer by the president, Mrs. Lamb. A small amount was voted for the Near East relief. Mrs. Lamb presented Mrs. Lois B. Shandeor of Noank, the new county president saying that the county has a young woman for president and it is pleasing to have the younger ones take up the work. Most of Mrs. Shandeor's talk was on the county meeting held in Norwich and the state meeting held in Meriden. She gave the report so accurately it made those present feel that they really had been present. She made a most favorable impression in her first visit to the local union. Rev. Lyman G. Horton D. D. pastor of the church endorsed all Mrs. Shandeor had said and made a plea for the women to vote. He read statistics showing how many neglect going to the polls. Mrs. Gremley and Mrs. Wallace assisted by some of the other members served sandwiches, cake and tea. Thirty-one were present.

The pupils of Mrs. Mildred Chapman Keigwin gave a piano recital in Odd Fellows hall Thursday evening with a program as follows:

A Wayside Rose, Fishcher, Beulah Clark; Pink Waltz, Streabog, Edna Comeau; Soldiers Song, Koehler, Leona Mallenson; March, Sullivan, Alma Wilbur; Poet and Peasant, Suppe, Raymond Bendett; Golden Rain, Cloy, Esther Cooper; Limited Express, Jahn, William Thorp; vocal solos, Willard W. Keigwin; Spin Spin, Rosse, Rois Gaetano; La Zingarra, Bohn, Frances Thorp; Blue Butterflies, Dore, Frolic of the Frogs, Martin, Wilfred Ellis; Sextett from Lucia, Douizett, Henry Marikle; Serenade, Schubert, Kathryn Lamb; Tam O'Shanter, Warren, Marion Brown; The Robins' Return, Fischer, Alma Dougherty; La Regatta Venetiana, Liszt, Doris Gleason; Alice, Transcription, Ascher, Sylvia Lapin.

Mrs. George Scott has returned, after a month's stay in New York.

Helen Starkey chapter met in St. Mark's parish house Thursday afternoon, the members tied a quilt.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Tauseck have returned to Long Island City after a visit with their daughter, Mrs. William Holmes, in Old Mystic.

Men have finished painting the house of Eugene Seamans.

Raymond Hobart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hobart broke his leg Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Myers was called and set the bone.

Mrs. Charles Bartlett has returned to Gales Ferry after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bartlett.

The reckless driving case of Milton Wallace of Mystic and Raymond Rathbun of New London, was nolled, Wednesday morning at New London.

Mrs. C. E. Newbury who is spending the winter in New London came to Mystic Wednesday afternoon to attend the W. C. T. U. meeting.

Mrs. W. L. Main and daughter Hazel drove Mrs. Mary Holdredge and daughter Maud to their home in Providence. They have spent three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Main.

Mrs. Hattie Chester, president of Noank W. C. T. U., Miss Emma Fish of Noank and Mrs. Everett Duncan of Chelsea, Mass., attended the local W. C. T. U. meeting Wednesday.

ASPIRIN

To break a cold harmlessly and in a hurry try a Bayer Aspirin tablet. And for headache. The action of Aspirin is very efficient, too, in cases of neuralgia, neuritis, even rheumatism and lumbago! And there's no after effect; doctors give Aspirin to children—often infants. Whenever there's pain, think of Aspirin. The genuine Bayer Aspirin has Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

MOOSUP

In order to make necessary repairs, the electricity will be shut off in Moosup, Central Village, Plainfield and Oneco from 12:30 to 3:30 p. m. Sunday afternoon, December 4. The Eastern Connecticut Power Co., Danielson District.—adv.

YOUR case of PILES is no different from others, and if others have obtained absolute relief by using PAZO OINTMENT, so can you.

Every druggist sells PAZO OINTMENT under a guarantee to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. In tubes with pile pipe, 75c; or in tin box, 60c. Why not try it.

WHEN YOU WANT to put your business before the public there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

First Pictures of the New Ford Car

Get complete details TODAY at Ford salesrooms

FOR several years we have been working on the new Ford car. For weeks and months you have been hearing rumors about it. For the past few days you have been reading some of the details of it in the newspapers.

Whatever you do today, take at least fifteen minutes to get the full story of this new automobile.

You will realize then that it is an entirely new and different Ford car, designed and created to meet modern conditions—a car that brings you more beauty, speed, quiet, comfort, safety, economy and stamina than you ever thought possible in a low-price car.

Automobile history will be made today, for the new Ford is not only new in appearance and performance . . . it is new in mechanical design. Many features of it are exclusive Ford developments. Some are wholly new in automobile practice. Its low price is a reflection of manufacturing improvements and economies that are as epoch-making as the car itself.

Nineteen years of experience in building 15,000,000 automobiles are behind the new Ford car and have counted in its making. Resources unmatched in the motor car industry are its heritage and its birthright.

The Ford policy of owning the source of raw materials, of making virtually every part, of doing business at a small profit per car, has cut many dollars off the price you would ordinarily have to pay for a car like this.

So we say to you—learn about this new Ford car today. Compare it with any other car in the light-car field for beauty of line—for comfort—for speed—for quick acceleration—for flexibility in traffic . . . for steadiness at all speeds . . . for power on the hills . . . for economy and low cost of up-keep . . . for its sturdy ability to stand up under countless thousands of miles of service.

Then you will know why today will be remembered as one of the greatest days in the entire history of the automobile industry. . . . Then you will know why the new Ford car will be your car.

ing consists of Mrs. J. Dyer Potter, Mrs. A. D. McIntyre, Mrs. Martin B. Robertson, Carl E. Weeks, Dr. Edward F. Perry, Major A. D. McIntyre, Rev. James F. English and Michael L. White. All ex-service men and all women who are eligible to membership in the auxiliary organization are invited to be present.

The Rt. Rev. E. C. Acheson, D. D. coadjutor bishop of the state of Connecticut was at St. Philips' Episcopal church and administered the rite of confirmation to a class on ten. Rev. Leonard Richards of The Danielson Episcopal church was present and assisted in the service. After the services there was a meeting of the executive committee with the bishop.

William Shann, who played a strnog game behind the lines in Putnam high school football team this year, has been elected captain of next year's team. He played tackle for a few games a year ago, but because of an injury to his knee was forced out of the game at that time. During the season just closed, Shann, however, gave a good account of himself as a ground gaining back, and a hard man for the opposition to get past.

Scrawny Women Need McCoy's

What is the use in going thru life minus the pounds of good firm flesh that will not only make you feel better, but will make you look better—make you more attractive in face and figure.

The weight producing agents in McCoy's Tablets are all you need to bring about this happy result. Your sunken cheeks fill out—the hollows in chest and neck disappear—you take on flesh where flesh is needed.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at Lee & Osgood's or any drug store in America.

FARMING MUST BE A BUSINESS.

(Written Specially for The Bulletin)

What is Farming?

If you put that question to me, point-blank, I own up that I should be inclined to "pass the buck."

It is either 14 or 40 quite different and often incongruous things, I've forgotten which—if, indeed, I ever knew.

You see, as my area of baldness enlarges and more and more of my pate is exposed to the action of the infra-red or ultra-violet rays, caution increases, if wisdom doesn't.

I'm more and more moved to plead the privileges of age, one of which is to forget some things it once knew, and another of which is to harbor serious doubts about the infallible certainty of many things it once thought it knew.

Noah Webster was a rather dogmatic young fellow when he stated in that well-known dictionary of his that "Farming is the business of cultivating land," and stopped right there. Perhaps he realized that he had only a couple of thousand quarto pages at his disposal and couldn't fairly use them all up on a definition of farming. He must save room for a few other words.

Unquestionably, farming includes the cultivation of land. It also includes, as I have above remarked, from fourteen to forty other stunts, such as feeding horses, milking cows, brooding chickens, mending fences, cutting cord-wood, selling a little and buying a good deal, etc., etc.

There's one thing, however, which is at the basis of all proper farming. That is the making a farm pay wages to its workers. Even mere cultivating land presupposes a tool wherewith to cultivate it, some sort of power to move the tool, and some sort of a driver to steer and control both. The tool has to be bought and kept in repair; the power has to be fed, whether it be engine or gasoline; the driver has to have shirts and shoes and a semi occasional dinner.

All of which things cost money. All which money must be first got off the farm.

It seems to follow that, however many other things may fall on his shoulders, the farmer has got to make the farm pay him some money. In this, he can't be said to face any "proposition" different from that which faces the carpenter, the store-keeper, the doctor, the lawyer, the banker. They may all have other interests, but their first and basic demand is for money. Not necessarily money for its own sake. The man who works merely to accumulate money, without regard to its uses and solely for the sake of having it "to burn," is an objectionable citizen, if there ever was one. But we all of us have to earn some, some way, in order to get other things we want more or to do other things we find more joy in doing.

The farmer is no exception. Where the carpenter pushes his plane to earn his wages, the farmer steers his plow to prepare for the raising of crops that will, when sold, pay him wages.

"When sold," mind you. That's where one of the differences comes in. The artisan gets wages by the day or hour or week, directly for his labor. The farmer must first transmute his labor into something which he can sell for his wages. Otherwise he won't get any. And life without wages is all winter and hard sledding.

Right there, I'm becoming convinced, is one of the causes of farmers' troubles. Too many of them are apt to raise what they feel like raising, or what their land seems to want to raise, or what they have been accustomed to raise, without sufficient thought as to how and where they're going to sell the stuff, or how much they're going to be able to get for it.

That is where they ignore the gray matter under their scalps; they may use their hands and legs to the utmost, but they don't work their brains up to full or even average capacity.

It has been a saying for 2,000 years that "times change and we change with them." They've changed a lot in the last 50 years; they're changing today right before our eyes and noses. We farmers must change with them or stagnate in some eddy under the bank. Forms of farm production which were profitable 50 years ago, or even 20 years ago, are not so, now. Crops which sold for good money, once, now linger in our barns or granaries unsold, till their value is damaged or lost by time. We simply can't get enough for them to pay the hired men's wages and our own.

Does that mean that farming is "played out?" Not necessarily. It may mean that former methods of farming are not only played out but junked. But it doesn't mean that we must also crawl into our own holes and pull the holes in after us. "There are hills beyond Pentland and seas beyond Forth." There are also several and various ways to skin a cat.

My grandfather used to make some good money selling butter and cheese and white beech for carpenters' planes, among other things. Now the call is for factory made butter and factory made cheese and iron or steel-framed planes. I couldn't make enough to pay school-taxes selling butter at 1 cheese and white beech lumber, now. But I can make three times as much as he ever did, selling fresh, tender, big-stalked asparagus and fat, wrinkled big-podded June peas, and fancy sweet-corn, and some such things.

The market doesn't hunger now, for what it formerly did. Instead customers now call avividly for supplies which once would have gone begging.

A striking illustration has just come to my notice from one of the big western stock-yards. It also throws a strong light on the way in which seemingly unrelated things re-act on each other. At first thought, you'd hardly admit that city architecture could greatly affect stock-fattening on western plains. Yet it is bringing about a revolution in the practice of stock-growing.

You see, the old-fashioned home was a roomy one with a big kitchen, and the old-fashioned family was apt to have more than two or three mouths and stomachs. Consequently, it called for big cuts of meat from three or four-year old steers. This, however, is the day of the "kitchenette,"—in the big cities, anyway. There may be room in one for a gas-stove but not for an adult and full-sized range. The average city family, also is diminishing in numbers. There is no place in the apartment to cook an old-fashioned big family roast, and no big family to eat one, even if it were cooked. The result is that the call has changed from man-sized cuts of meat from big steers to baby-sized giblets from small and light carcasses.

Said an expert buyer for one of the big packing concerns, the other day: "There are 20 places where we can sell a light carcass to one where we can get rid of a heavy steer."

In one of the big packing centers a competitive show was recently given. Twenty or 30 years ago the first award in that competition would have gone to a pen of fat, blocky, big-steaked four-year old steers. This time it went to a carload of fourteen months old salves. The championship in pigs went to a carload of what would once have been called "medium" weights, not one weighing so much as 250 pounds. Another carload of heavy swine took second place behind the "runts."

It was all due to the call of the "kitchenette" for small cuts, size and convenience of cooking counting for more than quality. The feeders and breeders have heard it and recognized its command. They are fairly tumbling over themselves in their haste to revise their former methods of fattening and provide pygmy animals which will cut into "kitchenette" steaks or chops or cutlets or roasts.

Now, a 14 months old calf may be neither veal nor beef nor anything so good as either. But if The Great American housewife from her tiny American "kitchenette" issues a draft order for that sort of meat, what is the meat-producer to do? Meet her wishes and get her money? Or go to the poor-house defending what he assumes to be his own better taste?

As I think has been mentioned once or twice before, if the producer expects to sell his product, he must produce what the consumer wants to buy. He can't expect the consumer to buy anything and everything he has to sell, just because he likes it or likes to raise it or finds it easiest to grow. He must, somehow, find out what The Great American consumer hankers after, and then, somehow, contrive a way to have that particular thing when aforesaid G. A. C. calls for it.

That's "business." And farming is and always must be, first of all, a business, before it can become a life. It must keep its feet on the ground, no matter how ardently it may wish for the wings of a dove or the pinions of an eagle.

There is an old Greek fable about a wrestler, the son of Mother Earth, who, every time his opponent threw him flat on the ground, was so invigorated by his mother's touch that he sprang up liveller and stronger than ever. There were plenty of other wrestlers who could throw him, but there wasn't one who could keep him down.

I'll admit that fables, whether Greek or Nordic, aren't over substantial foundations on which to build a theory of life. But they have most of them come into existence and circulation as paraphrasers of an inherent truth.

A good many of us farmers have been thrown more or less often. Some of us, when we light on our backs, are inclined to stay there and whimper, "What's the use? We're licked. Let's wait till somebody sets us on our feet again." Those are the kind who want government to do something for them. They don't know just what, but something.

There are others who, when they strike the surface, just grab at the sod and scramble up again, ready to try another hold and see if the result won't be different.

You remember Foch's famous report made to his superior during one of the crucial battles which stayed the German advance on Paris: "My right has been turned; my left is driven back; I am attacking with my center."

We can't call that "Anglo-Saxon doggedness" and refusal to admit defeat, for it was written by a Frenchman of Latin race. But we can call it an exemplification of courage in the face of disaster which seizes the skirts of that very disaster to pull itself to victory.

Two-thirds of Foch's army was beaten. But one-third remained and with it as a wedge he drove into the enemy onrush and brought it to a stand-still.

I don't know your farm. I haven't the slightest idea what you can raise on it or what you can't. But I'll bet even money that there's some part of it on which you can raise something that somebody wants to buy and to pay good prices for.

It may not be what you prefer to grow or what you've got into the habit of growing. Nor do I profess to know how you're going to find out what it is. That's up to you. There are ways.

"Joe" Allen of the old Hopkins & Allen shop used to say: "The way to find out is by ascertaining."

I commend that somewhat cryptic utterance to my discouraged fellow-farmers.

My only commentary tending to elucidate it is that it isn't enough to find out that you're on your back in a mud-puddle, but it is quite as essential to ascertain the way to get out of it.

THE FARMER.

The Tarahumara Indians, probably the world's best runners, live on a deficient diet, according to scientific standards, for they eat nothing but tortillas of corn, beans and chili.

Severe Head Colds and Sinus Trouble

THE MOST ANNOYING OF ALL AILMENTS

Any stuffy nose from a cold that does not clear up in a few days produces Sinus trouble. Some Sinuses are large cavities in the nose, others are small (like honey-comb), and when a cold gets into them it causes pain, or pressure in the eye balls, over eyes, in temples, and back of head, fullness in ear, and mucus dropping in throat. This leads to a tickling cough, sore throat, head noises, and catarrhal deafness, due to improper drainage. To clear this up vaporize CAMPHOROLE, and inhale according to directions.

CAMPHOROLE opens up the nose, and gets into the Sinuses, killing the germs that multiply by millions in those stuffy cavities, reduces the inflamed swollen mucus membranes, and gives good drainage for the discharge. This is what every specialist tries to obtain in order to get results. It is impossible for germs to live in the antiseptic vapors produced by CAMPHOROLE. Keep a jar handy and use at the first sign of a cold.

KALEIDOSCOPE

In Aztec legend, as in Greek, a river guards the entrance to the infernal places and a ferry man helps the soul across the somber stream.

A German inventor is said to have patented a slow motion picture apparatus which makes it possible to take as many as 48,000 pictures a second.

A survey of the finances of some 500 New York state farmers showed that only 5 per cent. of the farmers with a district school education made more than $1,000 a year, while 25 per cent. of the farmers with high school training and 30 per cent. with college training made more than $1,000.

For the average cotton picker, 200 pounds is a fair day's work, but T. H. Mitchell, forty-five, who lives on the Davis plantation, four miles southeast of Ruleville, Miss., fears he is growing old, for he has slowed down to where he can easily pick only 400 pounds of cotton a day. He says he is tired at night when he picks 500 pounds. In his younger days Mr. Mitchell picked two bales of cotton a week as a regular occurrence, his best day's work being 718 pounds.

Charles E. Affeld, of Evanston, Ill., and Frank O. Affeld, of Brooklyn, N. Y., twin brothers, are two physically remarkable men as they travel about the country at the age of eighty-four. After a strenuous six weeks' tour of the country west of Chicago the brothers visited a relative in southern California and delighted in tramping over the hills nearby. They still dance, but prefer the more graceful old-fashioned dances to the steps of today. Daily dozens are a part of their routine, and it is Charle's boast that he can bend over and touch the floor with his fingers thirty times.

Motion picture theater proprietors in northern Malaya are having crowded houses even though films are somewhat late in reaching them from Singapore and the equipment of their houses is primitive. Native men and boys have no objection to paying from 11 to 34 cents to occupy the wooden benches of the lower floor. Native women spend 11 cents to sit in the side galleries. The Europeans, chiefly transients and rubber growers seeking to escape the monotony of plantation life, and the better class Chinese pay 57 to 85 cents to sit in the willow chairs of the main gallery.

STOCK MARKET WAS REACTIONARY AFTER EARLY DISPLAY OF STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—(AP)—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed in today's stock market after an early display of strength. While a temporary setback was widely predicted in commission house circles as a result of the rapidity of the recent advance, today's selling also was influenced, in part, by the raising of the call money rate from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent coincident with the calling of about $25,000,000 in loans, and the publication of the new Ford price list, reviving fears of further price cutting and increased competition in the automotive industry.

Once again the machinery of the stock exchange creaked under the volume of orders which poured into the market. The ticker fell 15 minutes behind the market around mid-day, and was slightly later than that after the market closed in recording the final quotation. There were 707 individual issues traded in, a new high record, but the day's sales fell slightly below those of yesterday.

The weekly Federal Reserve report of brokers' loans, issued after the close of the market, showed an increase of $28,562,000, much smaller than generally expected, although it brought the total to another new high record at $3,510,849,000, as compared with $2,546,652,000 a year ago.

Heavy selling came into General Motors as a result of the wide-spread distribution of comparative prices of the new Ford and Chevrolet models, but offerings were fairly well absorbed, and the stock closed only 1 1-2 points net lower at 128 1-4. Dupont, which sold ex-dividend $.75 today, closed nearly 4 points lower at 236. Chrysler, Dodge Bros., and Hudson, all of which are likely to be affected by Ford competition, sold down 1 to 2 1-2 points. Nash advanced more than a point and Hupp sold nearly 2 points higher, but forfeited most of its gain.

Selling pressure in the industrial list was particularly effective against such issues as American Tobacco B, Mathieson Alkali, Montgomery-Ward, National Biscuit, Radio, Stewart-Warner, Timken Roller Bearing, U. S. Steel common and Warren Bros, all of which sold off 2 1-2 to 5 points.

Final quotations disclosed a number of independent strong spots, with more than 30 issues at new high levels for the year, or longer. Auto Sales common and preferred were bid up to new peaks, the latter jumping 7 1-4 points, on buying in anticipation of a merger of prominent vending machine companies, with auto sales as the nucleus. The proposed combine will embrace a complete cycle of vending machines including gum and confectionery, automatic shoe shining devices, toilet article and handkerchief dispensers.

Other industrials to reach new high ground included Sears Roebuck, Kennecott, Pullman, Westinghouse Electric, American Machine & Foundry, Continental Insurance, Curtis Aeroplane, Collins & Aikman and Coty.

Rails yielded with the industrials, although substantial net gains were recorded by Atchison, Delaware & Hudson, and Wabash, buying of the last-named being in anticipation of heavily increased traffic through the new Ford business. Canadian Pacific and Union Pacific yielded to realizing sales.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Leading commodity markets displayed a much firmer tone. Wheat advanced a cent or more a bushel cotton closed 8 to 12 points higher and coffee quotations showed net gains of 16 to 22 points. Sugar prices were steady.

Establishment of a new high by sterling exchange since 1914, with cables on London quoted at $4.88 1-32, featured the foreign exchange market. Swedish kroner touched a new top for the year just below 27 cents, Japanese yen rallied nearly 20 points to 45.85 cents and most of the continental rates showed nominal gains.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—(AP)—Active trading in the bond market today again contributed to firm prices. Somewhat larger offerings have been appearing in recent session, presumably in reflection of scattered predictions that a firmer trend in the money market is likely during the final month of the year. The bonds thus placed on the market, however, have been absorbed with ease, in some cases at the highest prices in many years.

Brisk bidding for certain railway liens again developed, particularly in the Erie and Missouri Pacific groups, the 4s and 5s of the latter road, selling at new high levels. Mobile and Ohio 4 1-2s reached 99 1-4 for the first time, but later lost all their fractional gain. Great Northern 4 1-2s and "Katy" 5s were in good demand, and Chesapeake and Ohio 4 1-2s sold up more than a point to a new top.

Public utilities also responded to good demand, largely on continued evidences of prosperity in that industry. Southwestern Bell Telephone 5s advanced to new peak territory and Columbia Gas and Electric 5s were active around their previous year's maximum. Brooklyn Union Gas 5 1-2s gained about a point.

Simms Petroleum 6s featured the industrial list with a gain of more than a point, and White Sewing Machine advanced 3 3-8 on a handful of transactions. Hudson Coal and Lehigh Valley Coal were under pressure, the latter breaking 4 1-4 points on a couple of sales.

Mexican bonds were strong for the first time in weeks, 4s advancing more than a point. Foreign issues otherwise were mixed in tone and not especially active.

Treasury issues firmed up after a heavy beginning, but liberty bonds were easier. Volume of trade was moderately large in the government division.

A new issues of $40,000,000 Alabama Power company 4 1-2s is expected early next week.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—(AP)—With first December deliveries of all grain today showing less volume than had been looked for, commission house demand increased and prices went sharply higher. Unfavorable weather conditions in Argentina, higher Liverpool quotations than due, and better export call for North American wheat aided the advance in wheat values. Rye established a new top price record for the season.

Chicago closing prices on wheat were unsettled, 1c to 1 3-4c net higher. Rye finished at 1 1-8 to 3 1-2c gain, corn 1 1-8c to 1 1-2c up, oats showing 1 1-4c to 1 3-4c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 32c.

Aggressive purchasing of the May delivery of wheat by houses with eastern connections was a feature in the wheat market here and it was also noted that North American export business had picked up to the extent of 500,000 bushels, whereas Argentine wheat shipments for the last week amounted to hardly a third of the previous week's total.

Outside interest in corn was larger and offerings scarce except to take profits.

Oats developed independent strength.

Provisions were firmer, sympathizing with grain.

New England Industries

The Optical Goods Industry

With convenient local sources of skilled labor and raw materials, the optical goods industry of New England has gained a position of national importance distributing 87 per cent of its sales throughout other sections of this country and abroad. New England establishments, most of which are located in Massachusetts in 1923 produced $15,000,000 worth of goods, or 27 per cent of the country's total output and paid about $4,000,000 in wages to 4,000 workers. Largely through manufacture for stock in slack periods, the seasonal variation in employment was reduced from 8 per cent in 1923 to 3 per cent in 1925.

Total sales increased 99 per cent between 1921 and 1925, but in the last three years, increases and decreases were about evenly divided among the individual plants reporting in a survey conducted by the United States department of commerce in co-operation with the New England council. Development of new products on the one side, and general over-production and competition from other sections on the other, have been stressed in these reports. One manufacturer reported that his New England sales had been increased by adding a complete line of spectacles, which enabled him to reach a densely populated region with slight delay in transportation.

Incentive methods of wage payment are used by 55 per cent of the companies reporting, and the proportion of workers thus paid is 30 per cent of the total workers employed in this industry in New England.

The chief raw materials are gold plate, wire, abrasives, nickel, glass, silver and other metals. Only in the purchase of glass do a majority of the companies go outside of New England.

The average age of the establishments reporting in this survey is thirty-four years, as compared with an average of twenty-nine years for New England industry as a whole. The averages of operation under present management are twenty-four years for the optical goods industry, and sixteen years for all New England industry. Availability of skilled labor, available raw materials, and nearness to markets have been reported as influential factors in bringing companies to this section. Improvements in manufacturing practices have been reported in methods of standardization of products, inspection, production control, balancing of productive capacity and demand, standardization of materials, continuous maintenance of plant and equipment, and accident prevention.

The main channels of distribution used by the manufacturers covered in this survey are through wholesalers or jobbers and direct to retailers. The use of brands and trademarks is general.

ONECO

In order to make necessary repairs, the electricity will be shut off in Moosup, Central Village, Plainfield and Oneco from 12:30 to 3:30 p. m. Sunday afternoon, December 4. The Eastern Connecticut Power Co., Danielson District.—adv.

In Oneco M. E. church, Thanksgiving day at 2 o'clock, Zillah May Marriott was united in marriage with Carl John Lippert. The bridal party entered the church to the music of the Bridal chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Cora Clark. The ceremony was performed under an arch of white by Rev. John Von Deck, pastor of the church. The bride was attired in a gown of white canton crepe and lace. She wore a veil in cap effect and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid Miss Violet Marriott, sister of the bride, wore blue canton crepe and carried pink roses. August Lippert, brother of the groom, was best man. Richard Marriott and Richard Sherman were ushers. After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, attended by relatives and intimate friends. Lunch was served. The groom's gifts to his best man and ushers were gold pieces. There were numerous wedding gifts of china, silver, linen, pyrex, aluminum, money, etc. Out of town guests came from Providence, Westerly, Quincy, Occum and Bridgeport. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Lippert left on a honeymoon trip, the bride's traveling dress being brown satin with hat and coat to match. Best wishes for a long and happy life were extended them by many friends.

The New Idea of Cancer

Many Cases Can Be Cured If Reported Promptly

BULLETIN No. 4

IS CANCER HEREDITARY?

Many years ago it was believed that cancer was not only hereditary but that a measure of blame attached to the presence of this disease. People believed that a taint ran in families and that this showed itself in various forms, including cancert.

Scientific men, on examining into the facts, arrived at the opinion that cancer itself was not hereditary, although a certain susceptibility toward it did exist among members of some families. Whether this was due to the operations of chance or was transmitted from parent to offspring was not made clear.

Recently Miss Maud Slye of Chicago has announced the results of the breeding of thousands of mice which she has been experimenting with in order to determine whether cancer was or was not a hereditary characteristic. Mice were used in these experiments for the reason that human beings could not be employed, nor could reliable records of cancer relating to men and women be obtained over a sufficient number of years. Miss Slye's opinion is that cancer is due to two principal factors: A susceptibility which is transmitted from one generation to another and to some exciting agent such as chronic irritation at the particular point where the cancer later develops. Medical men are not all convinced that Miss Slye's claims are all justified, but her results are receiving very careful consideration.

The idea that cancer is the result of an immoral act or an immoral life has been discarded. And no blame whatever can properly attach to cancer.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Connecticut College Concert.

"It is not easy to write of The English Singers without lapsing into repetition of yesteryear. What shall be said of their gracious perfections that has not been reiterated to weariness? What phrases shall be summoned to convey even measurably the seraphic grace, the inimitable address, the grave moods of ebullient spirit, the tapestried weave, the myriad flowering, the incommeasurable finish of their song in all its subduing enchantment, and from which the trace of human fallibility seems banished?" This is another paragraph taken from the New York Telegram.

Readers of this paper have seen verbatim reviews of the work of The English Singers written by critics of the leading New York newspapers. Such unstinted praise is rarely bestowed upon any artist or organization. It should also be borne in mind that these writers are "hard boiled," they go to two and sometimes three concerts daily, not always because they want to go, but because they are on salary to do it for the newspapers which employ them. And genuine worth alone is the one quality which can win their approval.

Connecticut College presents The English Singers at Bulkeley Auditorium next Tuesday evening.

Silberman's Store Hit By A Cyclone.

With builders demanding more room for the vast improvements being made to the interior of Silberman's Furniture store at Nos. 37-41 Main street, everything on the three main floors must be cleared away within the next ten days.

Realizing the great amount of labor this requires, Mr. Sharpe, manager of the store, has decided to conduct a gigantic Rummage Sale during the next few days, thus giving the hundreds of patrons of the store an opportunity to purchase furniture and other necessary household articles at prices which are at cost and below cost, rather than to have them rem

NEPTUNE BUILDING AT NEW LONDON BOUGHT BY ALLING RUBBER COMPANY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The Neptune building, corner of State, Atlantic and North Bank streets, has been sold by the Salvation Army to the W. S. Alling Rubber company, this city. The deed transferring title in the property has not been filed with the office of the city clerk, but is being prepared and will be filed within a few days. The price paid, it is understood, was $45,000.

The building, three stories on the State street front, and with an added floor in the rear, is of brick and was erected about 30 years ago by C. M. Long. It was used then as an office building with a large store on the street floor. About 15 years ago the street floor building was sold to Meyer H. Hollandersky and about nine years ago it was purchased by the Salvation Army. Since the army acquired title in the building it has been conducted by them as a lodging house and was patronized almost entirely by sailors and soldiers.

The new owners of the building will make important changes in the property. After the Salvation Army vacates 16 January 1, the several floors will be divided so that the building can be used to better advantage than at present.

Frederick D. Noyes, 69, a native of Mystic, and residing at 178 Bank street, died at Lawrence Memorial hospital this morning, where he had been a patient but about five days, although he had been a sufferer from internal trouble for about five years. He is survived by his sister, Mrs. Hiram Cliff, of Mystic. Mr. Noyes was born in Mystic and was a too maker, being employed as such in that time until about ten years ago when he entered the employ of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. His last employment with the railroad was in this city, although he had previously been employed at Midway.

Edward L. Streeter, Jr., accompanied by Mrs. Streeter, Ocean avenue, went to South Manchester today. Tonight Mr. Streeter is paying his official visit to the court of Amaranth. Mr. Streeter is grand sentinel of the Grand Court of Amaranth.

Mrs. Catherine Wall, of 134 Montauk avenue; Philip Benson, United States Coast Guard academy; Roland Murphy, 2 Fifth street; Katherine Keeler, 749 Ocean avenue; Jane Sheehan, Ocean avenue; Eleanor Beckwith, 227 Montauk avenue; Harold Pfeiffer, Groton and Mrs. Haskel Andrews, 188 Shaw street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Thomas W. and Mary A. Phillips have sold to Herbert S. Phillips two houses and lots on Phillips street.

Edna S. Bodenwein has sold a house and lot on Nathan Hale street to Mabel H. Hasty.

James E. and Mary H. Young have sold a house and lot on Pearl street to Hyman and Anna Dolin.

William J. Crocker, who died yesterday at his residence on Peninsula avenue, corner of Stuart avenue, Ocean beach, is survived by his wife and one son, Thomas J. Crocker, of this city. He had been in ill health for a long time and prior to abandoning active labor, Mr. Crocker was employed by the Whiton Machine company. He was born at Norwich Town.

Henry W. June, 5 Clement street, Waterford, was in the police court this morning charged with evasion of responsibility. He was fined $50 and costs, but Judge Victor Prince ordered the execution of the fine suspended, so that June paid only the costs of the court. June was driving his automobile on Bank street last night and near Shaw street it collided with an auto owned by Andrew Trione, Bank street merchant. June failed to stop for the purpose of ascertaining the extent of the damage occasioned and started to drive away. The accident was witnessed by Patrolman Harry Watterson, who stepped to the highway and signaled June to stop. June refused to heed the signal and came close to running down the officer. Watterson obtained the number of the machine when it was learned that the car was owned by June and that he resided in Waterford, the state police were requested to arrest the owner. Officer Johnson arrested June at his home.

The continued case of Matty Jones, colored, of 14 John street, charged with conducting a disorderly house, was again continued this time to tomorrow. She was arrested several nights ago when her home was raided and one frequenter, a minor, was found there. He will be presented in court tomorrow also.

Leon Keeney was charged with breach of the peace and intoxication. He was given a suspension of judgment. Keeney was at the union station last evening and when ordered off railroad property he started to fight and attacked Special Agent James Daley. Special Agent Perreault went to his associate officer's assistance and Keeney was arrested.

BUCK HORN COON CLUB HAS GOOD LUCK AT BOZRAH

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 1.—Four members of the Buck Horn Coon club have returned from Battle ledges, in the town of Bozrah where they went in quest of coon, and where many fine specimens of the woods have been captured this season. The huntsmen were escorted about the woodland by Chief Guide Thomas Manning. They were taken to excellent territory for two coons were bagged, one weighing 18 pounds and the other 16. The larger of the coons was caught on the ground by the dog that accompanied the hunters. So far this season 20 coons have been captured by members of the club.

METHODIST DEBT BURDEN TO BE LIFTED IN DRIVE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 1.—At the prayer meeting in the Methodist Episcopal church last night a campaign was started for wiping out the $50,000 debt, with which the church has been burdened since the erection of the edifice seven years ago. Twenty-six thousand dollars was pledged at the meeting, the initial subscription being made by Mrs. Frances A. Wilson, of Colman street, in memory of her son, Shirley Wilson, who died last summer. Prior to Mr. Wilson's death, he had requested his mother to give to the church the sum that was tendered last night. After Mrs. Wilson had made known her intention, others quickly announced their pledges. The campaign will be continued another week, when, it is believed that the remaining $24,000 will have been subscribed or pledged. The campaign is being carried on by Rev. Charles E. Spaulding, chairman of the committee that is raising the pledges and pastor of the church; Rev. David E. Kendall, Philadelphia, representing the Home Mission board of the Methodist Episcopal church, assisted by Rev. Christian Jensen, of Boston.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the drivers' licenses of Harry Larsen, 38 Mercer street, and Walter Neiman, Submarine base. Commissioner Stoeckel also ordered the return of the licenses of A. C. Rappert, United States Coast Guard academy and Walter Charbonneau, 11 Peninsula avenue.

Acting Sergeant William Graham started today on his vacation of two weeks. His place is being filled by Patrolman Augustus Ray.

At an enthusiastic meeting of W. M. I. Alumnae association, attended by about 40 members of the organization at the Y. W. C. A. this week, Mrs. Charlotte Ganey Gates, president of the association, announced that $30 toward the Mary F. Crofton memorial fund had been secured; 450 letters have already been sent to graduates of W. M. I. asking for donations and every alumna will be asked to contribute. The amount collected will be held in trust, the interest being used for a prize to be awarded annually to the member of the senior class who excels in general science.

Traffic on the New London-Norwich line was interrupted a half hour this morning because of a derailment of one of the cars. The car was due to arrive in New London at 8:15 o'clock and when a short distance south of Quaker Hill station, it left the rails. The passengers were brought to New London on the car that left here for Norwich at 7:45 o'clock.

Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin resumed his duties in the police court today after an absence of about three years because of impaired sight, an affliction from which Mr. Cronin suffered a long time prior to giving up his duties to seek relief by obtaining treatment from New York specialists. When court convened there were three handsome baskets of flowers on the prosecutor's desk, one tribute being chrysanthemums from Judge S. Victor Prince and Clerk John M. Mallon, Jr.; another of 55 red roses was the donation of the 55 members of the police department, and a third of white roses, presented by Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield and his assistant, George E. MacDougall.

A youth of 14, residing in Groton, apparently is paving the way for his trip to a reformatory, for he was arrested last night by State Police Officer John Smith charged with attempting to break and enter. The boy went to the Golden Spur earlier in the evening and watched William C. Beebe prepare for bed. When he was of the opinion that Mr. Beebe was asleep, the boy sought to gain entrance to the house. While he was removing a pane of glass, Mr. Beebe was aroused and going to the window, frightened the youth away. He telephoned his discovery to the state police barracks at Groton, and Officer Smith arrested the boy several hours later. The boy, who admitted having taken the pane of glass from the window, said he was about to enter the house when discovered. The youth is one of two boys who were recently placed on probation in Groton town court for the theft of a bicycle, which they rode to Stamford, where they were arrested. The boy will be given a hearing in Waterford town court tomorrow afternoon.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

At Slater Hall Tonight.

An exceptional artist accompanied with an exceptional piano—the Chickering—furnished through the Plaut Cadden company—that is the ideal combination that assures music lovers a musical treat at Slater hall this evening when Mary Lewis, prima donna lyric soprano of The Metropolitan Opera appears in a song recital. Miss Lewis, whose debut at the Metropolitan Opera marked the climax of a career as dramatic as any in American musical annals, uses the Chickering exclusively and says that it is an inspiration to be associated with an instrument with such loveliness of tone and so superlatively perfect.

Two grey foxes, shot within a few minutes of one another were bagged by a party consisting of Christopher Krauss, Alwin Kampf and George Schmidt in the Bundy hill section of the town of Lisbon Wednesday.

The flocks of wild geese which are passing over the village daily on their way south are reported as unusually large this year, as most all the flocks number over 100 birds. The brant are on their way from their nesting grounds and summer quarters in the Hudson bay country, to spend the winter in Colombia and Venezeula on the shores of the Caribbean sea. Their powerful wings make it possible for them to pass over parts of Central America and the Gulf of Mexico with few stops en route. They will be among the first birds to wing their way northward again in 1928, leaving South America about February, and many of them will be nesting on the shores of Hudson bay in March.

Among the lost letters advertised this week at the local post office are letters for Haudon Dunatourxz, George A. Saunders, Frank Fransano, Wildy Dufault, Raoul La Perl and Charles Cody.

GREENEVILLE

Miss Loretta Gadle was a recent visitor at the home of Mrs. John LeClaire in Jewett City.

The home department of the Third Baptist church met with Mrs. Harry Conklin of Central avenue Tuesday evening with seven members present. A review of the Sunday school lessons for the month of November was taken up with Mrs. Elmer Mulkin as class teacher. After the lessons a short business session was held and they decided to make a donation of money to the Salvation Army for their Christmas work; also to remember some sick and shut-in members of the department at that time.

The Community Workers held a special meeting with the president, Mrs. Charles F. Sears of Prospect street Thursday afternoon and tied a quilt. This was the seventh quilt tied since they began their meetings in September and it was also the third one entirely made by the ladies. A number of dressed dolls were also brought in at this meeting. A number of the members made beautiful crocheted doll sets, which were contributed by a friend of the workers who is very much interested in their work.

Mrs. Frederick Laycock of Central avenue spent Wednesday in Occum as the guest of her mother. She also attended the Christmas sale and entertainment given by the Baltic M. E. church.

Euphemian circle of King's Daughters are planning a sale and entertainment "The Family Album" in the near future.

Miss Helen Hooker of Hartford was a recent visitor with her cousin, Miss Roberta Cole of Thirteenth street.

The pastor and choir of the Third Baptist church will conduct the services at the Sheltering Arms on Sunday afternoon.

The Mission circle of the Third Baptist church held its December meeting in the chapel on Wednesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. H. A. Peckham, presiding. After an opening song and the devotional exercises the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Irving Larkin, who conducted a "Quiz" from October missions, which proved very interesting and instructive. The secretary's and treasurer's report was given by Mrs. James Spicer and the ladies tied a quilt to be given to a southern mission station. At 5.30 o'clock the supper committee for the month, Mrs. Elmer Mulkins, chairman served supper to a large number, the menu being escalloped potatoes, beef loaf, brown bread, rolls, cabbage salad, pickles, squash pie and coffee. A goodly sum was realized for the treasury.

Mrs. Ernest Haden of Roosevelt avenue entertained at cards on Wednesday evening. Flinch and whist were played. The honor went to Miss Elizabeth Haden. Miss Ruth McKinley scored highest in whist and William Haden had low score for the evening.

Supper, Xmas fancy work sale, Swedish church, Hickory St. Sat. Dec. 3.—adv.

Thursday morning in St. Mary's Memorial church at 7.30 o'clock the fourth anniversary mass of requiem was offered in honor of Rev. James J. Smith by the pastor, Rev. William A. Keefe with a large number of the parishioners and friends throughout the city attending. Rev. Smith's death occurred in St. Raphael's hospital, New Haven, on that date Fr. Smith was assigned as pastor of St. Mary's parish in November, 1897, coming from the St. Lawrence O'Toole parish in Hartford. He labored in this city for 12 1-2 years. It was during his reign as pastor that the convent school and the priest's residence were erected. Fr. Smith was sent as pastor to St. Francis church, New Haven, after leaving St. Mary's parish.

Rev. Father Fortier who has been the guest of Rev. William A. Keefe the past few days is a member of the Mission Order of Mary Immaculate and his labor in the mission field takes him to the northwestern part of Canada. He served with distinction during the World war as a chaplain with the Canadian forces. His noble work with the army won for him the title of a lieutenant colonel.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rielly have returned to their home in New Haven after spending a few days with relatives on Boswell avenue.

Married Fifty Five Years

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Alviani of 86 Poquonoc road, Groton, who reached their 55th wedding anniversary Tuesday, were surprised by a number of their friends in honor of the occasion Tuesday night. A delicious supper was served, after which dancing was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Alviani, to the great delight of their guests, entertained with old-fashioned songs and dancing. Frank Marducci rendered several pleasing clarinet solos.

MOVING FROM DANIELSON TO OPEN ENLARGED FINISHING PLANT HERE

A new finishing company is soon to be added to the industrial enterprises of this city by the organization of the Uncas Finishing company by Joseph C. Worth for which 25,000 square feet of floor space has been leased in the old Shetucket company mill off North Main street.

The new corporation has been organized with total authorized capitalization of $100,000, divided into 1,000 shares, par $100, all paid in.

For about a year past Mr. Worth has been operating a finishing plant at Danielson, but in a limited way, as he did only printing there. The Danielson plant is to be moved to Norwich and complete equipment and machinery is to be put in here to bleaching, dyeing and printing. Mr. Worth is now engaged in securing the additional machinery and it is expected that the Norwich plant can begin operations by the middle of January.

The new corporation has a fine volume of orders for future business and promises to run at full capacity.

PLAN COMMUNITY TREE FOR NORWICH TOWN GREEN

The executive committee of the Norwich Rural association held a special meeting Wednesday evening at the home of the secretary, Philip A. Johnson, Washington street, to formulate plans for the community Christmas tree celebration to be held on the Norwich Town green, under the auspices of the association.

The treasurer, Robert Boisson, submitted his report, showing a small balance in the treasury for the Christmas Tree fund, left over from last year's celebration. It was the voice of the meeting to send out letters to the people of the various communities, asking for contributions to assist in defraying expenses. The lighting of the tree is in charge of a committee, of which Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey is chairman. Regarding this, it was decided it would be difficult to improve on the general design of illuminating the tree used for the past two years.

An interesting programme was outlined at the meeting Wednesday evening. For this, Frederick H. Wyant is chairman. The celebration will probably take place Sunday evening, December 25, (Christmas night) at an early hour.

NEW YORK NORWICH SOCIETY TO MEET

Next Monday night is to be the date for the fall dinner and smoker of the Norwich Society of New York, which is to be held at the New York Athletic club, according to the arrangements made by the entertainment committee, consisting of James H. Albertson, president of the club, Howard C. Russ, chairman, Francis P. Bent and Charles N. Hulburt.

The club members have been promised an enjoyable time and it is announced that one of the Norwich boys will play the piano and there will be singing of the old familiar songs of Norwich.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S CLUB ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

The December meeting of the Catholic Women's club was held Thursday in the Ladies of Columbus rooms, with a large attendance, and Mrs. Nelson C. Disco, the president, conducting the business session. Reports were made on the Christmas sale by the chairman Mrs. Brassil. Other business was also transacted.

After the other business, the election of officers took place as follows; President, Mrs. T. McVeigh; vice president, Mrs. J. C. Cantlin; recording secretary, Mrs. W. Fitzgerald; financial secretary, Mrs. Coleman; Investigation committee, Mrs. Mary McCarty and Mrs. N. Disco; executive committee, Mrs. Edmund Taft, Mrs. J. Caron, Mrs. C. Lee, Mrs. J. Gallivan, Mrs. M. Kelley, Mrs. J. Kennedy.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the retiring president, Mrs. Nelson C. Disco. Tea was served from a pretty decorated table of white and red. A huge basket of red flowers and poinsettia adorned the table. The chairman for the tea was Mrs. W. Fitzgerald, assisted by Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Gallivan.

NEW HAVEN RAILROAD SPEED UP ITS FREIGHT

During the past three years the New Haven railroad has answered the modern cry for speed by increasing the average speed per hour of the freight trains on its system from 8 8-10 miles per hour to 11 9-10 miles per hour. Speed has become an all-important transportation factor on the sea, on land, and in the air, but nowhere in it more desirable than in the movement of freight traffic. The New Haven's action in speeding up the movement of freight traffic has aided in an increase of many miles per day in total freight car movement on the system.

Due to the necessity for classification and the extra handling required in the transportation of less than carload shipments the average daily run of each freight car is not comparable with the average speed of a freight train. Increased speed and other factors of improvement, however, have served to increase the miles per day covered by the average serviceable freight car on the New Haven system. In 1926 the average serviceable freight car on the New Haven moved 12 4-10 miles per day. In 1923 the average movement was sixteen miles per day, while at the present time the daily run of a freight car is more than twenty-two miles per day.

Improvement in freight service has also been attained through the operation of longer trains. The average length of a freight train on the New Haven at the present time is about forty cars as compared with thirty-four cars in 1923. Freight speed has been so increased that practically all points in New England can be reached on twenty-four hour service. Goods shipped from New York can be carried to Portland, Me., in 27 hours.

TAKES OVER WILLIMANTIC AND NORWICH CORDAGE PLANTS

The Connecticut Braided Cordage company of Willimantic has taken over the plants of the Chaffee Manufacturing company there and Adams and Manning, on Thames street in this city, and will continue operation of both mills, manufacturing the same lines of products as heretofore turned out with additions of other small round and flat braided specialties. The equipment will remain the same for the present at least. Charles H. Weare is head of the new company.

SCHULER LEADS EVENING'S PLAY IN PINOCHLE CLUB

Schuler was high scorer with 7,815 in this week's play of the Thamesville Pinochle club but A. Kirchner holds the lead in the series.

The five top scorers on the night's play were: Schuler 7,815, Cook 7,470, Baer 7,330, Gresser 7,230, Schafhauser 7,265.

The standing to date: A. Kirchner 28,425; Schuler 28,235; Huntington 27,855; Baer 27,715; Streich 27,510; J. Kirchner 27,455; Schafhauser 27,290; Peringer 27,215; Cook 26,835; Wenzel 26,790; Rossoll 26,690; F. Kirchner 26,545; Schliens 26,270; Crawford 25,245; Aldrich 25,225; Gresser 24,140.

FINES ARE GIVEN FOR TWO AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS

Two automobile drivers were in the city court Thursday morning and both were fined for infractions of the motor vehicle laws. Both were arrested by the state police at Yantic Wednesday night. Felix Clang of this city was fined $5 for a defective tail light on his machine and Joe Berkman of Fitchville was fined $5 for a defective tail light and $3 for not carrying his registration with him. The state police officers, stationed at Yantic, Wednesday night examined nearly 300 automobiles, making only the two arrests mentioned above.

AUTOMOBILE HIT POLE, BROUGHT DOWN LIGHT

As he was turning his automobile around on Otis street Thursday morning, John W. Nield, Jr., No. 31 Grove avenue, Westerly, struck a telegraph pole a glancing blow and the large arc light on the pole fell onto the top of the machine. There was no damage to the machine or to the arc light. Mr. Nield reported the accident to the police and to the gas and electric department.

NORWICH LIONS HOLD REGULAR DINNER MEETING

The Norwich Lions club held its weekly business and luncheon meeting Thursday noon at the Wauregan hotel. President William R. Frisbie presided at the meeting and Richard Quinn was the song leader. There was a good sized attendance and considerable business of importance was transacted. The Lions roar and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner brought the session to a close.

Justice Gives $45 Judgment

Judgment for $45.95 and costs of $16.50 is given D. Angelopoulos of this city in his $100 damage suit for damage to his automobile, against Henry M. Lock of New London, according to a decision handed down Thursday by Justice of the Peace Frank N. Gardiner who heard the case. The accident occurred on Sept. 15, 1927.

NORWICH TOWN

Today, the first Friday of the month, mass at Sacred Heart church will be as usual at 7 o'clock. For the convenience of those who must go early to their work there will also be the administering of holy communion at 5.45 a. m. In the evening at 7.30 there will be the regular devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

At the Sunday morning worship at the First Congregational church, Rev. F. G. Chutter, pastor of Mystic Congregational church, will conduct the service, in exchange with the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey.

Under the auspices of the Norwich Rural association, following out the yearly custom the board walks for winter use are to be laid in various sections of Norwich Town Saturday afternoon, from two o'clock on. Citizens have been requested to report and bring a helper.

Having passed Thanksgiving and the week end at their home on West Town street, Miss Mildred Casey and her brother, George, returned to New York Monday morning.

Friends and acquaintances are pleased that Harold Cummings is recovering so satisfactorily after a recent severe injury. He returned to his home on West Town street following a stay of one week at a Hartford hospital. It will be necessary for the young man to return each week to Hartford, however, to receive further treatment.

C. E. stunt night tonight, Cong'l. chapel. All welcome, 10c.—Adv.

THREATENING ATTITUDE OF REPUBLICAN INDEPENDENTS

At Conference of Republicans of the Senate the Western Republican Independents Submitted Demands For Definite Assurance of What They Regarded As Three Outstanding Issues—Lafollette, Spokesman For the Group, Declined to Say What Course the Independents Would Take If the Assurances Were Not Conceded—Borah, Norris and Brookhart Did Not Sign the Letter Making the Demands.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2—(AP)—As the republican old guard in the senate perfected its party organization today at a conference preliminary to the opening of the seventieth congress Monday, western republican independents submitted their demands for definite assurance that there would be a vote at the coming session on what they regarded as three outstanding issues.

These are:

Adequate farm relief legislation on the basis of the McNary-Haugen bill to be reported from committee on or before February 1.

A bill to limit the jurisdiction of federal courts in the issuance of injunctions.

A resolution for a thorough investigation of the policy of the United States in Central and South America.

These demands were submitted to Senator Curtis, of Kansas, who was re-elected by the party conference as republican floor leader, by Senators LaFollette and Blaine, of Wisconsin; Frazier and Nye, of North Dakota, Republicans, and Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota.

The letter was received late today by Senator Curtis, who said he would reply to it in due time. Meantime, he declined to discuss the proposals or to indicate what would be the nature of his reply.

Senator LaFollette, who acted as spokesman for the group, declined to say what course the independents would take if the required assurances were not forthcoming, but the obvious alternative seemed to be opposition to the republican organization state in the senate.

Three of the outstanding members of the independent group—Borah, of Idaho; Norris, of Nebraska, and Brookhart of Iowa—did not sign the letter to Curtis. Borah and Brookhart are not in accord with the proposal for a McNary-Haugen bill with its equalization fee, while no reasons were given why Norris did not sign.

Only two of the independents—Norris and Nye—attended the republican conference today which by acclamation renominated George Moses, of New Hampshire, for president pro tempore. Nominations for the other two offices which have been in controversy—secretary and sergeant-at-adms of the senate—were not made, the leaders holding that the re-election of these officers is not necessary since the senate is a continuing body.

The democrats have nominated candidates for both positions and whether they will agree with the republican leaders that a vote on these offices is unnecessary remains to be determined.

Besides re-electing Curtis, as leader, the republicans chose Senator Watson, of Indiana, to succeed himself as assistant floor leader and that Senator again was named by Curtis as head of the important republican committee on committees. Senator Hale, of Maine, was selected as the conference secretary.

After the conference, Senators Curtis and Robinson, or Arkansas, the democratic leader, conferred on committee divisions and it was understood that there was an agreement for larger representation for the democrats and a corresponding reduction for the republicans on the standing committees by reason of the narrow margin of the republican majority.

While the senate leaders were busily engaged in conferences trying to iron out all the differences and difficulties besetting them before the opening of congress Those in charge of affairs in the house found comparatively smooth sailing with no doubt that the republicans would retain control of that body without any serious contest or threats of disruption of plans from within their own ranks.

FLOODS NOW THREATEN EASTERN NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 2—(AP)—From rapidly-receding flood waters in its western extremity New York state tonight turned anxious eyes toward the eastern districts, where snow and heavy rains threatened a possible combination of cold weather and flood conditions if the bad weather continued.

Snow, which began to fall in Albany and vicinity shortly before noon turned to rain in the early afternoon, and well into the night kept up a steady downpour. Nerves drawn taut since the recent proximity of the disastrous New England floods found little relief in the predictions of the weather man, who saw no slackening of the storm in sight for a day or two, at least.

Streams in the eastern part of the state, already swollen from intermittent storms of the past week, failed, however, to respond to the urge of the rain tonight, and no serious rises were reported during the first few hours of the downpour. In the central and south-central districts, according to reports from Rome, Elmira and other points, several inches of snow covered the ground, and colder weather was in sight.

The western part of the state, with few exceptions, was gradually recovering from a two-day battle with flood waters of large streams, smaller tributaries and scores of lakes. Railroads today had generally resumed operation over washed-out tracks, while homeless families found it possible to return to their marooned dwellings.

No accurate estimate of the damage could be gathered from scattered reports but it was believed to approach several hundred thousand dollars. Horsell alone reported that damage would approximate $200,000, much of which was due to breaks in a protective dyke system constructed after record floods some years ago.

At least two towns in the flood area remained isolated today, although their conditions were not serious. They were Eldred, Pa., 20 miles south of Olean, and Hinsdale, N. Y., near Olean.

CHICAGO SOCIETY WOMAN OFFERS $2,500 FOR LEFT EAR

CHICAGO, Dec. 2—(AP)—A New York and Chicago society woman advertised today for a left ear and tonight she had one applicant willing to give an ear but the applicant asked $4,000 for it instead of the $2,500 offered.

The newspaper advertisement offered $2,500 through the woman's attorney "for one left ear to be grafted on client" and specified that the operation was to be performed by a competent surgeon and that matter would be kept strictly confidential. Applicants were required to be light skinned, not over 25 years old and to submit photographs.

Jay J. McCarthy said he was attorney for the woman who wants an ear and whom he described as a society woman of New York, but formerly of Chicago who lost the member a few years ago in an automobile accident.

The woman, the attorney said, has been forced to wear long hair to cover the deformity and now desires to bob it.

A married woman and a mother, said she would give her left ear but that the price would be $4,000. McCarthy said his client intended to give as much as $5,000 if the operation were a success.

DEATH IN BERLIN OF GEN. ALFRED VON LOEWENFELD

BERLIN, Dec. 2—(AP)—General Alfred von Loewenfeld, general adjutant of the former kaiser and commander in chief of the guards corps, died today at the age of 73.

General von Loewenfeld visited the United States in April 1907 when he attended the opening of the Carnegie institute at Pittsburgh as representative of the former German kaiser. He also acted as escort to President Roosevelt on his visit to Berlin in 1910.

BENNETT J. DOTY RELEASED FROM THE FOREIGN LEGION

SIDI BEL ABBES, Algeria, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Bennett J. Doty of Biloxi, Miss., was released today from the Foreign Legion after winning honors and nearly facing a firing squad during his service with the famous organization.

Doty's discharge frees him after serving only 36 months of a five year enlistment. Old timers, hardened by years of service, stood aghast at the American's "luck" in winning freedom after courtmartial for desertion in Syria and pardon after serving part of an eight years sentence for the military crime.

Colonel Rollet, commander at the legion headquarters here, informed Doty yesterday that his discharge had arrived. Doty had made no personal request for his release. When he was discharged from prison he said he expected to go to Morrocco and see some more fighting.

The detachment of which Doty was a member filed past the gates of the fortress at Sidi Bel Abbes on the way to the Middle Atlas region just as Doty was obtaining his release papers.

"Lucky devil," shouted his comrades.

When Doty was called into the colonel's office the bronzed and whiskered veteran told the American boy, "Clare (Doty enlisted under the name of Gilbert Clare) you are a free man." Doty standing at attention, replied, "oui, mon colonel."

The colonel reviewed Doty's career in the legion, praised him for his two mentions in orders for gallant conduct in battle against the Druses rebels, called him one of the finest soldiers he had ever seen, but always reverted to his favorite theme, "you should have had 12 bullets in your breast."

SUIT FOR $785,750 FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(AP)—Joshua S. Cosden and Sir James Currie, American and British oil magnates respectively, were made defendants today in a $785,750 breach of contract suit by a firm of New York oil brokers who claim to have assisted in the sale of oil and in reorganizing of the Lago Petroleum corporation of Venezuela.

The brokers, Willett L. Wagner and Louis V. Curry, demand $600,000 as commission on the alleged sale of 25,000,000 barrels of oil for the Lago company, organized by Cosden, to the British-Mexican Petroleum Company, Ltd., of which Sir James is an official. They also demand $285,750 for assistance which they claim to have rendered in procuring capital for the reorganization and expansion of the Lago concern as the Lago Oil & Transport company.

By reorganization of the corporation, the brokers allege that Cosden was relieved of heavy financial burdens through the intervention of the British-Mexican company and was provided with a market for his Venezuelan oil.

BABY PASSED SCREW SWALLOWED THURSDAY

BRIDGEPORT, Dec. 2—(AP)—Baby Josephine Izzo, eight weeks old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Izzo, of Richmondsville avenue, Westport, late today passed the sharply-pointed screw, an inch long, which she had swallowed Thursday while playing with her sister, Mary, aged three.

Dr. William F. O'Connell of Westport who was handling the case, the parents, neighbors and friends had been worried until they learned today that the screw was out. Dr. O'Connell came up to the Izzo house today prepared to arrange to have another X-ray taken to see in what part of the infant's system the foreign body might be. He was eagerly and smilingly greeted by the mother who said the X-ray picture would not be necessary.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

ALGIERS, Algeria, Dec. 2—(AP)—Three thousand persons, including 250 Europeans, have perished in the floods in the Oran department.

LONDON, Dec. 2—(AP)—Lady Beaverbrook, wife of Baron Beaverbrook, London newspaper publisher, died at 5 o'clock after an illness which ended in heart failure.

CALCUTTA, India, Dec. 2—(AP)—Bengal, one of the three great divisions of British India, is being swept by a cholera epidemic. It is estimated that it will increase 50 per cent. this month.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 2—(AP)—One English woman and three Chinese were wounded when "intimidators" fired on a trolley car in an effort to induce the crew to desert it and thus hinder transportation service.

BERLIN, Dec. 2—(AP)—The social democrats in the reichstag today adopted a resolution calling for a non-confidence vote against the Marx government on the basis of the government's economic and labor policies.

CHARGE AGAINST TWO HOSPITAL OFFICERS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 2—(AP)—The Providence Journal will say tomorrow morning that summary removal or transfer of Dr. Henry Ladd Stickney, medical officer in charge and Dr. Bartell Talbot, executive officer, from the staff of the Veterans' Bureau hospital at Rutland Heights, Mass., because they are "temperamentally unfit to conduct such a hospital" is demanded in a resolution adopted by the New England rehabilitation committee of the American Legion at a meeting held in Boston today.

The committee finds that Dr. Stickney has acted in a "tyrannical" manner as head of the hospital, that he has imposed unnecessarily severe discipline upon the patients, that he has penalized them for objecting to his methods, and that in at least one instance he has ignored the orders of the director general of the veterans' bureau by refusing Thanksgiving leave to a patient whom he accused of testifying against him before the legion investigators.

The resolution has been forwarded to Watson B. Miller, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee, at Washington, and results from an investigation ordered by Mr. Miller toward the close of last summer. The inquiry was prompted by Assistant Secretary of War Hanford MacNider, although the first complaint was registered with James A. Doherty, commander of Providence Post American Legion as long ago as May of this year.

ROCKEFELLER FELT FINE ON HIS 88TH BIRTHDAY

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Dec. 2—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller in his 88th winter, promises to maintain his standing as perhaps the world's most picturesque perennial golfer.

The aged oil magnate has come to his winter home, "The Casements" earlier than usual to escape the chilling blasts of the north and to indulge in his habitual daily round of golf.

There was no golf today, however, as the aged magnate was resting from the strain of the journey.

Last winter, Mr. Rockefeller shot 8 holes in an amazing 45, while friends of several decades looked on with the declaration that the oil king "grows younger and younger and now can shoot a better game of golf than in 20 years."

"I'm feeling better than ever before—feeling fine," Mr. Rockefeller told his friends as he arrived here last night. He said he was gladdened at the prospect of another winter in Florida.

Mr. Rockefeller's arrival was a sensation in the caddyhouse because the Negro boys sensed an impending silver shower. They are always included in the recipients of the famous Rockefeller dimes and had rather "tote" his clubs for one of the tokens than carry the bag of a lesser millionaire for the whole dollar, Mr. Rockefeller pays them well, the dimes coming as "gifts." He jokes with them too and they were anxious today to learn what new wise cracks the magnate would spring.

PLEA OF ABATEMENT ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 2—(AP)—Only one chance to escape trial on a charge of attempted bribery—through upholding of a plea in abatement—was left Gov. Ed Jackson, George V. Coffin, Marion county republican chairman, and Robert I. Marsh, a local attorney, after a series of legal skirmishes in criminal court here today.

The plea in abatement was filed after Judge Montgomery had overruled a motion to quash the indictment against the three men, the state, caught unawares, asked for time in which to prepare an answer or file a demurrer and Judge Montgomery recessed court until next Monday.

Jackson, Coffin and Marsh are accused of having conspired with D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, and now a life prisoner in state prison for murder, to attempt to bribe Warren McCray when he was governor in 1928 to name James E. McDonald as Marion county prosecutor. They are alleged to have offered McCray $10,000 and a guarantee of immunity from conviction in the county courts from charges pending against him.

POLICEMAN SENTENCED FOR KILLING HIS WIFE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 2—(AP)—George H. Lang, Buffalo policeman who shot and killed his wife last June, today was sentenced to serve 10 to 20 years in Auburn prison. He pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter first degree.

The shooting occurred in the home of an uncle of Mrs. Lang after she left him during a quarrel.

Ready to Fight For Seats in the Senate

Smith and Vare Will Encounter Contests in Senate Monday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2—(AP)—Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, came to town today to make his fight for a place in the senate and found that the desk assigned to him for use at least until his name is called for the oath of office next Monday is on the end of the back row near a rear exit.

William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, whose right to a seat also is disputed because of primary campaign expenditures, has been assigned temporarily to a place on the end of the next row of desks and equally as convenient to an exit.

While some of the friends of the two senators-elect concede that there appears to be little hope that either of them will be seated, they were ta[illegible] into the party conference of senate republicans today at which orga[illegible] was perfected and a candid[illegible] president pro tempore nominated.

Subsequently those who are to lead the fight for seating the senators-elect held a series of conferences to map out their campaign of action which is to begin immediately after Smith and Vare are asked to stand aside when the newly elected senators are called to the dias to take the oath ofoffice.

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, who has charge of Vare's fight is ready to renew his fight both for the seating of Vare and against continuing the life of the special campaign funds committee which brought on the filibuster at the last session of the senate.

During the day Vare sent to every member of the senate a booklet containing what he described as "the facts" in his case and his counsel, Representative-elect James M. Beck, of Pennsylvania, held a long conference with Smith's lawyer, Cornelius J. Doyle, of Springfield, Illinois.

Both sides are busy checking up to see what changes there have been in the lineup by which Smith was denied the oath at the last session when he presented himself with a certificate of appointed by Governor Small, of Illinois, as the successor to the late William B. McKinley.

Most unofficial polls which have been taken show little change in that roll call, which stood 46 to 33 against seating Smith. Those opposing the senators-elect said that if anything there had bee na strengthening of the forces in opposition.

Smith was accompanied to Washington by Mrs. Smith and a special committee of the Illinois legislature empowered to assist him in conducting the fight for his seat.

Senator Deneen, of Illinois, will have charge of Smith's fight on the floor of the senate where neither the senator-elect nor any of the state officials will have the right to be heard under the senate rules.

NATION-WIDE CALL TO TEMPERANCE WORKERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2—(AP)—A nation-wide call to all temperance workers and organizations to meet in Washington January 3 and 4 at a huge mass meeting to devise a uniform plan for dry candidates during the 1928 political campaign, was issued today here at the final session of the national legislative conference.

This conference, representing 31 temperance and reform organizations of the country, first made the call for January 16, but later a change of the date was announced by Mrs. Ella A. Boole of New York, vice president. Mrs. Boole is national president of the W. C. T. U.

A policy of opposition to any presidential candidate not committed to the eighteenth amendment and its enforcement was indorsed by the conference, which also demanded that both democratic and republican platforms must assert their respective positions on prohibition.

A "RED LIST" IS BEING COMPILED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 2—(AP)—A "red list" containing the names of all enemies of the revolution is being compiled by the recently established league for the defence of the revolution, says the newspaper El Universal Grafico tonight.

The paper says that in the first meeting of the league it was decided to keep strict watch on all of those listed in order that secret branches of the organization may punish those guilty of activities detrimental to accomplishments since the revolution which put the present government in power.

The league was organized by followers of former President Obregon, shortly after the attempt on his life last month.

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 2—(AP)—Mrs. Thomas W. Thompson of Berkeley, whose husband, a mining engineer in Mexico, was kidnapped and held for ransom by Mexican bandits a week ago, received a telegram today stating that Thompson had been rescued and was safe at Panuco, state of Sinaloa, Mexico.

17 Persons Injured When Bus Skidded

Bus Halted Upright Against a Trolley Car and an Electric Light Pole in Norwalk.

NORWALK, Dec. 2—(AP)—A skidding passenger bus of the double-deck type used in long distance trips came to rest against a trolley car and an electric light pole here today and as it did not upset the twenty or more passengers in it came through with more experience than injury.

Of seventeen persons taken to South Norwalk hospital, Mrs. Julia Myerson, 48, of New York city, had a saw injury, and Charles L. Pattee, of Salem, Mass., h[illegible] possible fracture of the skull. [illegible]er instance was the pati[illegible]ded as in serious condi[illegible]. The other fifteen after [illegible] attention departed, most of [illegible] by train for Boston or other [illegible]nts that way while the rest decided to stay by the bus and finish out the trip began from New York.

At first the mishap had the appearance of a serious one. Driver W. W. McKendry, of the bus had tried to avoid a trolley in Wall street. But the pavement was slippery and his vehicle began to slide sideways. The radiator jammed against a pole and the bus swung around and was stopped broadside against the trolley car. The peculiar nature of the collision was evident when the bus was hauled free. Not a pane of glass was broken in it and damage was trivial. The side motion of the skid, however, had thrown passengers about and contract withthe interior sides gave them bruises and contusions.

SEALED VERDICT ORDERED OF THE HAPGOOD DECISION

BOSTON, Dec. 2—(AP)—Orders to turn a sealed verdict in the event of their reaching a decision tonight were given to the suffolk county jury considering the case of Powers Hapgood of Pittsburgh, Harvard graduate and longshoreman, and Cosimo Carvotta, on trial here on charges arising out of Sacco-Vanzetti demonstration on Boston common, August 14.

The case was given to the jury shortly after noon and when no agreement was reached at the time Judge Nathaniel T. Jones left th courthouse for his home, he ordered that whatever the verdict might be found it should be sealed and opened when court convenes in the morning. Only short arguments were presented by Attorney Arthur Garfield Hays, counsel for Hapgood; Vincent Garro, for Carvotta and Assistant District Attorney Fred Doyle for the government. Garro, who argued first, denied that Hapgood and his client were together on the day in question, declaring that the wide difference in social standing between the two made such an association absurd.

FRANCE SPENDING LESS FOR ARMY THAN GERMANY

PARIS, Dec. 2—(AP)—France is expendnig just about half as much as Germany on the maintenance of an army and has accomplished more than any other power toward disarmament, it was declared in the chamber of deputies today by several speakers in the course of discussion of the budget.

The speakers laid special stress on their declaration a it is hoped that an echo therefrom will reach the halls of the league headquarters at Geneva where the security committee of the preparatory disarmament conference met today.

Minister of War Painleve admitted his department was asking for a billion francs (approximately $40,000,000) more than last year, explaining that the increase was largely due to the increased pay of various functionaries and officers and the reorganization of the army in order to reduce the period of obligatory service.

DETROIT AND 'FRISCO ARE BIDDING FOR CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2—(AP)—Activity in behalf of Detroit and San Francisco put them in the front today in republican convention city speculation as members of the republican national committee continued to arrive in Washington for their meeting next week.

In the background but still strongly in the race were Kansas City, Cleveland and Philadelphia. Detroit's backers claimed promises of support from San Francisco supporters in the event it was demonstrated the Pacific coast city could not win.

Sessions of the national committee will begin Monday, with Tuesday set aside to hear arguments in favor of the dozen cities seeking the convention.

BOOSTING HUGHES FOR REP. PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(AP)—Charles D. Hilles, vice chairman of the republican national committee, said today that a series of conferences, consultations and canvasses in all sections of New York state had shown an almost unanimous sentiment in favor of Charles E. Hughes for the republican presidential nomination next year.

Lightnin' Bill Jones.

Remember the line in the lovable play, Lightnin', when Bill Jones received his pension check from the government? "See all the names on there—secretary of the treasury, secretary of war, and so on? This check ain't any good unless I sign it!" said Bill, with an air of importance. And he was right. Without his little endorsement, the check was a mere scrap of paper.

CHARGES OF GRAFT IN NEW YORK SEWER CONSTRUCTION

Alderman-Elect George U. Harvey, Republican, Asks For Removal from Office of Maurice E. Connelly, Queens Borough President, Democrat—Claims That Pipe Costing $5.25 a Foot in Bridgeport Was Assessed in Queens at $100 a Foot—Col. Roosevelt Takes Shot at Gov. Al Smith.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—(AP)—Rumblings of a scandal in connection with $16,000,000 worth of sewer construction in the borough of Queens resulted today in a demand to Governor Smith for an investigation seeking the removal from office of Maurice E. Connolly, Queens borough president, democrat.

Alderman-elect George U. Harvey, said he had filed with the governor charges that Connolly was responsible for overcharging the borough "millions of dollars" for sewer construction and asked that the attorney general be directed to investigate.

Sewer pipe which normally cost $5.25 a foot, and has been laid at that figure in Bridgeport, Conn., Harvey said, was assessed in Queens at $100 a foot. The heavy charges, he declared, were driving from Queens many small house owners who could not meet the assessment.

Queens, on Long Island, the largest borough of New York city, in point of area, has grown tremendously in population in the last few years and now has more than 1,000,000 inhabitants. Thousands of homes have been erected by wage earners of small means and whole communities have sprung up. Loud complaints of poor streets and lack of sewers have been made for months. Queens, like the rest of New York city, is overwhelmingly democratic. Harvey, who has been a fiery opponent of Connolly for some years, was one of the very few republicans elected at the last election.

Harvey's charges were made public while the board of aldermen was in the midst of an investigation into accusations of waste against the board of education in $10,500,000 worth of school construction. Work under way was ordered halted pending completion of the probe.

Allegations of graft in the Queens scandal have been made many times in the past several years. Henry H. Klein, an attorney retained by civic organizations fighting the assessments, has charged that John M. Phillips, from whom the sewer pipe was purchased by the borough, received as a Christmas gift from sewer contractors a gold dinner service "so large it required six men to carry it."

Col. Theodore Roosevelt took a hand in the situation today, characterizing Gov. Smith's failure to act as "another indication that there is no such thing as a new Tammany."

Mr. Harvey's letter to Gov. Smith charged specifically that "of the total assessment of $16,309,000 for the Jamaica sewer, $6,000,000 represented graft."

INTIMATE ASSOCIATE TELLS OF REMUS' MENTAL CONDITION

CINCINNATI, Dec. 2—(AP)—George Remus' most intimate associate of the last eight or nine years appeared as a witness for him in his murder trial here today.

He was George Connors, now a legitimate dealer in whiskey, after serving a sentence in the Atlanta federal penitentiary with Remus for violation of the federal prohibition law.

Connors, tall, lithe, curly haired, and close shaven recounted a long chain of circumstances which he said caused him to reach a conclusion as to Remus' mental condition last Oct. 6 when he shot and killed his estranged wife, Imogene Holmes Remus.

Until he had told of the observations which led him to his opinion as to Remus' sanity or insanity, he was not permitted to state his conclusions. He was ready, however, to say Remus was insane upon the fatal day.

Connors was the last witness for the defense ahead of the defendant himself. Completion of Connors' direct testimony and a planned lengthy cross examination indicated it might be Monday before Remus would reach the witness stand.

Connors said he was released from the Atlanta penitentiary April 7, 1925, and that Remus was freed the following September.

From two days after Remus' release Connors had been in almost daily contact with Remus.

DEFENSE OPENS IN THE LILLIENDAHL MURDER TRIAL

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Dec. 2—(AP)—Margaret Lilliendahl and Willis Beach, who for four days were pictured through prosecution witnesses as the murderers of the woman's aged husband, were presented to the jury today in the light of innocent and injured persons entirely unconnected with the crime.

Opening addresses for the defense were delivered when court opened and during the rest of the day defense testimony was presented.

Today's testimony was to the effect that Beach was nowhere near the scene of the crime when Dr. A. William Lilliendahl was shot to death, that two Negroes were there and fled as though pursued by the shadow of death itself, and that there was no motive for the defendants to have committed the crime.

The alibi for Beach was built up from testimony of almost a score of witnesses. Two women and a man said they saw him driving near his home in the early morning of the day of the crime.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO GO TO HAVANA IN JANUARY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2—(AP)—President Coolidge has decided to go to Havana in January to address the sixth Pan American congress. Although it had been expected for some time that he would make the trip, definite announcement of his intentions was not made at the white house until today.

Unless his plans are upset the president will travel by rail to Key West, Florida, and there will board an American warship for Cuba. He is expected to return by the same route.

It is probable that he will be in Havana for the opening session of the congress January 16. Present plans are for Secretary Kellogg, possibly Secretary Wilbur, and at least some of the members of the American delegation to the congress to accompany him. Mrs. Coolidge also is expected to make the trip.

It was said at the white house that the president might not spend more than 24 hours in Havana.

VON BERNSTORFF ADDRESSED THE SECURITY COMMITTEE

GENEVA, Dec. 2—(AP)—Count Von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, and now German representative at the preparatory disarmament conference, today made an address before the security committee which was interpreted widely as delicately opening a diplomative drive for possible later revision of the treaty of Versailles.

Real international security which will reduce the possibility of conflicts between nations implies the fixation of frontiers which all countries can accept was the opinion voiced in German non-official circles tonight following Count Von Bernstorff's declaration that Article 19 should be given importance by the security committee in the proposed study of the league of nations covenant.

GOV. AL SMITH STANDS FOR ENFORCEMENT OF ALL LAWS

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 2—(AP)—For the first time since he has been prominently mentioned as a democratic presidential possibility, Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New Yrk state tonight broke his silence on the prohibition question by declaring that while he stands for enforcement of all laws, he sees no reason why any group of voters should not oppose the federal prohibition statutes.

The governor's declaration, made at the annual convention dinner of the New York State League of Women Voters, was in answer to a resolution adopted by the Nassau county branch of the league condemning organized opposition to the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act and urging "respect for and obedience to law."

"What's wrong about that?" asked the governor after he had read the section of the resolution referring to organization of a group to oppose the prohibition laws. "Is there any reason why the opposition should not organize? Is there any question about solidity, force and effectiveness of the forces on the other side of the question when they have gotten close to $5,000,000 for the operation of their organization in the next few years.

"It is the right of our people to organize to oppose any law, or any part of the constitution with which they are not in sympathy. I have taken an oath of office as assemblyman, as sheriff of New York county and four times as governor, to sustain the constitution of the state of New York and yet there are parts of it I hate. I have promised to sustain it but I have not promised to give up any right to oppose any part of it I don't like."

MORROW CONFERS WITH GROUP OF INDIAN FARMERS

CELAYA, GUANAJUATO, Mexico, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, former member of one of the world's largest banking concerns, today held a conference with a group of Indian farmers who are directors of a small experimental co-operative agricultural land bank.

The former partner of J. P. Morgan and Company visited the bank as part of the day's program on his two weeks' tour with President Calles to inspect agricultural schools, and irrigation and other development projects in northern Mexico. He also visited today the Guanajuato state agricultural school at Celaya and an irrigation project near the school. All three institutions were fostered and developed under the auspices of the federal government as part of the Calles program for agricultural development.

Mr. Morrow congratulated the Indian farmer directors of the Celaya bank for their work which, as described to him, appears to be a movement of great importance in agricultural development.

Will Rogers, the humorist, who arrived in Mexico City for a visit just before the presidential train started and is a member of the party at the president's invitation, has kept the president and Mr. Morrow chuckling at his sallies.

ARGUMENTS IN DUCHERS TORLONIA DIVORCE SUIT

BRIDGEPORT, Dec. 2—(AP)—Characterization of the plaintiff as "a ruthless, self-willed woman who would do anything to accomplish her will" featured the defense counsel's summation in final oral arguments held before Judge John Richards Booth in superior court here today in the divorce suit brought by Duchess Torlonia, the former Elsie Moore, of Greenwich, against her husband Duke Marino Torlonia, of Rome.

The duchess is seeking divorce and the custody of three minor children upon an allegation of misconduct on the part of her husband, naming Marie Lorenzino, of Rome, as co-respondent.

Claiming that his client had "come to this country for relief from a situation which every decent man regards as intolerable," William H. Comley, counsel for the duchess declared that "whatever tolerance his actions might receive in Roman society, it is scorned by decent men here."

Saying that the duchess had received word from friends in Rome that her husband continued to flaunt Marie Lorenzino before public eye, as his mistress, Mr. Comley described the duke as "a man who has forfeited every right to respect and esteem and right to continue a regime by which he may continue to live on her (his wife's) charity."

HAMPTON MAN FINED $25 FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Dec. 2—In police court Friday morning, John J. Murphy of Hampton was fined $25 and costs, amounting to $32.15, for reckless driving by Judge Frank H. Foss. Murphy's arraignment in court was the aftermath of a collision in which a car driven by him figured late Thursday afternoon on the bridge over the Natchaug river near the Willimantic Wet Wash plant. A touring car, driven by Philip E. Keech of 8 Oak street, Danielson, and owned by Mrs. Lillian M. Keech of the same address, was driving out of the city and as it reached the center of the bridge it was struck by Murphy's touring car, which was proceeding in the opposite direction. Murphy continued on his way and then hit a nearby hydrant, going a distance of approximately 75 feet before he stopped. The damage was practically slight. The arrest in the case was made by Traffic Officer Arthur Hurley. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Frank P. Fenton announced in court that the accused had admitted responsibility for the accident and had made a settlement for the damage to the other car. Disposition of an intoxication case was also made by the court.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years ago this week Thanksgiving turkeys were selling at 20 cents a pound, as compared with 60 and 80 cents nowadays. The same week the old Provident association appointed a committee to solicit funds which the association planned to distribute that winter. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Bulletin of November, 1877, follows:

Monday, Nov. 26, 1877—Thanksgiving service will be held in Trinity church Thursday morning at 11 o'clock to which the congregation of Christ church are invited.

Haverly's minstrels had a crowded house in Bread hall Saturday night. Those who love drollery had plenty to laugh at. Laughing is healthy which is something in its favor.

The street commissioner is having West Main street covered in some places with oyster shells, and repairing the crosswalks, a timely preparation for winter.

The wind blew strongly through the streets Saturday afternoon and evening raising stifling clouds of dust. Yesterday it rained hard nearly all day, making the traveling unpleasant and preventing many from attending church service.

Tuesday, Nov. 27, 1877—The Shaughraun—The drama loving public of Norwich are to be congratulated that they are again having an opportunity to see that prettiest of plays on the American stage, the Irish drama Shaughraun and especially as it is admirably presented for the most part by local talent.

Our local weather prophet some time ago predicted a mild winter. Others in different parts of the state are now prophesying the same thing. He is predicted that the months of December and January will be open and fair. The grounds on which this prediction is based, among other things are the recent thunder storms, while the farmers from every section of the state note that the muskrats have built only the slightest of shelter; also the corn husks are very thin. Without doubt it has been the warmest November in the past decade.

Mr. John Turner and family, who have been very worthy residents of Preston City for the past six years, have removed to Montville and all regret their loss. He intends building at Montville.

Wednesday, Nov. 28, 1877—The most brilliant social event that has occurred for several years at the old and attractive portion of the township so well known as Norwich Town, was the celebration last evening of the marriage of Mr. George A. Rudd of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Miss Jeanie S. Porter of Norwich, daughter of the late George E. Porter, Esq., of Boston. The bride is connected with several of the old Norwich families and the wedding was thus large as well as attractive. The marriage took place at 7 o'clock in the evening at the First Congregational church, the impressive Episcopal church being conducted by the pastor, the Rev. C. T. Weltzel. They are to spend three years in Rome where Mr. Judd goes to complete his art studies.

Last week there were shipped from Stonington 35,000 pounds of turkeys.

The total receipts from the Cantata, Queen Esther, amount to $1,116.45. Although the exact figures are not known yet, it can be stated that the net proceeds will be considerable over $300.

The City Guard hold their first social of the season at Steiner's hall this evening. The former popularity of these parties will be remembered and without doubt the hall will be filled.

Thursday, Nov. 29, 1877—The many friends of Mr. Henry Gulliver of Norwich Town will be pained to hear of the accident, last Tuesday evening by which he lost the use of one eye. It was just previous to the Rudd-Porter wedding in the church, that evening, and Mr. Gulliver had mounted a chair to adjust a window for purposes of ventilation. On stepping back and down he was upset and received the injury mentioned above.

People could get their Thanksgiving turkeys yesterday for 20 cents a pound. This was as reasonable as could have been expected. The local dealers will have but few fowls on their hands to dispose when the turkey festival is over.

Wm. M. Williams, J. P. Collins, Alfred H. Brewer, H. V. Redmond, William H. Jennings, Jr., are the committee appointed by the Provident association to solicit and collect funds for dispensation by that organization this winter.

Friday, Nov. 30, 1877—The continuance of the mild weather is worth many dollars to the farmers, whose cattle are yet grazing in the fields, thus sparing the hay for future use. The ground is full of water and the fields are nearly as soft as in spring.

The Home on Thames street was so well supplied with good things yesterday, that Mr. Griswold was invited to take a load to those under the care of the Provident association, and accordingly an express wagon was freighted with eatables and they were distributed to worthy and destitute families about the city.

Big ring around the moon last night with three stars in it—Bulletin. Tuesday big ring round the Bulletin, too, with three stars in it. Strange coincide! —Aurora. Aren't you awful jealous! Sorry dear, you have got no stars in your crown. —Bulletin. Better have none. The stars round the Bulletin are all gilty. Better blank them sham.—Aurora. Oh, ho! It's all about the stars, is it; and so you've been guilty of lying to us all the time, have you? 'Pears on reflection the star of truth does not illumine your pathway.

Saturday, Dec. 1, 1877—The Rev. Mr. Montgomery proposes to preach ten sermons upon this text; What think ye of Christ? The first will be preached Sunday evening and the subject is this; What think ye of Christ as a Teacher?

The parties that sent 10 tons of turkeys to Boston, it is said, were unable to sell four tons of them, and had them packed in ice for preservation till the Christmas holidays.

Two or more tramps broke into Adin Cook's grocery store on Union street, Thursday afternoon or evening, and helped themselves to a royal feast. Bread and honey, crackers and cheese, jellies and preserves were on the bill of fare. Cigars were to be had without price.

YANTIC

Miss Julia Pavlak of this village and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Meyers, of the West Side, Norwich, shared the first prize given at a masquerade in E. G. hall, Jewett City, Saturday evening. Mrs. Pavlak's costume represented a full blown rose and was very handsome. Mrs. Meyers' costume was an old-fashioned one, recalling Puritan days and proved striking and becoming. Several from this village attended the dance.

Alton Kilroy has returned to Boston after a brief stay in town with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Kilroy.

Miss Beulah Whiteley has left here for Albany, N. Y., after spending the holidays with her parents.

May A. Kingsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Kingsley had to have the little finger of her right hand amputated, due to an accident recently. The wound has been very painful, but is healing steadily.

DANIELSON

TEN TAXED USUAL $5.57 FOR DEFECTIVE LIGHTS

DANIELSON, Dec. 3.—Ten more cases were heard in the town court this morning by Judge W. Fenner Woodward, all of them growing out of operators being on the highways in this town last night with machines having defective headlights or without windshield cleaners. As in the many other cases of the kind that have preceded them in the past fortnight or more, fines of $1 and costs, a total of $5.57, was imposed.

It became rumored about in official circles this morning that today's cases will end the campaign hereabouts, at least during the holiday season, against poorly lighted or poorly equipped automobiles. Where this was heard in business circles today it brought expressions of gratification, for the impression has become very strong that so rigid enforcement of the lighting law has become injurious to business, as many hesitated to drive their cars at night. However, it is stated that while a general, active campaign against poorly lighted cars may not be continued for the present, it is not to be taken for granted that one can drive about intentionally with a car not properly equipped with lights and windshield cleaner.

A checkup by Chief John McFarland has established that a trio of young men who came to Danielson last evening and made suspicious visitations to clothing stores just before they closed for the day were occupying a car—a public service machine—owned in Hartford.

While no definite infraction of the law is reported as chargeable against the trio while in Danielson, there are circumstances surrounding their doings here that have made it seem well worth while to find out as much as may be possible about them and their mission in life. Further, it appears, this is their second visitation to Danielson, their first, some time since, having first directed attention against them as suspicious characters.

Heavy rains again this afternoon, following other storms of the week, has brought the rivers up to a level higher than normal at this time of year. However, there appeared to be no flood danger. Damage in the flood of a month ago that heretofore has not been mentioned in print is to a dam across the Assawaga river here at a point just above where the stream flows into the Quinebaug. Boarding of this small, old dam is ripped off on the southerly side of the stream, but the condition is not regarded as causing any menace.

It was made known today that the town school committee, at its meeting last evening, found it necessary to deny the petition of twenty members of the Danielson Girls' club for an opportunity to studying cooking in a special evening class at the high school. The committee's adverse decision is due to a statute regulation which prohibits school comimttees in towns or cities of less than 10,000 population to establish an evening high school or classes of that grade without a favorable vote of a special town meeting. An optional arrangement would permit the committee to rent the domestic science department, to such a class, but in this instance that petitioners, as a group, have no funds to meet such an expense. It was stated on behalf of the committee this afternoon that in the event of an evening domestic science course being established, after a favorable vote of the town, that it would be better to have the course open to the public in general than exclusively for the members of one organization, saving all interested an equal chance to take it.

It appears that the Girls' club has conducted a cooking class for some time, but with only one range for the use of the entire class, in the club roms, the work of the members has been handicapped.

So This is London was the title of the annual senior play presented in the Orpheum theatre this evening by Killingly High school students, in accordance with a custom established many years. This play is about American and English people and a clever playwright has conjured up a series of happenings and situations to make an interesting and amusing evening's entertainment. The author is Arthur G. Goodrich, a classmate and close personal friend of Supt. W. E. Parker, of Killingly's schools, and a graduate with him from Wesleyan in the class of 1899. The play had a long and highly successful run in London as well as in a number of America's large cities.

In this evening's cast were Richard Tillinghast, Miss Vivian Harrington, Miss Monica Lambert, Mervin Chase, Miss Rose Heneault, Albert Whitaker, Lewis Lague, Elwood Spencer, Miss Cora Browne, John Stockton and Donald House.

In advance of the play the seating capacity of the house was practically sold out, insuring the financial success of the venture.

Further contributions that have come in for the roll call campaign of Danielson chapter of the American Red Cross has brought the total up to $1273, it was announced this afternoon by Treasurer Francis E. Storer. This is the largest amount obtained here since the World war; in any one year, and obtaining it is generally credited to having a splendid organization that carried out its work thoroughly.

The fall term in Killingly's schools will close on Friday, December 23. The schools will reopen for the winter term on Tesuday, January 3, as the preceding Monday will be observed as New Year's day.

Saturday, Dec. 3, last day of special 20 per cent. discount sale of silk and jersey dresses. We are now exhibiting Christmas lines. The Alice-Eleanor Shop.—adv.

Members of the Roundabout club were entertained at her home in Dayville by Mrs. Harry Whidden.

Danielson attorneys were engaged this afternoon with matters before the superior court for the county, in Willimantic.

Members of a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce met in the office of Attorney Harry E. Back this evening to make a list of nominations for officers to be submitted to the December meeting of the organization next Tuesday.

Though the Danielson team was defeated, the basketball season here opened auspiciously last evening, and the promise is for an enthusiastic season.

Our Christmas lines of merchandise are now on display. We invite you to inspect them. Mose the Druggist.—adv.

The K. H. S. Athletic fund will be increased, it is announced, about $300, from the generosity of the Danielson Rotary club in turning over the receipts from its recent minstrel show.

Receptacles have been distributed for contributions to the fund that will be used to bring holiday comforts and cheer to needy families of Danielson.

Business houses, for good reason, are again warned to keep a very close watch for shoplifters.

An American Legion district meeting of units in Windham and Tolland counties, to be held at Putnam Sunday afternoon, will attract a number from Danielson.

Dr. and Mrs. George M. Burrough and daughter, Vivian, are now well on their way southward in their car, en route to St. Cloud, Fla. They will visit about the south during the winter, returning here April 1.

Fox hunters tell that there is a territory in a western and isolated part of the town of Brooklyn where deer tracks are so numerous as to indicate that there are scores of the anmals in that section.

Sunday evening's Union service of the Danielson Federation of Churches will be held at the Baptist church. It will be a layman's service and the following will make addresses: Harold Holehouse, Raymond Allen and J. Wayne Haskell. A special program of music has been arranged.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Wetherell this afternoon, members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church held a Christmas sale.

Mrs. Leonard James will have the members of the Ladies' Reading circle at her home for a meeting Monday afternoon.

Those who travel that way, are complaining that a stretch of highway running out of South Killingly past the Terwilliger farm is in very poor condition and promises to become more so as the winter season advances.

Foreign money orders are among the things going out of Danielson these days to bring Christmas cheer to people in various European countries where relatives of Danielson people live.

PUTNAM

HEAD OF POLICE DEPT. IN THOMPSON DEAD

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Dec. 3—Neri Coderre, head of the town of Thompson police department died at his home in North Grosvenordale Thursday aged 51 years. He suffered a stroke of paralysis about a month ago and was forced to give up his position as patrolman, a position he had held for the past 16 years.

He was widely known throughout this section of the county and had lived at North Grosvenordale for the past 41 years. Mr. Coderre was born in Canada but came to the United States in his early youth. For many years he was one of the best known baseball players in this section of the state and for many years played on the Grosvenordale teams. He was a member of the Bande Canadienne, having joined that organization when he was a youth of 16 years. He was also a member of St. Bernard's council, K. of C., St. Jean Baptiste society of St. Joseph's church, Visiting Nurse association and of the fire department of the town.

Mr. Coderre is survived by his wife and eight children, Henry, Roland, Francis, Roger, Gerald, Rita, Claire and Marie, all of whom live at North Grosvenordale. He also leaves four brothers, Archiles Coderre of New Bedford, Ubald Coderre of Norwich, Phillip Coderre and Napoleon Coderre of North Grosvenordale and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Valade of North Grosvenordale and Mrs. Celina Balcom of Wauregan.

Everett Edward Rhodes of Thompson died Thursday at the Rhode Island hospital at Providence, at the age of 63 years. He was a life long resident of Thompson and was a widely known citizen in this section. Mr. Rhodes has been in poor health for some time and entered the hospital several weeks ago for observation and treatment.

He was born in Thompson on September 23, 1864, the son of Horatio J. and Abbie Matthews Rhodes. He was educated in the school of his native town and has been employed for many years as electrician on the Ream estate at Thompson. He always took an interest in civic affairs and has served his town as selectman. Mr. Rhodes was for years a deacon in the Thompson Baptist church and was for years a deacon in the Thompson Baptist church and was fraternally affiliated with the Putnam Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three children, two sons, Forest Rhodes of Thompson, Sarelle A. Rhodes of New Haven and Mrs. Florence Rhodes Webster of Springfield. There are also four step children, Mrs. Stella Bowen of Putnam, Lewis F. Geissler of Boston, Mrs. Violer Jespin of Thompson and Judge M. H. Geissler of Putnam.

On Thursday evening the first game in the tournament of the Odd Fellows of Putnam and the Cargill council, Knights of Columbus, was played. There were sixteen tables in play and at the end of the evening the score stood 10 to 6 in favor of the K. of C. The evening was pleasantly spent and refreshments were served. The next week's contest will be held at the Odd Fellows hall on Pomfret street. The play was all in bid whist but it is probable that some of the tables will soon be playing auction bridge as that seems to be the popular card game. Beginning with sixteen tables, it would look like their tournament will soon equal the one of the Elks and Masons.

The annual Christmas sale of the ladies of St. Philip's Episcopal guild was held this afternoon in the community rooms of the Putnam Savings bank. Many useful and attractive articles suitable for Christmas gifts were sold also food and cake.

Next Sunday evening will begin a series of meetings at the Methodist church under the supervision of the pastor, Rev. John E. Duxbury. These meetings will continue for every evening for two weeks with the exception of Saturday evenings. Rev. F. C. Baker, pastor of the Methodist church at North Grosvenordale will preach each night beginning Sunday, December 4. Rev. Myron Gepter of Norwich, district superintendent will be here all day on Sunday, December 11.

At the Second Congregational church Sunday there will be another of the "Friendly Evening" services. A motion picture "One Increasing Purpose" from the novel of A. S. and A. M. Williamson will be shown. There will also be music by a quartette taken from the regular church choir.

The Putnam city election will be held on Monday. The polls to be open from 6.30 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. It is probable that the vote will be small as there is no contest for any of the several offices, the democrats having endorsed all of the republican except those requiring representation on both tickets. Alderman at large Charles A. Richard is the candidate for mayor on both tickets.

Mrs. Alice Carpenter of Grove street is the guest of her daughter at Barre, Vermont.

FRANK H. PULLEN

In the passing of Frank H. Pullen, Norwich loses a citizen of sterling character, a man of high ideals, a business man whose word was as good as his bond, an adopted son with a wide circle of admiring friends.

Throughout his business life he had been closely identified with the newspaper business, having risen from office boy to publisher and owner, and nearly two score of those years have been spent in Norwich. Soon after he and the late Allan Cleworth purchased Cooley's Weekly in 1886 they also acquired the Norwich Evening Record, which has the second longest record for longevity of any publication ever started in this city. It was expanded and developed under their painstaking influence and guidance. For the past 21 years Mr. Pullen had been the sole owner of that paper, which was sold to The Bulletin company the first of November because of the condition of his health.

No one could want a better man to do business with than Frank H. Pullen. He was so regarded by all who came in contact with him and there was that same profound respect and admiration for him on the part of his employes. He carried the Golden Rule into his business and all his activities. He was a man among men, a stalwart, thoughtful, loyal friend, a citizen of the highest type, a calm and deliberative man whose counsel was held in high regard and in his death Norwich is mindful of its loss. His 40 years of residence in Norwich have not failed to leave an impression that will be lasting and his contributions to local newspaper history have been many and of the best.

DISTRICT CITIZENS SEEK VOTE

New efforts are to be made at the coming session of congress for the enfranchisement of the residents of the District of Columbia. It is not the first time such a thing has been attempted, and yet there seems to be to them no good reason why the claim to full citizenship ought not to be extended.

This has been brought to notice within the past year by the efforts which have been made by the residents of Porto Rico to have that island given the rights of a state. Whenever such a proposition has been advanced it has always been pointed out that such a step could hardly be expected in view of the fact that the residents of the District of Columbia are now without such rights as would be given to the islanders.

The more the situation in the District of Columbia has been agitated the wider has grown the feeling that an injustice is being done there. Because it is impossible for those living there to vote great numbers of them maintain their former residences for voting purposes and are obliged to go elsewhere on election day to cast their ballot or else sacrifice the franchise.

What action congress will take upon a joint resolution that has been prepared for its consideration remains to be seen. It will require committee consideration and then the necessary change in the Constitution will have to be provided for. This would of course call for the approval of three fourths of the states, but there appears to be no reason why the states should not be ready to do their part in giving the franchise to their fellow citizens, who are entitled to it in every way and are deprived of it solely because of their residence in the District of Columbia. As it is now they are penalized for living there.

Inasmuch as those who are pushing this matter feel confident that progress is going to be made at the coming session of congress it would indicate that they have encountered no serious opposition. The plea which they make cannot fail to make its impression upon all fair minded individuals and they will look for and get much support outside their own voteless territory.

ALABAMA FLOGGINGS

Because of the lawless conditions which have prevailed in the state of Alabama for a considerable time that commonwealth has gained a reputation of which it can hardly be proud. The floggings which have taken place there have been a disgrace to the state but much more so has been the apparent attitude under which they have been tolerated.

There have been instances where the floggers have been convicted and given substantial sentences, but others where there have been refusals to convict and charges that those who are supposed to uphold the dignity of the law in that respect have been giving aid to the accused rather than lending support to those endeavoring to uphold grand jury indictments and obtain a conviction.

This situation appears to be particularly flagrant in Crenshaw county where serious cases of flogging have occurred and where the prosecutor has thrown up his hands in disgust because of the indications that no convictions could be obtained. His charge against the state law enforcement department indicate a situation in that state and county which is deplorable. The only inference is that those who have been responsible for these acts of terrorism have such support from the general public that no one can be punished. That means that the conditions of the past can not only be expected to continue but to grow worse.

It is a situation which parallels that in other states where the lynching spirit was rampant. Just how long the public sentiment is going to support such open violation and disrespect for the law is a question. The defiance of law and order puts a blot on the name of Alabama whether it be the result of public laxity or the influence of a hooded organization.

For a long time Georgia headed the states in lynching. It has seriously begun to set its house in order and the time is coming when Alabama must do as much in regard to the floggings.

GIVE BENEFIT TO CONSUMER

Speaking at a club luncheon at Hartford Friday, Governor Trumbull referred to the fuel situation as one of the four major problems confronting the state today and made reference to the fact that through the state fuel commission lower freight rates have been secured which will mean a saving of $300,000 to consumers in this state.

What is equally interesting to these same consumers is the further statement that he will "see to it" that this saving is passed on to the consumers.

The consumers have gone through many experiences in connection with fuel. They have felt the effects of constantly increasing prices, got an occasional notice of a reduction somewhere along the line only to be later informed that it has been necessary to absorb it because of the increased expenses and other reasons.

If there is to be a reduction in the freight rates on coal to Connecticut that cut should reach even to the consumer. He is entitled to it and for once he is beginning to realize that he is considered of much more importance than he was a few years ago. There was a time when he was so dependent upon coal for fuel that he could be imposed upon, be forced to pay whatever was demanded or go without, be taxed to build roads and make other improvements in Pennsylvania and to be squeezed for every new adjustment in wages and working conditions.

The poor consumer stands in a somewhat different position today. Although he may never have expected it there are evidences that he is at last being catered to. But even if coal prices drop, even if the coal tax is removed, even if the freight rates are lowered, it is no more than the consumer is entitled to and he should get the full benefit of them. The governor is displaying his interest, as usual, in a good cause.

RETURN ALIEN PROPERTY

But for the filibuster that featured the closing of the 69th congress, it is not improbable that action would have been taken authorizing the return of the German property that was seized in this country at the entrance of the United States into the war.

A bill to that effect was ready and the treasury department has now asked the ways and means committee to report it at the coming session and to include therewith the alien property belonging to Austrians and Hungarians.

There was the feeling at one time that the alien property should be held until the American claims have been met. That means a considerable number of years at the best. The Americans who have claims against Germany would like to get an adjustment. The Germans whose property was seized in this country would like to get what belongs to them. This situation led to an agreement which would hasten the adjustment through part payment at the time the understanding became effective and the remainder at a later date. There would be advantage in such a plan for all concerned. It would be well to get rid of this alien property problem.

There is realization of course that the war ended long ago and it is for the best interests of all concerned that there should be a disposition of the claims. Other countries have done so. This country has done so on previous occasions and it is time that it got busy now. The matter will come before a congress that promises to be swamped with business, but the need of early action on this measure ought to be so apparent as to get action before the session is brought to a close.

EDITORIAL NOTES

At the rate of one a day, will you have enough time to acquire all your Christmas presents?

Of course everyone is anxious to make the first circuit of the streets with a new Elizabeth.

The man on the corner says: We know cold weather is due and yet we are disappointed that it comes.

Would it be well to start a relief fund to take care of the effects of the windstorms which can be expected soon in congress?

"Eventually, why not now?" must have been the guiding influence of that Mexican woman who at the age of 118 was vaccinated for smallpox.

President Coolidge is reported as having said he was sorry his message for the 70th congress is not shorter, but there's no chance that he's sorry that it's done.

With New York and Chicago each planning to include cities in three states in their metropolitan areas which will be the first to lay claim to all east of the Mississippi?

Just because Assistant Secretaries Davison and Warner plan to have desks in their airplanes at which to write speeches, doesn't necessarily mean that what they have to say will be over the heads of their audiences.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

Ought we to speak in favor, or against, the attempts to overcome the seemingly impossible? The answer would seem to depend, first, whether the thing attempted was actually or only seemingly impossible. And how can this be determined until one tries? Secondly, is the object attacked worthy of the difficulty and the danger involved in the attempted mastery? Is the conquering of that object something that will be of benefit to mankind, or is it nothing more than an opportunity to display a daredevil spirit that has no inherent worth? This thought is suggested by the fact that many previous lives have been sacrificed in the thus far futile attempt to climb Mount Everest, the so-called "roof of the world," the highest known peak on the globe, 29,000 feet high. Even the pinnacles that surround this supreme peak seem to be inaccessible. Is it worth while?

Is there not a glaring inconsistency in the creed of bolshevists or bolshevism as it has been shown on the part of some of its ardent propagandists? It is quite fresh in our minds the sympathy that the red propagandists tried to stir up in favor of two notorious criminals who were convicted and executed for the cold-blooded murder of an aged paymaster on the ground that it was in line with views of government and hence was persecution. It involved the fundamental rights of personal liberty they asserted. But how about the personal liberty of the old paymaster? Did he have any right to live? Their execution was looked upon as a blow to bolshevism. But one has only to turn his eyes to the condition of the Russian peasants to see that the very last vestige of personal liberty has been taken away in the wholesale robbery practiced on them by the soviet government.

The band of hardy men and women who more than 300 years ago came to our stern shores were keen enough to realize that there was something extraordinary they had discovered. In spite of the severity of its climate (and still is compared with that of Old England whence they came) but it was wonderfully productive when dealt with both brain and muscle. This idea impressed them sufficiently to set apart a day of Thanksgiving when they realized what their labor plus a vigorous soil and the goodness of God had produced. Has not this same fact been true for more than three centuries, and doubtless will be true to the very end of time! Have we ever had China conditions here? And we never shall have China conditions unless we treat our soil as China has treated hers. Have any foreign nations been solicited to keep New England from starving? There is no place on earth where the thanksgiving spirit is more rational than right here in New England.

How easy it is to believe the things you want to! On this theory the quacks thrive at the expense of the gullible. Somebody has said that "even intelligent women believe the lies of beauty doctors." How many poor deluded mortals have been easily persuaded by fraud specialists that they are better simply because they were moving heaven and earth to be better! Cox's famous dictum, "every day in every way I am growing better and better" may be a cheerful philosophy and even be helpful to those who are possessed with only imaginary ills, but in many instances it would be downright self-deception. One might shout that dictum till he was hoarse but it would have but little effect in curing cancer, Bright's disease, tuberculosis, or old age. Quite the reverse, one might keep on saying over and over this famous dictum until he had either lockjaw or the blind staggers.

There is obviously a favorable side to football that is not generally enumerated among its many excellences. All the great football coaches are constantly trying to impress upon the players the necessity of playing the game fair, if it is going to continue to hold the public interest which it certainly has today. "Tad" Jones, Yale's great football coach and authority, makes that very emphatic in the last issue of the Review of Reviews. The game is of such a nature that a player can resort to tricks that have a tremendous advantage and which are exceedingly hard to detect. Is not Jones right in saying that any coach who allows it "is gambling with the character of the boys"? If the crowd detects dishonesty woe be to the reputation of the squad! Why should not a poor undergraduate who needs money be paid when giving a liberal public such pleasure? Think what professional ball players get for their services?

All decent and valuable things have to fight for their very lives, and the greater and more valuable they are the greater and more persistent is the fight they must put up. It would be hard to name any great heritage that has not been bought with human blood. At present violent attacks are being made on the sanctity of the marriage relations, one of the great foundation stones—the very bulwark, as it were—or our civilization. One is surprised to find a man usually so clear and sane as Judge Ben Lindsey advocating provisional or companionate marriage. Nothing would swell our divorce courts, already over-burdened, than the adoption of such a suggestion. The idea is that when either party to the marriage relation tires of the other, or discovers that he or she is not wholly angelic, or meets some other doll face that outrages the name of woman, or some wooden image that disgraces the name of man—then tear apart what God "hath joined together."

There are certainly circumstances that justify divorces, at the same time the sanctity of the marriage relation must be safeguarded. While our divorce laws are not, taken altogether, a failure, yet they do not accomplish what they were intended to do when enacted. That is, they do not regulate. This is largely due to an utter lack of uniformity. They will be largely inadequate as long as the 48 legislatures act independently. If some states grant divorces on absurdly slim excuses, what can a neighboring state accomplish that seeks to undergirt its laws with a sense of decency and would put a moral purpose into every law appearing on its statute books? In Connecticut where there is still left some sense of moral obligation a party that wants the marriage vow annulled can go to another part of the country and get a divorce. What is to prevent having uniform laws on a matter so important!

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Noble Brandon Judah, the choice of President Coolidge for the post of United States Ambassador to Cuba, which has been vacant since the resignation of Maj. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder last spring, has long been regarded as one of the leading citizens of Chicago, though little known to the country at large. With the exception of one term in the lower house of the Illinois legislature he has never held or sought public office. He made an excellent war record in France and returned home with the rank of colonel and a number of honors and decorations bestowed by the Allied governments. Mr. Judah is a native of Chicago. He received his scholastic education at Brown university and then went to the Northwestern University School of Law to receive training for the profession of law, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty years.

FIRMS MUST QUALIFY AS WELL AS STUDENTS.

Firms which wish to interview members of the graduating classes at Yale university, with a view to employing them, will not be allowed to do so unless they furnish in advance data concerning the opportunities they have to offer these students, says Albert B. Crawford, director of the Yale bureau of appointments and of the department of personnel study, in his annual report to President James Rowland Angell. In that part of his report dealing with the industrial department of the bureau, Mr. Crawford says:

"The number of companies sending interview representatives to New Haven is increasing, and while this method of campus recruiting appears generally to be an improvement over previous procedure, new and special problems also arise therefrom. In particular, wholesale campus visiting can become extremely disturbing to the students and disrupting to their academic routine. Some concerns seem to feel that any activities which might conflict with the interviews of their representatives should be suspended on the day of their visit; others fail to arrange interview dates far enough ahead or else wish to make last minute changes in previous arrangements. It is difficult for them to appreciate how inconvenient, or even impossible, such late shifts in schedule may be. With at least one such visit booked for almost every working day for some ten consecutive weeks, however, and the necessity of arranging, in each case, for specific appointments with selected groups of men, any such late changes in date, or previously unheralded visits, seriously disturb operation. Still other companies wish interviews and information about candidates, but furnish on their part little or no description of the positions they have to offer. It has, therefore, become necessary in some degree to select the firms to whom interview privileges are extended and to refuse them to companies unwilling to plan ahead or to furnish in advance adequate data concerning their opportunities.

"From information obtained in last year's student survey, it appears that a majority of our students have, by senior year, made definite plans either for further study in graduate or professional schools or for employment—in many cases to enter business with relatives or friends. It is estimated from such data that less than three hundred students, by the last term of senior year, are still undecided regarding their immediate future, and the bureau's industrial registration totals, of 223 this year and 209 last year, consequently represent most of the potential applicants of the last two classes. As the bureau has heretofore made no attempt to discuss occupational problems or after-graduation employment except with seniors, this does not mean that such advice would not have been sought by many additional students had the bureau been in a position to offer it also to underclassmen. The new department of personnel study will have an opportunity to discuss plans and prospective careers with students whenever they may wish occupational advice."

The industrial placements made by the bureau were as follows: Advertising, 3; banking and brokerage, 21; chemistry, 3; engineering, 37; insurance, 6; mercantile and office work, 12; production, 23; sales and sales engineering, 72; and miscellaneous, 1. The approximate mean and median of reported initial salaries are $1,650 and $1,600 respectively. These were distributed as follows: $1,200-$1,399, 6; $1,300-$1,399, 34; $1,400-$1,499, 41; $1,500-$1,999, 25; over $2,000, 4.

"The direct placements were slightly fewer than last year's, but the median initial salary made a surprising advance of about $200," Mr. Crawford says. "The tendency seems to be for industrial organizations to take on somewhat smaller numbers of college recruits, but to select them with increasing care. The result is a competitive bedding for the apparently superior men and relatively little interest in the others. Certain dangers in such a situation are obvious. Popular tradition considerably exaggerates the young graduate's self-esteem, but such cockiness as he does exhibit may be in no small degree attributed to the attitude of prospective employers. As the position finally accepted from a number of flattering offers usually sounds, when described in April, more roseate and far less humdrum than it actually appears by the following December, the young graduate again is by no means chiefly to blame for the impatience and restlessness of his first few years in business. Yet the difficulties of his adjustment, whatever be their cause, are a real problem and entail no small amount of economic waste and personal unhappiness."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Smelting At Noank.

Mr. Editor: It surely was some interesting reading in the letter from your Noank correspondent last Thursday morning wherein was given an account of the wonderful catch of smelt by Rollin Rathbun of that village, using only one pole and (presumably) two hooks. It was not stated how many hours of the day he was engaged in fishing, but for the purpose of showing how remarkable the catch was, I will assume that it was ten hours, with no stop for "a snack."

Ten hours, or 600 minutes, or 36000 seconds, I find that with the catch at 1000 fish, he averaged a fish every thirty - six seconds. Oh boy! what sport he must have had but how his fingers must have ached taking them off. How that fellow over in Winsted will envy him.

Sunday Morning Talk

Perfect Peace.

"For the mountains shall depart and the hills be removed; but my kindness shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace be removed, saith the Lord that hath mercy on thee." Isaiah 54:10. The very words which commanded the world to be is the foundation of the sinner's hope. He who hung the earth upon nothing, who weighs the hills in scales and the mountains in a balance, who can measure the ocean in the hollow of his hand, has spoken the word and on that word the believer reposes. That is his munition of rocks. He dwells in safety. Jehovah must change ere the believer be cast off.

And the Almighty promises gives assurance upon assurance that the believer is safe. What so stable as the mountains? What so alluding as the hills? Yet these are transient and shadowy things compared with the foundation of a sinner's hope—they pass away but the word of the Lord endureth forever. The kindness of God is thus guaranteed by line upon line. It is a covenant of peace which He has made; and when we take hold of it "joy is sown for the righteous and gladness for the upright in heart."

The Lord is a sun and shield. He will give grace and glory. "The Lord is my rock and fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength in whom I will trust." What then need disturb the soul's serenity. Could we learn the lesson of resting simply on the truth of God, unshaken by trials, unmoved by providences, and trusting wholly in Him who has promised to go with us at all times, in all troubles, the God of peace would see His image reflected in us. He might lead us through trial after trial, and the dark valley at the last must be trod. But if He is there what evil need we fear? Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee. Isaiah 26:3.

YOUR HEALTH

JUST A COLD.

By Herbert M. Goddard, M. D., Philadelphia, member Gorgas Memorial.

(The following is neo of a series of articles prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial as part of its better health and longer life program. President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Memorial, which has been organized and endowed by prominent doctors and laymen throughout the country to perpetuate the work of the late Major General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 400 North Michigan avenue, Chicago.)

What is commonly designated as having a cold or catching cold, is so frequently heard that no one pays much attention to it. Most persons look upon the condition as unworthy of any consideration, despite the fact that the apparently trifling ailment may lead to disastrous consequences and indeed may terminate fatally.

It is because of lack of appreciation of the trouble that this neglected condition may engender that I briefly allude to some important facts. The cold usually starts in the nose and is often apparently due to atmospheric changes. Then again, it commonly would appear to be the result of personal contact, or to be spread in rooms or buildings where afflicted ones are huddled together.

In any case of catching cold, it would appear that some abnormal condition is present in the nose. Something that has lowered the vitality of the individual and has made the weakened condition of the mucous membrane of the nose a suitable place for the lodgment of noxious bacteria.

It has been estimated that eggs and poultry produced in the United States equal in value all the gold and silver mined throughout the world.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Buster Bear's Disappointment.

Be not too sure of anything
Lest it may disappointment bring.
Old Mother Nature

Great big Buster Bear sleeps all winter, as you know. Perhaps it seems a bit queer that such a great big animal should go to sleep for the winter when little Whitefoot the Woodmouse is out and about all winter. But if you stop to think a moment you will readily see that Whitefoot can find food any time of year. Even in the middle of winter, when the Green Forest is wrapped in snow and ice, there are seeds to be found, and then, too, there is food stored up by wise little Whitefoot.

But with Buster Bear it is very, very different. He cannot store up food to use through the winter, and when the snow and ice wrap the Green Forest there is no food for such a big fellow. So it is that Buster Bear and all his family sleep away the cold months.

Deeper and deeper into the Green Forest he shuffled.

Now Buster is seldom in a hurry to go to sleep. He thinks a great deal of his stomach, does Buster Bear. As long as there is anything to eat Buster postpones that winter nap of his. It is only when Jack Frost brings the snow and ice that Buster reluctantly goes to bed.

It was the night of the very day that Mrs. Bear and Cubby and his twin sister had gone to bed for the winter that Buster made up his mind that it was time for him to go to bed. It was late in the night, well on toward morning, that he made up his mind. He had been roaming about uneasily all night long, trying to find something to eat, and had had very little success.

"It's no use," grumbled Buster. "It is time for me to turn in and the sooner I do it the sooner I'll forget my stomach. I know just where I'm going to spend the winter. I've had my eye on that place for some time. In fact, way back last summer I decided that that place would make the best kind of a winter home. So I think I'll go over there now, get together some leaves for a bed and turn in for the winter."

Buster shuffled along through the Green Forest. Deeper and deeper into the Green Forest he shuffled. Finally he came to where a lot of trees had been blown over. Some of these trees had been broken off; some had been torn up by the roots. Straight over to one of the latter shuffled Buster. Where the roots had been torn out a great hole had been left and this had been partly covered over by other fallen trees. Buster was so intent on getting to his winter bedroom that he didn't pay attention to anything else. So it was with something of a shock that he sniffed the scent brought him by a wandering little Night Breeze and smelled—Bear!

Buster stopped short. He stretched out his nose and once more sniffed. There was the bear scent and it wasn't one bear that he smelled, but three. Worst of all, that scent came straight from the bedroom he had regarded as his own. Buster drew back his lips and snarled under his breath. For the first time he used those little eyes of his and he discovered three sets of footprints, one set of big ones and two sets of small ones. Those footprints led straight in to that hole under the big root.

Very cautiously Buster approached. At the entrance he paused. Suddenly a low warning growl came to him. Buster decided right then and there that that wasn't such a good place to spend the winter as he had thought it would be. Silently he turned and, without a sound, hurried away. He would use his old bedroom another winter.

CHILD TRAINING

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Pauline Herr Thomas.

Today Jeanne rushed into the house crying, "Mother, Ned and Dolly threw my ring toss game into a tree." And yesterday, "Mother, Billy ran over my new teapot with his scooter." Still another time "Mother, they've used up all my water colors and smashed the box."

"But, dear, why don't Billy and Ned and Dolly play with their own playthings?" I asked one day.

"Oh, they have no toys, Mother. They always smash them as soon as they get them," was the reply.

After a little investigation, I found that she was right. In fact, I saw the remains of some of them—a train of cars, a scooter, a doll-carriage and fragments quite unrecognizable scattered on the cellar floor when I had occasion to be there. I found, moreover that the cellar floor is the only place the mother has ever been willing to spare them for their toys; they have never known the tidying influence of a cupboard or shelves, nor the desire to keep them there, that a place all their own instills. What could be the advantage of caring for the scooter or the carriage at play only to have it lie on the floor afterwards at the mercy of brother and sister who kick it out of their way?

While Mother made apologies for the condition of the cellar floor, Billy came running in with the frame of a lampshade he had found.

"What's that you have now?" demanded his mother, "Don't bring anymore trash in here. Look at this floor!"

"Aw, Mother, I want to cover this shade to put in that house I made. Give me some stuff to cover it with please!"

"Well, I guess I'll not waste any good material on that old thing. What would it look like if you made it? It would look about as well as that house you've been tinkering at for weeks. Next time I look the house and lamp will be in pieces on this floor."

Of course, Billy hastened to fulfill Mother's bit of prophecy by kicking the house to pieces in his disgust.

Jeanne's complaints, as well as those of other neighbors' children, about the destruction done by Billy, Ned and Dolly are likely to continue. Such destructive habits are the natural outgrowth of the conditions in their home life—conditions which their mother has it in her power to alter.

A safe place all their own for their toys, a few words of encouragement when they attempt to make new ones—what pride she could awaken by providing these! Enough, indeed, to lessen the destruction of their own things and effectually to awaken a new regard for the property of others.

Stories That Recall Others

Consolation Under the Moon.

When the lights were out the other evening three tots, pajama-clad, were left huddled in a corner of the bathroom screaming with fright and scaring each other worse every second.

Mother rushed to their assistance and threw up the window shade to let in the moonlight. Kathryn, the youngest, age three, recovered quickly, and through the tears smilingly exclaimed:

"They can't turn the moon off, can they? God won't let them!"

Already Scalped.

Bobby had a new Indian suit and was begging to go ask Tom to come play with him. But Bobby's father said that it was too near bedtime. "I'll play Indian with you, though," said the father.

"Aw, I can't play Indian with you. You have been scalped already," replied disgusted Bobby.

Children of Pre-school Age Need Vitamins

The child of pre-school age needs special nourishment to build a strong body in preparation for the strenuous days of instruction that are ahead.

Many mothers have been gratified at seeing their frail, undernourished children become vigorous and strong through the consistent, regular use of emulsified cod-liver oil.

The millions of easily-digested, vitamin-rich, mist-like globules of emulsified cod-liver oil that are in every bottle of Scott's Emulsion, are the source of its great power to nourish the body and build health.

If you would assure your child the utmost vitamin-benefit from cod-liver oil—give it in its emulsified form, as in

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Under date of November 4, Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody of the Knights of Columbus has received the following communication from Bowman Elder, National Chairman, France Convention Committee, American Legion:

"The ninth annual convention of the American Legion—the Second A. E. F.—held in Paris, France, September, 1927, has passed into history as the most successful convention ever held by the Legion. And this success is due, in great measure, to the splendid co-operation of the Knights of Columbus in the operation of a Knights of Columbus hut similar to those conducted by your organization during the World war. On every side, we received expressions of commendation for the wonderful service rendered so efficiently under the able direction of Commissioner Edward L. Hearn and his assistant, Mr. Fred Milan.

"Every Legionnaire has a warm spot in his heart for the Knights of Columbus and this feeling has grown larger and brighter since visiting your hut in the convention barracks at Cours de la Reine, Paris.

"With deepest appreciation of the France Convention Committee of the American Legion for your splendid assistance and every good wish for the continued and growing success of the Knights of Columbus, we are most sincerely yours, (Signed) Bowman Elder."

Spontaneous Combustion Fire.

A quantity of material stored in a shed in the rear of 435 Boswell avenue was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon. A call at 4:10 o'clock was sent to the fire department, Squad A, Engine 2 and deputy chief responding. Two lines of hose were laid to extinguish the blaze, which was caused by spontaneous combustion among the articles stored near the roof. The shed and house at 435 Boskell avenue are owned by the estate of Eugene Keenan and the house is occupied by Mrs. Margaret Keenan.

HI-Y CLUB ENTERTAINED ACADEMY FOOTBALL SQUAD

One of the finest affairs ever arranged by the local Hi-Y club, took place at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening, when about 60 guests and members sat down to a splendid supper. The members of the Academy football squad were the guests. President William Tirrell presided and called upon General Secretary Edwin Hill to return thanks.

During the supper several popular songs were sung, assisted by the club orchestra. Special music was also furnished by the orchestra under the leadership of Henry Ladd.

Following the supper, President Tirrell called upon retiring Capt. Marks for a few words who responded with a fine short talk. Captain-elect LaCroix was also called upon for a few words.

Next Head Coach Whitney was called upon and expressed his pleasure and appreciation to the squad for the on through the season. Coach Whitney splendid manner in which they carried- also pointed out to the fellows the many steps of orpgress made by the squad as week after week passed. Just as the players learned to work and think together o nthe gridiron, just so will they learn to carry-on in the world after school days. The same principles will obtain throughout life.

Mr. Moberg, the Academy physical director next addressed the gathering and brought several good thoughts and ideas to their attention. Everyone expressed the hope that many such gatherings as these will take place in the future. The Hi-Y club is interested in the furthering of the best interests of the school and students and is endeavoring to promote activities that will help all to better prepare themselves for life's problems. President Tirrell announced that shortly after mid-years the clu bwould conduct a Further Education day at the Academy. At this time the field secretaries of the leading colleges in the east will be here and be ready to acquaint any student with the facilities and requirements of their respective college. This may possibly help some students to determine what course they will follow in their further education. Now is the time to consider the requirements of different courses.

The funeral of Louis J. Conrad was held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his home in Hallville with a very large attendance of relatives and friends. There was a wealth of very beautiful floral tributes. The service was conducted by Rev. Thomas H. M. Ockford and burial took place in Avery cemetery. The bearers were Charles, William, Fred, Harry Louis and Otto Conrad. Undertakers Church and Allen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Henry Avery

The funeral of Mrs. Harry Avery of Newburgh, N. Y., was held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Addison Avery, No. 36 Hamilton avenue, a number of relatives and friends attending. The service was conducted by Rev. Joseph Cobb of South Windham. The floral forms were many and beautiful. Burial was in the family plot in Yantic cemetery, where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Cobb. The bearers were J. P. Ebbets, C. Avery, J. W. Shirley and Alfred Nutt. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Cummings and Ring.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Miss Amanda Fisher of Williams street has been a guest at the home of Fred Tillinghast, in Central Village.

Mrs. John L. Leonard of Willimantic came to Norwich Friday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Coit Johnson.

Following a brief visit with Mrs. Archibald Mitchell 4th, of Broad street, Mrs. J. P. Newton has returned to Saybrook.

Mrs. Frederic W. Cary arrived on Thursday from the home of her daughter in Winchester, Mass., and will spend the winter at 170 Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trumbull Camp of Norwich Town will entertain the Saturday supper-bridge club, numbering twenty, at its first meeting of the season tonight.

Mrs. W. Tyler Browne was hostess to the Delphian chapter Thursday afternoon, when the subject was English Fiction of the Eighteenth Century. Mrs. Brown opened the meeting with an interesting talk on several of the authors of fiction in that century, after which portions of different stories of that period were read. Excerpts from Daniel DeFoe's Robinson Crusoe, from Pamela, Tom Jones and Tristam Shandy were read, by Mrs. James A. Bidwell, Mrs. Charles W. Prentice, Mrs. Edwin W. Higgins and Mrs. George A. Ashbey.

31st Year as Pastor at Greeneville

With December, Rev. Charles H. Ricketts begins his 31st year as pastor of Greeneville Congregational church.

FRANK HERBERT PULLEN

DEATH COMES TO FRANK H. PULLEN, VETERAN NORWICH PUBLISHER

Following a prolonged period of declining health, the death of Frank Herbert Pullen occurred Friday evening about 9 o'clock at his home, No. 52 Lincoln avenue, bringing to the community the loss of one who had been one of its best known and most highly esteemed citizens for the last 39 years, while he had been engaged in the newspaper business here.

Mr. Pullen was born in Lowell, Mass., Oct. 4, 1858, the elder son of Weston and Mary E. (Barnes) Pullen, of ancestry that traced back on the paternal side to Rehoboth, Mass., about 1690. His father, who was a native of Maine, died in Lowell at the age of 27, but his mother continued her residence there till her death in 1906 at the age of 66 years.

Mr. Pullen's education was received in the schools of Boston, Lowell and other places and he graduated in 1877 at the Lowell high school, where he received a Carney medal for "excellence of character and scholarship." In 1873, he entered the employ of Marden and Rowell, publishers of the Lowell Daily Courier and Lowell Weekly Journal, as an office boy, continuing with that firm, latterly as business manager, for 15 years, except for seven months in 1883-1884, spent in the office of A. S. Gage & Co., a wholesale millinery house in Chicago, Ill.

His connection with Norwich began in October, 1888, when he formed a partnership with Allan Cleworth, under the firm name of Cleworth & Pullen. Mr. Cleworth had been connected for twenty years with the Lowell Courier and the new partnership purchased Cooley's Weekly which had been founded in Norwich by John H. Cooley. Two years later, in May, the firm purchased the Norwich Evening Record, which as a democratic organ, had been under three or four different ownerships during its then two years of existence. Mr. Cleworth and Mr. Pullen at once made it an independent newspaper and continued its publication in connection with Cooley's Weekly, which thereafter became the weekly edition of the Record. The job printing business also connected with the firm was materially enlarged. In March, 1893, the office was removed from the Spier building, 151 Main street, to larger quarters in the Osgood building, 101 and 103 Broadway, opposite the city hall.

In January 1906, before Mr. Cleworth's death, which occurred Feb. 27 of that year, Mr. Pullen bought out his partner's interest in the business, which he thereafter conducted alone under the old firm name of Cleworth & Pullen until Jan. 1, 1910, when the business name was changed to the Pullen Publishing company, he continuing as sole owner and manager. The newspaper plant was enlarged and modernized after he personally assumed the business, and in September, 1922, the office was moved to new and larger quarters in the Ring building, 11-17 Chestnut street, at Union square. Here the business was continued successfully by Mr. Pullen until Nov. 1 of this year when he disposed of the business to The Bulletin company, which is continuing the publication of the Record and Cooley's Weekly.

On April 22, 1885, Mr. Pullen was married in Lowell by Rev. Owen Street, D.D., pastor of the High Street Congregational church, to Miss Annis Louise Carpenter, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benedict O. Carpenter, of Lowell, both then deceased. This union was blessed with six children—Elizabeth Frances and Weston Carpenter, born in Lowell, and Benedict Carpenter, Marion Louise, Grace Allen (who died April 22, 1898, in her third year), and Esther, the latter four born in Norwich.

Mr. Pullen was a member of the Norwich Board of Trade from 1889 to its dissolution. At the time of his death he was a member of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce, the Norwich Rotary club and a director of the Dime Savings bank. At one time, for some years, he was a member of the Arcanum club. In youth he was an enthusiastic canoeist and member of the Vesper Boat club of Lowell, the Chicago Canoe club (which he helped to organize) and The American Canoe association. Always fond of camping and outdoor life, he had also been interested in amateur photography off and on since 1882, when this recreation first became popular and before the invention of the kodak.

In national politics, Mr. Pullen was always a republican, but he was a firm believer in non-partisan municipal government and a strong advocate of divorcing politics from all city business. By reason of his newspaper connections from boyhood, he was sufficiently familiar with "inside" political methods to have no desire to "play the game" himself and he never held public office, except as a member of the Falls school district for seven years, four years of this time as its president, previous to consolidation of the Norwich school. He was also appointed a member of the city charter revision committee in 1910 to 1911.

Mr. Pullen was a member of Park Congregational church. He believed thoroughly in the Golden Rule, which he mostly tried to follow, remembering always that "He who loves best his fellowman is loving God the very best he can." Among those who had the privilege of his intimate acquaintance, he was revealed as a rare friend, large hearted, sympathetic and helpful, and of a genial personality that made his friendship a treasured possession. He was devoted to his family and his home life where his qualities of heart and mind were best expressed and in his association with civic affairs he contributed the best elements that constitute a citizen of the finest type.

Besides his wife, he is survived by five children—Miss Elizabeth F., Weston C., and Benedict C., all of this city; Mrs. Clifford M. Story, of Hackensack, N. J., and Mrs. C. Werter Van Deusen, of Hudson, N. Y. He also leaves twelve grandchildren.

TWO BOUND OVER FOR SUPERIOR COURT TRIAL

As a result of a confession made to the police by Veronica Chilinski, 18, of New Haven, James Lupinacci, 21, of No. 72 Roath street, was bound over Friday to the superior court on a charge of using her for gain. Lupinacci was presented in the city court Friday morning and in binding him over, Judge H. H. Pettis held him under bonds of $4,000. Fiore Longolucco, 19, of Westerly, charged with aiding Lupinacci, was also bound over and his bond was set at $2,500. The case against the girl was continued until Saturday morning on a bond of $1,000. Both men, who were arrested early Friday morning at Roath street, entered pleas of not guilty. They were defended by Attorney Thomas J. Kelley and Public Defender Charles L. Stewart. None of them were able to obtain bonds.

Sergt. Matthew Delaney testified that he had been instructed by Capt. Thomas P. Murphy to arrest the men. He was assisted by Officer Clifford Crary. Longolucco, after his arrest, confessed, it is said, that Lupinacci was conducting a house in North Stonington and that he, Longolucco, had been engaged to keep the girl company and to sell liquor. He saw the girl there.

During her testimony, the girl stated that she first came to Norwich at the time of the New London county fair, with a company from New Haven. She met several young men at that time. After staying here five days she returned to New Haven and then again returned to Norwich for a short stay.

A man named Mazone called for her at New Haven, October 21, and asked her to come away with him. After an argument with her father, during which she told him she was going to commit suicide, her father told her to go ahead. She left with Mazone and came to Norwich. She met Lupinacci here and went with him and Mazone to Providence to look for other girls.

After the Providence trip, she and Lupinacci engaged a farm in North Stonington from a Mr. Partlow. Lupinacci stationed her in the house and brought Longolucco from Westerly to keep her company. Lupinacci, who is married, gave her his marriage certificate to show in case of trouble that he and Longolucco were man and wife. She claimed that she turned about $350 in cash over to Lupinacci. On several occasions Lupinacci searched her to see if she was holding out any of the money received. Neither of the accused men offered any testimony.

MAKES LANTERN DO DUTY ON AUTOMOBILE

For several days a strict watch has been maintained by members of the state police department on automobiles, whose operators have been driving them about the state without proper equipment such as no taillamp, no windshield wiper, one head lamp, etc. A great number of these operators have been stopped and arrested by the state police, brought before city courts and received fines of $3 and costs and higher, depending upon the seriousness of the case.

One operator who evidently had reasons to be on the street on an evening saw that one of his headlights was not percolating properly and realizing that he might be arrested for driving his automobile with one headlamp dug up the old family lantern and with a length of cord tied the oil burner to the headlight with the "dead" lamp. This procedure was obviously done before the operator left home, no doubt, for the car was seen parked on a city street with the lantern doing "its stuff."

The peculiarity of the story lies in the fact that the operator had parked his "limousine" in front of an electrical shop, where an unlimited number of bulbs could be secured to replace the old lamp, and thus erase the unsightly figure of a lantern.

SCHWARTZ MISSING WHEN WANTED IN COURT

The hearing on the allowance of a claim of Emanuel Fine, a travelling salesman of 200 Fifth avenue, New York, against the P. Schwartz Co., of New London, now in the hands of Receiver P. LeRoy Harwood, took an unexpected turn at the short calendar session of the superior court here Friday morning, when Attorney Arthur T. Keefe, counsel for Fine asked Attorney Morris Lubchansky why Joseph Schwartz, secretary of the company, was not in court and the latter attorney answered that he didn't know where he was.

It was brought out in court that the secretary had disappeared, whereupon Attorney Keefe said:

"It seems to me that there will be subsequent action by the state's attorney."

Fine claimed that he held a note signed by Joseph Schwartz for $2,250 dated Dec. 16, 1926. Attorney Lubchansky claimed that Fine was not a bona-fide holder of the note and when asked to state his defense and why he was cross-examining Fine, Mr. Lubchansky explained that a series of notes had been issued contrary to the wishes of the company and that this particular note, along with others had been given to a broker in New York, who later absconded with the money and that neither Joseph Schwartz nor Paty Schwartz received any money from the notes. The lawyer claimed that Fine did not pay adequate consideration for the note.

Fine testified that he obtained the note from the Good Will Tailoring Co., Inc., of New York, of which I. I. Rosenthall was proprietor, and that he thought it was for either $1,850 or $2,150. He claimed that before buying the note he wrote to Paty Schwartz about it and that he was informed that the note was good and covered by adequate securities.

Attorney Lubchansky said that Joseph Schwartz, whom he termed a "poor business man" went to New York in 1926 with a series of blank notes, signed but with no amounts written in. The attorney said that he fell into "the hands of trappers."

Attorney Lubchansky stated that he wanted to see the note that Fine held and which was not in court and Judge John R. Booth took the papers and reserved decision on the motion. A motion for hearing on allowance of a claim of The Philadelphia Finance Co. was continued.

Special Music At Spiritual Academy.

The regular Sunday evening service at the Spiritual Academy, Park street, will be augmented with special music rendered by a trio, consisting of Mrs. Josephine Stewart, first soprano, Mrs. Mina Bailey, second soprano, and Mrs. Charles Schwenk, alto, who will render a special program. Mrs. Josephine Stewart, a delightful singer who has been serving the First Spiritual Union as soloist for some time, will be heard in special solo numbers.

Rev. Lucy Booth Moran, the gifted psychic and lecturer will officate at both services.

MARY LEWIS APPEARS IN ACADEMY MUSICAL COURSE

The Slater hall musical course under the auspices of the Norwich Free Academy opened most auspiciously Friday evening with the appearance of Mary Lewis, Metropolitan opera prima donna, who captivated the audience of over 700 that filled Slater hall to its capacity.

Her beautiful soprano voice, of crystal clearness, perfect in enunciation and handled with exquisite artistry, was heard in a well chosen program in which every number was a delight to the audience of music lovers, and she was recalled many times to acknowledge the insistent applause. Miss Lewis, whose charm of manner was not lost upon her audience, generously responded with several encore numbers, including Song of India, Annie Laurie and Carry Me Back to Old Virginny. She received a large bouquet of pink roses and did a gracious thing on her encore responses when she turned from the audience in front of her and sang to the members of the Academy musical clubs who were seated upon the stage behind her. The floral decorations for the stage were by Otto F. Ernst.

The programme was given as follows:

Pur Dicesti, O Bocco Bella, Lotti (1700); Chi vuol la Zingarella, Paisiello (1741-1816); "Alleluja" from The Motet, Exsultate, Mozart.

The Nightingales of Lincoln's Inn, Oliver; A Roundelay, Lidgey; La Colomba, (Tuscan Folk Song) arr. by Schindler; Kerry dance, Molloy.

Aria: Waltz from Romeo et Juliette, Gounod.

Hat dich die Liebe Beruhrt, Marx; Der Bescheidene Schafer, Marx; Wiegenlied, Brahms; Les Filles de Cadix, Delibes.

Symphony in Yellow, Griffes; The House that Jack Built, Homer; The Second Minuet, Besly.

La Danza (Tarantella Napoletana), Rossini.

Elimer Zoller at the piano provided admirable accompaniments for the singer.

WESLEYAN GUILD SALE HAS LARGE PATRONAGE

Wesleyan guild of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church opened a Christmas sale at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the social room at the church where attractively decorated booths and tables offered an inviting variety of articles for the patronage of the large number attending. In the evening at 6.15, a chicken pie supper was served. The sale will be continued this (Saturday) afternoon and tea will be served.

Those in charge of the different tables were the following: candy, Mrs. Albert Boardman; food, Mrs. J. C. Hinrichs; handkerchiefs, Mrs. Tyler D. Guy; aprons, Mrs. Charles Browning; dolls, Mrs. W. R. Denison; fancy articles, Mrs. Ernest M. Newbury; canned fruit, Mrs. Robert McNeely. The decorations were in charge of Mrs. Denison. Mrs. J. Harlow Graham was in charge of the tea room and Mrs. Waters conducted the novel 100 pocket grab bag.

The supper was under the direction of Mrs. Phillips, with the assistance of Miss Amy Burlingame, Mrs. Colberg, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Ives and Mrs. Hawkins. Mrs. E. J. Jones was in charge of the tables and girls of the Sunday school were the waitresses.

NAVY QUOTA OF FOUR FOR NORWICH THIS MONTH

For the month of December the navy department has assigned a quota of 45 first enlistments for the state of Connecticut. Each one of the eight sub-stations in the state is assigned a quota, this being four for Norwich. The quota assignments apply to first enlistments only.

Due to a recent order from the navy department relieving all men from duty on the Asiatic station who have served three and a half years, men re-enlisting may be assigned for duty by application to the bureau of navigation and will be sent direct to the receiving ship at San Francisco for further transfer on first available transport.

MADE TRIP THROUGH NEW YORK'S NEW TUNNEL

Samuel T. Cooper, formerly of Plainfield, who is now living with his daughter, Mrs. Charles Newton, in New London, made a trip by auto to Arlington, N. J., to spend Thanksgiving.

He was much impressed by the Bear Mountain bridge and the Storm King highway, but more so by his trip through the new vehicular tunnel when he went to New York to be fitted for a new artificial limb.

The tunnel is about 8,000 feet long, took about eight years to build, and cost $45,000,000. It employs 700 policemen and has its own fire department and a wrecker. The cost for touring cars to pass through is 50 cents and the speed limit 30 miles per hour.

LEGION POST COMMANDER WARNS EX-SERVICE MEN

Commander Charles Coit of the Robert O. Fletcher post No. 4, American Legion issued Friday the following message which is of great importance to all ex-service men: "New Year's day, 1928, may prove to be anything but a day of joy and celebration to more than half a million veterans of the World war. On that day January 1st, 1928, the period will have expired in which veterans of the war could have filed their applications

MANY QUICK KNOCKOUTS FEATURE PASTIME A. C. AMATEUR CARNIVAL

That slugging little personage, Boots Lary, local featherweight, went down before Young Springol of the Coast Guard, his senior in both weight and experience, in the feature bout on the Pastime A. C. amateur card Friday evening at Olympic hall, but his flying fists and aggressive style gave the large crowd plenty of chance to cheer and get wildly excited. This lad, as popular a mitt-slinger as the Rose of New England can boast, made a gallant stand against his stronger foe and forced him to an extra round before succumbing. There were some, it is true, who thought that Lary was beaten in three rounds but the margin seemed so slight that the extra round was ordered.

In it Boots went down from a hard right for a three-count and although he vainly strove to even matters the skilful Singol held him off and copped the decision.

The remainder of the bouts, however, lacked little of spine-chillers for there were five knockouts of the sensational variety.

Opening the show Young Lizzio of Westerly scored a genuine K. O. over Young Latzo of Norwich in the second round. Both boys tore at it from the opening gong with the first round practically even. However, soon after the bell in the second the Rhode Island boy began to show his superiority and about half way through the stanza had Latzo on the floor from a succession of short lefts and rights.

Young Roubillard of Danielson, a rough and ready customer, had a bit too much experience for Joe Brown of Westerly, and Jackie Wilson stopped the affair in the second round to save the Granite City lad from further punishment.

Young Wakely of Danielson won a decision that did not go well with the crowd over Young Esposito of Westerly in the next bout and over the regulation distance. However, it seemed that Wakely deserved his victory for the Westerly lad was more inclined to hold on. Both boys had tough moments during the three lively tantos.

Ted Grenier of Danielson came out in his usual slugging, weaving style and seemed to have Frankie Adams of Norwich well on the way to dreamland. However, after a couple of minutes of this Adams steadied himself and then proceeded to hold his own and a little more for the rest of the fray. This decision also did not go well with a few of the spectators although Adams had many supporters in the assemblage.

Young Burrows of New London lost a decision to Joe Goellett of Putnam. This bout followed the Boots Lary-Springol tussel. Goelett took a close one after three slugging rounds.

Johnny Evans, a Norwich product and a newcomer made his debut a success although it was probably not by the way he wished to win. The lanky colored youth had Young Garland of the Coast Guard beaten until the local boy ran into one of the New London boy's hooks and on reaching the floor Garland let loose another blow that knocked Evans flat. The bout was stopped and Evans was dragged to his corner.

Al Koziol of Norwich, came into the ring last night under entirely differnet conditions—a deafening roar of cheers as against the boos and jeers on his previous appearance—and he went out, a few minutes later with a knock-out victory over Eddie Hawk of Westerly. It happened in the first round. Koziol swarmed all over his opponent from the start and although Hawk managed to pull himself together a bit nevertheless the Barney Keenan protege was not to be denied and soon had his desired win.

The final bout found Jimmy Quinn, a local boy, getting a technical knockout over Pete Lewis of Westerly in two rounds. Quinn boxed circles about his man all the way before he finally decided to cut loose. The bout was then stopped as Lewis was on the receiving end altogether too much.

Mark Dunn of Middletown, a member of the Conn. Association of the A. A. U. registration board was present at the ringside.

Jackie Wilson and Danny Doyle alternated in the refereeing and Tony Murano and Jack Callahan likewise divided the announcing.

Mike Kelly and Jack Sweeney were the judges with Jack Carney as timekeeper.

Joe Hastedt stated Friday evening that he wished to correct the impression that he was financially connected with the Pastime A. C.

The next show, it was announced, will be held by the Pastime A. C. in two weeks.

Among those introduced from the ringside was Gene Peechent, local boxer.

DICK RUDOLPH GIVEN HIS UNCONDITIONAL RELEASE

BOSTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)— Dick Rudolph, coach of pitchers for the Boston Braves, and sole survivor on the club roster of the "the miracle team" that won the world championship in 1914 was given his unconditional release today. In announcing the fact, Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves said he felt keen regret that Rudolph was leaving the club. The coach, he said, had tendered his resignation several weeks ago, but it had not been accepted until today.

Rudolph has been with the Braves fifteen seasons as pitcher and coach. He was a star on the Fordham team during his college days and later played for seven years with the Toronto club of the old Eastern league. In 1913 he was brought to Boston by George Stallings, then manager of the Braves. He was a star of the pitching staff for many years, and after he withdrew from active service on the mound his experience was called upon for the training of young pitchers. He pitched an occasional game in recent seasons, and last summer figured on the mound for half of a game.

The retirement of Rudolph was taken as indicating that Jack Slattery, new manager of the Braves, was selecting his own assistants. Phil Troy, road manager of the Braves resigned on Thursday.

WESTERN COACHES OPPOSE CHANGES IN GRID CODE

CHICAGO, Dec. 2. —(AP)— Football coaches of the Western Conference went on record today as opposing any tampering with the gridiron code for 1928.

If the National rules committee decides on any changes, however, the Big Ten gridiron mentors desire that any new rules be held in obeyance for one year before going into effect, to give the coaches an opportunity to fit the regulations into their training and style of play. The rules of 1927 were found to be generally satisfactory, but some clarification was requested.

The coaches organized the Western Conference football coaches association, electing Jimmy Phelan of Purdue as president and Glenn Thistlethwaite of Wisconsin as secretary.

Considerable discussion of proposals to eliminate the try for point after touchdown brought forth no formal action.

The coaches asked the National committee to clarify the rules on the backward or lateral pass, and particularly to make more specific the rule on loose balls in the end zone and out of bounds. Any new regulation which would increase the number of fouls would be looked upon with disfavor, the coaches decided.

TUNNEY TELLS OF MENTAL COMPLEXES OF A CHAMPION

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Gene Tunney, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, tonight told the audiences of WEAF and 29 associated radio stations what a pugilist thinks about on the eve of a battle of the century.

"A man with imagination," the champion said," is usually nervous at so important an event as a championship match, for he will permit his imagination to travel and dwell on what is apt to happen and its results."

Tunney who declared that there are "temperamental imaginative, dull and phlegmatic varieties of boxers, classified himself among the more sensitive sort. The unimaginative type rarely reaches the top in boxing, he asserted. Telling how he steeled himself for the fight with Dempsey in Philadelphia where he won the title, the champion said:

"I knew that I was just as physically fit, had a knowledge of the game accumulated over seven years of actual experience, knew that my resistance was as good as any man's, knew that my recuperative powers must be as good as any man's, and knew that there are no super-men.

"So that in spite of what the consensus of opinion was, I was not going to permit anything to rob my consciousness of this knowledge. I kept this knowledge before my consciousness all the time, and therefore, entered the ring with a mental advantage. This advantage helps considerably more than many people realize."

The champion said that "there is no denying that the three or four hours before a championship contest are anything but pleasant to either of the contestants" despite the fact that pugilists as a rule do not fear personal injury or pain. He attributed the tension largely to the excitement of the city in which the big bout is to be held.

"BUCK" LA CROIX CHOSEN ACADEMY GRID LEADER

Aimee (Buck) LaCroix was elected captain of the 1928 Academy football team at a meeting of the lettermen held Friday evening.

LaCroix was regular end the past season and substitute wingman in 1926 when he also won a letter.

He has played consistently well this year and this fact earned him a berth on the second All-Big Six team. He was third in point scoring for the Red and White.

LaCroix has been a prominent figure in the Academy athletic world to date in his stay at the Academy. He was a member of the track team his first year at N. F. A. following which he switched to other sports. During the last school year he was a member of the football, basketball and baseball teams, earning a letter in the first two sports while he was also rated highly on the diamond, being understudy to Ray Yerrington at third base. He is figured as a strong contender for the dizzy corner post this year for the state champions.

In basketball he is also counted upon strongly. He played a strong game at guard for the Red and White on the court last year.

LaCroix is an uppermiddler and his fraternity is Phi Alpha Mu Sigma.

An unique feature of this year's election found only 14 voting, Tommy Vitliano and Chet Berghinzo being the only subs eligible.

The following receive letters for their work in football: Capt. John Marks Capt.-elect Aimee LaCroix, Harry McGlone, Fred Fox, Walter Mish, Sherrod Ingalls, John Greene, John Kahn, W. Shea, Thomas Vitliano, James Kelly, Chester Berghinzo James Mullins and William Tirrell. This was the first letter for Ingalls, Shea, Berghinzo, Mullins and Mish. Of the above Ingalls, Greene, Kahn, Shea, Vitliano, Kelly and Tirrell with the manager are slated to graduate in June.

PENN DECLARES BURGHLEY WAS WINNER OF 400 METRE RACE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2.—(AP)—University of Pennsylvania athletic authorities today confirmed a report that John Gibson Fordham university track star who defeated Lord Burghley in the 400 meters hurdle race at the relay carnival here last April, was ineligible to compete in the meet and that the British Nobleman had been recognized as the winner of the event. The Englishman was second in crossing the finishing line.

A report that Gibson had been requested to return the watch awarded him as the winner of the race was denied by H. Jamison Swarts, manager of the University of Pennsylvania relay races.

The Fordham athletic authorities were notified six weeks ago of Pennsylvania's position in the matter and the incident is closed said Mr. Swarts, today.

Mr. Swarts said the question of Gibson's eligibility was considered by a committee of the Intercollegiate association of amateur athletes of America in New York on October 16. On October 20, Mr. Swarts received a letter from the committee stating that Fordham had admitted Gibson's ineligibility to compete in the relays or any meet under the rules of the I. C. A. A. A. A., because he was a night student and not studying for a degree. The letter also stated that Fordham athletic authorities said that the entry of Gibson had been sent in under a misapprehension.

It was said that Gibson's eligibility came up the day of the race and that his lordship insisted on Gibson running as he did not wish to have a man barred who studied at night and worked in the day time. Mr. Swarts said he did not know whether this incident occurred.

PEGGY TAYLOR WINS OVER FIELD OF 2 YR. OLDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Peggy Taylor triumphed over a smart field of two year olds today in romping away with the fourth race at Jefferson Park, a $1,000 claiming stake over the six furlong route. Col. Campus trailed by three lengths to take the place while Miss Hogan finished third. The time was 1:17.

Rhubarb took the Lahonda, feature race at Tijuana, a five furlongs gallop for two year olds and up. Somers Gale was second in front of Glint O'Gold. The time was 1:02 1-5.

Season Tickets For Winter Sports

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Yale undergraduates interested in all winter sports are being offered season tickets at a substantial saving, by the athletic association. One ticket will admit the student to all home hockey games and the other to all other winter sports. They will go on sale in pairs on Monday.

DANIELSON TOWN TEAM WINS CLOSE GAME FROM COMPANY C

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Dec. 2.—Danielson Town team won a close basketball tilt from the Company C five of Willimantic here tonight 36 to 30 the local quintet forging to the front the waning minutes of the last period. The game which was played under amateur rules which is more or less of a handicap to local team who are in the habit of playing under the professional rules. With little advantage being shown by either team the score remained even practically throughout the game, one team taking a lead of a basket only to have the other tie the count. With les sthan four minutes to play and the count standing at 30-all, the Danielson team dropped in three baskets in rapid succession to bring the score to 36 to 30 where it stood as the whistle terminated the game. The summary:

Willimantic	G.	F.	Pts.
Haggerty, rf	5	0	10
Pickett, rf	1	0	2
Henderson, lf	1	1	3
Dayton, lf	1	1	3

GREENE IS HIGH SCORER OF ACADEMY TEAM

Johnny Greene, veteran end who was a first team choice on the All-Big Six eleven, led the Academy scorers during the season just closed. With four touchdowns for 20 points he beat out Jim Kelly halfback by four points.

The Academy was the leading point getter of the "Big Six" for 1927, with 82 points.

Here are the records of the seven boys who scored the Red and White's points:

	T.	Pts.	A.	T.
Greene, e	4	0	24
Kelly, hb	3	2	20
LaCroix, e	2	1	13
McGlone, hb	2	0	12
Tirrell, qb	1	0	6
Marks, fb	1	0	6
Vitliano, hb	0	1	1
	13	4	82

One point after touchdown awarded, opponent offside. Kelly kicking.

The story of the Academy stellar forward passing system could not be related in more eloquent fashion than by the above figures. The two ends, Greene and LaCroix accounted for 37 points on passes, nearly half the team total.

Ten of the thirteen touchdowns have come via the forward pass route while one of the extra points was also of that variety. Therefore, 61 of the 82 points were scored through the air, Harry McGlone's clever tossing and the receiving by Greene, LaCroix, Tirrell and Kelly played a large part in the success of the Academy's aerial game.

GITLITZ DISQUALIFIED FOR USING THE "RABBIT PUNCH"

NEW BRITAIN, Dec. 2—(AP)—Murray Gitlitz, of New Haven, was disqualified in the third round of his 8-round bout with Nando Tassi, also of New Haven, here tonight for using the "rabbit punch." Referee Thomas "Jigger" McCarthy declared that he had warned Gitlitz against using the punch in the first and again in the second round.

The other bouts on the professional card:

Bat Battalino, Hartford, and Billy Griffin, Newark, N.J., draw, 128.

Frank Portelle, Hartford, decision over Frank Angelo, Hartford, 145.

Sammy Cooper, New Haven, technical knockout, fourth round, Henry Fasoro, New York, 148.

Buster Nadeau, Holyoke and Joe Triano, New Haven, draw, 115.

BELGIAN CHAMPION ON WAY TO AMERICA

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A rival of Jack Dempsey within the former heavyweight champion's own "family" circle appeared today with the announcement that Pierre Charles, heavyweight champion of Belgium, had sailed for New York from Antwerp. Charles will enter an intensive campaign for Gene Tunney's laurels under the tutelage of Gus Wilson, former trainer of Georges Carpentier, and now Dempsey's trainer, secretary, and confidant.

Charles, a 204-pound husky six-feet three inches in height defeated Jack Humbrek, now campaigning in America, in a 15-round match for the Belgian title a year ago. He fought a draw with Humbeck shortly before the latter came to the United States.

BATTALINO AND CHAMPLAIN TO FIGHT FOR STATE TITLE

WALLINGFORD, Dec. 2—(AP)—Vincent Reina, matchmaker at the Stanley arena, in New Britain today announced that he will match Art De Champlain with Bat Battalino, Hartford's sensational battler, if present plans mature, in a bout for the state featherweight championship title in the hardware city.

De Champlain, by virtue of his knockout of Joe Curry, Gotham boxer who held Battalino to a draw believes he has earned the right to meet the Hartford fighter. Anthony Paolillo, matchmaker of the New Haven arena, had planned to match Battalino and De Champlain, but some competion for the bout now looms up.

INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE IS STILL UNCOMPLETE

The meeting of representatives for the purpose of forming an Industrial basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening failed to bring out all teams. Little definite business was transacted.

It will be necessary for all representatives to report if the various preliminaries are to be completed for the scheduled opening on Saturday, Dec. 17.

CANZONERI TO MEET TAYLOR ON DEC. 30TH

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, former bantamweight contender who gained a 10-round decision over Ignazio Fernandez of Manila here last night, today became a featherweight contender with the announcement that he had been matched for a 15 round bout with Bud Taylor at Madison Square Garden on December 30. The winner will meet Benny Bass for the title early next year.

Mandell Offered $50,000

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2—(AP)—Joe Zemansky, heading a group of Tijuana sportsmen, announced today he was ready to offer Sammy Mandell, lightweight boxing champion, a guarantee of $50,000 to meet Baby Joe Gans, Negro, in a 15-round match in the Mexican resort on Feb. 22. The match would be held in a pavilion seating more than 20,000.

"Y" EMPS OPEN SEASON THIS EVENING

Norwich gets its first taste of basketball of the 1927-28 season tonight at the Y gym when the Y. Emps tackle the Emps from the Willimantic Y. M. C. A. The local boys are stepping out for bigger things this year after several seasons of campaigning among the smaller fry.

Coach Leslie Conklin has been working his squad for nearly a month and the boys seem ready for the invasion from what is reported as a strong Thread City squad. Both teams have been playing for many years and it did not require much time to get the passwork and shooting eye sback where activities stopped last spring.

In Tiger and Schwartsburg the Emps have as neat a working pair of youngsters as will be found in these parts. These boys have been teammates almost since they knew how to toss a basketball and this year their admirers expect great doings from them. Schwartsburg was elected captain of the squad at a recent meeting. However they will also have a strong supporting cast including a few newcomers.

The Emps made a nice showing last year, at the end of which they put in a claim for the eastern Connecticut title in their class. This year they expect to firmly establish their claim and in doing so they will have to meet only the best in this neck of the woods. Tonight's game is expected to be the first in this system of doing things.

The game starts at 8 o'clock and preparations have been made to handle a large crowd to welcome the court game to the city for the 1927-28 season.

GEORGIA AND TECH CLASH FOR TITLE TODAY

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Two contenders for Dixie football supremacy—Georgia and Geirgia Tech—having survived three months of campaigning on many fields, have girded themselves for battle tomorrow that will end the Southern Conference title hopes of one.

And on top of all title matters is the traditional Georgia-Georgia Tech athletic rivalry that in the past rose so high that athletic relations between the two institutions were severed for several years.

Coach George Woodruff, of the Georgia Bulldogs, has completed their training in coordinating line smashes, their overhead attack has been brought to what coaches believe is near enough perfection to ride the Golden Tornado to victory, and their defense has been drilled consistently against Georgia Tech formations.

To meet this, Coach Bill Alexander has been drilling his team for defense against lateral passing, skirting runs and line smashes by Herdis McCrary, Bulldog fullback.

Odds were reported along Peachtree street to be falling rapidly with the heavy field and persistent rain expected to slow Georgia's offensive. The bulldogs, however, were at last an eight to five favorite yet.

Howe Elected Tiger Leader

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Charles H. Howe, of Beaver Falls, La., was elected captain of the Princeton football team, it was announced today. Howe has played center on the varsity for two years, and he was captain of the freshman football team.

Twenty two members of this year's football squad were awarded their varsity letter today.

TIGERS READY FOR BATTLE WITH OCKFORDS

The Greeneville Tigers of this city and the New London Ockfords Friday night reported themselves fit and ready for their grid tilt Sunday at Morgan park, New London. This clash is scheduled for the eastern Connecticut senior title and the winner would seem to have a good claim for such a championship.

Neither lineups have been definitely announced. The Whalers completed work Friday evening while the Tigers will probably work out once more before the opening whistle. Dame Rumor had it that the Greeneville would be reinforced for the fray.

FRED "CHIP" DUGAS AWARDS PRIZES FOR BIG FISH

Fred "Chip" Dugas, president of the Taftville Rod and Gun club, has announced the winners of the prizes for the biggest fish caught during the past season. To Bob Winchester of Lisbon goes a Shakespear split-bamboo casting rod for the largest bass. The bass caught by Mr. Winchester weighed six pounds and two ounces. The prize for the largest pickerel a Shakespear level winding reel, went to Sunny Dupruis of Taftville. The pickerel weighed three pounds and four ounces.

YALE BREAKS PRECEDENT IN PICTURE TAKING

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The 1927 Yale varsity football team which has specialized in breaking precedents and winning games this season, crashed two more unwritten rules today by having five backs and a coach in the team picture.

Two pictures are always taken at the end of a season; one of the entire football squad and the other of the 11 regulars. Today, "Tad" Jones, for the first and probably the last time, was invited to pose with the regulars as were Caldwell, Garvey and Hammersley, all halfbacks.

Finnegan Beats Morgan

BOSTON, Dec. 2—(AP)—Dick (Honeyboy) Finnegan, Dorchester lightweight, won the decision over Tod Morgan of Seattle, Wash., world junior lightweight champion, in a fast ten round bout here tonight. The title was not at stake as both men weighed in at 131 1-2 pounds.

Eddie Callahan of Arlington won the decision over Elezear Rioux of Montreal in a six round preliminary.

Saguero and Burns Fined

CHICAGO, Dec. 2—(AP)—The unsatisfactory showing of Roleaux Saguero, the Cuban lightheavyweight, and Chuck Burns, who fought ten slow rounds to a draw here last night, brought down the wrath of the state Athletic Commission on their heads. Saguero was fined $750 and suspended for 30 days Burns was fined $300 and suspended for 30 days.

THREE MEN SENTENCED FOR MURDER OF ONE MAN

CARDIFF, Wales, Dec. 2—(AP)—Three men were sentenced to be hanged after they were convicted today of the murder of one man, Avid Lewis, football player and fox hunter, who was fatally injured in an affray with several assailants. A fourth defendant was acquitted.

The three condemned men—John Rowlands, his brother Edward, and Daniel Driscoll—heard the sentence calmly and each replied to the judges with the usual "I am innocent."

ENDEAVORED TO DYNAMITE HIS TEACHER SWEETHEART

OTTAWA, Ills., Dec. 2—(AP)—To avoid marrying his school teacher sweetheart, Hiram Reed, son of a wealthy Moosville farmer, confessed today that he planted a stick of dynamite in the stove of the country school where she taught, believing it would explode and kill her when she kindled the fire.

As a result of his act, the girl, Miss Iola Bradford, was near death and the youth was held pending the result of her injuries and to determine what charges shall be placed against him.

Higher Compression

Utmost power with velvet smoothness

Only the patented Knight sleeve-valve engine gives you these vital advantages

Use ANY gas

Because of the exclusive, fundamental principle of its design, the patented Willys-Knight engine, with its sliding sleeves and spherical cylinder head, provides a compression chamber of the utmost efficiency.

Thus, Willys-Knight assures you of the advantages of high compression—greater speed, livelier acceleration—with none of the disadvantages, such as undue wear and tear and the need for special gas, which hamper the performance of many poppet-valve motors.

Exquisitely beautiful new colors
Your choice of many distinctive colors, both in lacquer and upholstery. Colors that are rich, harmoniously blended, lastingly attractive.

With the Willys-Knight, you can burn any gas—and be sure of high, sustained engine efficiency at all speeds. The patented Knight sleeve-valve engine is not only simpler—with fewer moving parts—but it is the only type of automobile power plant that grows smoother and quieter with use.

$1295 f. o. b. factory is all you pay for a 5-passenger, 6-cylinder Willys-Knight closed car. "70" Six, $1295 to $1495. Great Six, $1850 to $2695. Prices f. o. b. factory and specifications subject to change without notice. Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio.

KNITTERS AND KNOCKERS.

A knitter and a knocker
Sat on the porch one day,
When the knitter spied a rocker
Sitting just across the way.
Said the knitter to the knocker,
"Do you see that maiden there?
If I'm not much mistaken
She has surely bleached her hair."
Then the knocker fixed her glasses
That her eyes might focus true,
While she gazed in thoughtful silence
As some knockers often do.
Soon the judgment of the knocker
Said the knitter was quite right
And that lonesome little rocker
Was pronounced an awful fright.
Then they knit a few short moments
To digest their latest knock,
While the maiden kept on rocking,
Just a happy, careless rock.

Then the knocker spied a couple
As they left their motor car;
Said the knocker to the knitter,
"Now, I wonder who they are?"
I have seen that woman somewhere,
Said the knocker. "That's no joke,
And it's plain they're not familiar
With the matrimonial yoke."
Then the knitter kept on knitting
And the knocker knocked a few,
Till the knitter asked the knocker
Just the proper thing to do.
Said the knocker, "We will watch them
Till their names are on the book,
Then lay aside our knitting
While we go and take a look."

"Man and wife," there read the knocker
And the knitter had a shock,
While the couple sat there rocking,
Just a happy, careless rock.

It's the same the world-wide over
And no matter where you go,
Some are knitting, some are knocking,
Others rocking to and fro.
Some are happy they are living,
That they have no time to knock;
We can hear their hearty laughter
While they sit and gally rock.
So perhaps when we are knitting,
How much better it would be
Just a simple word of greeting
For some rocker that we see.
For the man or woman stranger
May have troubles deeply locked,
Which our kindly word of welcome
May have soothed and gently rocked.
Say "Hello, I'm glad to meet you!"
That is better than a knock,
And the world will keep on rocking
With a happy, careless rock.

NEED OF LOVING.

Folks need a lot of loving in the morning;
The day is all before, with cares beset—
The cares we know, and they that give no warning;
For love is God's own antidote for fret.

Folks need a heap of loving at the noontime—
In the battle lull, the moment snatched from strife,
Halfway between the waking and the evening toil,
While bickering and worriment are rife.

Folks hunger so for loving at the night-time,
When wearily they take them home to rest—
At slumber song and turning-out-the-light time—
Of all the time for loving, that's the best.

Folks want a lot of loving every minute—
The sympathy of others and their smile!
Till life's end, from the moment they begin it,
Folks need a lot of loving all the while.

THE FUNNY SIDE.

There are lots of things to laugh at
If you see the funny side;
There's a joke in being "stony,"
And the humor's hard to hide.
Thoughts of sleeping in a pigsty
Make you come all over gay—
Yes, there's tons of fun and frolic
In this merry world today.

Gleeful smiles are past restraining
When the boss begins to sack;
Who can curb their cheerful chuckles
When the outlook's pitchy black?
What more perfect than the pleasure
Of a tack upon a chair?
Yes, there's tons of fun and frolic
When the sitter's unaware!

There is mirth in missing buses
And in losing trains and bags;
It's amusing to be married
To a wife who narks and nags.
There's a fund of entertainment
In a steak that's hard and burnt;
Yes, there's tons of fun and frolic—
We should miss lots if there weren't.

There's a giggle at the dentist's,
When he starts to mess about;
There's a grin with every molar
That he breaks ere pulling out.
At a million more misfortunes
You can have a laugh or two;
Yes, there's tons of fun and frolic
If the fellow isn't you!

A TRAVELING CAT

To Our Editor and Sisters of the Social Corner: Some of our sisters have given us nice descriptions of their vacation trips. One could follow them in mind. I have had several nice rides to Meriden, Chaplin and Norwich and had dinner with our good sisters there. But most of my trips were with Marigold to her huckleberry patch. We picked large fine blackberries also. I canned most of mine for cold winter suppers. Betsey Bray was very interested in our amounts of the berry jar. I was very careful not to see any snakes.

Nema: I enjoyed your visit so much, even if it was short.

Kitty Lou: Many thanks for your useful present. The first time I used it was at Marigold's picnic. I pinned yellow paper on the table cloth with some of the pins. I feel safer when I know the roll is in my handbag.

Sis of New Hampshire: How do you like your new home? I know Syracuse is a pretty city. I attended the state fair there some years ago. Do send in some accounts of your new trips.

Ann Tenna: Perhaps you would enjoy hearing about our pet Toodles. He is a large black and white cat in his 14th year. Has been a great traveler for a cat. He rode in a strawberry crate lined with window screen wire, on the running board of h's master's truck from here to Afton, N. Y. While there was boarded out on a friend's farm for six months. He kept the lady of the house up till midnight looking for him for he had been shut in a neighbor's corn crib. Three years later he again rode in his crate on the truck over Jacob's Ladder back to Coventry, Ct. He has seven toes, and on one has a claw growing back in the toe. As we had his black mother we know he came from good stock. Though we think a good deal of him he is not allowed on the parlor chairs. He has a paper on the couch to lie on. When we want to go away for our vacation we pack him with cans of salmon and evaporated milk and carry him to Sister Nema's for his vacation.

He is well care for and liked by all who see him.

Black Eyed Susie: I for one enjoyed your music. I hope when you come to Willimantic I may hear you again.

Gusta, Marigold and I enjoyed our visit with you and your sisters. I am anxious to see if she has followed my style yet.

Here is a useful way to use up parts of old clothing. I cut the body part of a shirt that was all worn around arm holes and made a skirt for a little girl I knew she did not have any skirt. I cut over a coat and made one for her she said to her mother, "Why it looks brand new." I have cut over drawers, stockings and dresses, and made over hats for them so they look good enough to attend Sunday school as well as day school. When I was in New York state I assisted in making over night clothes for the W. C. T. U. to send to Ellis Island. They have many babies there, born on the ocean and no clothes for them. It has always been my hobby to help little children and elderly ladies when needed.

I miss Sister Amy. She and Anna Mell used to come here to spend the day. They always wanted corned beef and cabbage and dandelion greens. They both would take canes and walk out by my neighbors and admire their flower gardens as well as mine.

I hope all will have a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

MARY FRANCE.

CLUB 5 TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: This is to remind you one and all that it is nearly time for the December gathering of Club No. 5. We hope to see as many of the sisters as possible for you all are very welcome to our club meetings. Please do not forget that this is a Christmas meeting with a tree. Each will be expected to bring a ten cent article for our tree and also something good to eat. We are having a fine program for your entertainment as well. Hope all will stay after the dinner and enjoy it with us. I notice there are many of the sisters that leave as soon as the dinner is over and do not have a chance to enjoy the entertainment which is always very interesting and full of fun. We always have a fine time. I know all, as I do, look forward to our meetings with much pleasure.

The Thanksgiving time is past. We could hardly realize it was Thanksgiving for it was so warm and no snow as we used to have at this time of the year. We are very thankful it is so for the sake of the people who were in that terrible flood. Their suffering would be far greater were it cold as it used to be with ice and deep snow. Truly we should thank God for His loving care of us all and count our blessings day by day. Ink was very much disturbed over the flood but was high enough so it did not reach her home. Wishing you all a very merry Christmas I will close hoping to see you at our meeting Dec. 7.

THINGS WOMEN SHOULD KNOW

Social Corner Friends: I ought to do my bit to help the corner out. I always turn to that as soon as I get the paper. Here are a few things women should know:

A sound ripe apple kept in a tin cake box will keep the cake from drying.

The tops of celery dried and rubbed to powder are excellent for flavoring soups and gravies.

Rub bruises and sprains, also lameness with a paste made of salt and the white of an egg.

Anything mixed with water requires a hotter oven than that mixed with milk.

Those who cannot drink coffee will find this an excellent drink, cheap and delicious. Mix well eight cups of bran, two of cornmeal, one each of rolled oats and molasses, four eggs. Brown nicely and mix with coffee; use like coffee only steep a little longer.

The peculiar lifeless taste of water which has been boiled for drinking purposes can be destroyed by beating with an egg beater before using.

A saucer of vinegar placed on the stove while cabbage is being boiled, will prevent the odor from spreading over the house.

To relieve hoarseness and tickling in the throat, make a gargle of the white of an egg beaten to a froth, adding a half glass of sweetened luke warm water.

Diet in disease and health:—

Of the grains for mushes, rye is the most flesh making, oatmeal second, and graham third. Graham builds up nerves, bones and sinews; dark glutin the same.

All best wishes to the Social Corner friends.

HELENA.

ECONOMICAL DISHES FOR SLIM ALLOWANCES

Dear Sisters: It has been said "We cannot determine the power of a good cook."

The desire to rule is inherent in the heart of every human being, the housewife included. Without this natural desire very little improvement would have been made in civilization and yet if any particular object is to be promoted it also means the necessity of co-operation, and this co-operation is most essential within the province of the home if well balanced meals are to be served with economy. Given a fat pocket book, a variety of excellent foods may be served without the constant vigilance for bargains and the measuring of calories that is so harassing to the home-maker. Unfortunately, most of us have to count our pennies, and although it is no disgrace to be poor it is often inconvenient, especially when it is our ambition to serve, tempting, high-priced foodstuffs.

By matching our wits against weather and market conditions it is often possible to buy expensive fruit, greens and vegetables at low prices. And when we cannot get "prize packages" of choice meat and other edibles we must perforce seek a substitute—for man must eat. During the war we were constantly substituting, until it became almost a mania with some of us. I was one of the victims and some of the lessons learned in the cause of patriotism have proved valuable in the time of peace.

For instance what housewife doesn't long to serve a nice juicy planked steak? As substitute try planking honey-comb tripe of the best quality. It should be washed thoroughly, adding a bit of cooking soda to the water. Cook in boiling water for about one hour, remove and drain well. While draining have the plank heating in a warm oven. When hot, grease well with butter, cut the tripe in suitably sized pieces, or if desired leave whole, sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika and dot with butter, boil one side a golden brown and place browned side down on plank. In the meantime boil mash and season sufficient potatoes to serve the family. Add 2 finely chopped onions, 1 cup stale bread crumbs, a small piece of green pepper chopped fine. Spread this over the tripe and dot generously with butter. Bake until brown and serve with tomato sauce and garnish with parsley. This dish is attractive in appearance and easily prepared, and nutritious and helpful, as well as cheap.

Sausage is also a winter delicacy when properly made and cooked. The highly seasoned link variety in imported cases from China, does not qualify. Get good wholesome home-made sausage, or buy some of the cheaper cuts of pork, grind it up at home with food chopper and salt and season per rules on packages of poulty seasoning, form in tiny cakes and set away for 24 hours.

To cook fry slowly in iron skillet, covering for the first five minutes. Remove cover and finish a golden brown. Remove to a very hot platter. Have ready, apple rings made of cored but unpeeled tart apples, fry these brown in the sausage fat and alternate on platter with sausage cakes. Leave a very small amount of fat in skillet and add one cup more or less of milk; heat but do not boil, turn over sausage. Serve with baked potatoes.

Without doubt the mere words, stew-soup and chowder do not convey the tempting appeal of timbale and canape, yet, on a cold winter day, a steaming tureen of hot stew with light dumplings floating on its surface should finish any thought of criticism, for a well prepared stew or chowder is appetizing, inexpensive and very nourishing.

Scallop chowder is very nourishing, it is not common but very nice. Use one quart of scallops parboiled 20 minutes in boiling water. Take 3 slices of fat pork and 2 onions cut very fine, and fry them to a delicate brown. Pare 3 good sized potatoes into 3 pints of milk (slice the potatoes thin). Put in the pork, the onions and cook them until the potatoes are tender. Add 2 tablespoons of butter, salt and peper to taste. Add the scallops which should be cut into small pieces. When these are cooked remove the dish from the fire, pour into a tureen and add buttered toasted crackers.

We are all liable to get into a rut when the novelty of cooking wears off and that is what makes the drudgery. A good rule is to purchase one new food every week and aside from this make one new dessert and entree each week. Variety is the spice of life and variety in preparation adds zest to the job as well as to the appetite.

If a family does not welcome innovation in food it is because they are inclined to be cynical, not because they aren't pleased. I know the household expert claims that a menu should be planned and adhered to as closely as possible, but I disagree entirely, nothing is more tiresome or uninspiring than to know just what you are going to eat for all those 18 meals, leaving only Sunday for a few eats.

It is not necessary to buy expensive greens or fruits out of season, for nature provides the necessary vitamins in her seasonable foods. Apples as a possibility for a variety of desserts are not appreciated. A box of choice raisins, has a number of recipes printed on its side, and a book of choice recipes is sent upon request, but when a housekeeper buys a peck of apples no such information is at hand. I have a great many ways to serve apples. I found the different recipes in the Social Corner. Etta Barber sent in a number of nice recipes. I have them. The opportunity for the variety of serving is larger. During the winter months we should revel in puddings, especially those that require steaming. Granulated cornmeal is excellent for both steamed and baked puddings, sliced apple can be added to these, also to tapioca and rice pudding. Then we have apple sauce cake, frostings, pies, turnovers, Brown Betty, dumplings, spiced jellies and baked apples. Even the peelings can be made into jelly.

Squash is a winter vegetable that needs a publicity campaign in its favor. We all enjoy a nice baked squash pie, but squash pudding is even better.

Take 2 cups of mashed squash, add 1 cup of sugar, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon and 1-2 teaspoon of vanilla. Add 1 pint scalded milk, 2 eggs beaten light and bake for 30 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

The same rule is true with fish. It must be fresh if its flavor is at its best; fresh in the superlative degree. It should not be more than 24 hours "old." It should not be rolled up in paper and allowed to stand over night.

Eggs put down in water glass should be candled at home.

Often parents have a prejudice against saving on the food bill, but the comfort of the family need not suffer because the expense is lowered. Haphazard ordering by telephone is to be avoided if we are to do intelligent marketing and keep the meals fresh and varied at small cost. And the world is fairly brimful and running over with different things to eat. Just visualize a market a hundred years ago in comparison with some of the big markets today and be grateful that the choice of the world's best food is ours.

KITTY LOU.

DROP A LINE TO AURELIA

Dear Social Corner Sisters: The season's greetings to you all. Daisy Dean; I will surely be up to the next meeting. Rosy Posy; was very sorry to hear you had been ill, hope you are feeling all right now. Kentucky Wonder; was sorry I could not get up to the supper, heard you had a fine time but was laid up with a cold on the last minute. Will the Social Corner sisters please write to Aurelia who has been under a serious operation. She is quite weak but we hope and pray she has started to mend. I am sure she would be glad to hear from any who will write she is too weak to answer but she will when she gets stronger. Please address your letters or cards. (I hope they will be numerous) to Mrs. Charles Hill, St. Vincent hospital, Worcester, Mass.

It is a little early but I wish the Social Corner editor, also sisters, and the few brothers will have, a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

LONESOME.

BRIDGE PARTY MENU

Dear Social Corner members: I am sending in a bridge party menu which may will appreciate:

Chicken Sandwiches
Tongue Sandwiches
Buttered Rolls
Buttered slices of bread
Chicken Broth Gateu St. Honore
Fruit Cups or Richmond Maids of Honor
Dominos and other Cakes
Vanilla and Chocolate Ice Cream
Candies

The meat for the sandwiches should be chopped fine, the rolls small, the buttered bread cut in thin slices, two slices put together, then cut in long strips or little squares. There should be 50 sandwiches, 40 rolls, 50 slices of bread before putting together; 20 maids of honor, 3 dishes of Gateau S. Honore, one gallon of each kind of ice cream and a generous supply of small cakes, fruit and candies. It costs $29 for the whole.

Chicken broth or soup:

I cooked four five-pound chickens the day before in a great big kettle with 2 pounds of soup meat and a lot of vegetables such as carrots, tomatoes, onions, celery, parsnips and parsley. Chicken alone makes a nice soup, but by putting it with the meat and vegetables you will have a deliciously strong soup. I used 3 large carrots, 2 tomatoes, about 10 sticks of celery, 1 large parsnip, 5 cents' worth of parsley. I let the chicken and soup get cold in a cool place. The next day I cut up chicken in small pieces, added 1 pound cut and fried mushrooms and 2 fried onions, 1-2 bunch of celery cut small, mayonnaise, seasoning.

The soup I served in cups 3-4 full.

Fruit Cups:

For fruit cups I had 2 pans large size each of pineapple and 1 medium sized jar of cherries ;sugared to taste. I bought 1-2 peck of potatoes, boiled and creamed them and served in half of sweet pepper shells with a strip of pimento on top.

I baked the cream puff shells.

Use only half for each person.

You will want several loaves of cake and several pounds of candy.

Gateu Sain Honore: Make a paste the same as for eclairs. Butter three pie plates. Roll puff or chopped paste very thin, and cover the plates with it. Cutt off the paste about an inch from the edge all around the plates. Spread a thin layer of the cooked paste over the puff paste. Put a tube, measuring 1-2 inch in diameter in a pastry bag. Turn the remainder of the paste into the bag and press it through the tube onto the edge of the plates, where the puff paste has been cut off. Care must be taken to have a border of equal thickness all round the plates. With a fork, prick holes in the paste in the center plate. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. When the plates have been put in the oven, make what paste there is left in the bag into balls about half the size of an American walnut. There will be enough for three dozen. Drop them in a pan that has been buttered lightly and bake 15 minutes. While they are baking place 1-2 cup each of sugar and water into a small sauce pan. Boil 20 minutes.

When the little balls and the paste is done, take the balls on the point of a skewer; dip them in the syrup and place them about 2 inches apart. (Do not stir the syrup, as that will make it grain, and, of course, spoil it. A good plan is to pour part of the syrup in a small cup, which place in hot water. That remaining in the sauce-pan should be kept hot (not biol) until needed.

When all the balls have used dip four dozen French cherries (candied) in the syrup and stick them between the balls. Reserve fifteen cherries with which to garnish the center of the cake. Whip three cupfuls cream to a froth, soak 1-2 package of gelatine in one-half cup of milk for 2 hours. Pour on this 1-2 cup of boiling milk. Place the pan of whipped cream in another of ice.

Dominos or small cakes: 5 cups of sugar, 5 tablespoons of butter, 5 eggs, 7 1-2 cups of milk, 9 3-4 cups of flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons of vanilla, 10 teaspoons of baking powder.

Cream sugar and butter. Add 4 teaspoons of hot milk; cream again. Add yolk of eggs, beat well, then add milk.

Sift flour, salt, baking powder together; add that to the mixture, then add the white of eggs.

This makes 60 dominos or small cakes. You can frost them with white frosting.

Put 1 cup confectioners sugar, 4 tablespoons of cream, 1 tablespoon cocoa, 2 tablespoons of butter, 1 tablespoon vanilla. Boil until it thickens. You can make your white frosting the same by leaving out the cocoa.

Chicken Sandwiches: Boil chicken in as little water as possible. It takes two five-pound chickens. Then remove meat from the bones. Chop fine (do not put through the grinder) on bunch of celery chopped in with it. Rub the dish with onion. Season with salt and pepper.

Butter one slice of the bread, then put a little mayonnaise on the other side; put the bread together, cut off the crust, then cut it slanting.

Tongue Sandwich: Put tongue over to boil in a little salted water; let cool, then slice in thin slices. Just a little tiny bit of prepared mustard on one side of the bread; cut off the crusts. Cut club shape with a club cutter.

ROUND ROBBIN.

GREETINGS FROM AURALEE

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I have not written for a while so will try it tonight. I enjoy all of the letters, and like to read of the good times, but I am a stay-at-home, and am not acquainted with many so can't visit with many.

I think I know you, Kochia, now get your thinking cap on and if you can't guess will say I like cookies just as much as ever.

Hello, Parlie, hope you don't have the same trouble your neighbor had. I can't walk much yet so can't get over. Will see you some day. I suppose your mother is about the same. Have not seen the youngsters.

I suppose every one is getting ready for Christmas. I am crocheting some caps and hone to supply my sisters-in-law. Now, Eva, you can see what you will get. Do you like pink? Why don't you come over? Will give you a surprise.

I think it was Ethelyn that sent in receipt for grapenut bread and I like it much. Have written it off for quite a few. Could one use sweet milk with as good results?

AURALEE.

JOINS THE CORNER.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members: I have attended a number of the Social Corner meetings and had a good time.

If I may, I would like to join the Corner and Club No. 4 and will take for my pen name,

MERRY DIMPLES.

CHATTY LETTER FROM AUNT JERUSHA

Dear Social Corner Friends and Editor: Guess all will think I'm a poor member. Have been going to write for some time but when I sit down after being busy all day, I get so sleepy I cannot read or write but a few moments. But as I saw Mr. Greene's letter about the foundries, etc., I want to tell about their stoves. My father went to the foundry in Canterbury and bought one of them. Western Empire was the name, and he had the second one. They were a fine stove, and 50 years ago next March we bought one to start housekeeping. It lasted us about 28 years. Now when we bought, it was the rule to get the furniture for it also so we had stove, a nice copper bottom washboiler which was used about eight years, a dinner kettle, one called dish water kettle, a spider or frying pan, a johnny cake griddle, a water dipper, 3 bread tins, a dripping pan and one length of pipe. We paid $35 for the whole and a nice eight quart tea kettle. This kettle I used 47 years constantly, but it is now gone. But I have the griddle and the dish water kettle now still in use and would not trade them for any others I ever saw. Now when you want a stove, look at the price and just for the stove alone. My cousin's husband worked in that foundry when father bought his first one. I was a small girl but remember it well. It got so before my stove was gone we could not get any grates or parts for it or it might have lasted longer.

Double Fuschia, I send my sympathy to you in the loss of your daughter for I realize what it means to you and yours as we had the same sad time in January. Would like to meet you. Your husband worked for mine once in haying. There are so many passing over from out of the Corner and others, which makes sad hearts and homes, but all have to share the same fate sooner or later. I guess Amy will be missed greatly for she was a willing worker and did her part. I would like to meet with the Social Corner but don't go from home only on certain occasions. Have not been from home for Thanksgiving dinner for a good many years till this. My oldest son bought a turkey of us then invited us, "Pa and I" and the second son down to help eat it. So we three went to Providence Thursday morning and had a fine dinner and nice visit and came home. Was some tired but felt paid. It is quite a ride.

Last Rose of Summer: Thought you were going to some place this summer on your way while taking a ride, but have never seen you. Would like to see you. I called to Mrs. Grovener just before she started south. She looks too feeble to go on such a trip and she did not reach her journey's end. Well, son took us over the new road to Westminister Thursday and when the new bridge is done it will be a vast improvement over the old road from Scotland to Westminister. That is one reason I don't get to see my daughter more, there's such a terrible road to go over. It is so rocky and rough I don't like to ride over it. It is like an old cart path we used to go down to our wood lot.

R. L. J.: Will write soon as I am going to see if I can get all letters answered. Started in with this to the Corner first. I enjoyed your visit, only not half long enough.

Violet: I hope you are much better by this time.

Glad to see Joan's letter in the Corner page also would like to meet her.

Now I guess I have taken up too much space already so will say good night with sympathy to all in sorrow.

AUNT JERUSHA.

CLUB NO. 4'S MEETINGS.

Dar Editor and Social Corner members: Three gatherings of Club No. 4, Sept., Oct. and Nov. 1927—mark the months of special interest for Club No. 4.

On Sept. 1 amid a good hard rain about 35 of us gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Aldrich. Mrs. Aldrich furnishing transportation to and from bus lines assisted by Nelson L. Stark. The morning was spent in a good wholesome chat. By the ingenuity of our hostess all were able to be seated at the dinner table at once. We were able to do justice to about 20 varieties of food placed before us.

In the afternoon we listened to a very instructive talk given by Miss Gladys Stratton of Storrs Agricultural college about the many branches of work conducted by the home economics committee, a branch of the farm bureau. Time passed so pleasantly that we did not even think how hard it was raining outside. We all felt we had spent a very profitable day and that Mrs. Aldrich was a royal hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burton opened their home for the Social Corner club No. 4's Hallowe'en party. Moses' wife was kept busy helping Mrs. Burton decorate the home in Hallowe'en colors and providing free rides to and from the bus line with the help of others with their cars.

With ideal weather favoring us, between 35 and 40 of us gathered at one of Connecticut's pleasant places. Autos came from surrounding towns and by noon every one was ready to share in the bountiful supply of food that the different sisters had brought, such as chicken pie, mashed potatoes, beans, macaroni, scalloped potatoes, salads, cakes, pies, several kinds of fruit, pickles, sandwiches, etc. After dinner many of us strolled about the place. On of the attractions was a litter of day-old pigs which were admired very much. The afternoon programme consisted in singing sacred hymns, a talk on the value of community gatherings in the rural districts by Thirty-two. A few Hallowe'en stunts, and when the time came for us to return to our homes we felt the better for our day's outing. Mrs. Burton proved an efficient hostess.

Nov. 17 again brought over 40 of us to Irma's home and at dinner time we were served over 30 varieties of food, all home cooked. After you had eaten enough for three or four hungry men there was food left and to spare. We voted to send our collection of $5 to help the Vermont sufferers. First after dinner we went out of doors sight-seeing. The scenery was worth the trip alone. The roosters crowing, sheep bleating and turkeys gobbling, geese quacking, cows mooing painted a picture long to be remembered. When it began to rain we returned to the comfortable fitted up parlor where many sacred hymns were sung; interspersed with readings by Daisy Dean, Miami Fan Tan, Roselind and Moses Wife. Mrs. Pitkin told us of the opportunities offered by the Red Cross nurse and a number of others helped by way of entertainment with Mrs. Thurber at the piano. The shades of darkness warned us that night was drawing nigh. We bade each other, and last of all our jolly hostess, a hearty good night, very thankful for the pleasant time spent at the club No. 4's meeting and wishing our time could have been longer.

Nor do we forget the generosity of Ballard and Clark for the use of a number of their chairs which added much to our comfort at both Mrs. Burton's and Irma's.

BUFFALO.

MASHMOQUET PARK.

Kind Editor and Social Corner Friends Another dark, rainy Sunday. What has become of the good old sun that used to shine?

Betsy Robbett: In answer to your question will say that Mashmoquet Meadows is private property and not a state park or tourist camp. Through these meadows flows the Mashmoquet brook that runs through land owned by Dr. James Hutchins and Willis Cowell and Marcy hallow where the state has recently purchased land for a state park called the "Mashmoquet a tate park," then runs through Pomfret Landing and empties into the Quinebaug river. Mashmoquet house overlooks these meadows—a lovely view which can be seen from my west windows. For the last 25 (or more) years it has been owned by F. G. Goodridge of New York city for a summer home. They also own hundreds of acres of surrounding woodland in the Ragged hill section of the town.

About two years ago I visited the lookout fire station in Union, Conn. It was then called Bald hill, but has been later called Mount Ochepetuck, a most wonderful far away view. Two ladies were caring for this station, except in the very coldest part of the winter. There you can register, have lunch and drop money in a place prepared for that purpose if you wish. I do remember it was a most beautiful drive, as we went in late August. From the observatory one can see Mount Tom and other mountains. Many people visit this lookout station to see the wonderful curios there on exhibition.

Nonesopretty:—Now about the the concerts. I hardly think its time; but we'll soon be "listening in" on their party line.

If any of the Social Corner members should ever visit this lookout fire station, I hope they will write about it and give a better description of it, for I have written this hasty letter and know it requires correcting. I think our Editor must have the patience of 40 Jobs to read and correct so many mistakes.

Hoping everybody had as nice a Thanksgiving dinner as I did and no one made themselves sick by over eating. I will close for I can hardly see what I am doing it is so dark.

Kind wishes for all.

ANN TENNA.

WHO KNOWS ABOUT FORT NED

Dear Social Corner Members: How easy it is to let the weeks go by without writing a letter for the Corner page, especially if you are a busy woman with plenty of home work, and at the same time are trying to do your share for outside interests, also.

A few weeks ago I went with friends in search of material for winter bouquets. It was a pleasant afternoon, and the locality we visited in our search was the same one I had visited previously during the summer months. At that time a brook, which ran into a pond nearby, was scarlet with cardinal flower. I never saw so much in bloom at any one time before. It was worth going a long way to see. This small pond and brook had evidently been the center of a small village at one time, many years ago, as we found several cellar holes, the remains of a mill and a small walled in cemetery which reminded us that time makes many changes. Situated in a valley, surrounded by wooded hills, this little village had probably sheltered a happy and prosperous community. It was a beautiful spot, cool and quiet, away from the traveled roads. At the time of the first visit I noticed bitter sweet vines growing in profusion, and made a mental note of that fact for use later.

Upon my second visit I found this little deserted village just as quiet as before, but how changed! The trees were bare, the pond and brook could be easily seen and we could see the shapes of the hills on either side through the bare limbs of the trees. We discovered things we didn't dream were there, and it was borne in upon me more forcibly than ever, that the woods and fields are just as beautiful in their winter setting, as they are in their gay summer dress. Try visiting the same locality during the summer and again when the leaves have fallen and see for yourselves what a different place it is. The trees especially are to be seen at their best, the white of the birch, gray of the walnut, yellow of the willow and silver of the beech, all mingling together lovely. We found our bitter sweet berries as we hoped and they are lovely mixed with bayberries, the blue and orange make a gorgeous combination. There was only one fly in the ointment, the largest clusters of bitter sweet grew in the tops of high trees, just out of reach. It was ever thus.

I wish to thank Kitty Lou most sincerely for the useful little gift she sent to me. It was very kind of her. I also wish to thank the Friendly Voice for taking the trouble to look up for me, the moth I inquired about some time ago. I was very glad to get the information and that is one of the things about the Social Corner that I think is fine, the spirit of helpfulness.

Can any of the members give a history of the place known as Fort Ned, situated I believe, in the southwest corner of the town of Canterbury? I would be glad to hear any facts in regard to it, who settled it, when and what industry was carried on there, or any other facts that any one knows about it.

WINTER ROBIN

READY FOR A TWO DAYS' RIDE

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Didn't we have a lot of nice letters in last Saturday's Corner page? I hope to see as many this week. I do enjoy reading about the automobile trips, and the good times that go with them. Some day I hope luck will come my way and give me a two days' ride. I know I should love it.

Mary France and I had many a trip this summer. But all to the berry pasture. We had good times picking the nice big huckleberries and blackberries, coming home with full pails, then next morning making nice juicy pies and canning the rest for winter use. We hope to do the same next summer; isn't tha tso Mary France? Wish Helper could have joined us once in a while. We two also had a nice auto ride, and spent the day in the country with Sister Nema. The ride gave us a big appetite, and how good the peas tasted that she cooked for us. They disappeared in no time. It was a day for me to remember. Nice to have such days to think of.

Beth C.: I see you have left us for the winter. Noticed your shades were lowered. Had a chat with your neighbor, friend and name-sake and she told me you were gone. Hope you are feeling good.

Hope Cobweb: I agree with you about the letter writing and other things.

MARIGOLD.

CAKE WITHOUT EGGS

Dear Social Corner Friends: I did love to read of Dairy Dean's trip and it must have been beautiful. But Daisy did not tell the flavoring once used in pudding sauce—Does she remember?

Cake without eggs: 1 cup sugar, 1 cup sour milk, 1-2 cup butter, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup raisins, spice.

Chocolate frosting: 2 squares chocolate melted, 1 cup milk, 1-3 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 egg. Cook till thick, then add vanilla.

THE BANSHEE.

ANOTHER CORNER MEMBER

Dear Social Corner Editor: Have visited the Social Corner and had a very pleasant time. Would like to become a member of the Corner and of Club No. 1 and take as my pen name

PHYLLIS

"RECOLLECTIONS OF FULL YEARS."

Dear Social Corner Friends: In 1916, I believe, a book was published of which I saw notices and which I greatly desired to read but I couldn't afford to buy it and had no chance to borrow it at that time. It was "Recollections of Full Years," by Mrs. William Howard Taft. While browsing in our village library a few days ago I suddenly came upon a copy of this book, it being a recent gift. I lost no time in bringing it home and found it to be indeed a feast of good things. The author begins with sketches of her childhood and young womanhood in Cincinnati, tells of meeting Mr. Taft, their engagement and marriage, and their wedding trip abroad, etc. Later on, our war with Spain, came Mr. Taft's appointment at the Philippines. Mrs. Taft describes their life there very vividly, giving enough of their daily experiences to add to the interest and sufficient historical matter to give educational value to the story. Then came accounts of her experiences as a cabinet member's wife, Mr. Taft being secretary of war under President Roosevelt, trip to Panama while the canal was under construction and last, but not least, the story of four years as "first lady." She describes the rooms in the white house used by the president's family and gives many details in connection with what is required socially of our first lady. One can but feel while reading these that if it is true that the president pays well for his white house. It is equally true that his wife pays rather dearly for being its mistress.

For years I have longed to visit Washington and hope that my desire may yet be gratified. Meanwhile I read about our capital city as the right books come my way. I see no immediate prospect of being classed as a silent timber even though I may have a touch of white house fever but in the U. S. A. one never knows what may happen. More than one "dark horse" has gained the place that men like Webster and Clay sought in vain to win.

After reading Mrs. Taft's account of the numberless hands to be shaken and the long hours of standing while the shaking goes on one can but wonder how our first ladies endure the strain through eight or even four years. I fancy Mr. Taft knew how to relax and did not worry too much, when worrying could do no good for Mrs. Taft relates in her story of their Philippine experiences that he slept peacefully through a very severe typhoon while she and her sister were shaking with fright. Lucky man! It requires time as well as literary ability to write such a book as this and as I finished it it was with a feeling of gratitude to the author for the enjoyable hours her "Recollections" had given me.

What a fine lot of letters last week. With sympathy for all in trouble.

EVELINE BURR.

WINTER BIRDS AND WINTER DISHES

Dear Sisters and Editor: Here it is December and still warm. And every warm day now means so many less cold days of winter. It doesn't seem possible that our shortest afternoon will be but a few minutes shorter than today. Last Sunday there were three robins in our yard all day and they came again Monday, but I haven't seen them since. The jays are still here as well as chickadees and juncos and large flocks of starlings. The red squirrels are still gathering nuts. I don't see where they find them all. The gray ones do too but are not as tame as their red brothers. They went through the hunting season unscathed although there were hunters through here several times a week. Three large crows come every morning and walk around over the field where the corn was harvested. One always flies to the top of an apple tree while the other two get their food, then one of them relieves the sentinel while he gets his. I don't know if they are the same three or not but will the makes the third winter they have been here.

Did any of the sisters ever try putting carrots in escalloped potatoes. It is quite a task to get my family to eat carrots but by putting them with something else I manage to get some "down them." Some people put slices of salt pork between the layers of potato and while I like it the rest don't like so much fat so I don't put in any at all, but sometimes some dried beef makes a different flavor. Chopped parsley is also good. Season with salt, pepper and celery salt. Prepared when getting dinner and baked in the afternoon gives us a chance to forget supper until time to serve them in coarse strips. First you braid the strips and then shape them into whatever you wish to make—floor mats, table mats, baskets, garden hats, boxes or an almost endless variety of gifts.

Christmas wreaths can be made out of ground pine, spruce twigs or evergreen.

A bouquet of milkweed pods, bronzed pine cones are attractive. Use 2 tablespoons of bronze liquid and about 2 table spoons of bronze. Brush over these objects and they make quite a pretty bouquet.

Take a pasteboard shoebox, cover it with cretonne or crepe paper, hinge the cover on with strips of strong lining cloth, doubled and stitched. Then fill the box with bright pieces of gingham and percale left over from dresses. Put in short pieces of ribbon and laces and pieces of fancy braids to make pretty dresses, etc, then put in thread, needle, thimble, a pair of blunt scissors and a small doll for a girl to dress. They cost about 25 cents.

Get two small sized embroidery hoops, with 2 easily threaded needles and several skeins of different colored embroidery cottons got a few stamped linen pieces and put in the box.

Another thing little girls like is to string beads. You can buy long strings of different colors in the stores. Unstring them and mix them up, put them in bottles and put them in Christmas boxes. They would be delighted with them.

You can make a cretonne bag for a shut-in and fill with a couple balls of yarn, a bone crochet hook and a pair of bone knitting needles.

A nice way is to send a shut-in a selection of Christmas and New Year's cards to mail to their friends. Send them stamped. Often one who does not get to the stores would be glad of them.

A good Christmas gift is to buy 3-4 of a yard of all different colored cheese-cloth and make dusters. Outline with black silkateen, give away in groups of 4 contrasting shades.

Girls have a certain advantage over boys in the construction of Christmas presents. They not only ply the brush, the pencil and even the saw, but the needle as well. No one will deny that this useful small instrument in skillful hands is responsible for the majority of the most acceptable Christmas presents. In this day of the popularity of hand-made things the needle gets its due of appreciation, and the girl who uses it well has before her a boundless variety of things to make.

Think of the dainty shawls you can make, or the humble dish-cloth. A pair of the plain black library bookholders may be made into a most attractive ornamental book-r

WESTERLY

ELKS' LODGE OF SORROW TO BE HELD AT WAKEFIELD

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Dec. 2—Westerly lodge, No. 673, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, George A. Dolan, exalted ruler, will conduct its annual memorial service this year in Wakefield. Numbering in its membership residents of Washington or South county, Wakefield has been selected this year for the benefit of Elks of that village, Peace Dale and Narragansett Pier. The services will be held in Wakefield Opera House.

In addition to the ritual there will be special music by singers of Westerly and Wakefield. George A. Dolan, exalted ruler of Westerly lodge, will preside. The orator will be Dr. John M. O'Connell, also of the Westerly lodge. Among those on the musical part of the program are Miss Elizabeth Bonner, Westerly soprano; Dr. H. F. Doyle, baritone, and Martin H. Spellman, both of Westerly. The service is at 4 o'clock and will be public.

COURT ROOM RENOVATIONS TO BE INSPECTED TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Dec. 2—Repairs and renovations of the superior court end of Westerly town hall, made necessary by the damage done from the burning of the adjoining fire station, April 30, last, both in the superior and third district court floors, have practically been completed. On Saturday State Commissioner of Finance Frederick S. Peck and associates will make an official inspection of the work done, being accompanied by the sheriff of Washington county, Fred T. Mitchell of Westerly, who has had general oversight of the repairs. A noticeable change in the superior court room is the hanging of window shades to replace the old-style blinds.

The whistle on the locomotive attached to the Puritan express, due to make the Westerly station stop at 5.01 p. m., Friday, became stuck, with the result that the wailing continued well beyond the Mechanic street railroad embankment.

In the session of Stonington town court this (Saturday) morning before Judge William A. Wilcox will be heard the case of Charles Dionne, Jr., summoned by Connecticut State Trooper George Smith for failure to grant the right of way at the junction of West Broad and Liberty streets in Pawcatuck, late Sunday night. The case grew out of an automobile collision in which an auto driven by Antonio Truro was wrecked and the driver injured. At this session of court three Mystic hunters charged with poaching, will be given a hearing.

The building committee for a central fire headquarters which met in the council chamber Thursday evening and opened construction bids, continued its session to a late hour. Friday morning members of the committee met with Architect George Ernest Robinson and continued the slow, detailed work of tabulating the various figures presented by prospective contractors for work on the building. Considerable progress was made and the committee met again Friday evening. The result of their tabulations will be presented Tuesday evening next, at the second adjournment of the annual meeting of Westerly fire district for action by the electors. It is thought that this special committee of investigation, Clifford W. Campbell, chairman; Louis J. Rossi, secretary; Frank A. Sullivan, Walter C. Hiscox, George A. Dolan, Robert Bonner, George A. McKenzie and Columbus J. Passetti, may come before the meeting with a recommendation.

Before Judge Oliver H. Williams at the Friday morning session of third district court, John Debartelo, 18, was arraigned on complaint of Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, charged with the operation of an automobile on Pierce street Wednesday evening, Nov. 23, not equipped with at least two powerful brakes. Peter Simone, 4 1-2 year old son of Peter Simone of Pierce street, either ran or was pushed out into the street and was struck by the rear fender of the Ford sedan driven by the defendant. Debartelo pleaded guilty and told the court that he had driven the car but six months. Solicitor Ferguson said that the child had been taken to the hospital with injury to skull and cut on leg. He had been playing in front of No. 38 Pierce street. Police Officer George L. Madison and Charles Raithel, auto mechanic, had tested the brakes and found the foot brake not working, worthless, and the emergency only held well. Judge Williams fined Debartelo $25 and costs which were paid.

Joseph Defalco of Bradford, pleaded not guilty to Chief Brown's complaint of assault upon Mrs. Angeline Cofone, wife of James Cofone, residing on Main street, Bradford. Dr. Charles P. Crandall testified that Mrs. Cofone had called upon him July 24th last, the day she claimed to have been struck in the eye with an apple thrown by defendant the eyeball was injured and the eye black and blue.

Mrs. Cofone testified that the Defalco boy had annoyed her children and she had warned him to leave them alone. On the day of the assault she had crossed to the adjoining Grills property after the boy with a stick, but he slipped by her and she did not hit him. The defendant on the stand had said Mrs. Cofone struck him twice with the stick, that her husband had chased him with a big pole which he used to kill a calf with and had threatened to shoot him. He said that the pole had slipped out of his hand and hit Mrs. Cofone, although he did not hit it. Following the trouble he had gone to Trenton, N. J., and worked in a factory there until last Monday when he returned to Bradford and had given himself up to Chief Brown. Just why a ten year old boy was about to take the stand for defendant, Judge Williams stated that he was satisfied that Defalco was not telling the truth, as his statements under oath in court were directly opposite those which he had previously made to him, when he had endeavored to help him. Unwilling to pass upon the case, with recommendation for hearing in the higher court, a sentence of $25 fine was held in appeal, with Rose Broccolo, a cousin, becoming surety in the sum of $300 bail.

William Minchen, Jr., charged with failure to bring his auto to a stop on a red light at the traffic beacon, corner of Elm and School streets, Nov. 27th, appeared in court after Judge Williams had sent an officer after him. The court summons had been issued by Officer George L. Madison. On his plea of not guilty he was released in the sum of $100 bail, for which his father, William Minchen, became surety. Trial was set for next Friday. Witnesses were notified to appear next Friday without further notice.

Other court business was disposed of as follows:

New writ entered before the calling of the docket, Gavitt Furniture Company vs. Angelo Manfredi. If unanswered, continued one week; criminal docket, State, Corporal James E. Norman vs. James Nicosia. Continued two weeks; State, Thomas E. Brown vs. William Sorenson. Continued one week; State, Frank H. Brown, chief of police of Hopkinton vs. Edmund Scanlon. In this case of alleged manslaughter, Solicitor Ferguson said that the state moved to nolle prosse, and the case was so marked; civil docket, Luippold Mineral Water Company, Inc. vs. Beppo Boumenot. Continued two weeks.

Cases continued one week: Gavitt Furniture Company vs. Agnes C. and Arthur E. Frasier; Granite Street Garage vs. Antonio Fiore; LeRoy Sherman vs. H. Shepard; Granite Street Garage vs. Joseph Luppinazzo. LeRoy Sherman vs. Leonard Edwards; Clifton D. Hall vs. John McCarthy; John F. Nelen vs. Raymond W. Champlin. Continued two weeks for trial by agreement; Fulton Factory, Inc. vs. P. H. Opie Company, et al. Continued on nisi docket; judgment was rendered for possession and costs in the case of Abraham Magni vs. Joseph Dower; judgment rendered in the case against James Bilven for $24.50 and costs; Charles H. Gavitt was given decision for $264.06 and costs, against Joseph Guarino; The case of C. H. Conway vs. Thomas Euell was taken from the nisi docket and assigned to Friday next.

The following transfers have been recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk:

Nov. 30. Hadassah F. Posey of Radmore, Delaware county, Pa., to Alma Altemus Barrie of Philadelphia, Pa., two tracts of land; the first at Avondale next to land of Charles L. Bristol, bounded southerly by lands of the estate of Courtland P. Chapman; the second at Avondale, adjoining lands of James O. Babcock on the northwesterly side of Avondale road.

Dec. 1. Albert J. West and wife, Eliza J., to Minnie and Otto Nurmi, land with buildings and improvements on the west side of Main street, bounded northerly by lands of Mary L. and Martha E. Arnold, southerly and westerly by lands of the R. A. Sherman Sons Co., being the property formerly owned by William B. Gavitt.

Thursday night the driver of a large Buick car proceeding down Narragansett avenue, apparently mistook a street light as indicating a street corner and turned his auto upon the property occupied by Mrs. Laura Beringer, 7 Narragansett avenue. The driver recovered control in time to back out and continue on his way. Friday noon an automobile rounding the traffic beacon in Dixon square to proceed up High street had the door open suddenly as the auto gave a lurch and a young woman was thrown to the highway with such force that as she rolled over a shoe was torn from her foot. She entered the automobile with assistance and the car proceeded.

Monday morning next the November term of the superior court for Washington county, Associate Justice Charles A. Walsh on the bench, will come to Westerly, following the Kingston adjournment, and take up for consideration the Westerly trial calendar. With petit jurors to report at 11 a. m., the docket will be called as follows:

NOANK

Several of the residents of the village was talking about things needy in the town and they said that Noank needed a new brick school building. In 1832 the wooden school-house was built. Four years later an addition was put on. Each year the enrollment of pupils got larger, so in 1918 another addition was built, making two rooms on the second floor. For the last 40 years each vacation in the summer enough repair work is done to the stucco school-house on Main street to build an up-to-date brick building. The village school has over 225 pupils in 8 grades. Last summer there were only 7 grades, but another room was built for the upper grade. The teacher had two classes which made it hard and in June 1927 there was no graduation exercises. The present school is 95 years old.

Mrs. William Tourjee is visiting relatives in Saybrook for a few days.

Henry Tedford has gone to Philadelphia for the winter.

The American Legion post held its meeting Thursday evening. Twelve members were present. Comrade E. B. Francke sat back of the legion colors and old glory, as Chaplain Smith read the opening prayer. It was voted to give aid to the disabled soldiers' families around Christmas time. A committee was named. Wilfred Lamphere, Ted Anderson, Neil Morrison and Arthur Berry. This has been done for the past four years, a gift or a basket of fruit being sent to an ex-soldier and his family. Capt. Henry Langworthy who was with the comrades is an ex-navy lieutenant and said he is going south next week in his fishing schooner Morse.

After the meeting ex-Army Cook Wilfred Lamphere served ham sandwiches, doughnuts and whipped cream cake that was made in Old Mystic, with coffee. A one-act play was put on "The Old Army Days at Camp Mary at Hopkins Center." Capt. Mike Pepper as E. Francke with Corp. Sam Jones as Stretch Dobson and Cook Jesse Murphy as Ted Anderson. One scene was the soldiers doing guard duty and sentry Kid Galloway as Arthur Berry fired at a stranger with a bomb under his arm who was trying to blow up the camp and the shot broke out all the windows in the building. Everybody had a big laugh over the act. Then the Legion Trio sang, "For She Was Only a Soldier's Sweetheart," Albert Banks being at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Brown of Waterford visited friends in the village recently.

Frank Schoolmaker, manager of the Hadley Farm was working in the milk house Thursday afternoon As the floor was wet, Mr. Schoolmaker slipped and broke a rib. A doctor was called and set it. Kenneth Steele, employed on the farm gave his boss first aid until the doctor came.

Phillip Steele is in New York until Sunday.

The funeral of Robert Francis was held from Mystic undertaking rooms Thursday afternoon. Burial was in Noank Valley cemetery. Rev. E. P. Weise of the Baptist church conducted the services and paid a fine tribute to Mr. Francis. The grave was banked with floral pieces from his friends in the village. The bearers were shipyard men, Charles Specht, Charles Butson, William Holiday and John Roberstson.

Frank O'Brien of Newark, N. J., is spending a few days with Noank friends.

Mrs. Rogers Fowler and children have returned to Boston after a week's visit in town.

Joe Burbine is employed as house carpenter at Groton Long Point.

Ruth Clark was playing tag at the school yard with her mates, tripped and fell, injuring her left arm, teaching the ligaments. A physician was called to care for the injured arm.

In the Second Congregational church Thursday evening, Rev. Wallace L. Galiup lectured on "The Altruism of the Early American church." He also told about the life of the church hymn writers.

At the vesper service to be held in the Baptist church Sunday at 4 p. m., Mrs. E. F. Weisis, of Noank, will be the speaker.

Alex P. Toper returned Thursday from a business trip to New York.

Thomas McGowan, of Fishers Island, called on friends here Thursday.

An indication of the arrival of cold weather was given Tuesday and Wednesday by several flocks of wild geese flying southward.

The presentation of the flag to the Stonington High school by the Woman's Relief corps, No. 34, took place at the assembly in the auditorium Thursday morning. The corps color bearers, Mrs. Alvah Lewis and Mrs. Raymond Bailey, marched in, followed by Miss Margaret McGrath, president of the corps. Mrs. Joseph R. Henry carried the gift. Following the reading of scripture and reciting of the Lord's Prayer came the presentation of the flag by Mrs. Henry, in a patriotic address. Principal N. Norman Stickney, in behalf of the school, accepted the gift, making an appeal for unity of the things for which our country stood and pledging the best efforts of the school to uphold patriotic patriotism in the best sense of the word. He expressed thanks to the donors of the gift. The flag was hung in the assembly room and the audience united in the pledge of allegiance and the American's Creed. This was followed by the singing of The Star Spangled Banner. Joseph Keane recited the preamble of the Constitution. One of the features of th morning was the presentation of awards in the first year typewriting contest. The Remington silver medal went to Alvin Doroughty, who had a speed of 45 words. Certificates were awarded Clarence Chapman, Mary Italiano, John Wheeler and Rose Cupina. The assembly came to a close with the singing of America.

VOITURE

The regular monthly meeting of Voiture Locale, No. 743, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chaveaux, was held at the rooms of the Robert O. Fletcher Post, No. 4, American Legion, Tuesday, November 29th. Chef de Gare Warren E. Wilcox, of Norwich, presided. A large attendance was present from practically every point in the county. Routine business was transacted. It was voted that permission be asked from the Grand Voiture of the State of Connecticut to hold a wreck during the month of January. The time of the annual banquet of the Grand Voiture, a yearly event, is being planned by the officers from other counties in the state. Voiture Locale, No. 743, New London county, at this meeting went on record as favoring the holding of this banquet at some point in New London county. At this banquet men prominent in the affairs of La Societe will be present among them the newly elected Chef de Chemin de Fer, Pelham St. George Bissell, of New York city. Chef de Gare Wilcox announced to the membership that the policy to be followed by La Societe for the coming year was the same as the past year, the assisting by the Voiture in the various towns and cities of the county of the Legion posts in getting an increased membership, the continuance of the plan now in force of assisting the widows and orphans of deceased veterans and the furthering of all undertakings of the American Legion. The local Voiture is planning on bringing up at a later meeting, one major project to be decided on at the next meeting of the cheminots.

AMERICAN LEGION

The regular meeting of the Robert O. Fletcher Post, No. 4, was held at the post rooms Friday evening with Commander Charles Colt presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read and accepted. The treasurer's report was also read and accepted. A report was made by the chairman of the pinochle committee, Everett Morrill, advising of the entering of a team in the city league and after two nights of play the Legion team heading the league. Notice was given that the next county meeting would be held at Mystic with Post No. 55, Friday, December 9. Two new members were initiated and several applications for membership were read.

Face Became Inflamed And Sore Cuticura Healed

"A few years ago my face broke out with a rash. I did not pay much attention to it at first. Finally the rash started to spread, and itched and burned so that I could hardly stand it. Scratching caused it to become inflamed and sore, and several nights I could not sleep at all on account of the irritation.

"A neighbor advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment, so I purchased some. The first week I used them I could see an improvement, and I was completely healed after using about two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Stanley Gray, 4 Hillside Ave., Montpelier, Vt., Jan. 10, 1927.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, with occasional use of Cuticura Ointment as required, keeps the skin fresh, smooth and clear. Cuticura Talcum is an ideal toilet powder.

Sold everywhere. Cuticura Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sample each free of Cuticura, Dept. 21, Malden, Mass.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

LUBRICATING THE NEW FORD CAR

THE life of any car depends a great deal on the use of proper lubricants. But it is particularly necessary to start right when the car is new; then the metal parts are extremely sensitive to wear that is caused by inadequate lubrication.

Now that the new Ford is taking its place in the motor world it is appropriate that proper oils be designated.

Dealers and buyers of this new car will find that Socony Light Medium Motor Oil will meet all the requirements for winter driving. In warm weather the heavier body of Socony Medium Motor Oil is better adapted to its needs.

These products are backed by the Standard Oil Company of New York with fifty-three years' experience in the manufacture of gasoline and motor oils.

===the meaning of a gift

The meaning of a gift from Reid and Hughes is the same as the mark of "sterling" on silver! It has the same significance of a precious jewel—of a Parisian label on an expensive gown! They all mean quality and dependability! In this same way the name of Reid and Hughes on a gift means quality which is expressed in the material, in the workmanship and in the dependability! A gift coming from Reid and Hughes is a gift appreciated—a gift well received!

POETRY

Whittling in Vermont

Because Vermonters like a knife
And stick and pile of shavings,
The city papers team with jokes
And jocular engravings;
But when you've got some entry there,
However much or little,
I can't see how it's any sin
To kinder set and whittle.

I shan't renounce my native state
Because Brastus Tuttbury,
A-whittled half the chairs in two
At Crossett's store in Duxbury;
I wasn't born to 'buse my sect,
The slightest jot or title,
And if a man has got to breathe
He has a right to whittle.

What finer sight deflects your eye
When April gets to running
Than three or four hearty old "boys"
A-whittling and a-sunning!
They're glad that 'bove their forms as yet
The slow and sad committal
Is still unwaid, and that there's time
To set and talk and whittle.

Besides, it's fun to make a thing
And not know what you're making;
Perhaps 'twill be a hunking pay
To keep your thumb from aching;
Perhaps 'twill be a butter-spat,
Unless it gets too little;
There's lots of ways a stick can end
When once you start to whittle.

A whittler always keeps his knife
In apple-pie condition;
The brightest blade it suffers least
From woody opposition;
He may not be the happiest judge
Of what's the dalntiest victual,
But if his wife is up and dressed
He has the right to whittle.

A-whittling, as it seems to me,
Is jest as smart a paper
As shooting shot at plaster balls
Or hunting scraps of paper;
The man that's tried when I'm the judge
Will get a prompt acquittal
If all they prove is that he likes
To kinder set and whittle.

President Coolidge, asked what he would do in Vermont after he left the White House, replied: "Well, for a year or two I'm going to whittle."
—Danell L. Cady, in "Rhymes of Vermont Rural Life."

Song

We sail toward the evening's lonely star
That trembles in the tender blue;
One single cloud, a dusky bar,
Burnt with dull carmine through and through.
Slow smouldering in the summer sky,
Lies low along the fading west.
How sweet to watch its splendors die,
Wave-cradled thus and wind-caressed!

The soft breeze freshens, leaps the spray
To kiss our cheeks, with sudden cheer;
Soon the dark edge of the bay
Lighthouses kindle, far and near,
And through the warm deeps of the sky
Steal faint star-clusters, while we rest
In deep refreshment, thou and I,
Wave-cradled thus and wind-caressed.

How like a dream are earth and heaven,
Star-beam and darkness, sky and sea;
Thy face, pale in the shadowy even,
Thy quiet eyes that gaze on me!
O realize the moment's charm,
Thou dearest! we are at life's best,
Folded in God's encircling arm,
Wave-cradled thus and wind-caressed.
—Celia Thaxter.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Alice—What did Fred do after he kissed you?

Virginia—He kissed me!—Exchange.

Mrs. A.—Does your husband expect you to obey him?

Mrs. B.—Oh, dear, no! John's been married before.—Montreal Star.

Doctor—The only way for you to regain your figure is to cut out the sweets.

Fair Patient—Gracious! Are you going to operate to get that chocolate I ate this morning?—Detroit News.

Father—Well, now that the summer is over are you going out and get yourself a job?

Son—Why, no, father. I thought I'd wait until somebody really big discovered me.—Life.

"Why did you refuse the count's proposal of marriage?"

"I didn't like the idea," said Miss Cayenne, "of having my photograph published adjacent to pictures of homicide heroines." —Washington Star.

Smith—You say the speculation has proved a failure?

Brown—A total failure.

"But I thought you said there was a fortune in it?"

"So there was, Mine!"—Answers, London.

"Spent three hours at the dentist's this morning, all on account of a slight imperfection in one tooth. How those fellows do magnify trifles!"

"Make mountains out of molars, what!"—Boston Transcript.

At a certain school a teacher was busy telling her class the difference between invention and discovery. After the lesson was over she asked if the pupils had anything to ask.

One boy only held up his hand, and when the teacher asked what his question was, he said: "Please, ma'am, was the North Pole an invention or a discovery?"—Montreal Family Herald.

It is believed that the Egyptian laborers who built the Great Pyramid about 4,600 years ago were kept at this task only during the three months of the year when crops could not be raised.

Two little Freeport (Me.) girls have discarded their dolls and are wheeling some rabbits about the streets in doll carriages. The bunnies, which are wrapped up, and fussed about with all the care that little girls give dolls, seem to enjoy this innovation as much as the children.

Paul Muller, a German youth of seventeen years, is serving a jail sentence of four months on a charge of burglary, at Shanghai, China. Police refer to Muller as a "walking arsenal and bar." When arrested he was weighted down with 750 rounds of ammunition, 2 pistols, 12 bottles of beer, 2 bottles of whiskey, 1 bottle of gin, 6 bottles of soda water, 2 tumblers, 6 forks, 6 knives and 6 claret glasses. Muller said he "found" the goods.

Milan, Italy, was bitten by the subway bug recently when means were sought to relieve traffic congestion in the city that has grown from 600,000 people in 1914 to 900,000 this year. The Podesta, however, decided the cost of building subways like those of New York was too great and approved a plan for the construction, at an expense of about $270,000, of two tunnels which will carry the four principal tramways under the most congested district. The present cars will be used.

Other states may have their Browns, their Joneses and their Smiths, but Minnesota has its Andersons, Johnsons and Petersons. Taking St. Paul, the capital of the state, as a representative Minnesota city, it is learned there are 2,870 Johnsons, as compared to 830 Smiths, and 1,570 Andersons, compared to 280 Joneses. Other Scandinavian names predominate in St. Paul as is shown from the following figures obtained from the city directory: Larsons, 770; Ericksons, 580; Jensens, 400. The population of St. Paul is about 250,000.

STOCK MARKET WAS STRONG WITH SALES RUNNING ABOVE THE 3,000,000 MARK

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(AP)—Frenzied bidding for stocks in today's market lifted nearly two score issues to record high levels, carried total sales above the three million mark for the third time this year and the sixth time in the history of the exchange and delayed the ticker 15 to 20 minutes in recording the day's quotations. Some of the gains ran from 5 to nearly 6 points, but final quotations also disclosed a number of declines ranging from 1 to nearly 7 points, due to heavy week-end profit-taking and bear selling.

While recent speculation for the advance has been conducted in seeming disregard of outside news developments, bullish enthusiasm undoubtedly was created by Secretary Hoover's optimistic survey of the condition of American business and by the unexpectedly small increase in brokers' loans. Raising of the call money renewal rate to 4 1-2 per cent. which was maintained all day, brought about a temporary flurry of selling before mid-day, but offerings were fairly well absorbed.

Rails showed signs of superseding the industrials as leaders of the advance. Canadian Pacific was heavily bought on unconfirmed reports of an early segregation of its railroad and other properties, soaring 15 1-2 points to a new peak price at 219 "Soo" common jumped 8 points to a new top at 46 1-2, and the preferred showed a net gain of 8 3-4 points at 86, also a new peak. Chesapeake & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson, Gulf, Mobile & Northern and Southern Railway all moved up 4 points or more.

U. S. Steel common and General Motors, recognized market leaders in most of the previous up-swings, moved within a relatively narrow range today. Steel common showed a small fractional net gain at 144 3-4, and General Motors showed a small fractional loss at 127 1-2.

U. S. Industrial Alcohol was run up nearly 9 points to a new peak at 97 3-4 on unconfirmed reports that Percy Rockefeller had substantially increased his interest in the company, and it sold down to 85 3-8 on realizing. A 4-point jump in S. H. Kress was accompanied by rumors of a merger of that company with S. S. Kresge. Chrysler Cadmaen Copper, which has sold below $30 a share this year, scored a sensational gain of 12 points by touching a new peak at 110.

Other new 1927 highs were recorded by Coty, National Biscuit, Wright Aeronautical, Victor Talking Machine, Freeport Texas, Continental Insurance, Reid Ice Cream, Warner-Quinlan and many others.

Selling pressure was most effective against such issues as American Radiator, Brooklyn Edison, General Asphalt, Otis Elevator, Otis Steel, prior preferred, Purity Baking, B. Radio, Stromberg Carburetor and United Drug. Several of the larger commission houses urged their customers to lighten long commitments on the theory that the rapidity of the recent advance had impaired the technical position of many issues.

There was no change in time money and commercial paper rates.

In the foreign exchange market, sterling cables sold above $4.88 for the first time since December 1914, reviving expectations of early gold shipments to England. Belgian francs, Swedish and Danish kroner and the Indian rupee also reached new high ground. Spanish pesetas, which were nearly stellar in the week, rallied nearly 20 points.

Leading commodity markets also displayed a firm undertone. Cotton rallied about $1.25 to $1.75 on publication of bullish private crop estimates. Wheat advanced nearly a cent a bushel for the near options. Coffee showed net gains of about 25 points and sugar prices held steady.

G. meeting with Mrs. Eva Jatkowski, 35 Park street. 7:30, Loyal Circle meets with Mrs. G. J. Bushnell, Sunnyside avenue. Tuesday—4 p. m., Primary week day school in the primary dept. rooms. 6:30, C. F. C. meeting in the Young People's Assembly room. 7:30, Four Fold Comrades meet in the Girls' clubroom. Wednesday—3:30 p. m., Sewing school in the primary and junior departments. Thursday 4, Junior week-day school starts in the junior assembly room. 7:30, mid-week gathering of the church. A report will be made at this meeting of the result of the pledges made Sunday.

Friday—6:15 p. m. Father-and-Son banquet. The Central Baptist boys are to go to the Community house. Following the banquet the boys will march, led by the Manchester Salvation Army band, to the Y, where Hon. Arthur M. Brown will address them. 7:30, Woman's League meeting. Members are to meet promptly in the Woman's room for important business. Following this a program on an Outline of Church Music will be given in the auditorium with Miss Louise Fuller at the organ and Treffly Morin as soloist. Everyone is welcome, both men and women. Saturday—6:30 p. m., C. F. C. basketball team leaves the Y for a game in Westerly with Battery E of Westerly.

Educated Chinese To Speak at Y.

An unusual opportunity is offered by the Y. M. C. A. management on the coming Sunday at 4 p. m., when Victor K. Kwong, a highly educated Chinese, will speak on the timely topic "China's valiant struggle for freedom."

Mr. Kwong matriculated at Saint John's college at Shanghai, and is now a graduate student at Harvard where he is specializing in economics, preparing for government service in China; he has a pleasing personality, his English is excellent and his message is captivating his audiences wherever he speaks. The China problem is vital, not only to China, but the whole world and this is a real opportunity to get the viewpoint of a son of this very interesting race. The adult public is cordially invited, and youth fourteen and over will be admitted. The sole purpose of this address is for the purpose of informing the people and in no sense to solicit money. A large audience is anticipated.

Mrs. Thaw, Pianist

Norwich is unusually rich in its artistic life this season and the pianoforte recital by Mrs. Thaw in Slater hall, Wednesday evening, December 14, promises to be an evening of rare enjoyment. Mrs. Thaw has recently returned from Europe, where she spent three months coaching and preparing for her concert season in America. Lovers of the music of the great poet of the piano, Chopin, will hear it played with individuality, sincerity and a keen musical understanding by this fine artist, who is so well known and admired for her interpretation of Chopin.

The programme will include some numbers new to American audiences and one can rest assured that Mrs. Thaw's superb technique is more than equal to the most exacting demands of the difficult modern composers. Again it is hoped that the local public will respond and heed to this opportunity of hearing one of the finest women pianists on the present day concert stage.

Next Week at First Baptist Church.

Tuesday—3:30 p. m., supper hike for the Boy Scouts if the weather permits, otherwise the regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. in the church. Wednesday—7:30 p. m., an important meeting of the World Wide guild at the home of Mrs. William Amburn, 25 Winchester street.

Thursday—7:45 p. m., Week-night service of the church. Topic, The Adventurous Task. This is the last chapter in the book, The Adventure of the Church. 8:45 p. m., monthly meeting of the executive council of the church. Friday—6:15 p. m., Annual Father and Son Banquet. Those attending from this church meet at the Trinity M. E. church and after the banquet march to the Y. M. C. A. where Arthur M. Brown is the principal speaker.

Wauregan Well Child Conference.

An invitation is extended to all mothers in Wauregan who have children under school age, from the newborn babes to children of six years, to attend the well child conference and have their children weighed, measured and examined by the doctors and nurses in attendance. The children should be brought, not because they are sick but because they are well and should be kept well, to each one of the conferences in order that the parents may have the very best advice and counsel possible as to the welfare of their children. The well child conference in Wauregan will be held at Company hall on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 6th, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Whist And Pinochle Evening.

There was a successful whist and pinochle held Tuesday evening at the Eagles' home, twenty three tables at play. There was a delegation of Eagles from New London present. Those taking prizes in pinochle were as follows: Mrs. Scott with score of 7940, Mrs. J. Lierich with 7750 and Mrs. Whaley 7700; gentlemen: T. Ellison with 8120, A. Taylor with 7980 and J. Lierich 7700. In whist Mrs. M. Sherman first, Mrs. J. LaValle second, Mrs. W. H. McBurney third; gentlemen: first, Burt Webber; second, H. Colling and third, R. Beetham.

Norwich Music Association

The Norwich Music association will hold its third meeting of the 1927-1928 season on Monday evening, December 5th, in Slater hall annex.

The artist for the evening will be a Canadian contralto, who is reported to possess "a splendid contralto voice of unique beauty." Miss de Nault will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Bowman.

The association's schedule lists five more excellent recitals for the current season. Membership fees are $3.00; admission to single recitals is 75c.

Club Played Pinochle.

The D. G. Pinochle club met Thursday evening at the home of Miss Rinaldo on North Main street. First prize was awarded to Miss Josephine Rinaldo, 7480, and consolation to Mollie Miller, 4900. After the play, refreshments were served by the hostess. The club will meet next Thursday evening at the home of Miss Helene O'Neil on Penobscot street.

Will Show Marionette Production

The Puppeteers, a group of three young men recently of the department of drama of Yale university will bring their Marionette Production with a 24 piece orchestra, to Slater hall. This entertainment which is free to all members of the Women's City club of Norwich will be given at 4 p. m. and at 8 o'clock on the day of production.

Christian Science Services.

Wednesday evening meeting, 7:45. The reading room, 40 Main street, is open every day except Sunday and legal holidays from 3 to 4:30 p. m.

Now is the Time to Buy Farm Realty

"I think this is the time for farmers to buy farms and if they already own them, to hold farms." W. M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, said recently. "Agriculture has been in despair for a number of years, but has begun to come out of it. It is improving, and will continue to improve in coming years. Consequently it is an opportune moment for farmers, not speculators, to invest in farm real estate." This being the opinion of such reliable authority, I have a choice number of farms for sale. One in particular being a very desirable farm at a very low price if sold at once.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE

FOR SALE: By order of the Honorable Court of Probate for the District of Norwich, I will sell the real estate, belonging to the estate of the late Anthony Wisneskie, and Victoria Wisneskie, both late of Franklin, in said District, deceased, which real estate is situated on the Easterly side of the highway running from Smith's Corners to Baltic, in the town of Franklin; also, lot, on the Westerly side of said highway. Said real estate consisting of about 350 acres, more or less, consists of approximately 100 acres of tillable land and 250 acres, more or less of pasture and woodland, together with the dwelling house, barns, sheds and other buildings thereon. Said real estate will be sold as a unit, together with the farm tools, machinery, and equipment thereon consisting of gasoline engines, wagons, plows, from 45 to 50 tons of hay, 85 tons of silage, 14 cows, 2 horses and about forty hens. Said farm is supplied with a brook and a never failing spring with running water in the house. The farm has a Westerly slope and is highly desirable as a dairy farm. The entire premises with the personal property will be sold to the highest bidder as one item of sale at public auction to be held at the house on these premises known as the Wisneskie farm on Wednesday, December 14th, 1927, at two o'clock in the afternoon. Terms of sale to be 10 per cent. cash at time of sale and balance on or before January 1st, 1928.

This sale is to close the two estates and the personal property will not be offered for sale separately.

JOHN WISNESKIE,
Administrator.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1927.

NEW LONDON POLICE SEARCH FOR KIN OF PATIENT DEAD FROM STARVATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 3—The authorities are endeavoring to ascertain whether Sanford L. Carty, 60, who died of starvation at Home Memorial hospital last night, has relatives in this vicinity. So far the police have been unsuccessful in obtaining any trace of such kin. Mr. Carty, who was known as Carter, had been in New London about 15 years, the greater part of which time he was employed as a carpenter by H. R. Douglass, former contractor. He is believed to have relatives in Providence for in his possession at the time of his death Carty had divorce papers showing that he received a decree in Providence several years ago.

IN ROLE OF FEDERAL OFFICER PROVIDENCE VISITOR FAILS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 3—Walter Casey, United States Coast Guard chief petty officer, who is assigned to recruiting duty at Providence, was arrested early this morning by a shore patrol for safe keeping. Casey was intoxicated and is absent from his assignment without permision. Casey was about the city late yesterday afternoon and the greater part of the night and visited several resorts where liquor is dispensed. He did not have difficulty in making purchases with the result that he became intoxicated. During his travel about the city Casey represented that he was a federal officer stationed in Washington and had been sent here on special work. He made this misrepresentation of himself too frequently, for the shore patrol was informed of Casey's statements and the fact that he was displaying a federal badge. As members of the coast guard have portrayed the role of federal officer several times, the shore patrol made a search for Casey, found him on Bank street with a group of sailors and arrested him. He was locked up for the night and this morning coast guard authorities here ascertained from the recruiting office at Providence that Casey was absent without leave. Casey was sent back to Providence where he will be disciplined.

Sam Brogne, giving the address of 111 North Main street, Norwich, was arrested at North Stonington last night when the state police raided his resort. He was charged with conducting a disorderly house. Three sailors from this city and two women, who were found there were charged with frequenting. All were held for trial in a justice court in North Stonington tonight. The police received information that Brogne was maintaining a bawdy house and a force of officers went there and found conditions as represented, with the result that the proprietor and the inmates of the house were arrested.

When presented in court tonight, Brogne was charged with selling liquor on two counts and was fined $100 and costs on each count. On the charge of conducting a disorderly house he was held for trial in the superior court in bail of $2,000. The frequenters, Kenneth Leland, Arthur Candill and Mitchel Lafrick, United States Coast Guard, stationed at the state pier, and Stella White and Dorothy Young, young girls, who claim to reside in Manchester, N. H., were charged with frequenting. All were held as witnesses against Brogne.

The New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad is to make changes in its working force at the Union station within a few days. The exact nature of these changes has not been announced, but will be, it is believed, by the first of next week. The changes, it is said will materially affect the personnel of the large force employed at the depot.

Miss Elizabeth T. Reath entertained at her residence, 151 Montauk avenue last night. The evening was pleasantly passed at bridge, high score was made by Mrs. John J. Gorman and the consolation prize went to Mrs. William V. Ryan. Others present were Mrs. Harold W. Cruise, Mrs. Otto Lames, Mrs. Arthur M. Beckwith, Mrs. George F. Hanley and Mrs. Leonard C. Sheffield.

P. L. SHEA STARTS MOVE TO EXTEND GREEN STREET

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 2—A movement, which has long been advocated, that of extending Green street to Bank street, is to be taken up in earnest. Today, Patrick L. Shea, well known citizen and a large taxpayer, started the circulation of a petition whereby this street will be cut through to Bank street as an outlet of traffic from State street to Tilley and Bank streets. The petition, which is being signed by merchants and residents of Green street, will be presented to the city council next Monday night, when the matter will be discussed and will probably be referred to the city manager for investigation and report. For a long time this project has been advocated in order to relieve traffic from Bank street in its most congested area, between State and Tilley streets. That Green street be extended to Tilley street, thence to Bank street, is the only reasonable solution of the problem. No action has been taken by the council other than to discuss it. Now Mr. Shea's petition will require definite action, favorable to the project or against it.

Carlos Berry has sold a building lot on Parkway to Archibald S. MacFarlane.

John J. Ryan has sold to James H. Lawrence a building lot on Robinson street.

Benjamin Kaplan and Abraham Agranovitch have sold to Antonette Rybecki a house and lot on Grand street.

G. A. Cooke, of Canton, Mass., has requested the New London police to be on the lookout for Mrs. Len Keach, who is missing from her home and may be in New London. Nothing is known of the woman in this city.

The police of Norwich have requested the New London police to maintain a watch for a Packard touring car stolen in in the former city Thursday night. The auto carries Connecticut registration, V-355.

George H. Enos, 75 Jefferson avenue, employed at the Water street garage, parked his automobile a long time in front of his place of employment last night. When he returned to the car about midnight he discovered that a thief had preceded him, for a motor meter, gloves, hat and a bunch of keys had been stolen. Enos reported the theft at police headquarters.

Mrs. George King, of 65 Connecticut avenue, Mrs. Hiram Brown, Waterford; Mariano Delmonte, 116 Shaw street; Mrs. Clifford Winters and infant son, Waterford and Iva Hall, Hamburg, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Private funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth C. Geer, wife of Theron Geer, were held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her home, 9 Prest street, the services being conducted by Rev. Chester H. Howe, pastor of the First Baptist church. Relatives acted as bearers. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Mattie Wilson, alias Jones, Negress and the proprietress of a resort for Blacks and whites on John street, was presented on continuance in the police court this morning charged with keeping a disorderly house. Through counsel, the Wilson woman entered a demurrer, which was overruled. She was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail. The jail sentence, however, was suspended, on the understanding that the woman discontinue her present means of obtaining a livelihood. This she promised to do. A youth, Oliver DeWolf, 28 Starr street, who was found in the house when the raiding officers went there was charged with frequenting, but when he informed the court that he entered the house on the solicitation of the Wilson woman, the charge was nolled.

Father Joynt branch, Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, contributed $25 to the Christmas tree fund being raised for St. Mary's school, at a meeting last night. Three new members were admitted. Simon J. O'Connor, recently elected president, presided for the first time. The president will appoint committee at a meeting Dec. 15.

The two-story wooden building, rear of Howard street, owned by P. L. Shea and used by the New Haven Dairy Inc., as a garage, was threatened with serious damage by fire this morning when a quantity of gasoline being used by an employe was ignited. The employe was using a quantity of the inflammable liquid to clean a garment. The gasoline was in a pail and an electrical dive was being used in the cleansing process. A section of the wiring became short-circuited, causing a spark to fly over the pail resulting in the fumes being ignited, then setting fire to the liquid. Fearing serious damage the employe ran to Box 44, corner of Howard and Hamilton streets, and pulled an alarm. Several companies responded, but the Ockford Hose company but two blocks away was the first to arrive in quick time. A small quantity of chemicals extinguished the blaze, without damage of consequence resulting.

Patrolman Lewis Wheeler in making his rounds on Bank street early this morning found the side entrance of the Empire theatre on Bank street, open. The officer secured the theatre for the remainder of the night.

Carrie P. Guild, 18 Elizabeth avenue, Brighton, Mass., was arrested tonight by Patrolman John Clifford charged with violation of the city's laws in parking in restricted area on Union street. She furnished a bond of $3 for her presentation in the police court tomorrow.

Leo Murray, of Waterford, was in Waterford town court tonight charged with breach of the peace. The case was not tried, it being continued to next Friday afternoon. Murray was arrested last midnight by State Police Officer John Smith upon complaint of Mrs. Murray. Murray went to his home about 11 o'clock and created such a disturbance, including the smashing of furnishings of the house, that Mrs. Murray was compelled to seek relief, so she requested her husband's arrest. Murray was arrested several days ago in New London, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and was liberated upon furnishing bail of $100. He failed to appear in court the following day, so the case was continued a week. Murray's automobile collided with a motionless car in charge of Mary McPartland, of Sherman street, both machines being damaged.

Palace Theatre.

As gripping and intense a story as "The Thirteenth Hour" has never found its way to the screen before and this verdict was upheld by those having seen the picture which is being shown for the last time at the palace today in conjunction with a high grade vaudeville program of five acts.

The picture program for tomorrow night brings to the silver sheet, Harrison Ford and Phyllis Haven in a comedy of the circus, race track, and radio. "No Control" is an appropriate title for this farce inasmuch as an audience has no control over the laughter the picture is responsible for. The companion feature is a drama of the early west starring Bob Custer in "Bulldog Pluck."

A colorful section of the romantic city of Venice, Italy was duplicated at Paramount's studio in Hollywood for the new Florence Vidor starring vehicle "Honeymoon Hate" which opens at the Palace on Monday. Most of the action in this picture centers around Hotel Danieli in Venice, and tells the story of an impetuous American girl, the daughter of an American steel king, who must have everything her own way. She meets a member of royalty, Prince Dantarini, who has his own views of how a woman should act. They marry, his idea being to tame her and hers to humiliate him. The action derived from this plot makes this a real worth while photoplay.

Five acts of vaudeville in which comedy, singing, dancing and novelty make up the nucleus, will be offered for stage entertainment.

Broadway Theatre.

Zane Grey's "Nevada" with Gary Cooper and "The Night Bride" starring delightful Marie Prevost, will have their last showings at the Broadway today. Both of these features have been enthusiastically received by the large audiences which have attended the showings and a record attendance is expected at Broadway this afternoon and evening. "Nevada," the latest Zane Grey story to be filmed by Paramount, has quick changes in situations and a plot of thrilling adventure that develops rapidly. Its locale is the cattle country in the days of turbulence and gun play.

"The Night Bride," instead of ending with a wedding as do most modern pictures, the procedure is reversed and it starts out with one. It is full of humorous and thrilling complications and is vividly demonstrated that the young woman of today does not differ from the sister of 1898.

The usual Kiddies Frolic will be held on the stage during the matinee, this week the contest will be open to all children who can either dance or sing.

The popularity of Zane Grey pictures with the children is sure to bring a large crowd of youngsters so that this week's Frolic will undoubtedly be a great success.

"The Thirteenth Juror," co-featuring Anna Q. Nilsson and Francis X. Bushman, will be shown at the Broadway tomorrow and Monday. The picture was adapted from Henry Irving Dodge stage success, "Counsel for the Defense" and embraces a featured cast of supporting players.

Breed Theatre.

One of the most elaborate productions ever made by Robert Kane, well known screen producer, has just been released by First National.

The picture is "For the Love of Mike," boasting of an all-star cast including Ben Lyon, Ford Sterling, Hugh Cameron, George Sidney, Claudette Colbert, Mabel Swor, Skeets Gallagher and Rudolph Cameron, making his return to the screen after several years. The Breed theatre announced today that it would show the New York piece tomorrow night, Monday and Tuesday.

Based on an original story by John Morosco, "For the Love of Mike" tells the story of a boy who is found as a baby by three old men on their finding in an East Side tenement house. The old men, one a Jew, played by George Sidney, the second a German, characterized by Ford Sterling, and the third an Irishman, played by Hugh Cameron, bring the child up and when he finishes high school send him to Yale where he becomes captain and stroke of the crew.

The story from the entrance of the boy into college and his romance with two women, one a Park avenue blonde and the other a First avenue brunette, give Ben Lyon, Claudette Colbert and Mabel Swor lots of material for good acting.

Actual pictures of the Yale-Harvard regatta at New London last spring form one of the many highlights of the story.

Strand Theatre

Johnny Hines, the world's fastest, most dynamic and funniest comedian fairly outdoes himself in his latest celluloid cyclone, Rainbow Riley. In the role of a cub reporter Johnny is sent to Bloomfield Kentucky to report a feud that is raging there between the White and Ripper factions. He no sooner sets foot in this shoot-'em-up country than he becomes involved in the warring factions. To complicate matters further, he falls in love with Alice Ripper, the school teacher sweetheart of Tilden MacFields, leader of the Ripers.

Mark of Zorra is a Douglas Fairbanks production with the dashing Douglas in the leading role. It is taken from the story, "The Curse of Capistrano" and is full of action and excitement from beginning to end.

Connecticut College Concert.

A letter from the Metropolitan Musical bureau states that The English Singers will give what they characterize as their Christmas carol program at Bulkeley auditorium next Tuesday evening. Last year this program was given in New York to a sold out house and because of the insistent demand was repeated to another capacity audience a week later.

All the critics agree that this program is the most entrancing of any which the "Singers" present.

Cuthbert Kelley, the inimitable spokesman of the group has sent the following definitions which will be of interest to many: Madrigal—A composition for two or more voices unaccompanied to secular verse, often but not always, of a pastoral kind. All the voice parts are of equal interest and mainly designed from the same melodic material. At first the term was applied to the verse and later to the music "made on" the verse. Canzonet—"A little short song or air." This is one of the many terms which the madrigal composers applied to their music. Originally a canzonet was designed on a smaller scale than a madrigal but in fact the style of composition is the same in both. Ballet—A composition for voices like the madrigal but with a much more regular and simpler rhythm and with a Fa-la-la refrain. In its more primitive form it was a combination of singing and dancing but it was not danced by Elizabethan singers. It may be pointed out that it is an error to regard the Fa-la-la refrain as the distinguishing feature of the Madrigal. Motet—A composition for voices unaccompanied, set, as a rule to sacred words. Thomas Morley describes a motet as "properlie a song made for the church either upon some hymne or anthemne or such like;" but the term includes "all grave and sober musicks" i. e. compositions of a specially serious and introspective kind.

Wearing bead necklaces, making worsted flowers for the coat, braiding raffia into hats for dolls or people, or reins for child-hood games, making handkerchiefs, boxes or sachets, cases to keep silver spoons in, pin cushions, cases for traveling conveniences, making paper shades for lamps, all these and a thousand other useful and beautiful things may be made by girls.

You can buy a good sized bedstead for a doll and make a mattress and pillow for it, sheets, etc. You can buy a blanket for ten cents or spread, but a little rocker, paint it a dainty pink or blue with gold trimmings.

That in her path are strewn.

It is astonishing how many pretty and acceptable things can be made from old magazines. The covers, full-page illustrations may be framed, the advertisements can be mounted to form interesting or entertaining games and a series of stories may be grouped and bound informally.

Ingenuity will suggest other uses for the material furnished by magazines.

Buy a composition book at the store and cut out crossword puzzles, paste them in order as they are printed or published. This makes a delightful Christmas gift to one who has a bug for those things. I am making one and think it is to be very pleasing for the party I am making it for.

I have made 25 games this week out of magazine covers. I am also taking The Bulletin, cutting out the articles and letters that are interesting, including "The Man Who Talks". He not only talks but he says something worth while. I wish I had commenced sooner for I do love his letters, some are certainly not only true but wounded very profoundly. He certainly clothes the skeleton.

Ironing holders are another help, dish towels another Christmas gift that is acceptable. Outline cups and saucers, also knives and forks on the towels.

ETHELYN

HOW AUTOS HAVE INCREASED

Dear Editor and Writers: Here I am again telling you once more what took places some 20 years or more ago, which may be interesting to some, for I am one who is always interested in facts and in looking up records.

Twenty-four years ago, on May 26, the first Connecticut motor vehicle registration was issued to a man named James P. Woodruff of Litchfield. It was for an Oldsmobile and I am informed it is still in the possession of its original owner. Its first number plate was C-1, 1903. The next was owned by Dow R. Beebe, of Bridgeport, that being a Locomobile. Soon after during the year other makes appeared in the state, the Essex, Knoxmobile, Autocar.

These facts are revealed in a search through the oldest records in the possession of the Connecticut department of the motor vehicle. The New Haven Carriage Co., once built an electric runabout, which they called Seabright, that was also registered in 1903.

Then Billings & Spencer got busy and built and registered a "B. & S" four passenger steamer the same year. The first commercial motor vehicle was listed by the Coe Brass company of Waterbury, a home made freight truck electrically propelled, which appeared in 1903.

In our town the first cars were the one cylinder Cadillac which was owned by John E. Kinne. Then Dr. Knear introduced a runabout Stanley steamer. Since those early days of cars many different makes have been introduced into our village.

Those days one clerk handled the duties. Today it requires 250 people to keep the motor vehicle department functioning efficiently. Instead of having one corner of an office as in 1903 or three small offices as in 1917, the department today uses most of the space on two floors of the capitol building at Hartford and operates busy branch offices at New Haven, Bridgeport, Waterbury, Stamford and New London. So as we look back a few years we see what vast changes have taken place since the introduction of the horseless carriages into our state and by the changes many have been made independently wealthy. Others were not so fortunate, but by the use of these autos people have been able to visit and get a better idea of our wonderful world outside of our own state.

Comfort: You have guessed right. My mother's name is Ella, but the oldest brother's name was Frank instead of John. Frank met his death in Glasgo, Ct., in 1861, when they remodeled the paper mill into the yarn mill. The staging gave away and he was buried in the quicksand, and died before they could get him out of the sand. That was in November. The brother George you speak about is living in the "Lafayette Inn," at Plainfield. He lost a son, George, Jr., in the World war. He has two sons and a daughter still to help make his wife comfortable, as his own health is quite poorly. He is afflicted with the hardening of the arteries.

Phuller Phun: Was pleased to get that breezy call from you over the phone the other morning, while hubby was getting that wood pile going. It was a frosty morning and I hope he did not get that "Charlie Chaplin" of his frosted.

Kindest regards to the readers

WHAT CONSTITUTES GOOD CHEER?

Dear Editor and Readers: With delight we read the interesting and instructive letters appearing in the Social Corner page. We want to keep the page full so will send a line to fill a corner.

The question has been asked "What Constitutes Good Cheer?" Every country apparently has its own ideas about what constitutes good cheer at Christmas. Foreigners are apt to regard the American fondness for cranberry sauce as very queer. Now are they particularly keen as regards turkey? England continues to swear by her plum-pudding and roasted "joints." The Frenchman's Christmas bill of fair is much more extensive and varied. The great national dish is the black-pudding or boudin. Then there is the Strasburg pie, whose centers are truffles and slices of the livers of fattened geese; boar's-head jelly, plentifully stuffed with pistachios; oysters, lobsters and crayfish and edible snails are delicious. The Russian Yule-tide meal consists largely of wheat-porridge served with honey; and a compound of stewed pears, apples, oranges, grapes and cherries, sweetened with honey, and served cold. To this meal, which is washed down with liberal drafts of vodka, the Russian sits down with his family and servants. Before the meal is commenced he throws a spoonful of the porridge against the ceiling, the fortune of the coming year being determined by the quantity that sticks there. In Austria the delicacy is "fruchtbrod," made of raisins, currants, figs and chopped dates. Other cakes are made of poppy seed and ground nuts. The national meal, partaken of on Christmas eve, is of soup, carp (chopped and baked), boiled beef and vegetables, and Vienna pudding.

The Italian revels in cakes of various kinds, sweet and indigestible; the favorite Christmas eve supper is of eels, periwinkles and vermicelli.

The German people like carp cooked in beer and mohnpielen, a dish composed of white bread, almonds, raisins, and poppy-seed. The German people have a sweet-tooth like all of us, and they indulge in the marzipan tart; the honey cakes of Brunswick; the Dresden "stollen;" and the rich Nuremberg ginger-cakes.

It is said thre are three ages of man. The first age is when he thinks and plans of all the wicked things he is going to do. This is called "Innocence."

The second age is when he does all the wicked things he has thought of in child-hood. This is called "The prime of Life." The third age is when he repents of all the wicked things he has done. This is called "Dotage."

Good cheer,

ARIES.

GREENEVILLE

Thomas Head, Jr., of Winsted, is spending a few days with relatives on Paige street.

John McKinley, of Providence, spent Thursday visiting friends in Greeneville. Mr. McKinley was a former overseer in the United States Finishing Co.

The N. M. Sewing circle met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Richmond of Boswell avenue. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Harrington, of Central avenue.

The regular First Friday masses were held in St. Mary's Memorial church at 5 and 7 o'clock with a large attendance at each mass. Many went to the altar rail to receive Holy Communion. For those who wished to receive communion, special confessions were heard Thursday afternoon and evening. First Friday devotions were also held in the evening. On Sunday morning, after the 10:30 o'clock mass, will be the opening of the Forty Hours Devotion of the Blessed Sacrament. Members of the societies of the church will be on hourly watch which has been the custom in this parish for the last few years.

John McCafferty, of Southbridge, is spending the week-end at his home on Hickory street.

Raymond Sullivan has returned to Mansfield after spending a few days at the home of his parents on Sixth street.

Many local young people attended a dance in Plainfield Friday evening.

Fred Ellis, of Preston City, was a business caller in the village Friday.

Leodor Gladue has returned to his home on St. Regis avenue after visiting relatives at Oakland Beach, R. I.

Bernard Sullivan, of Manville, Mass., is spending a few days at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Simon Fahey, of North Main street.

A surprise party was held Friday evening in honor of Miss Grace Sullivan at her home 24 St. Regis avenue, with twenty of her friends being present. Games were played including pinning the tail on the donkey. Victrola selections were heard, also radio selections. Fruit salad, rolls and coffee, marble cake, devil's food cake and ice cream were served by the hostess.

TAFTVILLE

John Meyer of Providence street is spending some time in Portsmouth, N. H.

The members of the Dramatic club held meetings for rehearsals and business on Thursday and Friday evenings at Pocasset hall.

Devotions in honor of the sacred heart of Jesus were observed Friday evening at Sacred Heart church.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Pollard have returned to their home on Block Island, after spending some time recently with Mrs. Pollard's father, Thomas Greenwood and family of South Second avenue.

The monthly business meeting of the St. Louis society was held Friday evening. There was a large attendance and several important business matters came up for consideration.

Members of the Taftville Rod and Gun club note with interest that Superintendent John W. Titcomb, of the state board of Fisheries and Game through which the local club received generous allotments of pheasants for distribution, is to attend the fourteenth National Game conference on December 5th and 6th at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York. This conference will consider a program filled with game restoration and propagation problems, and will mark another milestone on the road to scientific, and effective game administration in America. The local club aims to have the conference reported in detail, so that the facts may be available for the information of sportsmen in this vicinity.

The committee which had charge of the recent carnival which was given in the Parish hall for the benefit of the Sacred Heart church under the auspices of the Army and Navy club held a meeting Friday evening at the clubhouse on Dion street with James Troland, chairman of the carnival committee presiding. The committee believes that when all returns are made that the affair will be as much a financial success as it was a social success. The carnival was attended by large crowds each evening, a noticeable fact being the presence of many out-of-town people.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wood of Phoenix, R. I. have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Perkins of Occum heights.

Miss Harriet Nelson of Woodstock has been a recent guest of Blissville friends.

When little Miss Ruth Hassler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hassler of Occum celebrated her sixth birthday recently, the guests present were Julia Oliver, Marseline Oliver, Linnie Belle Perkins, Bert Brouillard, Charles Perkins, John Clapp, Wallace Benson and Lester Benson. Mrs. Hassler had the assistance of her sister, Mrs. Otto Berberick of Norwich, in serving refreshments to the little folks, who sat at a prettily decorated table in the center of which was the large birthday cake surmounted by six candles.

Miss Doris Bateson has had as her guest, Miss Claire Sproul, who has now returned to her home in Pawtucket.

Mr. R. W. Whaples—County Club leader.
Dorothy K. Messler—Office secretary.

The annual reports of Secretary Arthur H. Davis, Treasurer W. W. Service and County Agent Walter T. Clark were heard and accepted. In making his annual report County Agent Clark said;

The agricultural program of the New London County Farm bureau has progressed quite satisfactorially during the year 1927. The program however has been much similar to that of 1926. At this time the program was made up so that certain lines of work in each major project were emphasized.

In the soils and crops program special effort has been displayed on the growing of legume hay such as alfalfa and clover. It has been with this in mind that 83 soil samples were taken and tested for acidity. Fifteen hundred tons of lime were bought by New London county farmers through the county lime pool, much was bought from private dealers and by individuals however. Much has been done to increase the use of acid phosphate a necessary chemical for growing legumes and many other crops in the dairy farm. The above results are fundamentals for a sound alfalfa clover program.

However, in order to increase the acreage of legumes instruction must be given on inoculating and farmers must see the crop actually growing. Four such inoculating demonstrations were held, eight so called twilight meetings when farmers gathered at a given place to discuss the growing of alfalfa or clover with the county agent or crop specialist. One large harvesting demonstration was held at the farm of H. H. Whitman of Waterford, where the curing of alfalfa was shown from start to finish, also demonstration of preparing seed bed.

Other items in the crops program included seven pasture improvement demonstrations, the use of better types of seed corn for ellage by nine farmers and treating seed potatoes for disease by 12 farmers.

The fruit program consisted of emphasizing the importance of growing better apples. Seventeen demonstrations were given on pruning, mice control, grading and packing.

Eight growers followed a special management program recommended by the fruit specialist. These are known as demonstration orchards. One large county fruit meeting was held in February where important fruit problems were discussed.

Special service was furnished by the farm bureau on apple storage. Prof. W. E. Cole of Massachusetts Agricultural college was engaged and 14 growers and farmers were assisted in remodeling or on new plans.

Fifty spray calendars were distributed.

The vegetable program consisted or regular monthly meetings of the growers around Norwich and vicinity and new visits to me. about the county. Two county meetings were held with growers for Windham county. These were miner field meetings. Four vegetable management demonstrations were conducted, many special disease and insect control calls were received and answered.

In the dairy program 76 pure bred sires were placed on farms in the county. Seventeen were assisted in getting better stock. One cow test association was reorganized with 20 members and a tester visiting these herds regularly once per month. Sixteen farmers were assisted in sanitary milk production and 21 assisted with barn ventilation.

Nine poultry demonstrations and meetings were held and one large county meeting.

In the "grow healthy chick" program 63 poultrymen owning 100,650 chicks followed this sechdule. This was the major item in the poultry program.

Two hundred and twenty farm office and home calls were answered on disease and parasite troubles. This may seem high but the most of these calls were made to men other than the men following the healthy chick program. However, most of the signers of the program were visited regardless or not of trouble.

In farm management two young farmers' clubs were met. One old one in Lebanon meeting each month and one organized in Baltic, this past fall. Thirty-eight account books were distributed, 21 of which were completed. One field tour was held in August when farms in Tolland and Hartford counties were visited.

In rural engineering seven water systems were installed following plans and advice from the farm bureau. Eight sewage disposal systems were also installed. Two ditching demonstrations were held. The ditching being done by dynamite.

Twenty-nine buildings were remodeled or built by plans furnished.

Four forestry demonstrations were held, these being thinning and planting. New plantings of pine, were made in the county including 27,000 trees and covering 23 acres.

The statistical summary follows:

Soils—Soils sampled and tested 83; tons of lime used 1500; those using lime for first time 40; using acid phosphate for first time 22; better care of farm manures 4; farms adopting some new practice 57; days spent on project by specialist 2; days spent on project by county agent 15.

Crops—Interest in pasture improvement prominent; seven demonstrations started covering 40 acres; 23 adopting new practices; potatoes: 13 farms sprayed for first time and 12 tested; certified seed are in general used; 17 farms adopting new practices; days spent on project by specialist 13; days spent on project by county agent 38; use of better types of seed corn was stressed; 4 demonstrations on cultivating alfalfa were given; 14 demonstrations on top dressing alfalfa with chemicals started; 24 farms planted improved alfalfa and clover seed for first time; 58 farms adopted new practices.

One large hay making demonstration showing alfalfa from seed to hay was given.

Seventeen demonstrations were given on pruning and grading; eight demonstrations of orchards following program, county fruit meetings; service on storage plans given; 50 spray calendars distributed; 20 farms adopted new practices; days spent in project by specialist 11; days spent on project by county agent 11.

Four vegetable management demonstrations given; four twilight meetings held on farms; Norwich vegetable growers met regularly each month; 22 farms adopted improved practices; 2 county meetings with Windham county; days spent on project by specialist 11; days spent on project by county agent 14.

Four demonstrations on thinning and planting; 27,000 pines set covering 23 acres by 15 different farms; 27 farms doing thinning for first time as a result of demonstration; days spent on project by specialist 2; days spent on project by county agent 4.

Seventy-six pure bred bulls placed; 17 farms assisted in getting better stock; 1 cow test association of 20 members with 429 cows under supervision; 16 assisted in sanitation for milk production; 21 farms assisted with farm ventilation; days spent on project by specialist 10; days spent on project by county agent 50.

Nine culling demonstrations and meetings; 63 following grow healthy chick program, involving 100,650 chicks; 220 farm office and phone calls on disease and parasite troubles; one county meeting; days spent on project by specialist 9; days spent on project by county agent 42.

Seven water systems installed; five sewerage disposal systems installed; two ditching demonstrations; 29 buildings erected or remodeled for plans furnished; days spent on project by specialist 5; days spent on project by county agent 8.

Two young Farmers' clubs with 32 members; 58 account books distributed; 21 completed and summarized; one field tour; 35 adopting new practices; 12 made changes in business arrangements; days spent on project by specialist 15; days spent on project by county agent 18.

Nine hundred and fifty tons of fertilizer purchased in pool; 1500 tons of lime purchased in pool; poultry men marketed $50,000 worth of eggs by cooperative selling; purchased quality feeds and supplies; days spent on project by specialist 1; days spent on project by county agent 14.

Farm visits made 779, different farms 322, office calls 462, phone calls 1054, days in office 116, days in field 172 1-2, personal letters 521, circular letters 14,937, meetings and demonstrations 137, attendance at demonstrations 3745, days specialists spent in county 79, new articles 89, practices adopted on farms about 600.

SHOWS USE OF MONEY FROM CHRISTMAS SEALS

In 1926 $2,235.55 was received from the sale of Christmas seals to be used for the cure and prevention work of tuberculosis in Norwich. From that sum $1,133.88 was spent for milk for undernourished children and children contacts of tuberculosis, 8 quarts each day going to several families unable to buy a sufficient amount. $935.87 helped care for children at the Seaside, Meriden and the Uncas-on-Thames Sanatoria. Salary paid for a part time nurse doing preventive work and an automobile making it possible for her to visit more families, the sanatoria and clinic. Dental work was done with reduced rates from the dentists. Tonsils and adenoids removed, doctors always willing to co-operate. Codliver oil purchased by contact children. A membership paid in the Y. M. C. A. given to enable a girl, suffering from spinal trouble, to have special helpful exercises in the gymnasium. An orthopedic shoe given to a lad, who without it, would probably have been a cripple for life. The money from the seals was exhausted, but the shoe was made possible by a gift of $15 from the Rotary club.

Parents with little children needing special care are asking daily for help that their little ones also, may have a fair chance to grow up into strong boys and girls.

"What would you like done about it if those little children were yours?" is the question put to the Norwich public by the committee in charge of the Christmas seal sales this year.

TWO MONTHS' RAINS HAVE NEARLY FILLED RESERVOIRS

The heavy rainfalls of October and November have come close to filling the two Norwich reservoirs. October gave a rainfall of 5.94 inches, including one storm of three inches, and this was followed by the November precipitation of 4.66 inches. The heaviest rain in October gave 2.37 inches.

The net result of all this rain was to show that on Dec. 1 Fairview reservoir had gained so much that it was only 11 inches below full pond, while Stony Brook reservoir was within three inches of full pond to the top of the five foot addition that was built on the old dam.

Installation of the chlorinating plant at the new Deep River reservoir is proceeding and has nearly been completed. Some cleaning up work around the basin is being done and in about two weeks it is probable that the gates can be shut in order to begin filling the reservoir.

WE MODERNS MET FOR PINOCHLE PLAY

The We Moderns met with Mrs. Charles Prodell of Fourth street Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Hallisey held the highest score in pinochle of 7880. Scores for the afternoon were as follows: Mrs. Hallisey, 7880; Mrs. Jensen, 7280; Mrs. Moran 7260; Mrs. Prodell, 6830; Mrs. Busch, 6480; Mrs. Manchester, 6480; Mrs. Retkowski, 6300; Mrs. Hastedt, 6110.

The scores in the series; Mrs. Busch, 26410; Mrs. Prodell, 26330; Mrs. Manchester, 26260; Mrs. Retkowski, 25970; Mrs. Jensen, 25880; Mrs. Hallisey, 24860; Mrs. Moran 24120; Mrs. Hastedt, 24410. After cards Mrs. Prodell served lunch. The club meets with Mrs. Hastedt of Linden Parkway next week.

WEEK DAY SCHOOLS IN NOYES PARISH HOUSE

Now that the Noyes parish house of the Central Baptist church is available for the various activities of the boys and girls, both the primary and junior week day schools are beginning. Those in the primary department of the Sunday school meet in the primary assembly room on Tuesday afternoons from four to five. The juniors meet in their own assembly room on Thursday from four to five-fifteen. The Americanization classes under the direction of Mrs. Robert Otis meet on Wednesdays at three-thirty.

FORECLOSURE SUIT ON MORTGAGE IN COLCHESTER

Suit for foreclosure of a mortgage for $1,100 on property on the old New London turnpike in the town of Salem has been brought by George O. Avery of that town against John Brown, now or formerly of Salem, individually and as executor of the will of Cordelia DeRoche, Rose Alma LaFrance and Florence C. Gates. The mortgage was originally given Oct. 19, 1918 to Samuel MacDonald of Colchester by John Brown and Cordelia De Roche, now deceased. The suit is returnable to the superior court in December.

RECEIVED 102 BIDS ON ELEVEN HIGHWAY JOBS

State highway work in eleven towns recently advertised for bids closing November 30 brought an extraordinarily high number of contract offers from various construction firms in Connecticut and neighboring states, the total number of bids submitted being 102 which figure is greatly in excess of the usual number, according to a statement made Friday by Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald. The bids were submitted in the customary sealed fashion for the reconstruction of 30 miles of Connecticut highway, 23 miles of reinforced concrete and seven miles of waterbound macadam.

Among the more important pieces of reconstruction covered in the bids was 29,100 linear feet of reinforced concrete on the road connecting Glastonbury with Portland on the east bank of the Connecticut river, which will eliminate the only stretch of unimproved trunkline road between the two towns. Another notable piece of reconstruction will entirely complete the road between Middletown and New Haven which has been under construction during the past year. The bid calls for 28,975 feet of reinforced concrete in North Branford and North Haven. The contract covering 7,000 feet of concrete in Milford will be another step toward the completion of the double width Boston Post road between West Haven and the New York state line near Greenwich.

Other bids included 15,134 feet of concrete on the Valley road to Saybrook in the town of Haddam; 7,285 feet of waterbound macadam between Washington Green Hill and Hotchkissville in Washington; 12,986 feet of macadam between Clinton and Deep River; 1,958 feet of concrete on North avenue, Norwalk; 15,743 feet of macadam on the Mansfield Center-Warrenville road; two sections of 6,422 feet and 11,364 feet of concrete on the Danbury-Ridgefield highway; and 20,150 feet on the Bridgeport-Newtown road.

$8,053.16 JUDGMENT AGAINST STATE STREET CORPORATION

Judgment in the amount of $8,053.16 was awarded by Judge John R. Booth at the short calendar session of the superior court here Friday morning to the Clark Construction Co., now in bankruptcy with Bernard Greenberg, trustee, against the 325 State Street Corp., of New London, owners of the Garde building and theatre. The first Tuesday in April was set as the limitation of time for redemption.

Attorney Philip Z. Hankey, counsel for the company, was placed on the witness stand and he testified that the amount of liens on the property consisted of $360,000 to the Bond and Mortgage Co., trustee; $130,000 to the New Haven Bank, trustee, they holding the bond issues. He also said that all the other liens were released except an attachment of the Thames Lumber Co., for $486.50; the Clark Construction Co., for approximately $40,000 and the Architectural company's attachment for $3,500.

It was brought out in court that the $40,000 claim of the Clark Construction Co. was stipulated in settlement for about $8,000 and it was on this stipulation that Friday's action was based.

Arthur S. Friend, whose company operates a chain of theatres including the Garde theatre, and who is an attorney himself, appeared in court Friday. It was admitted that the Friend Co. is in financial straits at the present time but Attorney Friend told the court that at present there was a creditors' committee representing $500,000 in secured liens of his company, now attempting to rehabilitate the company and that he believed things would come out all right.

Alton T. Miner of New London valued the Garde property at $500,000 and Attorney Friend stated that a New York appraising firm had recently valued it at $832,100.

It was brought out that there are taxes due on the premises of $8,121.50 with interest due of $275; that the Garde building was about one-third occupied and bringing in a yearly revenue of about $5,100.

Several other judgments were given by Judge John R. Booth at Friday's session.

Name Change Allowed.

Dorothy Otis, of New Hampshire, was allowed to change her name to Dorothy Gordon after Charles L. Gordon, who in 1925 married her mother, testified that he was not her father and that he couldn't see why she had not applied to the courts of New Hampshire for a change of name rather than in this county. Attorney George Curtis Morgan appeared for Gordon while Attorney Henry L. McGuire represented the girl. It was brought out that the girl was about 18 years of age. Mrs. Gordon, the girl's mother, has brought a divorce action against Gordon on the grounds of bigamy.

Judgment in Groton Case.

Judgment in the amount of $5,138, was entered in favor of Fred J. Bailey, of Groton, against Samuel and Martha C. Craig, of Groton. The property involved is in Park avenue, Groton, and the first Tuesday in March was set as the limitation of time for redemption.

Judgment for $2,710.

Foreclosure judgment in the amount of $2,710 was given in favor of Charles Chapman, of Montville, against Mr. and Mrs. James Brennan, of Montville. The property involved consists of a 70-acre farm, valued at $2,800. The first Tuesday in April was set as the limitation of time for redemption.

Acceptance of the return of the final distribution to creditors of the Niantic Manufacturing Co., in voluntary dissolution, was made and the statutory trustees discharged.

Disclosure of Defense.

Disclosure of defense within one week of judgment was granted on the motion of the defendant, Samuel Seigal, in the case of Miller against Saul, et al.

Every Member Enlistment Service

At the Central Baptist church on Sunday morning the Lord's supper observance will be followed by the every member enlistment service. This will be carried out much as it was a year ago. First the boys and girls up to twelve years of age will come forward and lay on the communion table their pledges for the current expense and benevolence of the church for 1928. Then the young people from twelve to twenty-four will present their pledges. Following them will be the adults. This is always a most impressive service. It is anticipated that a large majority of those who will make pledges this coming year will present them on Sunday morning.

At the evening hour the pastor's theme will be "Home and Church." Special invitations are being sent out to all who have recently expressed a preference for the Central church, inviting them to this service and the informal social hour under the direction of the young people which will follow.

Bates Debaters Were Winners

Bates college women's debating team won the decision of the judges in the recent debating event held at Connecticut College for Women, New London, when the Bates team upheld the negative against the Connecticut college team's affirmative arguments in the question: Resolved that all treaties that infringe upon the sovereignty of China should be abrogated. Although the visiting debaters from Maine carried off the official decision, a vote of the audience taken before the debate, and again at the conclusion, overwhelmingly favored the affirmative side of the question, and showed that the keen arguments of the negative had not broken down the audience's conviction in the affirmative view.

Montville Woman Buys House.

Mrs. Mabel H. Hasty, wife of General Manager Harry E. Hasty, of the Robert Gair company at Montville has purchased the house owned by Mrs. Edna S. Bodenwein at 42 Nathan Hale street, New London. The property comprises a large eight-room house, with modern improvements and garage.

Goose Lays 16 Eggs.

Sixteen eggs were laid during November by James Trent's gifted goose of Groton. The 16th egg was taken Thursday morning, it having been laid Wednesday night. The 13th egg was taken in last week Wednesday, the 14th was taken in Friday, and the 15th last Sunday. The laying of the goose, out of the normal laying season which extends from February to July, has attracted attention to poultry raisers as an unusual happening. Mr. Trent has been asked to exhibit the goose in the Norwich poultry show this month, but he has declined. He wishes to see whether the goose will go broody, and if she does, eggs will be placed under her. Geese of standard egg laying habits, usually go broody after laying 13 eggs.

SENATE WILL OPEN TODAY WITH FLARE-UPS IMPENDING

Republican Leaders Are Worried About Organizing and the Smith and Vare Seat Contests—Leaders Will Endeavor to Stave Off Outbreaks Until After President Coolidge Has Submitted His Annual Messages Dealing With Legislative Problems and the Budget—The House Will Carry Out Its Prearranged Plan For Republican Control of All Machinery.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The 70th congress convenes tomorrow with opportunities for opening day flare-ups offered in the senate, but with the house certain to carry through its prearranged program for continuation of republican control of all the machinery.

Two elements of the senate situation—organization and the Smith and Vare seat contests—were uppermost among the worries besetting republican leaders tonight as the rear guard of the members of the two houses arrived in the capital.

A hybrid organization with the democrats controlling the senate offices and the patronage that goes with them and the republicans in command of the standing committees that will deal with legislative matters was one of the possibilities.

Another was an immediate outbreak of the fight against administering oath of office to Senators-elect Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, and William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, both republicans. This the republican leaders hope to prevent until after the senate has been organized and President Coolidge has submitted his annual messages dealing with legislative problems and the budget.

If the majority leaders can ward off these threatened outbreaks, the first day's procedure in the senate will be about as tame as that in the house where Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, will be re-elected speaker over Finis J. Garrett, of Tennessee, the leader of the democrats. With Longworth will be elected all of the other republican candidates for office, including William Tyler Page, the clerk, who will call the new house to order and preside while the election of officers is in progress.

Republican old guard and independent leaders and the democratic chieftains had hoped to iron out some of the difficulties at conferences today, but a blinding sleet storm kept most of them indoors with a result that their meetings were put off until almost the hour of the convening of the new congress at noon tomorrow.

Democratic leaders in the senate have made up their minds not to "run away" from the election of their candidates to office if some of the western republican independents decide to support them. A single vote marks the difference between the majority and minority parties and consequently the democrats would have to gain only a few votes from the republican side to put through their slate even allowing for a few defections now expected in their own ranks.

Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, has been renominated by the republicans as president pro tempore, and the democrats have named Senator Pittman, of Nevada, for that office. The republicans have selected no candidate for senate secretary and sergeant-at-arms, holding those officers held over, but if the democrats see the opportunity to capture them they will press for an election.

By filling these three senate offices, the democrats would control appointments in the offices of the secretary and sergeant-at-arms, including all of the capitol police, door keepers and the like. Each democratic senator would have patronage in the sum of $1,200 annually to dispense.

The republican independents have not yet disclosed whether they will swing over to the democrats in any appreciable numbers in the absence of assurances which they have demanded of the republican membership that opportunities will be afforded for early votes on farm relief, a bill to curb the federal courts in issuing injunctions in labor disputes and a resolution proposing investigation of the American policy in Latin-America.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the republican leader, has given is personal assurance on these points, but the independents—Frazier and Nye, of North Dakota, and LaFollette and Blaine, of Wisconsin, republicans, and Shipstead—farmer-labor, Minnesota—have declared this to be insufficient and have asked for promises from the party membership as a whole, a promise which in the nature of things probably could not be obtained until after the vote on organization.

Even should the democrats get control of senate offices, the independents could retain their chairmanships and preferred places on the regular senate committees by voting with their party majority to organize those bodies. The democrats do not desire to control the committees as they have not even a paper majority in the senate and whichever party commands the committee is likely to get the credit for whatever legislative record the 70th congress writes at its opening session.

After the two houses are organized, a joint committee will be appointed to notify President Coolidge that the 70th congress is in session and ready to receive communications from the executive. If this committee can be named tomorrow, Mr. Coolidge on Tuesday will transmit by messenger his annual message dealing with legislative affairs and on Wednesday will send to the capitol his annual budget message.

With the receipt of these documents the house will get down to business, probably taking up first the $238,000,000 tax reduction bill and following that with the deficiency appropriation bill which failed by reason of the senate filibuster in the closing days of the last session.

While waiting for the house to get these measures passed and its own committees to consider them, the senate will devote itself largely to the fights over the seating of Vare and Smith with leaders hopeful, but not over optimistic that they can be considered by the Christmas holiday.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—With its eyes turned on the election year of 1928, the republican national committee will assemble here tomorrow, coincident with the convening of a session of congress which is certain to furnish much of the campaign material for the next presidential election.

The primary purpose of the gathering of the committeemen is to choose the city to which will go the honor of holding the national convention next June, but in the minds of all the foremost question was one of candidacies, in which the names of all those mentioned most prominently as eligibles were being bandied about tonight.

The figures of Coolidge, Lowden, Dawes, Hoover, Hughes, Curtis, Longworth, and all of the others who have shown above the political horizon as possible presidential candidates were prominent in the discussions, with major interest centered on whether Mr. Coolidge would amplify his do not choose to run statement of the Black Hills. No one seemed to have authoritave information on that subject.

HELPED HER PARAMOUR TO KILL HER HUSBAND

HAYNESVILLE, La., Dec. 4—(AP)—The body of J. S. Jowers, 55 year old storekeeper, missing since October 31, was found under a small bridge over Caney creek, near here today, tied to a stake in shallow water, and weighted with scrap iron.

Officers were led to the scene by Paul Swift, 16, son of Jowers' alleged slayer, who said he responded to a command of his father in aiding to dispose of the body.

Jowers' body had been sunk in the shallow water under the bridge, two iro wheels tied about the body, and a strap fastened about his neck and tied to a stake.

Mrs. Effie Jowers, wife of the slain man, and her alleged paramour, J. E. Swift, 45 year old soft drink salesman, confessed early today that they killed Jowers while he slept, officers declared. The alleged confession was made public by District Attorney D. W. Godd, of Calborne parish, who said that he would request a special session of the parish grand jury to convene December 12 to investigate the crime. Goff said that both Mrs. Jowers and Swift had volunteered to plead guilty to murder without capital punishment, but that he will demand they stand trial, and will ask the death penalty.

BRIAND PERSUASIVE WITH RUSSIAN ENVOYS

GENEVA, Dec. 4—(AP)—M. Briand, the French foreign minister, made another move today to secure a united continental Europe. He employed all his persuasive forces of statesmanship to induce Russia to stay actively in the European concert. He received both Maxim Litvinoff and M. Lunarcharsky, of the Russian delegation, and, with M. Paul-Boncour, the French socialist, at his side, he felicitated the soviet envoys on their participation in the disarmament discussions, and earnestly voiced the hope that they would be the percursor of further international collaboration.

Another question which Mr. Briand broached to M. Litvinoff was Paul-Boncour's plan for a continental security pact, with Russia included, believing that this would immensely improve the chances of success of the disarmament conference.

FACTORY WATCHMAN WAS FOUND BURNED TO DEATH

SOUTHINGTON, Conn., Dec. 4—(AP)—Lying face downward, the badly charred body of Peter Costello, 50, a night watchman employed by the Southington Hardware company, was found on a burned stairway leading from the first to the second floor of the company's factory early this morning by John Stuart, a day watchman for the company.

Near the body was found a broken kerosene lantern, which Costello was in the habit of using while making his rounds of the factory each hour through the night. A checkup of the watchman's clock showed that he had made his usual round at 4 o'clock this morning.

The stairway and the lower section of the building was flooded with water from the automatic sprinklers. Stuart was attracted to where the body was found by the large quantity of water on the lower floor.

BRISTOL MAN WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED AT GRADE CROSSING

BRISTOL, Dec. 4—(AP)—Joseph Villardi, 24, of Washington street, Plainville, was seriously injured tonight when his car and one driven by Oscar Enchner, of this place, collided on the Broad street railroad crossing a few minutes before the 10:10 west-bound passenger train was due.

Villardi was taken to Bristol hospital and is said to be suffering from scalp wounds and other injuries not yet dead from the tracks when the train roar-termined.

The two cars had barely been removed through.

INTERNATIONAL CHAMPION SHEPHERD POLICE DOG

CHICAGO, Dec. 4—(AP)—"Arko Von Sadowaberg, of Jesseford," a male dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mahoney, of Roslyn, N. Y., is the grand international champion shepherd police dog for 1927.

"Asta Von Kaltenweide," a female owned by A. C. Gilbert, of New Haven, Conn., was runner-up.

"Arko," won the international male dog championship for the breed. Each won the Von Stephanitzeweild prize offered by F. N. Pickett, of Welham, England; John Gans, New York and P. A. B. Widener, of Elkins, Park, Pa.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 4.—(AP)—General Ibanez, president of Chile, was married yesterday to Senorita Graciela Velasco, daughter of Ricardo Letelier, in the first wedding of a president in office in the history of the country.

ROME, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Albania holds the same strategic position for Italy that Belgium holds for England, Deputy Andrea Torese told his colleagues in the chamber of deputies in urging adoption of the Italo-Albanian defensive alliance.

LAPEDO, Mex., Dec. 4.—(AP)—General Francisco Bertani, rebel chieftain captured by federal troops and taken to Minatitlan, state of Vera Cruz, was executed Friday night, according to a statement issued by the Mexican presidential office and received yesterday by the Laredo Times.

GENEVA, ec. 4.—(AP)—Portugal has asked the League of Nations to examine her financial and economic condition with a view to league assistance in the country's rehabilitation and undoubtedly will request the flotation of an international loan under the auspices of the league.

GENEVA, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlin, the British foreign secretary, and Aristide Briand, French foreign minister arriving in Geneva today had lunch together to talk over the international situation with special reference to the Polish-Lithuanian dispute which comes before the council of the League of Nations when it opens tomorrow.

WESTPORT FIREMEN FOUGHT FLAMES FOR THREE HOURS

WESTPORT, Conn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Firemen battled for three hours early this morning to subdue flames in the studio of Eugene McNerney, Jr., in Candleberry lane, within a stone's throw of the homes of William S. Hart, movie actor; Henrik Willem Vanloon, writer, and Gerald Mygatt, short story writer, with a bitter northeast wind hampering the work of the local fire department and chilling the men.

It is believed that a stove pipe leading from the heater in the studio to the chimney became over-heated and ignited the woodwork. The studio was partially destroyed, damage estimated at $1,000. The majority of Mr. McNerney's drawings, paintings, portrait books and his vast collection of material were mostly destroyed.

PROTESTS AMERICAN LOAN TO SOUTH MANCHURIAN R. R

SHANGHAI, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The nationalist foreign minister, Dr. C. C. Wu, has cabled American Secretary of State Kellogg, stating that the Chinese people heard with alarm of the imminent flotation of the South Manchuria railway loan by American bankers and with the apparent approval of the American government.

Dr. Wu declared in his message to Mr. Kellogg that the railway is not merely an industrial enterprise but is the symbol and instrument "of alien domination over large and rich portions of Chinese territory." He added that he felt confident the American government would not permit consummation of the loan.

WILL ROGERS AMUSED PRESIDENT CALLES OF MEX.

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL TRAIN, Pabellon, State of Aguascalientes, Mexico, Dec. 4—(AP)—President Calles has launched more in the past two days than he has in the four years he has been in office and Will Rogers, is responsible for it, say close friends of the Mexican executive who is touring northern Mexico accompanied by the American humorist and Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico.

Rogers was at home at a specially arranged rodeo and bull fight in honor of the presidential party yesterday at the Pabellon ranch and drew generous applause from the president when he did numerous roping tricks and mixed freely with Mexican cowboys. He left the bull fighting, however, to the toreador engaged for the occasion.

DISABLED GREEK TANKER IS MAKING FOR NORFOLK, VA.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(AP)—The Greek tanker, Paraguay, which was reported in distress off Cape Henry sent out another SOS today followed by a message stating she was making for Norfolk, Va. This message, picked up by the Independent Wireless company station at 10:35 a. m., was the last heard from the ship here. Two vessels reported last night they were standing by.

HEROIC ACT OF MEXICAN RAILWAY ENGINEER

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4—(AP)—Special despatches from Cordoba, state of Vera Cruz, relate the extraordinary heroism of Ignacio Espinosa, a railway engineer who saved the city from possible disaster when he connected his engine to a blazing box car containing dynamite and rushed at furious speed out of the city. Two miles out, he disconnected his engine and a few seconds later a terrific explosion occurred.

PACIFIC MILLS WILL HANDLE ITS OWN EXPORT BUSINESS

BOSTON, Dec. 4—(AP)—The Pacific mills announced today that after January 1, the company wil handle its own export business. Pacific mills operate 546,752 cotton spindles and 11,455 cotton looms in mills located in Lawrence, Dover, N. H., Columbia, N. C., and Lyman, S. C. The announcement stated that Pacific mills will be the largest textile unit in the United States selling direct to foreign trade as the result of the new policy.

STORM WARNING ISSUED BY THE WEATHER BUREAU

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The weather bureau today issued the following storm warning:

"Advisory: 9.30 a. m. Northwest storm warnings displayed Delaware Breakwater to Boston. Northeast gales this afternoon and tonight, accompanied by rain or snow. Disturbance over eastern North Carolina, moving northeastward."

IRISH FREE STATE IS TO BORROW IN AMERICA

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—For the first time in its six years of existencey, the Irish Free State will appear as a borrower in the American market tomorrow. An issue of $15,000,000 bonds bearing a 5 per cent coupon rate, will be offered by a syndicate headed by the City National company, priced at 97 and interest, to yield about 5.20 per cent.

Sleet Storm Driven By 50 Mile N. E. Gale

Ocean Liners Were Delayed by the Blinding Sleet—Four Fatalities.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A sleet storm, driven by a 50-mile an hour northeast gale, and accompanied by freezing temperatures, swept over New York city and harbor today in the first onslaught of winter.

Delays to shipping and distress signals from a tug off the Jersey coast came with the first blast of the storm. Suffering among the city's poor was also reported and the municipal lodging houses she tered the greatest number for any single night since the winter of 1915.

A tug, sighted six miles off Sea Girt, N. J., was making its way to a North Atlantic port tonight with one of its three barges flying a "not under control" flag. The barge's rudder was swept away, a message to the Independent Wireless company stated, but the tug captain refused a steamer's offer of aid. The coast guard cutter Aschunet was notified and went to the tug's assistance.

Liners working their way to piers up the Hudson river were delayed by the gale and blinding sleet. The Navagazione Italiana liner, Colombo, with 1,018 passengers, required three hours to go from Quarantine to her pier at 59th street, a strong wind banking against her port quarter.

The Ulna, of the United Fruit company due today, wirelessed her owners that head winds and high seas would delay her arrival until sometime tomorrow. The Ulna is bound from Kingston and other West Indian ports.

Within the city the fine, powdery sleet froze to pavements and banked in gutters, giving snow removal forces their first task of the winter. Besides the crew of 7,000 street cleaners, 500 extra workers and 200 snow plows were ordered out.

24 MEN RESCUED FROM A NORWEGIAN STEAMER

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Twenty-four men were rescued from the Norwegian steamer Cibao ashore off Cape Hatteras today by life savers from the Cape Hatteras and Creed Hill stations and 12 men were rescued from the Greek steamer Kyzikos, formerly the American steamer Paraguay, which stranded north of Kitty Hawk, N. C.

Four members of the Kyzikos' crew perished last night while the ship was battling a northeast storm 60 miles southeast of Cape Henry.

WIND AT ATLANTIC CITY REACHED 66 MILE AN HOUR

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The inlet section of the city was flooded and trolley service district was crippled by a northeast storm which swept south Jersey today this afternoon.

The mainland suffered some damage with boulevards flooded, while boats were ripped from their fastenings. Three drifting boats were recovered by coast guards in back of Brigantine beach.

The wind reached its highest velocity, 66 miles an hour at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon and was blowing between 60 and 65 miles from that time on for most of the night. The storm lashing the south Jersey coast was off the eastern Carolina coast, moving in this direction. Snow started falling early this morning.

DISTRESS SIGNALS WERE FLOWN BY SCHOONER

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Distress signals flown from the four-masted schooner Zezedee E. Cliff off Minot's Light this afternoon caused coast guard cutters to hurry to her assistance. The schooner reported that she was in no immediate danger, however, but that she was unable to reach the port of Boston because of the heavy northwest gale. She asked that tugs be sent to help her in

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE IN SESSION IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Delegates to the Anti-Saloon league convention were told today by William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson and Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, that no candidate known to favor "nullification of the 18th amendment in the 1928 election" would reach the white house.

The Victor Bergers, the Nicholas Murray Butlers and the Al Smiths of the country" Willis declared, "are not going to write the party platforms of the coming campaign."

Johnson asserted that the number of arrests for drunkenness in large foreign cities far exceeded in proportion to population the number of arrests for the same offence in New York which he described as "possibly the wickedest city in the United States."

"Six men who have been implicated in the planting of that still apparatus on my farm up in New York are in jail," said Johnson, referring to the recent discovery of a still on his property. "Anyone else who wants to know what the inside of a jail is like," he warned, "can just go up to New York and plant a still on my farm."

NORFOLK & WESTERN R. R. WINS HARRIMAN MEDAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The E. H. Harriman gold medal, awarded annually to the railroad which accomplishes the most conspicuous accident prevention work, has been won by the Norfolk and Western railroad for the year, 1926, Arthur Williams, president of the American Museum of Safety, announced today.

The Norfolk and Western showed a reduction during 1926 of more than 23 per cent. in passenger fatalities, and a reduction of more than 11 per cent. in non-fatal accidents, he said.

DIED OF HEART ATTACK AFTER PREACHING SERMON

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. Murray Wilder Dewart, rector of Christ Protestant Episcopal church here, died today of a heart attack shortly after he had preached his Sunday morning sermon. He was fifty-two years old.

Dr. Dewart came to Baltimore in 1922 from the Church of the Epiphany, in Winchester, Mass., and formerly resided in Chardon, Ohio.

Major Brainard Has Landed at Managua

Made the First Non-Stop Flight From the United States to Honduras.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Dec. 4—(AP)—Six days from Miami, Florida, with one stop on the way, Major E. H. Brainard, chief of the United States marine aviation forces, landed in the outskirts of Managua at 2:37 o'clock this afternoon. With him were Sergeana M. P. Shepard and Corporal N. M. Winchester. A great crowd had gathered to welcome the Americans.

The aviators hopped off from Miami in their big Fokker monoplane Saturday morning, and made a landing at Tela, Honduras, at 4:07 in the afternoon, having achieved the first non-stop flight from the United States to Honduras, a distance of about 785 miles. They went into the air again about 11:30 this morning for their 250 or more miles to Managua.

Major Brainard made a graceful landing, and was mightily cheered—and warmly greeted by the waiting crowds. Colonel Guilcq, commanding the marine detachment, Col. Beadle, chief of the Nicaraguan guards, and many other officers rushed up and congratulated the airmen. The major and his companions looked fit as they stepped from their plane.

Telling of the flight, Major Brainard said. "I had hoped to arrive here yesterday, but heavy winds held me back. Leaving Tela this morning, the weather was very bad, and continued so until we were near Tegucigalpa. We did not go to Tegucigalpa, but 10 miles to the eastward. We then came into fine weather, and headed for Managua. Our average speed from Tela was about 90 miles, and we took about three hours to make the trip.

"Nicaragua is a beautiful country from the air, and I will remain for a few days before returning to the United States."

The major explained that his flight was what he termed "a regular duty trip." He carried a letter from the Nicaragua min'ster in Washington to President Diaz, but no other communications.

Nicaraguans are somewhat disappointed, as they had hoped the U. S. marine plane would succeed in making a non-stop flight direct to Managua, thus placing Nicaragua on the aviation map.

FAVORS STATE BUREAUS OF CRIMINAL STATISTICS

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Establishment of criminal statistics bureaus in every state of the Union is recommended by the national crime commission in a report made public today.

Based upon the findings of an investigative committee headed by former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, the report states that America, with more crime than any other civilized nation, has the world's worst criminal statistics. Annual police reports in America were termed "little less than ridiculous."

"The fact that administration of criminal justice is not all it should be," Governor Lowden said, "is due in large part to a woeful lack of criminal statistics. Tinkering with the laws can bring no improvement until we know how much crime there is, how many criminals are apprehended and what disposition is made of their cases."

Such statistics, the report stated, are non-existent except in Massachusetts, although New York state has tried for 93 years to collect them.

"What is needed," the commission asserts, "is knowledge of the number of crimes reported annually to the police; the number of arrests and data on the progress of each prosecution. The information would form the basis for considerative criticism of our present criminal procedure."

The statistical bureaus recommended, coupled with central identification bureaus also suggested, the report states, would be of enormous assistance to the federal census bureau in the tabulation of criminal data.

REV. CLARK DIED FROM SELF-INFLICTED WOUND

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 4—(AP)—Rev. Dr. H. Clarke Colebrook, a leader in Baptist church activities in New York state, who last night shot himself through the right temple with a revolver, died today.

Dr. Colebrook suffered a nervous breakdown a month ago, shortly after resigning as general director of the Baptist state convention. Mental strain increased and last night when he called at the home of a sister, Mrs. William A. Miller, a brooding silence convinced her he was suffering from a severe mental malady. After several hours Dr. Colebrook went to a bathroom and turned the revolver to his head.

Dr. Colebrook, who was 50, married his 30 year old Secretary Miss Dorothy H. Mallory last July, but according to Mrs. Miller, another person had caused domestic troubles. Dr. Colebrook, it was learned today, called his wife on the telephone just before inflicting the fatal wound.

Dr. Colebrook had served as pastor at Albany and Gloversville and Stetson university church at De Land, Florida.

SINCLAIR AND BURNS TO ANSWER CONTEMPT CITATION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair and William J. Burns will be called to account tomorrow for the part they played in the series of events that brought about a mistrial in the Teapot Dome oil conspiracy case.

With four others, the wealthy oil man and internationally known detective will appear before Associate Justice Frederic L. Siddons of the District of Columbia supreme court in answer to a contempt citation based on allegations that they sought to influence the verdict of the trial jury.

How the government will go about proving its charges that the wealthy oil operator had two of his confidential aides, employ Burns detectives to "spy upon, to bribe, intimidate and influence" the jurors was the cause of much speculation on the eve of the hearing.

MERIDEN MAN KILLED WHEN AUTO SKIDDED

CUTTING EXPENDITURES OF THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT

In His Annual Report Secretary Work Showed That the Department Last Year Spent $27,709,408 Less Than During the Preceding Year—During the Past Four Years the Force of Permanent Employes Has Been Reduced by 2,722.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—(AP)—Another record of cutting down expenditures was published today by Secretary Work, who in his annual report showed that the interior department last year spent $27,709,408 less than during the preceding year.

The record also showed that during the past four years operating costs for the department had been cut by a total of $181,331,871, and that the force of permanent employes had been reduced by 2,722, notwithstanding an increase in the functions delegated to the department.

Along with the accomplished reduction in the expenditures of money, Secretary Work urged that similar economy be permitted in the use of natural resources. Calling attention to overproduction of oil and the existing prices, the report emphasized the importance of legislation vesting the secretary with discretion in the matter of leasing and developing the oil resources of the Osage reservation in Oklahoma, a portion of which must be leased annually regardless of market conditions.

The secretary declared that every bureau in the department had shown steady improvement except that of Indian affairs, where the cumulative effect of many years of financial neglect had brought about what he described as "actual poverty."

In discussing the Indian service the secretary renewed his previous recommendations to congress concerning the states' responsibility for the education health, and social welfare of the Indians. "It would be feasible for congress to authorize the secretary to enter into contracts with states for the handling of the health and education of the Indians, the report said, with federal expenditures being made through the states under proper safeguards.

The bureau of pensions at the close of the fiscal year showed 459,942 pensioners on the roll as against 501,723 on June 30, 1926, a net loss to the roll of 11,781. The geological survey explored and mapped two large areas in Alaska during the year and progress toward a map of southeastern Alaska made from aerial maps of the navy has gone steadily forward. There was considerable progress in the development of aerial photography in connection with topographic mapping.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SHIPPING BOARD

WASHINGTON, December 4—(AP)—For every first class merchant ship built in the United States since 1921 Great Britain has built 41, Germany 12, Italy 5 and France and Japan approximately four each.

These figures were contained in the annual report of the shipping board made public today, which also showed that its operating loss for the year ended last June 30 was $16,000,000 as against $19,000,000 the year before, although the United States lines, which the board operates had a profit of $371,000.

The United States liners are the Leviathan the George Washington, the Republic, the President Harding and the President Roosevelt. They lost $962,000 the year before.

Foreign building, the report said, provided foreign competitors not only more ships but also with faster ones, for the modern trend in shipbuilding all has been in the direction of speed, with economy of operation due to the use of up-to-date machinery.

"We are thus being outclassed not only in tonnage, but also in the character of the service rendered the shipper," the report continued. "More and more are we likely to get the less desirable classes of cargo—the commodities invariably handled by slow ships and with low freight rates."

The board possessed 500 ships, 307 in active operation and 516 laid up, at the end of the year. Since 1921 it has sold to American citizens 1,134 ships, representing 4,993,346 tons, for $84,411,023.39, including nine established ship line service disposed of on a basis of guaranteed operation for a fixed number of years.

REPORT OF SEC'Y DAVIS OF THE LABOR DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—(AP)—In prosperity and happiness the "American people so stand as to be the subject of admiration and study the world over," Secretary Davis declared today in the annual report of the labor department. He called for maintenance of high wages and welfare, for control of immigration, and for modification of anti-trust laws to allow the condition he described to be maintained.

"While we take into account the splendid life of plenty and peace we enjoy," the labor secretary said, "we must not suppose that all is perfect with us. The distribution of our national wealth is good, but it is not perfect.

"No matter on what plea or excuse, reduction of wages is bad business and worse economics. The time has passed when any industry or employer who seeks to break down wage scales will be looked upon by the community as shrewd or clever in industry * * *. It is the mutual willingness of the worker to produce and the employer to pay for production that accounts in large measure for our present prosperity. It has crowded the home market with millions of ready consumers and buyers; it has stocked that market with an infinite variety of goods for improving their standard of living."

Mr. Davis declared that the "simple secret of the national prosperity" in the maintenance of high production and high wages had resulted in cessation of strike activity, and predicted that this condition would continue.

"Never before in the history of American industry has the country witnessed such a degree of general harmony between worker and employer," he said. "This attitude of mutual respect, good will and partnership is growing in the country."

EIGHT KIDNAPING SUSPECTS UNDER ARREST IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 4—(AP)—Police of more than a half dozen cities with recovery of more than $700,000 of stolen diamonds as their objective, have joined the Chicago authorities in a search for 22 men and women, said to be members of the gang that kidnaped Moris Reismer, St. Paul, Minn., real estate dealer last Thursday.

Eight suspects have been arrested. They and the 22 at large are said by police to constitute the most powerful diamond robbery gang in the United States. Simultaneously, it is charged, they carried on kidnaping plots on an extensive scale.

In possession of those still at large, police say, is the nearly three quarters of a million dollars of loot, proceeds of robberies in Chicago, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Detroit, St. Louis, Cleveland and other cities.

Even while Reismer was being held captive and effort made to make him pay $75,000 for his release, detectives were tracing the stolen jewels to Chicago. The investigators obtained their most definite clews following the robbery of Swirky brothers of Cleveland of $205,000 worth of diamonds.

The kidnaping of Reismer had its inception in an effort to sell him a part or all of the loot of the Cleveland robbery, police said today.

Reismer said he was taken to an apartment, where he was kicked, beaten and threatened with death and ordered to raise $75,000. He carried only a check for $5,000. Evidently despairing of getting the money, the men released Reismer and he was found last night in a loop hotel.

SIX BRUSH FIRES RAGING IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 4—(AP)—Six brush and forest fires fanned by a heavy north wind, tonight were causing havoc in six separate areas of southern California. All available fire fighting equipment of the forestry service, as well as the fire departments of several towns and cities, and more than 2,000 men were battling the conflagrations.

Carried by a terrific wind, a fire which started shortly after 1 o'clock this morning near Running Spring Park, ten miles north of Redlands, Cal., raged through Plunge Creek Canyon, destroying from 50 to 75 cabins valued at from $200 to $1,000 each. Tonight the fire had passed over Keller Peak and was threatening the Santa Ana watershed.

Another conflagration was discovered late this afternoon in San Antonio Canyon, due north of Claremont and Upland, Cal. The heavy wind was driving the fire south and fire fighters, trucks and equipment were rushed from neighboring towns to the scene.

Another fire in the vicinity of Redlands was reported virtually under control after burning over two thousand acres of brush and timber in the Mint Canyon district. A strong wind, however, was causing some apprehension.

The heavy wind fanned into flames a small blaze near Palm Springs in the San Andreas Canyon, a report to the forestry offices at Pasadena, Cal., said.

LILLIENDAHL MURDER TRIAL DRAWING TO CLOSE

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Dec. 4—(AP)—This was the last Sunday of uncertainty for Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl, and Willis Beach in their fight against a charge of murder and they spent the lagging hours singing old time hymns in their barred cells.

Before another Sunday perhaps tomorow night, their fate will have been decided and they will know whether they must pay with their lives for the killing of the woman's aged husband, Dr. A. William Lilliendahl, of which they are accused.

The seven men and five women who will decide on the guilt or innocence of the two also spent their Sunday in confinement, and they, too, turned to worship on their first day of leisure since the trial opened last Monday.

FUR MODEL ROBBED OF $4,600 ON STREET CAR

BOSTON, Dec. 4—(AP)—Miss Betty M. Fisher, of Pittsburgh, a fur model in a Boston department store, reported to the police tonight that the sum of $4,600, representing her entire savings for four years, had been stolen as she was riding on a street car yesterday.

The girl said she had drawn the money from a bank preparatory to a visit to her home city. She said she had planned to assist her family who were in strained circumstances because of an accident which had befallen her brother in a mine explosion.

VOTING MACHINES TO BE USED IN TODAY'S ELECTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Dec. 4.—Unusual activity has been evidenced by the major parties in the eighteenth biennial municipal election which takes place here this Monday. The polls will be open from six a. m. to four p. m. and for the first time in the history of the city, voting machines will be used.

Voting places are as follows: First ward, lobby of town building, High street entrance; second ward, second floor of old town building on Church street; third ward, booth at corner of Milk and Ives streets near Milk street railroad crossing; fourth ward, booth at 99 Pleasant street near foot of South street.

The moderators for the election will be George E. Gifford, first ward; Lawye G. Gerry, second ward; third ward, L. Vincent Sweeney; and fourth ward, Robert G. Snow. The first two are republicans and the latter two democrats. Headquarters for the two parties will be adjacent to the polls in each of the four wards. When the result is announced, the meeting will adjourn until Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in the town hall to hear the reports of the city officers for the past year and act on the appropriations sanctioned by the board of aldermen as well as doing any other business.

The candidates to be voted on follow: Republican, mayor, Charles A. Gates; aldermen-at-large, Cyril A. Lamoureux and Oliver L. Willard; city clerk and treasurer, Arthur L. Clark; city sheriff, Ralph J. Lussier; assessors, Charles R. Cone and Gerard E. Lousell; first ward alderman, William E. Jackson; second ward alderman, William E. Webber; third ward alderman, James M. Smith; fourth ward alderman, Eugene B. Lewis.

Democrats—John R. Pickett, mayor; aldermen-at-large, Zephire Bergeron and John Reilly; city clerk and treasurer, James J. Lee; sheriff, John M. Ryan; assessors, Joseph F. Gaudreau and Robert E. Casey; first ward alderman, Herbert Sanderson; second ward alderman, M. Eugene Lincoln; third ward alderman, Arthur J. Dubreuil; and fourth ward alderman, William P. Dinneen.

The principal interest is in the mayoralty race between Charles A. Gates who has served as mayor already for three terms and John R. Pickett, manager of the Gem theatre, who had served on the board of assessors for over twelve years with distinction. Alderman William E. Jackson, republican, and Alderman Arthur J. Dubreuil, democrat, are seeking re-election.

RETIRING MAYOR PRAISES WORK OF COMMON COUNCIL

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Dec. 4.—In the annual message of Mayor John C. Tracy to the board of aldermen, mention is made of the notable accomplishments of the past two years, namely the improvements to the water system; the changes in the lighting system, including the white way; the installation of traffic signals at intersections and junctions; building a permanent surfaced amiesite road on West Main street and Bridge street; the installation of sewers on Hope, Ann and Chapman streets, on West Main street to Wilson street, on Oak street between Summit street and Lewiston avenue, and on Prospect and Birch streets; solution of the parking problem by returning to parallel parking on Main street; the installation of the teletype service at police headquarters in line with other cities throughout the state; the installation of a police lighting system with a switchboard at headquarters; centralized purchasing through the purchasing committee of the common council; construction of many new sidewalks thereby beautifying the city; improvements in the fire department, including the purchase of a new pumping engine and an aerial ladder truck, alterations at the Bank street engine house; the harvesting of a sufficient supply of ice at the municipal plant for the needs of the city; the introduction of a new system of accounting at the office of the city clerk by certified public accountants; continuance of the municipal playground system.

Mayor Tracy gives credit to the water committee of which Alderman Robert H. Fenton is chairman for their efforts in bringing the water works improvements to completion. He also expresses appreciation to the street superintendent, Edwin O. Sumner, for the satisfactory manner in which the condition of the streets is maintained. He makes mention of the fact that no disastrous fire has occurred in the city the past year and he expresses appreciation to all those who have assisted him in the administration of city affairs.

Regarding centralized purchasing through the purchasing committee, he states: "However, there are many interferences when this system is attempted in municipal affairs such as political bickering, and political wire pulling which oftentimes defeat the purpose of centralized buying and even with the resolution passed by the council the practice of buying by the committee has continued to the financial disadvantage of the city."

With respect to the West Main street improvement project, he says that it was expected that the street committee would carry out the instruction of the voters but they disregarded it for reasons best known to themselves.

Nineteen cases were disposed of in police court Saturday morning by Judge Frank H. Foss and Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Gaucher, twelve of which were the aftermath of the raid by the police the day before in the establishment at the corner of Railroad and Main streets, conducted by Firth Rawson. Rawson was fined $100 and costs and given a ten-day jail sentence suspended for six months upon the recommendation of the prosecutor. Robert Johnson who was in charge of the place when the raid was staged was fined $50 and costs. Both were charged with keeping a gambling house and Rawson also with owning it. Fined for gambling in the place to the amount of $10 and costs were William Lord, Michael Klopik, Fred Williams, of Stafford Springs, Joseph LaRush, Edward Boucher, of Norwich, and Ralph Millett. Fines of $5 and costs were imposed upon Wilfred Bernard, Charles Smith, William Sullivan; in the case of John Lord, of R. F. D. Willimantic, a nolle without costs was entered by the court. The raid yielded to the police court treasury the amount of $284.38.

The funeral of Mrs. James McCormack Summers was held Saturday morning from her late home, 50 John street, with a high mass of requiem in St. Joseph's church at nine o'clock, Rev. Charles M. Kelly officiating as celebrant. With Mrs. Edmund R. Portelance presiding at the organ, Mrs. Henry Mathieu sang "Abide With Me" as the remains were being borne into the church; "Pie Jesu" at the offertory; and "The Priceless Love of Jesus" as a waiting hymn. Interment followed in the family plot of St. Joseph's cemetery, a committal service being read at the grave by Rev. Father Kelly. The pall bearers were Joseph Sullivan, Thomas F. Friday evening about 6:30 o'clock, a Hudson coach, driven by Alfred Chartier of this city, crashed into and wrecked a wagon on Windham road near Selden street. Both vehicles were proceeding in the same direction. The horse and wagon was being driven by Patrick Sayers who was being accompanied by Timothy Crowley. Sayers contended that he had a light and it was being held by Crowley while Chartier said that he saw no light and that his vision was impaired by the headlights of a car driven by Lyman Maine. The front fender of the coach was damaged. Sayers and Crowley were thrown from the wagon by the impact and the horse ran away.

The annual memorial services of Willimantic Lodge, No. 1311, B. P. O. E., were held Sunday afternoon at the Pleasant street home, the oration for the occasion being delivered by Edwin J. Donnelly, of this city. The B. P. O. E. band, under the direction of Charles N. C. Wheeler, played appropriate music. There were also two vocal solos by Edward Rocheville on the program. The roll call was read by Louis J. Flynn, secretary, and the ritual of the day was carried out by the officers with Exalted Ruler P. D. Donahue in charge. The committee of arrangements comprised George W. Hickey, chairman, Harold C. Lincoln and Charles N. C. Wheeler.

Miss Helen Ottenheimer, of 211 North street, underwent an operation for appendicitis Saturday afternoon. Paul Lombardo, of Silver Lane, East Hartford, who was injured in a recent automobile-motorcycle accident at Columbia, was also operated on Saturday. Mrs. Carleton S. Pollard, of 198 Summit street, was also discharged from the hospital the Saturday after an operation.

At a regular meeting of Francis S. Long Post, No. 30, G. A. R., Saturday afternoon, the annual election of officers took place. A. P. Benner was elected commander; James Haggerty, adjutant; Charles Henry, senior vice commander; Joseph Slater, junior vice commander; John Leonard, chaplain; and Adam Duntz, officer of the day. Four members were present. These officers will be installed in January by the inspector general.

At a special meeting of the board of aldermen Friday evening, action was taken, authorizing the city treasurer to pay to Miss Hilda M. Berard, acting city clerk and treasurer, the sum of $170 representing the difference between her salary as assistant and regular incumbent of the office between September 24th and December 12th. MYSTIC

ROLAND STARTZ IS SHOT WHEN HE TRIPS WHILE HUNTING

(Special to The Record)

MYSTIC, Dec. 4—About 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Roland Startz, 17, met death by being shot. He with his nephew, Winfred Startz, with two guns, went to the woods in the Cow Hill district on woodland opposite Miss Mary McGuire's house. Roland Startz tripped and fell in such a manner as to cause his gun to go off and the full charge went into his stomach. He fell to the ground. Winfred Startz ran to Miss McGuire's house and Homer Whipple, who lives with his parents there, rushed to the aid of Startz and the two young men carried the wounded boy almost to the house and finally laid him on the ground. In the meanime Mrs. Whipple had called the New London ambulance, Dr. L. M. Allyn and relatives. Some of the relatives reached him before he died but he had expired when the ambulance arrived. Dr. Allyn called Dr. Frank M. Hewes, medical examiner of the town of Groton who came and gave permission for the removal of the body to local undertakers' rooms.

Roland Startz was born in Mystic, Stonington side, April 26, 190, the youngest son of the late William Startz and Mrs. Granville Rust. He lived with his mother and stepfather on the Lantern Hill road, Old Mystic, and was employed at the Climax Tube Co., Mystic. Besides his mother he is survived by five brothers, Joseph, Andrew, Frederick and Charles and by two sisters, Mrs. Stephen B. Reynolds and Mrs. Maurice Holdridge and a half-sister, Lillian Rust.

NOANK

Arthur Rathbun who is 6 foot 6 inches tall, was in Donath's the other night. The owner's clock stopped. Mr. Donath is only 5 feet high and the clock is 8 feet 10 inches high and almost touches the ceiling. To wind the clock he would have to get a step ladder. Looking over to Rathbun, seeing how tall he was he said, "There is my ladder!" Standing on the floor, not on tiptoes Rathbun got the clock going by winding and set it to the right time. A large crowd was in and someone in the crowd said, "Is he on stilts that give him a reach of 8 feet 10 inches?" The longest in Noank or up the river. Donath said, "If my clock stops I will send for the champion winder Rathbun!" and everybody cheered. Rathbun got cheated once out of being the tallest fireman. A fireman from out of town streached his head a half inch taller.

Friday night, when everyone was at the supper table, an express train from the east made a loud noise with the whistle. Several people ran out on the streets, thought it was a fire but found the whistle on the engine got stuck. It was 20 minutes before the noise got out of hearing and stopped.

Mrs E. Franche, H. Langworthy and Mrs. John Jensen were the three members of the auxiliary of the American Legion that went aroun the town asking for help toward the families of disabled soldiers at Christmas time. The sum of $29 was collected in the village that will buy the happy children toys and fruit. The auxiliary is having a membership drive and the Legionnaires say "Don't let the auxiliary beat us on getting members!"

William Tourjee was in Saybrook Friday.

Carl Ashcraft has returned from a brief visit in Occum with his uncle, Dave Londson.

Ernest Stark, a Noank boy, leaving the village over 20 years ago without much money, enlisted in the U. S. marines, working up from a buck private in the rear rank, studying nights, was made a captain in the fighting marines. He was stationed in New York when the war broke out, was sent to France with his company and saw some hard fighting. Coming back to New York after the war was over he got out of the army and was not heard from again until a month ago when Ned Carrington met his brother Ira in Brooklyn and asked him if he had heard from Ernest. Ira said "Yes! He is a lawyer in Pennsylvania. He went to college for four years and studied law." That was the first time Ira heard from him in ten years. Both brothers have seen much of the world for Ira has followed every wrinkle on the water while he was with the navy.

Sam Lane took along his dog, Lightning, recently on a moonlight night in the wood's of Center Groton, to hunt for coon. His wife wanted a coon skin for a fur. Lightning the dog got a coon up the tree and Sam got his gun with a good aim for the fur skin for his wife but in some way the gun did not have quite long enough range and the shot killed his dog and the coon had another chance to breathe the fresh air. Hunter Lane was out a dog, for which he mourns his loss and came back home down-hearted over the mistake in losing a well trained dog which money could not buy. His wife is without her coon skin; so it was a hardluck night all round.

Orrin Hodgson of Willimantic is visiting relatives in Noank for a few days.

Miss Marion McDonald is assisting at the post office in Midway.

When the diplomas were given out to the graduating nurse class at Home Memorial hospital, New London, Friday evening, a former Noank girl, Miss Josephine Vallette received her sheepskin telling all her friends in Noank that she is a nurse.

The first opportunity occurred the past week end to put into actual service the newly purchased 1,000 gallon Ahrens-Fox Motor Pumper. During the storm Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock a telephone call was received for a chimney fire at the house at 195 Canal street, recently purchased by Stephen Boris from Minnie Kaplan. Acting Chief Robert Bonner was unwilling to have the new pumper make the run and directed that the Seagraves pumper with Stanley Senior as driver be used. The contents of the 30-gallon booster tank were used to fight the stubborn blaze. The flames were confined to the chimney.

About 9:30 a. m. Saturday three rounds of an alarm were sounded from Box No. 64 Perkins avenue, for a fire at the brick house of Luigi Giuliano, 62 Perkins avenue. The fire started in a bed on the second floor and large volumes of smoke poured from the house. About 1,000 feet of hose had to be laid to the nearest hydrant. The Seagraves Pumper and the truck of the Alert Hook and Ladder company responded. The apparatus returned to headquarters about 10:15.

COLCHESTER

An invitation is extended to all mothers in the town who have children under school age, from the newest baby to children of six to attend the Well Child conference and have their children weighed, measured and examined by the doctors and nurses in attendance. It has been found in the later years of his life that many a child has been allowed to develop a defect in his physical body in the early period of his life which was not detected because its presence was visible only to the trained eye of the physician or nurse. It is to discover these things and to give every child a chance to enjoy the health and strength of body and mind to which he is entitled, thus these well child conferences are to be held. The children should be brought, not because they are sick but because they are well and should be kept well, to each one of the conferences in order that the parents may have the very best advice and counsel possible as to the welfare of their children. The Well Child conference in Colchester is to be held in the Congregational chapel Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 6 from 2 to 4.

Say "Merry Christmas" with a Maytag

SAY Merry Christmas in terms of extra hours of leisure—of increased health and beauty—of lifelong happiness. Give a Maytag for Christmas.

Here is a washer that does an average washing in an hour. With its new, silent power-drive it produces a water action in the scientifically-shaped cast-aluminum tub which forces dirt from garments with astonishing speed. Its New Roller Water Remover expels both water and soap evenly from all fabrics—from pockets and seams as well as from sheets, thus drying the clothes quicker than ever before. An automatic feed still further hastens the water-removing process. Buttons pass easily under the soft rubber roll.

These and other time and effort saving features of the Maytag add to the health, beauty and leisure of every owner.

Say Merry Christmas with a Maytag. You will then be expressing the ancient Yule-Tide wish in a manner that will be appreciated and pleasantly remembered for many years to come.

If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

THE MAYTAG COMPANY, Newton, Iowa Founded 1894

Deferred Payments You'll Never Miss

Why the NEW MAYTAG leads the World

- Automatic-feed, Soft Roller Water Remover, which swings to seven positions and reverses. Does not crush buttons and has instant tension release which is the utmost in safety.
- Non-breakable, heat-retaining, life-lasting, cast-aluminum tub which cleans and empties itself.
- Quiet power-drive with precision-cut steel gears.
- A week's washing done in an hour.
- Tubfuls washed in 3 to 7 minutes.
- No hand-rubbing—even of cuffs and collars.
- Adjustable legs which raise or lower the tub to your height.
- Hinged cover which forms handy shelf when open.
- Beautiful lacquer finish, sanitary and enduring.
- Lifetime washing service—the Maytag is the most durable washer made.

One out of every three washers sold is a Maytag.

STANDARD EQUIPMENT ON ALL NEW FORD CARS

Starter	Dashlight
Five steel-spoke wheels	Mirror
Windshield wiper	Rear and stop light
Speedometer	Oil gauge
Gasoline gauge	Tools

Pressure grease gun lubrication

THE new Ford car has been on the market only a few days, but it has already created unusual interest throughout the country. Millions of people got the full details of it last week for the first time and were delighted with the story of its beauty, speed, comfort, safety and low price.

All day long and far into the night, great crowds gathered in hundreds of Ford salesrooms from Maine to Florida and from New York to San Francisco. Never has such interest been shown in a new car. Never has any new car so far exceeded expectations.

People knew that Ford was making a new car. They knew it was a good car. They had read announcements about it. But they had no idea it would be a car like this. Their quick appreciation of it is shown by the record-breaking sales.

NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

An example of the fine coachwork of the new Ford cars. New military-type sun visor and with crown roof. Narrow pillars and new door construction give unusual vision. Both front seats fold forward, giving easy access to rear seat. Ample space between seats. Your choice of four colors—an unusual feature in a low-price car.

$495 (F.O.B. Detroit)

Greatest day in the history of the automobile industry

Thousands upon thousands of orders for the new Ford car have been received since last Friday. These, and the advance orders placed with us by motorists even before the car was officially announced, will keep the entire Ford plant working day and night for weeks to come.

Such figures are a clear and unmistakable reflection of the value that has been built into the new Ford car. It is, without question, the outstanding purchase of all time in the light-car field.

Until you see the beauty of the new Ford car—ride in it—know the thrill of driving it easily and safely through thickest traffic or step it up to sixty and sixty-five on the open road, you cannot begin to appreciate the extent of the many mechanical improvements embodied in its construction.

It is difficult to believe that so much speed, power, beauty, quiet, comfort and safety can be had at such a low price. It would be impossible if this new car were made by anyone but Ford.

Only Ford could sell such a fine car at such a low price

The low price of the new Ford car and its exceptional performance are the result of manufacturing practices and economies as unusual as the car itself. The new Ford is more than a new automobile. It is a new idea in modern, economical transportation.

By all means, take a little while today to learn about this new automobile. You will know that there is nothing quite like it anywhere in quality and price.

HAVING IT, LET'S HOLD IT

The report of Secretary Hoover of the department of commerce is of particular interest because it deals with conditions of the nation's business. Mr. Hoover isn't dealing with politics in this report any more than he was at that time a few weeks ago when he failed to show up to receive a medal or diploma because he was too busy with the duties of his office. As the results of the reports he has received and the observations made he sets forth the state of affairs and he does it in a manner that carries conviction. It isn't a case of saying something pleasant to bolster up the spirits. He knows whereof he speaks and he deals with the entire country and not simply one section.

Looking over the whole country, taking into consideration all its industries, surveying business in general, he finds the country prosperous and prosperity on a firm basis. He finds real wages higher than ever before there exists the highest standard of living, there has been a substantial gain by industry in the present year, the farm crops for the year are likely to surpass those of the previous year, he sees a good omen in the increased use of electricity and the volume of house construction has also gone ahead of that in late years.

In reference to the prosperity of the year Mr. Hoover regards it as "the result of general and permanent progress."

When prosperity is considered, it is inevitable that there is a desire to know how long it is going to last, or whether it will continue. It has come about at a time when governmental conditions have been shaped to get and hold it. Its continuance will, therefore, depend to a considerable extent upon the manner in which those influences for good are encouraged. We cannot for instance tear down that financial structure which has done so much to give confidence, we cannot rush into radical departures from safety and sanity and we cannot disregard the wise handling of our resources and replace it with extravagance and a disregard for the uncertainties of the future. Whether prosperity remains depends to a large extent upon the kind of encouragement it gets to remain. Having it, we should do everything possible to keep it.

DEFECTIVES AS DRIVERS

Of course Motor Vehicle Commissioner Stoeckel doesn't believe that there should be a state-wide system by which such defectives can be checked up and the driving licenses withdrawn or withheld from them. It is his belief that members of the medical profession should be required to report the general condition of defectives who come under their observation with the idea of having that information given to the licensing authorities for the purpose of keeping driving licenses out of their possession.

All will agree that such persons should not be permitted to increase the dangers of the highways, and when drug addicts are included therein it means the exclusion of another irresponsible class.

In connection with his latest bulletin the commissioner refers to the bad temper of individuals which contributes to breaches of traffic rules and a fairly good sprinkling of accidents, also to the timidity of some drivers because of their anticipation of what might occur because of the action of other drivers.

There is undoubtedly a large number fully conscious of the menace of other drivers. Possibly there is undue apprehension on their part in some instances, but in tight places and on straight aways reliance upon everyone else to do his part and respect rights doesn't give protection. Undue apprehension is in considerable part due to those who terrorize every driver possible by imposing upon their rights. Hogging, cutting in and bad driving force nervousness and irritation on the part of the victims. Because they are obliged to yield in order to avoid an accident, when such force is most unjustly applied, creates apprehension on the part of many drivers and they are not to be blamed for it. When they are, it is like penalizing the law abiding citizen and giving the lawbreaker free rein.

BORDER CROSSING RIGHTS

Now that the new regulations are in effect concerning the admission to this country of those aliens who have been in the habit of crossing the border daily to come to their employment in this country, it may hold back some but for the most part compliance with the requirements will overcome any difficulty.

The question of dealing with the large number of those commuting over the border each day has been getting the attention of the government authorities, having been raised because of the provisions of the quota immigration law. As the result of the study of that situation native born Canadians will still be able to get permits whereby they can continue as they have been. To relieve the situation for those not born in Canada but living in Canada and going back and forth over the border daily, the arrangement whereby they will be given priority in aplications for immigrant visas will help in relieving the situation.

It was inevitable that some should fail to comply with the requirements by the date fixed, but for those entitled to permits and those entitled to priority within the quota the situation should be greatly relieved without causing any serious injustice.

This means somewhat of a departure from past practices, but it has been made necessary by the large number who have been coming across the borders in violation of the law, so much so that advantage was being taken of the practice that had prevailed along the northern border in the past.

Whether the new arrangement is going to prove ideal will be determined by practice. It has been adopted with the idea of making a start and with the hope that under it there will be avoided the injustice that would have been caused to large numbers commuting over the border if exclusion had been decided upon. Such was, of course, possible, but it was not desired.

CONNECTICUT ALSO

Speaking at the state agricultural conference in Rhode Island, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Dunlap said that state's potential timber wealth is three times as great as its present wealth and adequate forestry laws backed by funds and capable men should enable the state to become a model timber producing state. He urged such remedial steps as a solution of the forest fire problem, public ownership of large areas of forest land, growing trees in nurseries for reforestation purposes and employment of trained foresters.

Rhode Island isn't such a large state that indulgence in public ownership of large areas can become as extensive as in some states but Secretary Dunlap has given Little Rhody something to think seriously about. The fact is that the New England states can well take to heart what has been told to the smallest state of the group. Some of them are doing it to a greater or less extent. Right here in Connecticut there is just as good opportunities as in the state to the east.

Frequently has the advantage of growing more timber been pointed out in Connecticut, including the huge bill that is paid each year for the transportation of imported timber alone, to say nothing of the unused land that might be put to profitable use through reforestation efforts and the giving of more attention to reforestation activities.

How Rhode Island will react to the advice that has been given it is a question, but it is through the persistent pounding away on such problems that the solution is finally accomplished. In the meantime Connecticut will do well to note the many opportunities for profiting by the advice.

NOT A CANDIDATE

Thus far there are very few who have proclaimed the fact that they are candidates for the republican nomination for the presidency. There are several, who have declared that they are not candidates, that they favor somebody else. The latest of these is Vice President Dawes.

It is not just recently that his name has been mentioned, for it has invariably been included in the list of possibilities and it has already figured in straw votes which have been taken. But Mr. Dawes on each occasion that he has spoken has made a negative reply. Months ago he didn't say "no" but indicated as much when he declared he didn't know it if he was, when asked as to his candidacy.

This month he is more emphatic. He says now that he is not a candidate for the republican nomination in 1928. That of course means that he is not making any effort in that direction, that he has no organization working in his behalf and that he is not engaged in any other way in trying to get delegates to the convention to vote for him. Furthermore he says that he favors the nomination of Former Governor Lowden of Illinois, his own state, believing that President Coolidge does not want it.

That statement is definite but it doesn't, however, eliminate Mr. Dawes from the possibility of getting the nomination if contingencies arise and he is regarded as the desirable man. He hasn't said he wouldn't take it and we don't believe that he will. Should the nomination come to him and he accepted, it would not be inconsistent with the statement that he is not a candidate.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A wire frying basket is convenient for frying croquettes and oysters.

Keep gas stoves clean to prevent a disagreeable odor in the house.

Launder embroidered scallops before trimming, to give a nice edge.

Carbide tetrachloride will remove many of the most common stains.

A spoonful of burnt sugar added to gravies will make them brown.

A ring of stoned dates makes a nice garnish for a mold of custard.

Keep rolls of bandages wrapped in tissue paper in the medicine chest.

A slice of lemon placed in the water where celery hearts are being crisped will make them more tender.

Cooper wool will readily clean discolored bake dishes.

To make a candle fit any candlestick, dip the end in hot water to soften it, or hold over the fire for a minute.

Mold crab meat in tomato jelly and serve on crisp lettuce.

Gas stove burners may be cleaned by boiling them in a strong solution of washing soda. Afterward rinse them thoroughly in hot water.

Delicious biscuits and cookies can be made with sour cream.

To keep icing soft, add a little baking powder to the whites of eggs before beating, then beat and pour the hop syrup over them.

Keep different kinds of canned goods on an emergency shelf and always be ready for the unexpected guest.

Peas and mushrooms served together are delicious.

Hang a paper pad or a slate in the kitchen on which to write the supplies that are running low.

One of the most delightful new luncheon delicacies is the vegetable sandwich. Any vegetable can be used, either mashed, chopped or with cream sauce.

BAKING TEMPERATURE.

When baking in a gas oven, if a recipe calls for a moderate oven, reduce the flame one-half at the end of ten minutes. For a quick oven keep the burner turned up during all or nearly all of the baking.

FRUIT STRAINING.

Take a large piece of flannel suitable for straining and form it into the usual tapering bag. To the four corners sew securely lengths of strong tape. Now take two substantial kitchen chairs and by means of the tapes suspend the bag between them, standing the chairs back to back. Place a large bowl below the bag to catch the juice of the fruit. With a heavy weight of fruit in the bag, it is necessary to place a counterweight of some kind on the seat of each chair. This will prevent them from tipping up.

Next morning the fruit will be strained ready for use.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Hats of felt and velvet are most charming when carried out in wistaria color.

Nighties for the college girl called "Collegiates" come in pastel shades of silk with lace yokes and long sleeves, with lace cuffs.

A cream and pink lace evening gown has a gypsy girdle of vivid colors that gives the moulded silhouette and adds dash.

An interesting new costume consists of dress and coat made of black velvet polka-dotted in white, and trimmed with fox fur dyed a delicate yellow.

Jeweled heels are the latest in modern jewelry. Precious stones are set in a traced framework of platinum on the heels of silver or gold brocaded slippers.

Dignified as well as striking, is a frock of black velvet with a deep yoke of Venetian point lace. The left shoulder-strap is composed of a band of very small gardenias.

Some of the most becoming coats of the season are of green cloth with trimming of long-haired furs. The lighter colored furs are the ones most used this winter with green.

Simple and wearable is a nightgown, silk of course, that is sleeveless and trimmed about the deep "V" neck with a bias band of the material. A pocket and string belt of the silk complete the picture.

An evening wrap of much beauty is made of white velvet and trimmed with embroidery of crystal beads, and gold and silver threads. The collar is made of a gathered puff of the velvet.

In the smartest evening frocks designed in Paris and New York, the skirt shows an increase of an inch in length. Frequently a still longer effect is given by the unevenness of the hemline.

New bracelets that are quite charming are made of strips of gold tempered like steel. There are two strips, one underneath the other, and the outer forms a roll on either edge.

Whether she has Scottish ancestors or not, the small girl of eight or nine will enjoy wearing a dress with a skirt of tartan plaid, and a tan sweater with bits of the colors in the plaid repeated at the neck and wrists.

EVENING SCARFS.

Scarfs are still popular even with evening dress, but to be in conformity with the mode they should be long and narrow, so that they may be knotted and hang down the wearer's back. For use with a lace dress, nothing is more swanky than a long narrow lace or beaded scarf with a small narrow flounce of lace or embroidery.

NEW COAT FROCK.

One of the smartest of the new frocks is a coat model which opens over a foundation slip of silk beautifully embroidered in metal thread. A successful color combination is navy will and apple green crepe de china.

LAUNDRY HINTS.

Iron frills, lace sleeves and collars of blouses first.

Instead of hanging out a line when one has a few pairs of hose washed out, pin them to a wire coat hanger, then hang in a suitable place to dry.

Try granulated sugar in rinsing water in washing laces instead of starch. The result will prove highly satisfactory.

Iron rosettes with the curling iron. Slip the hot iron into each loop of the ribbon. It will make the rosette look like new.

Silk handkerchiefs should be washed with borax in tepid water, with little or no soap. Iron them before they dry.

SAVE LAUNDRY

Oilcloth doilies are so practical to use for table covering for breakfast and lunch. They are dainty and attractive and yet can be wiped off after each meal and be just as fresh for the next appearance. They prove a great saving on laundry, especially where there are children at the table.

PROTECT YOUR GUESTS.

How often have you been visiting and found your hostess has neglected to switch on the light in the upper halls, thus causing you hopeless embarrassment by stumbling over side tables, etc. Let this serve as a warning to you to look out for the little things when you are entertaining.

ON THE BUFFET PLATTER.

When serving salads at a buffet lunch when the guests are not seated at a table, it is wise to shred the lettuce. Then the guests can enjoy this most beneficial food without fear of a mishap.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

One of the best preservatives for a good disposition is a pair of comfortable shoes for every day.

Try putting a half cup of vinegar in the rinsing water when next you wash your hair. It will soften it and give it a pretty sheen.

When the hands must be in water a good deal they lose too much of the natural oil in the skin, so that it is imperative to supply the deficiency regularly by external applications. A daily massage with cold cream will be helpful in such cases, but it should be supplemented by the old fashioned remedy of coating the skin with food cream and sleeping with old gloves on over night. In this way hands that have hard usage during waking hours may have a chance to recuperate, as it were, during sleep.

The average person takes very little care of a toothbrush. It usually rests in a glass or a stand, exposed to dust and possible flies. Now and again it may be sterilized. But a brush may be kept constantly sterilized by the simple expedient of keeping it in a glass tube, for that is what a new brush sterilizer amounts to. The glass tube has a hook in the stopper on which the brush is placed; the brush then hangs in the tube and is sterilized in the vapor given off by the sterilizing substance at the bottom of the tube.

BE SURE THAT THE BABY DOES NOT WEAR TIGHT SHOES

Babies should not wear shoes or stockings until they are ready to walk unless foot coverings are required for warmth, according to the State College of Home Economics at Ithaca.

When shoes or stockings are worn they should be large enough to allow free movement of the toes, and they should be replaced before the child outgrows them. For this reason it is advisable that few pairs of stockings be purchased for the infant's first outfit and that all stockings and bootees be at least one-half an inch longer than the child's foot.

As soon as the child begins to walk care should be taken not to tire him for the muscles and bones are still weak. Going barefooted, whenever weather conditions permit, is good for the child, and he should walk naturally, toeing straight ahead.

The baby's first shoes should have flat, flexible soles and pliable tops. Those that resemble moccasins are good for the youngster's feet. The lines of the shoe should follow the natural outline of the foot obtained by standing the child on a sheet of paper and tracing around his foot. The shoe should have broad toe-room and should be an inch longer than the tracing.

Stockings should also be from one-half to one inch longer than the foot. Cotton socks, or no stockings at all, are preferred in warm weather, but in cold weather cotton and wool or silk and wool mixtures are good. Another fibre with wool makes it shrink less in laundering and makes it less irritating to tender skins.

TURN MATTRESS WEEKLY

Be sure to turn your mattresses at least once each week. This keeps the mattress from wearing unevenly and prolongs its life, besides meaning a more comfortable bed.

WHEN YOUR CLOCK STOPS.

If your clock is a large one, place a small uncorked bottle of kerosene inside the case and leave it until all the oil evaporates, or with an atomizer spray the works. Usually after the first twenty-four hours the clock will run as well as ever, although it may require winding at shorter intervals than before. Turning a smaller clock face down and putting a few drops of kerosene around the setting and winding screws is also effective.

SPARKLING CRUETS.

To clean stained cruets, half fill with hot soapsuds to which one teaspoonful of baking soda has been added. Drop in some broken egg shells and let stand for an hour, shaking now and then. Rinse with hot water and dry.

WHEN TRAVELING.

A small electric iron, six tiny clothespins and a short line packed in a box that fits into a corner of the overnight bag are convenient for the traveler.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

School teachers in Japan are forbidden to have their hair bobbed, the educational authorities claiming that it sets a bad example to their pupils.

Miss Genevieve Cline of Cleveland, Ohio, has been recommended for place on the Court of Customs Appeals in New York at a salary of $9,000 a year.

After trying in vain for three days to find a word she could not spell, the judges awarded the California State spelling championship to Miss Helen L. Blanchard of Stockton.

Regulations barring women from the mine pits and from performing general work at night in all the mining regions of Japan are under consideration by the social affairs bureau of the Home Office.

Eleanor, Connie and Elsie Robertson of Pecos, Texas, are probably the only triplet cowgirls in the country. They are now 16 years of age and were able to ride bronchos from the time they were first able to walk.

Mrs. Mary B. Walcott of Washington, D. C., has been made a member of the Board of Indian Commissioners. She takes the place made vacant by the death of George Vaux, Jr., of Philadelphia.

ABSOLUTELY NO GREASE.

Remove every trace of fat from the top of broths served to invalids. It may be only a little bit, but just the sight of any grease might take away a fastidious appetite.

MARKING WITH INK.

When marking linens or clothing with indelible ink, stretch the material in embroidery frames so as to have a smooth, firm surface.

RECIPES.

Apricot Whip—One package lemon or orange fruit flavored gelatin, 1 cup boiling water, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup apricot pulp, 1-2 cup apricot juice. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add salt, apricot pulp and juice and chill by setting in cracked ice or very cold water. When almost set beat with egg beater until stiff enough to hold its shape. Pile lightly in sherbet glasses lined with lady fingers or in small molds and chill until firm. Canned, sweetened, fresh or stewed apricots may be used.

Peach Dessert—One package orange fruit flavored gelatin, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup cold water, 1 can halved peaches. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. Chill. Drain syrup from peaches. Place peaches with cut side down in muffin pans or individual molds and pour over each the gelatin mixture to just cover the peaches. Chill until firm. When ready to serve turn out on plate; fill hollow of each peach with whipped cream.

The New Idea of Cancer

Many Cases Can Be Cured If Reported Promptly

BULLETIN No. 6.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR IN CANCER.

The family doctor is the key man in the control of cancer.

It is to him that a person should go for diagnosis and treatment. If the family physician is not certain of the diagnosis, he should not wait, but refer the patient to some other physician or to a hospital or clinic where special facilities exist for the examinations which are required.

It is not reflection upon the family physician when he cannot himself make a diagnosis in cancer, for the disease takes so many forms and affects people in so many ways that it is sometimes impossible, even with the best equipment, skill and experience, to be certain of the trouble. There is an old saying and a true one to the effect that the more simple the diagnosis the more fatal the case. The reason for this lies in the fact that advanced cases of cancert present symptoms which are unmistakable, whereas newly formed cancers in certain locations may present few or no symptoms.

The family doctor in cancer should be the patient's guide, philosopher and friend. He is familiar with all the resources in his region of the country which can be turned to the advantage of his patients. He should be suspicious of cancer upon the slightest evidence, and he should be firm in the instruction he gives as to treatment. Being a practitioner of medicine and not a surgeon, he may not be able to perform the operation, if one is required, but he should know the qualifications of those who can do so with the greatest skill. He should be aware of the pitfalls which lie in the field of quackery and be able to guide his patients away from them.

POETRY

Compensation

When the strong tie, unravelling, breaks one day,
That bound our loved ones to this earth below,
And they steal swiftly, silently away
And we are left to mourn, who loved them so—

'Tis then that they reach back, with loving hands,
To weave the tie far stronger than before,
For in the fabric are immortal strands,
That draw us gently ot that distant shore.

We need not dread the day when, facing west
And growing old, we wander down the hill,
For then a goodly company, at best,
Will hurry by when we are lagging still.

If you, by some fell chance, are pioneer
And loved ones, halting, linger far behind—
Go forward bravely, showing them that fear
Is groundless, for you know that God is kind.

So if you live as nearly as you can
The life God meant, and gave you at your birth,
How joyously you carry out His plan,
And leave without regret this kind old earth.

—By Helen R. Stetson.

Home

A white road winding a green land through—
Here a scent o' primrose, there a stretch o' blue;
A gold gorse burning on a tall hillcrest:
These will I be seeking when I turn me west.

A gray mist lifting at a pale dawn's break,
A low wind crooning round a reed-rimmed lake,
A sea gull crying o'er the ocean's breast:
These will I be finding when I turn me west.

A brown thrush singing on a wild rose spray,
A daft stream dancing down a wind-swept brae,
A blackbird calling through an autumn gloam;
These will I be hearing when I turn me home.

—Liam P. Clancy, in the Spectator.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Husband—They say the prettiest women marry the biggest dumbbells.

Wife—You flatterer!—Pathfinder.

Mae—"Isn't it a pretty hat?"

June—"But don't you think it should have some ornament in front to distract attention from the fact?"—Detroit news.

Customer—Have you any eggs in which you can guarantee there are no chickens?

Shopkeeper—Yes, sir—duck's eggs—Passing Show, London.

He (after the show)—Let me kiss you good night.

She—No. I'm saving my kisses.

He—Then let me add a couple to your collection—Answers.

"My daughter is going to marry a chauffeur," exclaimed Mr. Chuggins.

"Are you disappointed?"

"Yes. It looks like a reflection on the way I have been driving the old family fliv."

She—"Besides his great work as an inventor, Thomas Edison also raised a son."

He—"That explains then how he learned to do with only four hours sleep."—Western Newspaper Union.

Fisherman—Is this lake a public one?

Native—Yes.

Fisherman—Then it won't be a crime for me to catch fish here?

Native—I should say not. It would be a miracle.—Capper's Weekly.

OBITUARY.

Johanna Haggerty.

Johanna Haggerty, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Haggerty of No. 105 Spring street, died Saturday at the Backus hospital, just before she was to have undergone an operation. Her death was entirely unexpected. The child was born in Norwich, Feb. 5, 1919, and attended the Elizabeth street school, and St. Patrick's church.

She is survived by her parents, her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Crowley, of No. 105 Spring street, two brothers, William and Jeremiah Haggerty, and three sisters, Catherine, Margaret and Mary Haggerty.

Henry L. Henchog.

Henry L. Henchog, formerly of Versailles, died Wednesday, Nov. 30, at a government hospital in New Orleans, La., where he had gone for treatment. He was an ex-service man, serving overseas in the World war and during action he was gassed. He was born in Lebanon 27 years ago. A sister, Mrs. Louis Selcer, of Versailles, survives him.

FUNERALS.

Meyer Bruckner.

Sunday noon the funeral of Meyer Bruckner, father of Herman A. Bruckner, was held at his home, No. 53 Washington street. Many relatives and friends were present. The service was conducted by the officers of Norwich lodge, I. O. B. A., and burial took place in the I. O. B. A. cemetery in Greeneville. Mourners were present from Providence, New York and New London. Hourigan Bros. had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mr. Bruckner died Friday night about midnight at his home, as the result of a shock suffered November 4th. He was 65 years of age and was born in Austria. About 38 years ago he came to this country and located in Norwich three years later. In Austria about 45 years ago he was united in marriage with Esther Sternberg. Mr. Bruckner was an attendant at the Brothers of Joseph Synagogue and was a member of Norwich lodge, I. O. B. A.

For a number of years he was engaged in business on Main street as a furrier. He is survived by his wife, six sons, Abraham, Herman A., Leon, Morris, Irving, all of this city, and Louis Bruckner of New York, and four daughters, Mrs. Sarah Halpern, Pittsburgh, Mrs. Ida Dworskt, Raleigh, N. C., Mrs. Ettie Brenner of New London and Miss Augusta Bruckner of this city.

Mrs. Walter H. Patterson.

At 9.15 o'clock Saturday morning the funeral of Mrs. Walter H. Patterson was held from the home of her sister, Miss Katherine A. Lyons, of 35 Brook street, with a large attendance of relatives and friends. At 10 o'clock there was a requiem mass at St. Mary's Memorial church, Rev. John F. Coholan, celebrant. Mrs. M. J. Farrell presided at the organ and at the offertory Miss Josie A. Hartle sang Pie Jesu. As the waiting hymn she sang When Evening Comes, and at the recessional, Chopin's Funeral March was played by the organist.

The bearers were C. A. Shroder of Boston, H. L. Patterson of Milford, N. H., John Murphy of Providence, John Corcoran, David Carroll and William La Rochelle. The burial took place in St. Mary's cemetery where Rev. William A. Keefe conducted the committal service. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. Mourners were present from New York, Boston, Providence, Dansville, N. Y., Amherst, Mass., and Milford, N. H.

Frank Herbert Pullen.

Former employes of The Norwich Evening Record, the present staff of The Record and officials and employes of The Norwich Bulletin, were numbered in the very large attendance of relatives and friends present at the funeral of Frank Herbert Pullen, held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his home, No. 52 Lincoln avenue. Rev. Samuel H. Howe, D. D., pastor of Park Congregational church, conducted the service, reading a Scripture selection and offering prayer.

The burial took place in the family plot in Yantic cemetery, and Rev. Dr. Howe conducted the committal service. The honorary bearers were William H. Oat, C. A. VanDeusen of Hudson, N. Y., Charles B. Lee, Norris S. Lippitt, New London, John F. Parker, John F. Rogers, Frank L. Woodard and Squire Gregson. The active bearers were John D. Moulton, John B. Gallivan, Alexis H. Charnetski, Arthur G. Crowell, Matthew F. Sheridan and Charles J. Riordan, all present or former employes of the Record. There was a wealth of very beautiful floral remembrances, bearing mute testimony to the high esteem in which Mr. Pullen was held by his numerous friends and acquaintances. Undertaker C. A. Gager had charge of the funeral arrangements.

BANQUET AND DANCE CELEBRATE VICTORY LODGE NINTH ANNIVERSARY

Victory lodge, No. 4, Independent Order of Odd Ladies, Manchester Unity, celebrated its ninth anniversary with a banquet, concert and dance Saturday evening at the Wauregan hotel, having covers laid for 152 for the banquet at 6:30. The following menu was served: grape fruit, consomme, olives, celery, roast chicken, dressing, mashed potatoes, mashed turnips, cranberry sauce, ice cream, fancy cakes.

In the speaking programme which followed the banquet, the address of welcome was given by Noble Grand Mrs. Elizabeth Houston and Mayor Milo R. Waters, who was a guest, extended the greetings of the city.

Robert McNeely was toastmaster and there were interesting responses by Past Provincial Grand Master Thomas Addison, Provincial Deputy Grand Master John Wood, Past Provincial Grand Lady Mrs. Annie S. Woolley; Past Provincial Grand Lady Mrs. Annie Partridge; Past Grand Mrs. Fred Bentley; Provincial eputy Grand Lady Mrs. Rachel O'Brien, and P. P. O. S. Charles Barnes, of Samaritan lodge, Baltic.

Following the speaking there was a concert programme in which enjoyable solos were rendered by P. G. Richard Oat and P. G. Mrs. Elizabeth Laird and the evening concluded with dancing for which Dave Lyons orchestra played a popular programme.

Representatives were present from Samaritan and Liberty lodges of Baltic, Livingstone and Primrose lodges of Plainfield and Friendship lodge of Waterford.

The committee carrying out the arrangements for the successful observance was P. G. Mrs. Betsy Hartley, P. G. Mrs. Margaret Wood, P. G. Mrs. Elizabeth Laird; N. G. Mrs. Elizabeth Houston, P. G. Mrs. Mary Greenhaigh, P. G. Mrs. Anna Addison, V. G. Mrs. Clara Hayden, and Mrs Emma Lamphere.

GETS INJUNCTION AGAINST MANSFIELD SCHOOL BOARD

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Dec. 4.—A temporary injunction restraining the Mansfield town school committee from preventing Louis Osso, William O'Connell, John Cote and Reginald Cahoon from attending the Mansfield town schools was granted Miss Katherine Murphy in the Tolland county superior court at Rockville by Judge Allyn L. Brown yesterday. Sheriff Fred O. Vinton served writs to that effect today on T. Arthur Barrows, Carlton King, Francis Fish, Paul A. Benson, William F. Kirkpatrick, James W. Green, Alice J. Stearns, Parker Wildes and James Kerwin, all of Mansfield, and members of the school committee of the town.

This action has been brought about following a vote of the Mansfield school committee to exclude the four students named from the town's schools unless tuition was paid for them. It is claimed that the children around whom the issue revolves are not legal residents of Mansfield, and that therefore the town is not under obligations to bear the expense of their education. They have been placed in the home of Miss Katherine Murphy by the Connecticut Childrens' Aid society, of which Ralph Barrow, of Hartford, is the executive secretary, and although the name of the association appears nowhere in the injunction, it is generally felt here that the issue is between the Connecticut Childrens' Aid society and the town of Mansfield, rather than Miss Murphy.

"We have taken the position that the tax payers of Mansfield are under no obligation to educate gratis children from other towns and other states," declared William F. Kirkpatrick, secretary of the school committee, in a statement here this morning. "A small number of outside children would not likely affect the town's school budget but when such children begin to be numbered by the score the problem takes on a little different aspect. The town of Coventry has authorized for the current school year payment of tuition for six children that reside in Coventry but attend school in Mansfield. The Hebrew Orphanage has in other years paid tuition regularly for New York children who were sent to Mansfield for their early schooling. These and other cases are the basis of the committee's conclusion that children from Windham or Hartford or any other town or state should be required to pay tuition if they desire to avail themselves of the town's educational facilities."

Mr. Kirkpatrick would not discuss what action the committee would take on the injunction, and no settlement will be made until a meeting of the committee.

TRAFFIC BEACON IS WRECKED BY TROLLEY

The flashing traffic beacon at Shannon corner, which was wrecked several weeks ago by a load of hay, again came to grief Sunday evening when the base was smashed by a trolley car. The 8.15 o'clock car bound for Laurel Hill, split the switch at the corner and the rear end of the car crashed into the base of the beacon.

The beacon was removed from the base by street department employes and stored at police headquarters until the damage to the base can be repaired. It is possible that an entirely new base will be needed. The trolley car was back on the rails shortly after the accident and continued its trip.

Many expressed the opinion that a signal suspended over the center of the street would be an improvement at this point instead of the beacon with its big concrete base.

SALVATION ARMY HAS KETTLES FOR CONTRIBUTIONS

Two Salvation Army kettles were placed in position on Main street Saturday, one in front of the Porteous and Mitchell store, and the other in front of the Lincoln store. Two others will soon be placed in the central part of the city.

Contributions placed in the kettles will be used to defray the expenses of 100 baskets of food which the Salvation Army will provide for poor and needy families of the city at Christmas. Each basket will contain food for six persons. The baskets will be distributed the day before Christmas.

Announcement is made by Capt. W. E. Gilleo that a Christmas tree for 200 children will be held at the army headquarters December 27th.

SLED WENT BETWEEN REAR WHEELS OF AUTO

A ten-year old boy, Leslie Meech, of 27 Main street, had a fortunate escape from injury late Sunday afternoon as he was sliding on his sled on Church street towards Washington square. He was sliding on the sidewalk alongside the Breed theater building and when the sled left the walk for the roadway in Washington square it came into the path of the taxi driven by Earl L. Rollinson of 97 Sherman street, who was rounding the corner from Main street to go up Church street.

The sled went between the rear wheels of the automobile, but the boy told the driver he threw himself off and was not hurt except for a bruise on his arm.

Glove Made Fire Call

At 3.41 o'clock Sunday morning Engine 3 and Squad A responded to a call for a fire in the three story frame building at 215 North Main street owned by Jacob Slosberg. A glove left on a heater pipe was found smouldering, causing a volume of smoke to filter through the house. There was no damage.

Passed Dental Examination.

Lewis Fox of 209 West Main street was one of the 22 who successfully passed the state dental examinations held in Hartford last month.

MEMORIAL SERVICE BY NORWICH LODGE OF ELKS

Four names of members of Norwich lodge of Elks, No. 430, whose deaths have occurred in the past year were added to the roll call of deceased Brothers, when the lodge held the annual memorial exercises Sunday evening in the lodge room at the Elks' home on Main street. These, with the dates of death, were Charles F. Wells, April 23; Thomas Taylor, July 5; James H. Hankins, Sept. 5; and John Donovan, Nov. 1. As their names were called by Secretary William R. Balcom and the answer "Absent" was made the bell in the lodge room clock was tolled impressively.

Mayor Norman C. Stevens, of Hartford, a member of the lodge in that city, delivered the memorial address, reminding his hearers that they had gathered to pay tribute to those who had passed the invisible gate to the valley of silence, to recall the faces of those they had known in the great brotherhood of the Elks, and to erect in the hearts of those surviving the tablets of love and memory to those who are gone.

He asked his lodge brothers to inquire of themselves what they were doing with the golden hours to show forth brotherly love, charity, justice and fidelity, not only among Brother Elks but in the world at large, so that their lives might be made worthwhile because of the love for their great fraternity. "Life is too short for hatred," he said, "and we should have only a charitable disposition towards those with whom we associate. Of our absent brothers we will feel that they are 'just away' and we are shortly to meet with them again."

The opening ceremonies and the memorial ritual were conducted by the lodge officers as follows:

Jams M. Osten, exalted ruler; Nicholas J. Doyle, esteemed leading knight; W. W. Carrigan, esteemed loyal knight; Henry F. Bamber, esteemed lecturing knight; William R. Balcom, secretary; Lawrence E. Millea, treasurer; Frederick W. Hutchinson, Tyler; Frank P. Donnelly, esquire; James T. Egan, inner guard; Richard P. Quinn, chaplain; Hugh Kinder, organist; trustees, Jeremiah J. Fitzgerald, Nelson J. Ayling, John F. Carney.

The musical programme was of especial interest, beginning with the orchestra selection, Adoration (Browski), which was finely rendered by the Elks' orchestra under the direction of Brother John M. Swahn. At the conclusion of the ritualistic ceremonies, the orchestra rendered another excellent number, Reverie, by Drum. Herbert Rich was heard in two violin solos, The Rosary (Nevin) and Andante Pathetique (Kinder). Prof. Rich, who has just returned from Baltimore, where he was a member of the Baltimore Symphony orchestra, was at his best, playing with the style and expression of a true artist. Of especial interest was the rendition of the composition, "Andante Pathetique," for violin and piano, composed by Prof. Hugh Kinder who is rapidly coming to the front as a composer and is well known as a singer and pianist. Miss Sadie Thompson, one of his pupils, was the soloist for the exercises, displaying a voice of great beauty in her number, Just As I Am, by Hausler. Prof. Kinder was the accompanist for both the soloists. As a whole, the musical programme was considered the best that Norwich lodge has had for some time and the appearance of these artists will be welcome before Norwich audiences.

In keeping with the rest of the service were the beautiful floral decorations arranged in the lodge room by Brother Otto F. Ernst. Palms were gracefully arranged upon the platform and the frieze around the sides of the room was festooned with evergreen between small spikes of palms.

RAIL DIVISION MERGER HINTED IN NEW LONDON

Consolidation of the New Haven and New London divisions of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad was forecast unofficially in New London Saturday. The railroad offices of the New London division will be transferred from that city to New Haven and installed in the Yellow building in New Haven reports state.

Officials of the road could not be reached in New Haven Saturday night for confirmation of the report that the two divisions are to be combined, and no statements, either in denial or affirmation could be obtained from officials in the New London offices. The rumors of the union of the divisions are given considerable credence in circles close to the road authorities.

The consolation is seen as a logical move in the light of the stringent policy of economy being pursued by the road administration. The recent transfer of the accounting and timekeeping departments to New Haven is hailed as the preliminary move in the complete transfer, which is expected to materialize within a few months.

RESERVED DECISION IN SUIT OVER $85 CLAIM

Decision was reserved by Judge Charles B. Waller in the court of common pleas here Saturday morning in the $85 civil action brought by the Eagle Package Co., of New York, against B. Jacobsen of this city.

The plaintiff concern sued the Norwich man on a bill of goods alleged to have been sold by it to the defendant. The case came to the court on appeal from a justice decision.

Court House Clock Frozen

Sunday night's sleet storm, followed by rain which froze as it fell, crippled the clock in the court house tower as the hands froze fast at 12:35 and remained at that mark for the rest of the night, while the dials went dark.

Trolley Snow Plough At Work

The trolley company had its snow plough at work in the city after midnight Sunday, the first time it has been used this season.

WANTS ENFORCEMENT OF ORDINANCES ON PARKING

Action is expected to be taken by the common council at its meeting this (Monday) evening on a letter from City Attorney Lee Roy Robbins to Alderman Patrick F. Sweeney, chairman of the police commissioners, in which the city attorney asks if it would not be possible to officers for day and night duty to enforce the automobile parking ordinances.

The letter is the following:

Patrick F. Sweeney, Chairman Police Committee,
Norwich, Conn.

Dear Mr. Sweeney: Is it not possible to arrange to have one day and one night officer on duty daily (and continually) and expressly delegated to enforce our parking ordinances?

We all know that these ordinances have never been enforced except for short periods or upon a direct complaint. Spasmodic enforcement of this sort has not, and never will, correct the present situation where open violations are so general as to be accepted as a matter of course.

It is obviously unfair to ignore violations for months and then suddenly arrest someone. The nine hundred and nine who escape congratulate themselves and continue parking as before. Such practice breeds contempt of law as well as a feeling that partiality is shown. The rule applied to one is equally good for all.

While I believe in great liberality, both as to the interpretation of this class of ordinances and the imposition of penalties for their violation, it is indefensible to have such ordinances, admittedly necessary for the general welfare, unenforced.

Trusting that your committee will give this thought consideration, I remain,

Yours very truly,
LEE ROY ROBBINS,
City Attorney.

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM HUSBAND IN FLORIDA

A divorce and custody of a minor child are sought in a petition brought in the superior court by Dorothy Maine York of New London against Frank W. York, of Apopka, Fla., according to papers filed with Clerk George E. Parsons.

The couple was married March 20, 1923 and it is alleged the defendant has been guilty of intolerable cruelty to the plaintiff since Aug. 1, 1924.

WEDDINGS

Gibson-Tucker

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Georgianna C. Tucker, 125 School street, Miss Dorothea Carter Tucker of Norwich was united in marriage with Harry Wayne Gibson, of Westerville, a suburb of Columbus, Ohio. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward C. Dunbar, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Miss Madeline Thune, of School street, a student at Connecticut college was bridesmaid and the best man was Leslie Murray of Danielson. The bride wore a traveling dress of embroidred tan flat crepe and on leaving later for a brief wedding trip wore a metallic hat to match. Supper for the party followed the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Norwich Free Academy, class of '25, winning a scholarship in Norwich Art school where she did post-graduate work. For five years she has been the very efficient organist of the First Baptist church, also has taught piano, and has been pianist in the gymnasium at the Academy. She is secretary in the offices of Doctors L. F. and A. J. LaPierre, 287 Main street.

The bridegroom is the son of H. C. and Ella E. Gibson of Westerville, O., and is a sailor aboard U. S. S. Camden, at the submarine base. He and his bride left by automobile for a brief trip to Boston and later will visit his home in Ohio.

Mrs. Gibson has always been most generous in giving her musical talent for the benefit and pleasure of clubs and organizations and has come to be well known as a young musician of skill and promise.

Conroy-Coffey

Frank Conroy, Jr., of Groton and Miss Mary Rita Coffey daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coffey of Occum, were married Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Baltic, by Rev. John Paradis.

Attending the bridal couple were Dennis P. Wrenn and Miss Anna Coffey, the bride's sister. The bride was charmingly gowned in tan georgette, with trimmings of transparent velvet, wore a hat to match, and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. Her bridesmaid wore blue georgette with hat to match, and carried pink tea roses.

Following the ceemonies, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, and later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Convoy left on a wedding tour which will include visits to Plymouth, Boston and other points in Massachusetts. They will be at home to their many friends in about a week in Occum, where they are to reside with the bride's parents. The bride's going away dress was of tan georgette, and she wore a tan coat trimmed with muskrat fur.

Brigden- Blakeslee.

The Huntington Park (Calif.) Signal of Nov. 25 said: St. Clements Episcopal church was the scene of a lovely Thanksgiving wedding yesterday when Miss Beatrice Ivan Blakeslee became the bride of Herbert James Brigden, of Huntington Park. Rev Harry Gray, rector of St. Clement's read the nuptial ceremony at nine o'clock in the morning. The young couple took their vows before an altar decorated profusely in autumn flowers, ferns and yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. E. G. Russell, of Pasadena, sang the bridal music, "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly," and Mrs. J. D. Farmer at the organ played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, J. B. Blakeslee, wore a becoming frock of royal blue crepe, and was hatted in a cloche of gold cloth. Her bouquet was a shower of butterfly roses and sweet peas. Her sister, Mrs. Everett Andrews, attended her as bridesmaid, and wore a gown of chanel red crepe with a gold lace hat. Mrs. Andrews carried a bouquet of sweet peas in pastel shades. Attending Mr. Brigden, as best man, was Stanley Russell, of Pasadena. The ushers were Everett Andrews and John Russell.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Brigden were entertained at a wedding breakfast at the Spencer Inn, where a long table was centered with the bridal cake of many tiers and adorned with orange blossoms. Congratulations followed and the young couple left for a honeymoon trip to be absent for a fortnight. After their return to Huntington Park they will make their home here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Z. Blakeslee, of Marbrisa avenue, a graduate of Huntington Park Union High school. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Brigden, of Marbrisa avenue, a graduate of Huntington Park Union High school, a member of the order of De Molays of which he is now senior counsellor.

A number of out of town guests were among those at the wedding, including Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Russell, of Pasadena, Jack Russell, and Stanley Russell, of Pasadena, and Mr. and Mrs. Handel, of Torrance.

NORWICH TOWN

Friday evening the Christian Endeavor society held a stunt night. Each committee furnished a stunt, as follows: The prayer meeting committee, The Old Town Store; lookout committee, The Country School; flower committee, Sun Flowers; music committee, Home Sweet Home; social committee, An Afternoon at the Parson's; good citizenship and information committees, Aliens Coming to Ellis Island.

Three prizes were offered, the first prize was awarded the prayer meeting committee, which included Rev. Mr. Bailey, Miss Jessie Hyde, Miss Mabel Corrigeau, chairman, and Ralph Marsh. This was a silver loving cup.

The music committee put on a stunt, called Home Sweet Home which represented an evening at home with the radio. This committee includes Rose Durr, chairman, Louise Sterry, Ida Beebee, Esther Durr, Louise Bailey and Bernice Underwood, assisted by Margret Connelly and Crosby Peck, Eleanor Smith, Eleanor Moore, Henry Counterman.

Honorable mention was given the social committee, the members of which are Reginald Avery, chairman, Grace Wheeler, Robert Stott, Ruth Sterry and Victoria St. Martin. Lucille Browning assisted on this committee.

The judges who announced the decision at the close of the stunts were Mrs. Buckley, Mr. Sterry, Mr. and Mrs. Learned and John Browning.

During the evening Miss Marguret Connolly played a violin solo, "Souvenir," by Drdla, with Miss Eleanor Smith accompanying at the piano. "At Peace With the World With You," Berlin, was sung by Miss Louise Sterry, with Miss Eleanor Moore at the piano. This comprised the music over the supposed radio, during the stunt, Home Sweet Home. Theodore Sterry sold tickets. About seventy were present.

A Christmas bazaar under the auspices of Scotland Road Social club, held Thursday evening at the hall on Scotland road netted over $70. Miss Emily Wilcox, chairman of the social committee, was in charge of the arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. Imbert Fellows, Thurston Lillibridge and Benjamin Hull.

The hall was decorated in red crepe paper, trimmed around the windows, also festooned from the ceiling to different points in the room, as well as being arranged around the lights. The bazaar was well patronized, the foodstuffs being disposed of in cafeteria style. Miss Eva Wilcox was in charge of hot dogs, coffee and soft drinks booth; at the cake and pastry and candy table was Mrs. Bushnell; the ice cream booth was in charge of Benjamin Hull; sweet cider, doughnuts, cheese and pop corn were sold by Albert Lillibridge. Miss Emily Wilcox was at the fancy work and apron table.

At Scotland Road hall Friday night, a successful dance was held under the direction of Charles Lillibridge. William Austin of Fort Point, prompted for the old fashioned dances, music being furnished by an orchestra from Jewett City. The attendance included a number from near-by places.

Having passed the holiday recess at her home on Scotland road, Miss Susan Wilcox has returned to New Haven to resume teaching at New Haven high school.

Found Without His Registration

Joseph E. Neville, 38, of Yantic, was arrested Sunday night about 9.15 o'clock at the corner of High and West Main streets on a charge of driving a machine without having a registration with him. At police headquarters Neville claimed that he had a registration for the car but had left it home. He furnished a bond of $25 for his appearance in the city court this (Monday) morning.

PAUL WANER NAMED MOST VALUABLE NATIONAL LEAGUE PLAYER OF 1927

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4— (AP) —Paul Waner has completed his second year as a major leaguer with the highest honor that the National league can give to one of its stars. The young right fielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates is the winner of the 1927 "most valuable player" prize, according to an announcement today of the balloting by a special committee of newspapermen, in whose hands the choice rests.

Selection of the youthful Oklahoman for this distinction, which carries with it a cash award of $1,000, came in the closest contest for this National league prize since it was inaugurated in 1924. Frank Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals and Rogers Hornsby, captain of the New York Giants, who swapped uniforms last winter, figured in a three-cornered tussle for the main honors.

Waner had 72 points, only six more than Frisch, while Hornsby was third with 54. Charley Root, Chicago Cub pitching star, polled 46, and Travis Jackson, Giant shortstop, 42 votes. Lloyd Waner, "Little Poison," rounded out the first six with 25 votes.

Taking into consideration the fact that Paul Waner led the league batting by a wide margin with a mark of .379, besides setting the pace in total hits and runs driven in, five of the eight members of the selection committee put the Pirate star at the top of their lists. Two others rated him third, while another put him fifth.

Other first place selections of committeemen were scattered, one each going to Captain "Pie" Traynor of the Pirates, Red Lucas of the Cincinnati Reds and Charley Root of the Cubs.

Analysis of the balloting showed that Paul Waner, Frisch, Root and Jackson were the only players placed on points for first, nine for second place, each of the eight lists, each of which ranked ten performers on a basis of ten etc. Hornsby was omitted altogether in one list.

The complete vote follows: Paul Waner, Pittsburgh, 72; Frisch, St. Louis, 56; Hornsby, New York, 54; Root, Chicago, 46; Jackson, New York, 42; Lloyd Waner, Pittsburgh, 25; Traynor, Pittsburgh, 18; Haines, St. Louis, 16; Kremer, Pittsburgh, 14; Hartnett, Chicago, 12; Lucas, Cincinnati, 10; Wilson, Chicago, 9; Terry, New York, Bottomley, St. Louis, Hargrave and May, Cincinnati, and Williams, Philadelphia, 6 each; Fournell, Boston, and Grimes, New York, 4 each; Carey, Brooklyn, Stephenson, Chicago, and Alexander, St. Louis, 3 each; Hill, Pittsburgh, Petty, Brooklyn, and Ulrich, Philadelphia, 2 each; St. Louis, 1.

The committee added these names to an honor roll: Adams of Chicago, Roush, Harper, Lindstrom and Benton, New York; Greenfield, Brown, Welsh and Bancroft, Boston; Thompson and Leach, Philadelphia; Critz, Ford and Dressen, Cincinnati; Vance and Hendrick, Brooklyn; Meadows and Wright, Pittsburgh.

The results of the voting were made public by Burton Whitman of Boston, president of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The writers comprising the selection committee were James C. O'Leary of Boston, Thomas Holmes of Brooklyn, James Crayson of Cincinnati, James Crusinberry of Chicago, James R. Harrison of New York, Stony McLinn of Philadelphia, Ralph S. Davis of Pittsburgh and Skid Keener of St. Louis.

PLAINFIELD PROS WIN FROM STATE CHAMPIONS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW BRITAIN, December 4—Leading all the way the Plainfield Pros stopped a last minute rally here last night and won from the state champion New Britain team 32 to 30. With five seconds left to play after cutting down a 32 to 24 score to 32 to 30, Leary standing under the Plainfield basket missed a sucker shot and the chance to tie the score.

Plainfield swept into the lead early in the game and was in no real danger of being overtaken until the closing minutes of the game. Starting a spurt in the final minutes of play New Britain dropped in three baskets in succession until five seconds remained to play. The Pros called time out and on resumption of play New Britain took the ball and passed to Leary who was standing under the Plainfield basket. Leary in the excitement hurried his throw and the ball overshot the basket giving Plainfield a well earned victory.

Brusso, former member of the Purple Collegians, starred at right forward for the Pros while Zakrewski was the high scorer for New Britain.

Who's champion now is a question advanced by the Plainfield supporters. Plainfield beat All-New Britain; All-New Britain beat the Renaissance Colored Five; the Renaissance team beat the Original Celtics, world's champions. Now the Boston Whirlwinds meet the Plainfield team at Plainfield Wednesday night.

BEARS BEAT FRANKFORD 9 TO 0 AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 4—(AP)—Held to a scoreless tie by the Frankford team in Philadelphia yesterday, the Chicago Bears defeated Frankford today on their home field 9 to 0 in a National Football league game. Paddy Driscoll drop-kicked a 43-yard field goal in the first period. Sternaman passed to Knop, the Bears' fullback, for a touchdown in the fourth period for the Bears' second score. The scheduled game here today betwen Ernie Nevers' Duluth team and the Chicago Cardinals was called off by Manager O'Brien, of the Cardinals.

FOOTBALL TITLE EVEN MORE IN DOUBT

By Alan J. Gould.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The national football championship situation was scrambled to a greater extent than ever today by the unexpected trouncing yesterday of the University of Georgia's "wonder team" by its ancient rival, Georgia Tech.

A few swift gestures by this unexpectedly alert, agressive and smartly directed Tech tornado not only removed the Georgians from their high and lofty pedestal as the country's only untied or undefeated major team but also pushed them from the top of the Southern conference heap.

Georgia, with an array of talent conspicuous in All-American circles, was outplayed and outgeneraled by a team that was mentally and physically on edge. The machine that had mowed down nine previous opponents, including Yale, in convincing succession did not "click" with its usual effectiveness. It may have been the muddy field or a let down from the tension of its unbeaten march but Georgia failed, except at a few intervals, to show the dash and snap that Tech revealed.

Georgia's abrupt departure from the top gridiron flight leaves only a half dozen major teams throughout the country that have escaped defeat—Pittsburgh, Illinois, Minnesota, Texas Aggies, Tennessee and Washington and Jefferson. Each of these has experienced at least one tie and two of them, Minnesota and W. and J. have been tied twice.

Several of the smaller colleges, such as Centenary and Mississippi college in the south and Tufts in the east, can boast of neither being tied nor undefeated, but they do not quite figure in the "big league" rating.

Pittsburgh and Illinois, on the basis of the schedules they played, probably now can claim as big a share of national title distinction as any of the big teams. Illini, champions of the Western conference, have finished their season but the Pitt Panthers have a chance to improve their rating when they meet Stanford in the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, January 2.

The Pacific coast has no major unbeaten team for the first time in some years but Southern California's Trojans have the most impressive record of any far western array. They wound up their season yesterday with a decisive victory over Washington, thereby going into a tie with Stanford at the top of the Pacific Coast conference, each showing four victories and one tie, the result of their own game. But Stanford lost two nonconference frays, to St. Mary's and Santa Clara, while Southern California's only setback was its one-point defeat at the hands of Notre Dame.

All of the big teams, east, west and south had at least one day, it seems, when they either met unexpected opposition, suffered a let down or otherwise had their progress abruptly checked. Georgia put this fatal day off until the last, only to meet Tech's onslaught. Notre Dame had its waterloo at the hands of the Army. Minnesota was tied by Indiana and Illinois by Iowa State. Yale's single setback was at the hands of Georgia and at a time when Bruce Caldwell was going great guns. Georgia Tech's worst afternoon was spent with Notre Dame. The Army beat every outfit but Yale. Pittsburgh's powerful eleven was held to a scoreless tie by Washington and Jefferson, which also was unable to escape a deadlock with West Virginia. The Texas Aggies would have a perfect record to their credit but for a scoreless tie with Texas Christian. Tennessee was tied by Vanderbilt and so it went down the list, as one team after another found the pace too swift to maintain every Saturday.

OCKFORDS BEAT TIGERS FOR E. C. GRID TITLE

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Ockfords today beat back a fighting challenge by the Greeneville Tigers of Norwich and won rather easily, 30 to 0. This game was advertised as the eastern Connecticut title clash and by winning it would seem that the local firemen have a firm claim for the sectional championship.

The game was played at Morgan park under very slippery conditions. The teams sloshed around in a stubborn and none too interesting struggle.

The Ockfords were altogether too big and heavy for the Norwich lads, who however, made a gallant stand. Pounding the Rose City line for sizable gains at will, the locals marched the length of the field for scores frequently. The poor footing left only this form of attack, the forward pass coming in for little attention. The Ockford's backs performed in stellar fashion at this line smashing game.

For the Tigers practically all played well but today they ran into a club above their class.

Only about 200 saw the game.

GIANTS DOWN GRANGE'S YANKEES BY 14 TO 0

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(AP)—The New York Giants toppled the Red Grange's New York Yankees by 14 to 0 today at the Polo grounds, thereby strengthening the Giants' hold on first place in the National league football race. In spite of a hail and snow storm prevailing throughout the day, a crowd of 10,000 watched the contest.

Hinkey Haines, Giants' quarterback, received a punt early in the first period and raced 75 yards over a slush covered gridiron for a touchdown. In the third period, Jack McBride, ex-Syracuse star, carried the ball over on a plunge through tackle on the one-yard stripe. McBride place kicked both goals.

AGGIES HAD SUCCESSFUL FOOTBALL SEASON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

STORRS, Dec. 4—With a record of five victories and four defeats in the nine games played, the 1927 football season of the Connecticut Aggies will go down as another successful campaign for the state college gridsters.

This statement is made with full realization of the unexpected defeat suffered at the hands of Rhode Island state college, and also of a showing by the team which in general did not measure up to advance-season predictions and ballyho of its more ardent followers. Among some of the latter there has been a disposition to criticise too severely the 1927 eleven because it failed to win more of its games and because the same offensive drive flashed in the Wesleyan, Maine and Springfield games was not maintained throughout the season. To some observers here at Storrs it would appear that among certain of the undergraduates and alumni there is a feeling that every Connecticut Aggie football eleven should win all, or most all of its games, as was the case in the 1924 and 1926 seasons.

Granting that there may be cause for disappointment in certain respects as the 1927 season is studied, there is also much cause for satisfaction in the record made by Captain Willard Eddy's eleven. In the first place, the Aggies whitewashed Wesleyan, "Little Three" champions, and on the latter's home field by a 19-0 count. It was the third grid victory in as many years over the Cardinal and Black. Add to this accomplishment the 25-12 victory over Trinity and for those who like to dabble in mythical "championships" there is all the ammunition for a clear cut claim of supremacy by the Aggies of a "Connecticut Little Three" series, involving Wesleyan, the Aggies, and Trinity. No alumnus before the class of 1927 can make such a claim of distinction for Aggies football elevens in his day!

The Maine game, though listed in the records as a defeat is further reason why Connecticut followers should be proud of their 1927 team. Maine, claimants of the mythical New England conference championship by virtue of victories over the Aggies, Rhode Island and New Hampshire, won from the Aggies by the narrow 14-13 score, and the winning point was awarded to the Pine Tree Staters because an Aggie lineman was offside on the play when the try for the extra point was being made after a touchdown. It was the first game ever played here in which each team scored two touchdowns and kicked one goal after the score, and yet one team gained the victory. Connecticut's 13 points were made in a desperate and thrilling last period rally. The 9-6 victory over the University of New Hampshire eleven, which was snatched from the Granite Staters in another last quarter march, is reason for still further satisfaction over the record for the year. Games were also won from the United States Coast Guard academy and Lowell Textile, but these contests do not rank in importance from an Aggie standpoint as the first three mentioned.

Besides Maine, the other teams to defeat Connecticut this fall were Boston College, Springfield and Rhode Island. Boston college is admittedly way above a small New England college class in which the Aggies belong, and as was to be expected, put a much heavier and more experienced eleven on the field than could be mustered by the Aggies. Yet the Dolemen waged a great defensive and held the Eagles to a 19-0 count. The Springfield team that won from Connecticut by a 31-21 score finished the season as one of the few undefeated teams in the east. In the Rhode Island encounter, the Aggies showed their poorest form of the year against a fighting Rhody outfit that played hard to win a well deserved 14-0 victory. Looseness in handling the ball cost the Aggies no less than four touchdowns in the first period.

The season's record follows:

Connecticut 38, Coast Guard Cadets 0.
Connecticut 19, Wesleyan 0.
Connecticut 13, Maine 14.
Connecticut 21, Springfield 31.
Connecticut 9, New Hampshire 6.
Connecticut 28, Lowell Textile 6.
Connecticut 25, Trinity 12.
Connecticut 0, Rhode Island 14.
Connecticut 0, Boston College 19.
Connecticut 153, Opponents 102.
Connecticut won five, lost four.

YALE ALUMNI DEMANDS JONES BE RETAINED

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(AP)—Tad Jones's resignation as head coach of Yale football had become virtually a national issue today with a clamoring from alumni from all parts of the country demanding Jones be retained at any cost.

Telegrams which poured into the Montclair, N. J., Yale club rally at Nick Robert's old barn in Jersey last night gushed with pleadings for Jones to stay at his post and were the chief topics for discussion in Yale groups today.

Overwhelmed by the demonstration in his behalf at the rally, Jones, visibly affected, told the alumni and his football squad that he would be glad to coach a Yale football team for pay or otherwise, but that his resignation would have to stand as it is. Jones said the situation was too delicate for him to commend upon and that in fairness to all parties, he would not talk about the affair.

As a matter of fact, the committee in control of athletics at Yale has not yet acted upon his resignation but at the same time, he has not been invited, at least formally, to reconsider.

Jones was subjected to criticism by alumni after the poor showing of the 1926 Bulldog machine and this is what is believed to have caused Jones to decide on his departure. However, Jones at the time of tendering his notice, announced intentions of returning to his coal business in New Haven.

The campaign just closed by the Yale eleven has been one of its brightest in history. The squad went through the drive, undefeated by any eastern rival, allowing recognition as standard bearer of the section.

NEW LONDON COAST GUARDS WIN TITLE

CURTISS BAY, Md., Dec. 4—(AP)—The destroyer force of New London, Conn., won the football championship of the Atlantic Coast Guard today when they defeated the coast guard depot unit here by a score of 25-0.

Widen, Green, Robbins and Lowery scored touchdowns for the New London outfit.

"Y" EMPS OPEN SEASON WITH CLOSE VICTORY OVER THREAD CITY QUINTET

The curtain drew back on basketball Saturday night at the Y gym with the local Emps getting a 22 to 18 decision over the Emps from Willimantic. It was an exceptionally well-played game for so early in the season and if this tilt is any criterion, then Norwich is in for some mighty fine basketball this year.

The outcome was in doubt right up to the end. After getting away to a lead the Thread City quintet lost it about midway through the second period. Coach Conklin, a la Knute Rockne, started his second team and left them in until not much more than a minute before the whistle in the final quarter. The locals managed to hold their rivals to a 4 to 1 count for the period.

Once the Conklin-machine threw in a field goal in the second quarter they seemed to gain confidence and scores came more freely toward the closing moments of the half. The score was 10 to 6 at the half.

The locals came out with their first team to start the second half and Tigar, Swartzburg, Economius, Lynch and Murphy showed even better than they had in their previous efforts. They had the Willimantic outfit contiually on a gallop but by a few clever long shots, the Thread City club managed to stay within hailing distance, the score at the end of the quarter being 18 to 16. Willimantic came within two points of knotting the count about two minutes before the close of the game but baskets by Tigar and Lynch pulled the Norwich gang through safely.

The passwork on both sides was of mid-season caliber but on the tossing end both teams, naturally were not at best. Similarity of uniforms seemed to bother teams quite a bit but taken all together the game was far above expectations.

The Emps, everyone of them, showed plenty of promise and as the weeks roll by they should be a much improved machine.

Peter Rabbit Wonders About His Friends

Give just a thought or two each day
To friends who may be far away.
—Peter Rabbit.

It was winter. Jack Frost and Rough Brother North Wind ruled in the Green Forest and over the Green Meadows. Everything was white with snow. Peter Rabbit sat in the dear old Briarpatch trying to make up his mind whether or not he liked it. He decided at last that he did like it. You see, Old Mother Nature has prepared Peter for such weather. It is very seldom that Rough Brother North Wind and Jack Frost can get under Peter's skin, as the saying is. He has a thoroughly good fur coat and he delights to scamper around enough to keep him warm.

"The only fault I have to find with winter," said Peter to little Mrs. Peter, "is that I do sometimes get a bit lonesome."

Little Mrs. Peter sniffed. "I don't know why you should," said she. "I'm always here."

"I know, my dear, I know," replied Peter hastily. "Of course you are always here, and I just couldn't get along without you."

"Then what do you mean when you say that you get lonesome sometimes?" demanded Mrs. Peter suspiciously.

Peter scratched a long ear with a long hind foot. "Don't you ever miss your friends of the summer?" he inquired. "Don't you ever wonder where Welcome Robin and Winsome Bluebird and Little Friend the Song Sparrow and Scrapper the Kingbird and Swimmer the Swallow and Boomer the Nighthawk and all the other feathered neighbors of the summer are now? And what they are doing?"

"No," replied Mrs. Peter, quite frankly, "I have too much to attend to at home to waste any time wondering about my neighbors. What good does it do to wonder about them?"

Peter had to admit that it didn't do any good. "Just the same," said he, "I think it is nice to think about your friends who are away. I hope they think of me sometimes. I hope they wonder what I am doing, just as I wonder what they are doing."

Little Mrs. Peter sniffed again. "They don't have to wonder what you are doing; they know," said she.

"How can they know?" inquired Peter, looking very much surprised.

"Because," replied little Mrs. Peter, "they know you. Knowing you, they know just what you are doing, which is simply nothing. Why don't you get busy and help me trim out these little paths through the dear Old Briarpatch?"

"I was just thinking," said Peter, "that I would run over to the Green Forest."

"Well, I'm just thinking," replied little Mrs. Peter, "that you'll do nothing of the sort. There goes Reddy Fox straight toward the Green Forest this very minute."

Peter looked. Sure enough, there was Reddy. Peter sighed. "Oh, dear," said he, "I suppose I'll have to stay at home."

"Which means," said little Mrs. Peter rather crossly, "that you'll sit around wondering about your faraway friends, instead of doing your share of the work here and in the dear Old Briarpatch."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theatre

If Marriage Fails now showing at the Strand is a daring treatise on the marriage problem. The story of an attractive naive little Italian crystal gazer, who is a high priestess of fortune telling, and who becomes involved in a love affair with a married man of great wealth, is wonderfully told and the characters splendidly portrayed by Jacquline Logan in the interesting role of Nadia, the crystal gazer and by Clive Brook in the leading male role. It is the old tale of human emotions with the modernist theme that an unhappy marriage is better dissolved.

Plain Jane is the second feature of our weekly series showing here every Monday and Tuesday night, each a complete picture. There is also a very amusing comedy that will hand you some good laughs.

Breed Theatre

Here's a picture to laugh and to cry over—a picture that will go straight to your heart. It's "For the Love of Mike," the new First National attraction which opened last night at the Breed theatre.

Robert Kane, who produced this new comedy-drama, gathered an all-star cast. Included in the acting aggregation are Ben Lyon, George Sidney, Ford Sterling, Claudette Colbert, Hugh Cameron, Richard Skeets Gallagher, Rudolph Cameron and Mabel Swor.

The story is about a foundling who is discovered by three men living in the notorious Hell's Kitchen district of New York. The men are an Irishman, a German and a Jew. All claim the little youngster but compromise at last by agreeing to bring him up co-operatively, so to speak.

Ben Lyon plays the boy and Sidney, Sterling and Hugh Cameron are seen in excellent characterizations as the "fathers." Both Claudette Colbert, who is seen as Ben's childhood sweetheart, and Mabel Swor, who portrays the Fifth avenue blonde who strives to make Ben forget his old pals of Hell's Kitchen joined her ritzy set, give a splendid performance. Frank Capra, who is responsible for a couple of the internationally famous Harry Langdon comedies, directed.

Palace Theatre

Venice, with its tinkling guitars and atmosphere of old world romance, forms the background for "Honeymoon Hate" the latest starring vehicle for Florence Vidor. This story of modern love in such an environment, an up-to-date version of the "Taming of the Shrew" is now being shown at the Palace.

The story concerns Gail Grant, American daughter of a steel king, whose product is known for their adamant quality.

Supporting Miss Vidor are Tullio Carminati, who plays the role of the prince in a most natural manner, William Austin gathers in the comedy honors as Banning-Green, the rejected suitor, Effie Ellsler, Corliss Plamer and Shirley Dorman all have important parts in the picture.

On the stage the headline attraction is Shuron-D'Vries and Company, a company of seven girls and one man, presenting a quite novel dance revue called "Dance Classique." Some remarkable group dancing numbers are included in the repertoire of the act. Roy and Stone, two comedians of exceptional merit offer an act called "Comedy Nonsense." Wardell and LaCoste are seen in an amusing comedy skit, "Once But Not Twice." Nadda Norraine entertains with a delightful singing voice and Tarella and Clark round out the vaudeville program with their "Wire Flirtation" action.

Broadway Theatre

The age of miracles has not yet passed.

If you doubt this statement go to the Broadway theatre tonight where "The Thirteenth Juror," a Universal-Jewel production is holding the screen and see Francis X. Bushman, the dean of all motion picture stars, who appears not a day over thirty.

How he does it no one seems to know, but to see him playing opposite the entrancing Anna Q. Nilsson, is enough to knock all the other so-called younger leading men into a cocked hat. He has a heavy part, that of an elderly attorney, and he carries it with all the pomp and ceremony of a regular brother bar associate.

"The Thirteenth Juror" is a brilliant story of the lasting friendship of two men, even though the pleasure of one causes heartaches for the other. It is a perfect screen version of the sensationally famous stage play "Counsel for the Defense," which was the talk of Broadway when it first was produced in New York by Henry Irving Dodge, the author.

Never in your life have you witnessed such a thrilling picture, the tremendously dramatic court-room scenes, the murderer, the lawyer whose servants were ex-murderers. The sly schemes of a crooked political boss. The man who couldn't make the jury believe he was guilty. It's amazing, different, stimulating. Don't miss it.

Walter Pidgeon, George Siegmann, Martha Mattox, Lloyd Whitlock and others form a commendable supporting cast. The picture was directed by Edward Laemmle.

Conn. College Concert

Following is the program to be given by the English Singers in Bulkeley auditorium, New London, Tuesday night:

Ave Verum — William Byrd (1543-1623)
Cantate Domino —

DANIELSON

SEVERAL CONN. MILLS EMPLOYES GO TO SOUTH

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Dec. 4.—A phase of the development of the cotton manufacturing industry in southern states that effects southern New England towns like Danielson and that little has been heard of, is the migration into sunny-land of skilled cotton textile workers of the north, as dual workers and instructors.

Early this week there will arrive at Albany-Decatur, Ala., a small delegation of workers who have been employed for years at the plant of the Connecticut mills here and who have gone to Alabama to teach the new cotton mill workers down there some of the operations connected with turning raw cotton into yarn that eventually will be tire fabric.

These workers got away from Danielson the past week-end. They have gone south for a minimum period of three months, but some of them, if they like it down there, may remain indefinitely.

A circumstance in connection with the migration is that not all who have had the chance to go to Alabama from Danielson are interested in the opportunity. For one reason or another they prefer to remain here in what is to be the frozen north for the next few months.

Saturday afternoon at the home on Oak street, funeral services for Arthur R. James were conducted by Rev. Albert Abbott of the Methodist Episcopal church. Numbers of relatives and friends were in attendance. Burial was in Westfield cemetery, A. F. Wood being in charge of the funeral arrangements. The bearers were Abner S. Young, Frederick Nash, Clarence Carr, John W. Gallup, Daniel Gallup and William P. Perkins. There were many beautiful floral pieces.

There are things to indicate that shoplifters have picked Danielson as a Mecca for their operations during the Christmas season. In view of that fact, business houses have their organizations warned to keep an especially watchful eye on such strangers as are suspected of having operated here recently. Here is a situation, too, in which honest people can help curtail the operations of a particularly annoying type of thief by informing store owners if they happen to catch them taking things. It is more or less well established that the shoplifters who are getting away with things are coming here from cities within a radius of 50 miles. They are of the cool, collected type, if information about them available here is to be credited, and go about their pilfering with the calm assurance of those who regard a town like Danielson as being out in the sticks and a place where one can get away with about anything, if one has ample nerve.

This week real basketball activity will be underway in the gymnasium at the high school. All boys of the school who are at all interested will be expected to try out for the "big" team, which is being coached by William Schofield, of the faculty.

The school's schedule of games starts on January 2, when an Alumni team will furnish the opposition. The winter's schedule calls for 19 games, and the teams to be played represent Woodstock Academy, Rockville High school, Putnam High, Windham High, Tourtellotte Memorial High of North Grosvenordale, Chapman Tech of New London and Plainfield High. There is a possibility of games being scheduled with Bacon Academy of Colchester and the Mills, Mass., High team.

MATHWINK BREAKS HUNGER STRIKE AT BROOKLYN JAIL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, Dec. 4.—Savva Mathwink, Willimantic man held at the county jail in Brooklyn to answer to a larceny charge at the January term of the Windham county superior court, went on a little hunger strike at the county jail in Brooklyn, but has abandoned it for a plentiful supply of good food. It was said at the institution today that this particular prisoner was well and eating as normally as the other prisoners. His hunger strike was of no great duration.

Numbers of Danielson people were at Putnam this afternoon to attend the annual lodge of sorrow of Putnam lodge of Elks, which has a large membership in the town of Killingly, and has for many years. This afternoon's solemn exercises, including the unveiling of a necrology tablet, was open to the public. The tablet bears the names of many Danielson men who were members of the lodge, but for whom the final hour elevent has tolled.

A convenient way ordinarily used by a considerable number of vehicles each day has remained blocked for months because a wrecked truck of the Atlantic Grain and Products company has not been removed from where it was thrown when struck by a train early in September, near the Franklin street crossing. The route it blocks is not a public highway, but is a convenient and much used route when it can be used.

The coming week-end the Windham County National bank and the Danielson Trust company are to send out Christmas club checks to the hundreds of people that are scheduled to receive them. This means the release of a fortune in money. The great percentage of the money is going to people resident within a dozen miles of Danielson, and its distribution is expected to liven up holiday shopping even in greater degree than that experienced during the past week.

The trial and tribulations attendant upon the winter season came today to worry motorists. Motors balked this morning, and, as every year at this time, some of them were frozen. It was a day of hustling for garage men who were on duty or who were willing to go out and aid some exasperated motorist out of his difficulties.

Not one arrest was made in this immediate territory over the week-end, this statement applying up to sunset time this afternoon. Nor was there any accident of any moment up to the same time. In this respect, Saturday and Sunday were happily unusual.

Mrs. Angelina Robideaux, 39, died Saturday at a Norwich hospital, the body later being brought to her home in Wauregan, her birthplace, in charge of Undertaker L. E. Kennedy. She was the wife of John Robideaux, of Wauregan.

Mrs. Thomas A. Beckett, of Maple street, is to entertain the choir of the Westfield Congregational church at her home on Maple street next Friday evening. Games to be played will be under the direction of Miss Rachel E. Haines and Miss Beryl Proctor.

For the first time this season the temperature dropped down to 10 above zero in Danielson this morning, and brought realization that winter is at hand.

Mrs. Alfred Pinze, of Carter street, left today to spend the winter with relatives in Stamford.

A Layman's service of the Danielson Federation of Churches attracted a large congregation to the Baptist church this evening.

William A. Walden, of Springfield, was a visitor with relatives in Danielson today.

A nominating committee of the Chamber of Commerce has perfected a list of nominations to be presented to the annual meeting of the organization on Tuesday evening of this week.

After all the campaigning, and all the fines and all the kicking drivers of numbers of cars were driving in this territory Saturday night with only one headlight, and one wonders what might be done to stop the operation of such cars without being so drastic as to make it hard for people who try to obey the law. All of which presents a difficult problem.

Miss Laura Jacob is the new assistant guardian of the Wakitatina Camp Fire girls, an organization that is active this winter and has live interest to its members.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Getty, of Boston, were visitors here today with Mr. Getty's mother, Mrs. Eliol Getty.

It was recalled by some when snow began to fall this afternoon, that the first real snowstorm of 1926, came on the first Sunday in December.

The Danielson Town basketball team seemed to hit its stride in the Friday night game at Willimantic, and to give promise of developing into the fast and powerful combination it is expected to be after having a bit more practice and a few more games.

Monday evening of this week the first and second degrees are to be conformed on a class of candidates of Killingly grange.

JEWETT CITY

CANDLE-LIGHT SERVICE HELD BY GIRLS OF GUILD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

JEWETT CITY, Dec. 4—The vesper service conducted by the World Wide Guild Girls of the Baptist church at half past four, Sunday afternoon was very well attended. It was a beautiful candle-light service, very effectively presented. The organ prelude was played by Mrs. John Davis, the organist of the church. At the close, the members of the guild marched into the auditorium, singing Onward Christian Soldiers, Holy, Holy, Holy, Now the Day is Over and I Love to Tell the Story. Florence Quimby read the second chapter of Luke and this was followed by a solo, Guild Girls' Way, sung by Verna Tarbox. The Beautiful Gift was read by Winifred Scates. Prayer was offered by Rev. E. E. Scates. Silent Night was the hymn sung. Mrs. A. M. Brown, state secretary-director for the Woman's American Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary societies gave a talk which outlined some of the activities of the guild, which is founded on the fact of the abundant life that Christ came to give to the world, and to create world wide sympathy. After singing It Came Upon a Midnight Clear, the girls repeated the covenant, slogan and motto. There were four candles lighted at the front of the church. The large white candle symbolized The Light of the World. Each girl lighted a candle from this large candle singing Brighten the Corner where you are. Each member of the congregation had received a candle and these were lighted by the girls passing down the aisles. Silent prayer followed this ceremony. The girls marched from the room singing Let the Lower Lights be Burning. Mrs. R. A. Wilbur is councillor and Mrs. J. P. Post vice councillor of the guild.

Finn's tonight Ben Hur, the world's greatest spectacular production. Leach's 6-piece orchestra.—Adv.

Joseph Wharton, Jr., celebrated his fourth birthday with a family party Friday. A cake on which were four candles occupied the place of honor on the table. He received a number of gifts.

The funeral of Maurice Nadeau, who was drowned Thursday was held from his home on Factory Hill Saturday morning, Rev. J. J. McCabe reading the prayers at the house. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Lisbon. The bearers were Isidore Couture, Andrew Mecteau, Hermon Bryant and Woodrow Wilson. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Hourigan Bros. were in charge of the arrangements. Just how the boy came to fall into the water is uncertain, as no one was with him when the accident happened.

Mrs. G. H. Thornton's condition was not as favorable Sunday night. The pneumonia has invaded more area on the lung affected, and the other lung also. Miss Alice Driscoll R. N., went on the case Sunday afternoon, to give the other nurse much needed rest.

Real winter weather finally arrived Sunday, snow covering the ground.

Miss Sadie Thompson was soloist at the Elks' Memorial service in Norwich Sunday afternoon.

VOLUNTOWN

Thursday evening, Mrs. John Medick, Jr., at her home gave a dinner party to some of her friends. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. Labarre, Michael Shea, Mrs. Ella Whipple and Everett Whipple of Voluntown. The evening was enjoyed with cards and music.

A committee met Friday evening and arranged plans for the second community tree which will be held in Union hall, Voluntown, for the benefit of every child in town. The committee consists of George Edmond, Henry Kaufman, Everett Whipple, Mrs. John Peckham, Mrs. Alex Tanner, Miss Margrette Tanner, of Wylie District, and Mrs. Charles Downing. The soliciting will begin at once. Last year was a very successful affair, and the committee is planning to make this one even better then last.

Voluntown Grammar school, perfect attendance for November in grammar room: Raymond Frink, Denis Russi, Alfred Vincent, Grace Bromley, Alice Boucher, Arline Downing, Anna May Downing, Olive Fletcher, Ida Hamel, Helen Magrey, June Kaufman. Thrift $21.37 saved in November, 22 children saved out of 36, making 61 1-9 per cent.

NORTH STONINGTON

The Ladies' Aid society met at the parish house Wednesday for an all day session. Blocks were pieced. Dinner was served at noon.

Miss Carrie A. Ryder entertained recently Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Milne and two sons, Bruce and Robin and Mrs. Marion Elwell of Dorchester, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Brooks of Glasgo, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm E. Thompson and two sons James Wilson and George Weston of Clarks Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Brown and daughter, Miss Betty of Ashaway.

Mrs. Annie M. Cook spent Saturday night at Farmholme, Stonington. Sunday morning she was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Morton Cook and daughter, Miss Barbara Cook and J. Morton, Jr., to Jewett City where they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R Cook.

Mrs. Birdsey G. Palmer and daughter, Miss Amelia M. Palmer and son Junior Palmer were in Norwich Saturday.

PUTNAM

LARROW BOUND OVER ON ASSAULT CHARGE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Dec. 4—Joseph Larrow of this city was before the city court Saturday morning charged with attempted assault and sufficient cause was found, after a preliminary hearing, to bind him over to superior court under bonds of $5,000 which he was unable to give and he is now in Brooklyn jail awaiting action of the grand jury.

Larrow is charged with an attempted assault on Miss Leonie Daigle, Friday evening shortly after 5:30 o'clock. Miss Daigle was on her way to her home on Sunnyside avenue after work when Larrow stepped out in front of her at the Bridge street end of the long bridge, choked her and dragged her down the bank toward the river. She struggled desperately and her screams were heard by Adelard Dupre who hurried to her rescue and it is said that Larrow took to his heels and ran away. Miss Daigle was almost exhausted from her struggles, her clothing was badly torn and her glasses broken. She was assisted to her home by Mr. Dupre.

Captain Jarvis was notified and after a search of the haunts where it was thought Larrow might be found, he was located. Larrow was grilled at the police station after his arrest and according to the police, finally admitted that he was the man that they wanted.

Much indignation is felt over the affair by the citizens of Putnam. Miss Daigle is but twenty years of age, the daughter of the late John Daikle and is employed as a bookkeeper at the Chevrolet Automobile agency here. She was graduated from the Putnam high school three years ago and is very popular and highly esteemed. It is said that Larrow has appeared before the city court on several occasions for minor offenses.

ELKS LODGE OF SORROW SERVICE WELL ATTENDED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Dec. 4—Today was observed by Elks' lodges throughout the country as their annual memorial Sunday. Putnam lodge of Elks, No. 574 held a most impressive service at their rooms at 3 o'clock this afternoon. While many impressive services have been carried out on these occasions none has been on a more impressive scale than the one today since the institution of the lodge here.

Rev. Fr. Ulrit O. Bellerose, pastor of St. Mary's church and a member of the order delivered a most touching eulogy. While Fr. Bellerose has been pastor of the church here, he is well known throughout the vicinity, having been a native of North Grosvenordale. The musical part of the program was all that had been promised. Miss Selma LaRochelle possessing a voice of unusual quality and the numbers of Chester H. Miller of Providence were not only well chosen but excellently executed. Both of the visiting soloists were well received.

A feature of the exercises was the dedication of the new tablet of bronze containing the following necrology:

Stephen H. Cole, Charles H. Kelley, William H. Thomas, James Donohue, Frank Sewell, Worthy Gerrish, George Farley, Francis X. Mulville, Harold K. Morse, John Healey, Henry L. Hammond, Thomas J. Haworth, Israel Bennett, Huber D. Card, Alfred J. Cox, S. James Young, Burton E. Leavitt, James J. Lynch, Joseph Smith, Thomas P. Ward, Henry C. Atwood, Oliver E. Getty, Martin A. Welch, Edward D. Wilson, James F. Smith.

Simon P. Humphries, Michael R. Joy, Edward N. Joslyn, L. Aime Beaudreault, Edward Mullan, George H. Perry, Samuel H. Walsh, Henry R. Allard, Omer LaRue, William B. Wheatley, William J. Devine, Percy L. Waterman, Robert Rust, Joseph D. White, Thomas A. Conwell, Richard Gorman, Herbert F. Pepler, William H. Curran, John E. S. Cain, George A. Baker, Ralph O. Young, William H. Knowles, James W. Caffrey, George Bornes, Michael J. Sullivan, William LaBelle.

Edward H. Litch, Ludger J. Morin, William Casey, William E. Myers, John G. Johnson, Michael J. Lynch, Adonant E. Morin, John F. Conklin, John W. Atwood, John King, Herbert E. Barber, Frank L. Larose, Irving A. Cutler, Eldor eE. Grenier, Charles F. Devine, John Ash, J. Harry Mann, Hector Duvert, James B. Cassidy, John O. Fox, Charles Fred Hill, Meda Varieu, George A. Hammond, Joseph E. Crandall, William F. Rafferty, Hormidas U. Ball, Walter J. Bartlett, Henry W. Selig, A. Newton Vaughn, George H. Call, William St. Onge, Joseph J. Raymond.

Putnam today has had its first day of real winter with the thermometers this morning around the twenty degree mark and this afternoon suffered its first snow storm, not a heavy fall of snow but quite enough to be a real snow.

Word has been received here of the safe arrival in Holland of the Rev. Adrien C. Dykeman, formerly curate at St. Mary's church. Fr. Dykeman left Putnam several weeks ago, having resigned as a curate at St. Mary's and has gone to his native land Holland to make his home. He has not retired from his work in the church but will take a charge where the work is lighter than it was here.

Mrs. Matilda aged 42, of High street in this city fell near her home Saturday about noon and fractured her hip. She was taken to the Day Kimball hospital where the fracture was reduced and she is resting as comfortably as can be expected.

Frank Elliott, age 70, for many years a resident of King street, is a patient at the Day Kimbal hospital. Mr. Elliott has been in failing health for several years.

The monthly district meeting of the Connecticut American Legion was held this afternoon at Odd Fellows hall on Pomfret street. The posts of Windham and Tolland counties are included in this district. The business meeting was presided over by District Commander Francis T. Prichard of Rockville, although primarily a business meeting. The Anselm Mayotte post acting as the host, had a committee of its members and ladies, eligible to an auxiliary to arrange for a program and refreshments and an invitation was extended to all veterans, their wives, mothers and daughters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to attend. The musical program consisted of numbers by the trio, Mrs. Katherine S. Lown, piano; Mrs. Dorothy Prince, violin and Miss Gertrude Warner, cello. Miss Louise Pike of Woodstock, soprano, sang several solos.

Dr. George M. Burroughs of Danielson and oculist on the staff of the Day Kimball hospital, and president of the staff, with Mrs. Burroughs and their daughter, Miss Vivien Burroughs, are on their way to Florida to spend the winter. They expect to return about the first of April.

Now is the Time to Buy Farm Realty

"I think this is the time for farmers to buy farms and if they already own them, to hold farms," W. M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, said recently. "Agriculture has been in despair for a number of years, but has begun to come out of it. It is improving, and will continue to improve in coming years. Consequently it is an opportune moment for farmers, not speculators, to invest in farm real estate." This being the opinion of such reliable authority, I have a choice number of farms for sale. One in particular being a very desirable farm at a very low price if sold at once.

For all particulars inquire of

CARPENTER FROM FISHERS ISLAND DIES SUDDENLY IN NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 5.—Louis Boudreau, about 60, a carpenter employed on construction work at Fishers Island, died suddenly of heart disease while in New London this afternoon. But little is known of Boudreau, other than that he went to Fishers Island several weeks ago when there was a demand for carpenters. Where Boudreau's permanent residence was, is not known.

Boudreau was walking on Green street about 3 o'clock and started to cross to Golden street. He reached a point about midway of the latter street when he staggered and collapsed. Patrolman Philopena was at the corner of Golden and Green streets and noticed Boudreau as he fell. The officer went to Boudreau's assistance and with the aid of pedestrians, carried Boudreau to O'Leary's where the man expired before a physician could be summoned. Medical Examiner Charles Kaufman was notified of Boudreau's death and after making an investigation ordered the body removed to an undertaking establishment.

It was ascertained this evening that Boudreau came to New London from Sanford, Me., and that he has two sons there. He has another son, Peter, residing at 108 West 53rd street, New York. A daughter, Sylvia, who formerly resided at 77 Colorado avenue, Bridgeport, is now residing and has been for two weeks at 109 Golden street, this city. The Golden street house is but about 50 feet from where Boudreau was stricken, but not until she returned from a theatre tonight was Miss Boudreau informed of her father's death. Peter Boudreau has also been advised of the death. It was learned later that Boudreau who is a member of the carpenters' local, 1220, Sanford, had not been feeling well of late and intended going to the private hospital for an examination, possibly for treatment.

RAILROAD MEN WARNED OF FRAUD WITH THREE NAMES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 4.—Charles Hanson, secretary of the New London local, Order of Railroad Conductors, made complaint to the police this afternoon that a fraud was operating in New London, soliciting funds upon the representation that he was authorized by the organization. Mr. Hanson has asked for the arrest of the fraud. The man is going about the city soliciting advertisements for a magazine, alleged to be sponsored by the railroad organization. The man is using the names of J. W. Riordan, A. P. Strong and R. J. Pinney.

IF CITY GETS OCEAN LINE RENT WILL GO UP $600

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 4.—Daisy Clark and Florence K. Crandall have leased to the Hendel Furniture company a section of the Klinck building, 219 Bank street for a term of five years, with a privilege of renewal, at an annual rental of $2700. It is stipulated in the lease, that in the event of the trans-Atlantic line establishing this port as a terminal for its ocean liners, the rent will be increased $600 annually and that the increase will become operative the first of the month following the arrival in port of the first liner. The furniture company is now doing business on Main street and will take possession of the Klinck store Feb. 1, 1928.

LEO MURRAY, WATERFORD, COMMITTED TO NORWICH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 4.—Leo Murray, of Waterford, who was in the Waterford town court Friday afternoon, has been committed to the Norwich state hospital, for observation. He was in court on a charge of breach of the peace and the case was continued a week. Several hours after the adjournment, Dr. Tyler, United States Coast Guard, was called to attend Murray who is a former member of the coast guard service. Dr. Tyler decided that Murray was in need of attention at the hospital and committed him. He was taken to the hospital in the police automobile.

John W. Sheedy has sold two building lots, Colman street and Lincoln avenue to William Brill, Salem.

The funeral services for Timothy O'Neill, 7 Crescent street, former employe of the Robert Gair company, Montville, were held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. A large assemblage of mourners attended. A solemn mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. William C. Fitzsimons, pastor of the church, with Rev. Thomas H. Tiernan, of Uncasville, deacon, and Rev. Raymond J. O'Callahan, sub-deacon. The bearers were Walker O'Neill, John Shea, Michael Lyons, Patrick Fogarty, Patrick Lyons and John Connors. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Fr. Tiernan.

Relatives of Sanford L. Carty, carpenter, who died Thursday at Home Memorial hospital from starvation, have not been located, but it is believed that survivors reside in or near Providence. It is known that Carty was employed by H. P. MacLean, former Providence contracting wood-finisher, prior to coming to this city, about 15 years ago.

Bolesław Habarek, 20 Winthrop street, a laborer, was arrested this afternoon charged with breach of the peace.

THERE WERE NUMEROUS SIGNS LAST WEEK OF IMPROVEMENT IN INDUSTRY

NEW YORK, Dec. 4, (AP)—Holiday retail trade and the introduction of the new Ford automobile dominated the business situation in America last week. In general there were numerous signs of improvement in industry, but the week's chief characteristic was best described as a widespread feeling in commercial circles that a year of marked prosperity would follow 1927.

The mysterious new Ford, coming on the market after months of discussion, speculation and wondering, created more interest in the business world than any other single event of the year. Belief was widely held that the return to activity of so large an industrial operator would prove a powerful factor in the commercial trend of the immediate future, as well as the coming.

The stock market, deemed by many a barometer of business, had one of the most active weeks in years, with buyers of securities scrambling for the stocks of concerns likely to enjoy a rapid expansion resulting from business created directly and indirectly by the return of Ford.

There was some stiffening in sections of the steel price list, and slight improvement in operations. Buying, however, failed to gain momentum to any marked degree except rather large purchases for the accounts of railroads and implement manufacturers.

A sharp break in crude oil production, and slowing down of cotton-goods manufacture were aligned on the debit side of the business ledger. The lumber trade, on the other hand, reported improving conditions, and operations well ahead of those current a year ago.

Retail trade was, of course, stimulated by the approach of the holiday season. There appeared to be no reason to believe that this year's Christmas trade would fail to approach, if not exceed, previous records.

Credit conditions, aside from the call money field, showed little change from the week before. Time money and commercial paper rates were virtually at the previous week's levels.

Bank clearings increased about 21 per cent. over the week before, a holiday week and rose about 8 per cent. above the figures of the corresponding period of last year.

GREENEVILLE

Mrs. John Dunion, of Hartford, is spending a few days at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Dunion, of Twelfth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flynn and family, of Plainfield, were guests Saturday of her sister, Mrs. Homer Larose, of Fourth street.

Anniversary masses of requiem offered at St. Mary's Memorial church the past week by Rev. William A. Keefe, the pastor, were on Monday for Patrick Mitchell; Tuesday, deceased members of Shetucket Steam Engine, No. 2.; Thursday, Mrs. John C. McCrohan. Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, a month's mind mass was offered by Fr. Keefe for the repose of the soul of the late John Donovan, the ex-street commissioner of Norwich.

A successful supper and sale of aprons, fancy work and candy was held Saturday evening at the Swedish Lutheran church on Hickory street under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society, assisted by the members of the Luther league with 150 people attending. The hall was prettily decorated with Christmas effects. The walls were decorated with streamers of red and green crepe paper with laurel and evergreen worked in to make a pretty background. On the tables were red candles, which were lighted at the beginning of the supper adding to the attraction of the Christmas decorations. The booths were trimmed with red and green crepe paper and the bottom of a booth was covered with crepe paper with a chimney effect. The articles on sale were placed in the center, making a very pretty display. The booths were sold out at an early hour, the societies realizing a large sum which will be added to the profits of the supper and turned over to the treasurer of the church. Rev. A. Anderson, the pastor, wishes to thank all those who helped to make the supper and sale a financial success. The menu was: Baked beans, potato salad, cold meats, bread, rolls, assorted cakes and coffee. Much credit is due to the chairman of the committee, Mrs. George Benson, who had as her assistants, Mrs. Ellison, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Alexander Johnson, Mrs. Ericson, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. Charles Hanson, Mrs. Henry Wise, Mrs. Hannah Johnson and Miss Ethel Caron. The waitresses were Mrs. Watts, Mrs. Henry Wise, Mrs. Carl Johnson and Mrs. Charon. Mrs. Valentine Pearson, Mrs. Ellison, Mrs. Ericson, Miss Hannah Johnson and Mrs. Dahl were in charge of the kitchen. The Ladies' Aid booth of fancy work and rugs was in charge of Mrs. George Benson, Mrs. Oscar Johnson, while Mrs. A. Anderson, Miss Edna Hanson, Mrs. Axle Bjurke, Dorothy Pearson, Miss Zigna Carlson, Mrs. Carlson were in charge of the Luther league booth. The candy table was in charge of Miss Gladys Ericson.

Men will start work this (Monday) morning on the installation of the new Miller electric organ in the Swedish Lutheran church, Hickory street, which was recently purchased. They will dedicate the new organ on Christmas morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Riordan, of Prospect street, spent Sunday as the guests of her sister, Mrs. John B. Le Claire, of Jewett City.

Napoleon Keroack, of Putnam, spent the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Keroack, of Central avenue.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Jennie Bernal who has been a patient at the William W. Backus hospital following an operation for appendicitis, has returned to her home on Occum Heights.

Scoutmaster Victor H. Davis was in charge of the regular weekly meeting of the members of Troop 3, Boy Scouts held Friday evening in the recreation rooms in the basement of the Taftville Congregational church.

The executive board of the Taftville Rod and Gun club held an interesting meeting on Friday evening with Acting President Albert Benoit presiding. The game supper bills were ordered paid and a committee was elected to make arrangements with the management of a local theatre to exhibit a sporting film jointly with the rod and gun club. The main business of the evening was the proposition of leasing a large farm in this vicinity as a game preserve to breed game, rear fish and provide an ideal place for a snooting ground. It would require a place of 200 acres of ideal hunting country, it was reported, and there would have to be a large sized pond for the rearing of fish. Another requirement would be several outer buildings where members could park their automobiles and house their dogs. The game keeper would occupy the main farmhouse which would also provide sleeping quarters for members who wished to stay over for a few days. Considerable enthusiasm was shown and Napoleon J. Benoit, John Volkman and Edward Duprey were nominated to investigate both the location and the financing of the lease of such a place. The local club has a membership of over 200, and in a recent leter to the secretary, Game Warden Robert R. Chappell stated that he wished that there were more clubs like it in the state. The members feel that if they can obtain the game preserve and launch the program, numerous sportsmen from other parts of the town would join for the increased privileges which a game preserve would offer.

Mrs. William Jackson who is the guest of her brother, Axel L. Aberg of North Third avenue was in Baltic for a short time this week.

Private funeral services for William Hicks were held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the funeral parlors of George G. Grant on Providence street, with Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor of the Greeneville Congregational church, officiating. There were a number of beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were William Bailey, George N. Beardow, Ernest W. Jervis and John Seddon. Burial was in the family lot in Yantic cemetery where Rev. Mr. Ricketts read the committal service. The funeral arrangements were in charge of George G. Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Generous of Hartford, who were recently married, have been spending their honeymoon with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Generous of Occum road.

Mrs. Andrew Frohnader of Dion street and Mrs. Thomas Perkins Sears of North Fifth avenue were in Hartford Saturday attending a meeting of officers of the American Legion auxiliaries.

Gilbert Burns lost a valuable cow recently when the animal suddenly went wild, shortly after she had been delivered to Mr. Burns' farm by a truckman. The cow jumped over stone walls and raced across lots and finally fell injured in the road and died before Dr. Frank D. Coles could reach the place. Dr. Coles reported that the cow had a broken neck.

PROMINENT CITIZENS GIVE ENDORSEMENT TO SALE OF THE CHRISTMAS SEALS

Words of commendation of the work of the tuberculosis committee in the sale of the Christmas seals, come in from every quarter of the city. Among the representative citizens who have spoken in terms of praise are the following:

The Norwich Chamber of Commerce—"Because this organization is interested in every phase of our community life, and particularly in those things that make for the health and happiness of our fellow citizens, we most earnestly commend to all, the object of the Christmas Seal campaign, and urge everyone to support it to the limit of his financial ability."

JAMES L. CASE,
President.

Casper K. Bailey, postmaster: "Purchase Christmas seals and you will be taking an active part in a most worthy cause, the prevention and cure of tuberculosis."

C. A. Spear, president of the Rotary Club: "I sincerely hope that every person who can will contribute to the Norwich Tuberculosis Seal committee, and purchase the Christmas seals that mean added cheer and comfort to the unfortunate persons in our community."

W. R. Frisble, president of the Lions club: "The splendid work of your commission deserves undivided support."

James M. Osten, exalted ruler of Norwich Lodge of Elks: "We know of no better medium to which a man can contribute that makes for more happiness. Your splendid cause has our unreserved support."

Marion L. Bishop, president of the Woman's City club: "Every woman who purchases Christmas seals is giving her personal aid to the great fight against tuberculosis."

Y. M. C. A., Edwin Hill, general secretary: "In these days when so many are seeking ways and means to make our world a warless world, in the general sense of that term, let us all hope that a continuous warfare will be waged against the terrible enemy, tuberculosis, and that it not too far distant a day, this enemy of mankind will be known in history only."

Rev. William A. Keefe, St. Mary's church: "The many cases of practical aid to deserving people of our section of Norwich made possible through the Christmas sale of seals have convinced me long ago that your plan is most practical and merits the generous assistance of all our people. I wish you great success in your campaign."

Rabbi Joseph N. Rosenberg: "With the greatest sincerity I heartily endorse the work of the tuberculosis committee. This is a work worthy of your support."

Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey: "The new tuberculosis stamps of 1927 are unusually attractive in appearance. They will certainly cheer up what would otherwise be a somber pile of mail. In the name of the great physician who went about doing good, each stamp seems to breathe a prayer for the fuller health of mankind. One hundred stamps bought and used will mean one hundred impulses, one hundred little acts of kindness and of love."

F. L. Woodard, vice president and treasurer, Dime Savings bank: "The campaign against tuberculosis should receive universal support; and everyone should consider it not only a duty, but a privilege to help in the work by buying the Christmas seals."

Roy D. Judd, Lee Osgood Co.: "I warmly commend the work done by the Norwich tuberculosis committee and urge the public to respond liberally to the Christmas Seal appeal, remembering that 85 per cent. of this money is expended in Norwich."

W. S. Allis: "The purchase of Christmas seals is a substantial aid in the splendid work which the state of Connecticut is doing in the care of its tuberculosis sick. Whether it be considered as a charity in the alleviation of suffering, or as an economic investment in the saving annually of thousands of lives, it is one of the most practical and effectual forms of public service. Our contributions are used to a large extent locally. They go directly to the objects intended and without any unnecessary expense of administration."

C. Edward Smith, Cranston & Co.: "There are two strong arguments which appeal to us for our generous support of the efforts made for funds for the tubercular, one being the need which is very apparent to every thoughtful person and the other, the most efficient use made of such funds in bringing health, brightness and cheer into so many clouded lives."

Dr. A. C Freeman, M D.: "The sale of Christmas seals has been the source of a revenue that has helped those ill with tuberculosis or contacts of the disease. This work must be continued and we can help most by buying liberally of the Christmas seals."

Dr. W. W. Leonard: "With the approach of the greatest holiday of the year, a season of joy and giving, we should bear in mind those less fortunate, and do our part to bring some measure of good to them. This can be done by organized efforts through the sale of Christmas seals. This appeal should meet with prompt and generous support."

Martha H. C. Mitchell, state department of public welfare: "Prevention, and a reasonable hope of cure, particularly in its earlier stages, is the strong appeal of all this work."

Lucy B. Abbott, superintendent of the W. W. Backus hospital: "The Christmas seal sale deserves the support of every patriotic citizen. No other money spent at this season carries more of the Christmas spirit."

Ada R. Chase, president of the United Workers: "This campaign gives to each of us an opportunity to share in the care of our own unfortunate cases of tuberculosis by giving a few cents or dollars each year to help remove from them a handicap to their happy existence."

This year, for the first time, the United Workers is carrying on the work through a special committee organized by the public health nursing department, No. 9 Washington street, has been turned into an active headquarters. Visitors are most cordially invited to drop in to see how the campaign is being conducted and what an enthusiastic group of workers are there daily under the capable leadership of Mrs. Richard Snow, chairman of the seal committee.

WINTER ARRIVES WITH COLD, SLEET AND RAIN

Winter arrived with a drop in temperature in the early hours of Sunday morning when the thermometer reached 22 and held at that point until the middle of the afternoon when it rose a few degrees. About noon a sleet storm began that continued through the afternoon and until close to midnight when the sleet turned to rain. The ground was covered at the time with between one and two inches of sleet and the addition of rain promised uncomfortable traveling conditions for Monday.

EVOLUTION THE THEME OF REV. FATHER REILLY

Having read the gospel for the second Sunday in Advent, Matthew 11.2-10, Rev. John J. Reilly, preaching to the customary great congregation at the third mass in St. Patrick's church Sunday, spoke of the glamour which surrounds this word for the student who for ten months hears it spoken with awe by some professor, also the circulation of the term among the rank and file of readers and thinkers, until the sequence is apt to be professor, evolution, monkey. The teaching that the world as it is means merely natural selection, the struggle for life, the survival of the fittest, is repugnant to faith. The Bible teaches that only on the thought of God did all things come forth.

While scientists quarrel about types, the theory that all living things have a common origin, the Catholic in his repetition of the Apostles' creed in the study of creation comes to evolution. The preacher contrasted the results of evolution which would eliminate God and evolution with God. While there is admitted evolution of natural things there emphatically is evolutio nof spiritual things which precludes any such condition as standing still in the world of the soul.

The points of chance, of order were taken up, the impossibility of results being obtained without some divine Mind and Will being back of matter in the material world. That change of soul which means evolution toward ruin was compared with love ever on the increase, the heart going more to God, which implies true spiritual evolution. This was the logical type of evolution which the preacher praised, as contrasted with the burlesque evidence in Tennessee a few years ago, when the Bible was pitted against reason, truth against science; which left the world laughing at the scriptures, left mortals of weak faith confused. In the brief time at his disposal Father Reilly treated a big subject with ability and clarity of explanation, leaving with his hearers the thought that the thing which concerns man most vitally is not whether the domestic cat has evolved from the ferocious panther of the desert but how best his immortal soul can evolve into a love for Christ.

Father Reilly waited to assist Rev. Myles P. Galvin, who read the low mass, in giving communion to row after row of penitents who formed one of the best evidences of the practical faith of the congregation and the parish, since the week end confessions had been unusually numerous.

At the 7:30 mass, an equally large proportion of the congregation, including the Children of Mary society, Miss Loretta Bellefleur president, received communion from Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May and his assistant, Rev. Father Galvin.

CAUGHT IN ALLEGED BURGLARY ATTEMPT AT BLEACHERY PLANT

Caught in what is alleged to have been an attempt at burglary at the United States Finishing company plant early Sunday morning, Jan Seretny, 44, an employe there, was arrested and locked up at police headquarters on the charge of attempted burglary.

About 3 o'clock Sunday morning, Michael Ryan, night watchman at the bleachery, caught sight of Seretny in the yard of the plant. The man ran in to the shade room, through the color calendar room and into the beetle room.

The watchman summoned Officers Quinn and Sullivan and a search for Seretny was begun. He was finally found in the beetle room, hiding under one of the machines with a cloth pulled over him to keep him from sight of his pursuers.

Seretny who is a cotton bleacher is married and lives at 120 Otrobando avenue.

Brought from Stamford

Stanley Besade was brought here from Stamford Sunday morning by Officer P. Murphy who was sent there after him, and will appear before the city court on a non-support charge. He was taken into custody by the Stamford police at request of the Norwich authorities. Besade, it is understood, is under orders from the court to pay his wife a weekly sum, but he has been away from here for four weeks, during which time he has neither sent her any money nor written to her.

COLLEGE WOMEN TURN TO TEACHING AND MARRIAGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Dec. 4—That 20 per cent. of the graduates of Connecticut College for Women are engaged in the teaching profession this year, as against 34 per cent. so engaged in 1920, indicates that teaching is becoming less and less the only occupation for the college graduate.

Miss Mary Bulkley president of the Connecticut League of Women Voters and a trustee of Connecticut College at New London, commented on this percentage as indicative of the widening fields which the woman of today finds open to her.

Of the 653 students who have been graduated from Connecticut College since 1919 when the first class received its degrees, 135 are teaching. More popular than teaching, according to Connecticut College statistics for the nine classes graduated, is marriage, which has claimed 130, or more than one-third. These are represented in the second generation by 115 children.

A tennis professional, a dentist, an osteopath, a lawyer, and several physicians among the alumnae illustrate the diversity of the work which college women enter today.

During January there will be another card party held in their rooms.

S. S. Club Held Meeting.

The S. S. club met last week with Mrs. Mary Hunter, of Norwich Town. A social evening was enjoyed with radio and sewing. Sandwiches, cookies and coffee were served by the hostess. The club meeting this week is with Mrs. Rose Carter, 38 Sturtevant avenue, Norwich Town.

MAKING HOLIDAY FUND APPEAL FOR UNCAS-ON-THAMES

"Now that Thanksgiving is a thing of the past, and there is nothing left of all the turkeys but well-picked bones and featherless ghosts it is time to think of Christmas, and that, of course brings us to the joy of giving, and the chance at our very own door of serving the sick and needy. In other words, we Norwich people do not need to go far a-field to find a place to use our spare change; the opportunity is right with us," says the Committee for the holiday fund at Uncas-on-Thames, which is once more beginning its yearly solicitation for money to carry on.

"The fund is used entirely for the needs and comforts of the Norwich sanatorium. When Santa Claus comes to Uncas-on-Thames Christmas morning, it should give each of us, more healthy and fortunate ones, a warm feeling around the cockles of our hearts, and a thrill that is worthwhile experiencing, to have contributed of our means to the sanatorium invalids.

"And one must always remember that this holiday fund has nothing whatsoever to do with the Red Cross Seal money which is used exclusively for the clinic work and prevention of tuberculosis in Norwich—thus doing its own splendid individual part.

"But the holiday fund is unique, in that it is purely a voluntary budget, sustained year after year, by solicitation from friends of the sanatorium; it provides not only a Christmas treat for every patient, but means happy days throughout the year; it pays for flowers and cards at Easter, for Fourth of July fun and frolic, for souvenirs on Valentine's day, St. Patrick's and Washington's birthday, and makes possible a wonderful Hallowe'en party. Best of all, it recognizes each patient's birthday, with a special cake and gift.

"It is a fund of perpetual happiness, and represents to these sanatorium sick folk all the good times that life ever gives many of them. It brings comfort, and helps them to carry on and wage war more bravely with their insidious foe, tuberculosis, and it is for such a good cause as this that the holiday fund committee asks yearly for help and co-operation from the townspeople.

"The needs at the sanatorium are especially great this year, as the wards are crowded to their capacity, and never have there been so many patients to be cared for. Therefore, if every one of them is to have a visit from Santa, we must all help boost this fund, on which so much depends!

"The chance to give (and thereby, to enjoy) a very happy Chritsmas is thus offered to every man, woman and child in Norwich; the time is now; the place is here; the result will be a merry Christmas for over two hundred shut ins on Sanatorium Hill.

"Miss Mary E. Richards, who is carrying on this work (which originated with the late Mrs. Frederick Byrnes and herself some years ago) has appointed the following as her committee; Mrs. James L. Smith Mrs. Samuel E. Smiley, Mrs. Charles T. Bard, Mrs. Shepard B. Palmer, Mrs. Harrison Gray, Mrs. George T. Ingalls, Mrs. Henry W. Lanz, Mrs. Charles J. Twist, Mrs. C. T. Joslyn, Mrs. Charles B. Carpenter, Miss Jane McG. Aiken, Miss Mary Sheridan, Mrs. Albert H. Chase, Miss Louise Robinson, Miss Ina Ufford, Miss Mazie Caruthers, Mayor Milo R. Waters, Clarence E. Carpenter, E. LaRue Bliven, Alfred Bliven, William R. Clarke, Roy C. Judd, Michael J. Murphy, Joseph A. Donnelly, Felix Callahan. Miss Katherine E. Kent will take charge of the work in Norwich Town; Miss Lillian Stetson will solicit from the school teachers, Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham will be in charge at Gales Ferry, Miss Dorothy Paul is the collector at Jewett City, and Taftville will give its contributions to Mrs. Frank B. Ricketson and Earle M. Wood.

"Felix Callahan is in charge of distributing among the stores the very attractive boxes, which are the gifts of the Norwich Paper Box Company, and the postals to be sent acknowledging donations, have been printed and given to the good cause by Mayor Waters.

"Charles F. Noyes of New York city, an always kind friend of the holiday fund, is, as usual, the first out of town contributor and this year his check has been doubled. This seems a lucky omen at the beginning of the drive, and the committee feels most appreciative of his generosity.

"Contributions may be given (or sent) to Miss Mary E. Richards, 93 Sachem street, or to any of the committee. No sum is too small, anything is acceptable, and the more, the merrier!"

CHRISTMAS CLUB CHECKS FROM BANKERS TRUST

Checks to the members of its Christmas club were placed in the mail Saturday by the Bankers Trust company which will distribute approximately $23,000 thereby for the Christmas season to the 500 members who have maintained their club memberships. Both in the number of members and the amount to be distributed, the bank has set a new record for its Christmas club plan and the thrifty members will be well pleased when Uncle Sam's messengers deliver the envelopes containing the checks.

70TH CONGRESS CONVENED IN POLITICAL CONFUSION

Impending Contests Over Seats in the Senate Shoved Into the Background the Consideration of Legislative Tasks—Congress Will Receive President Coolidge's Annual Message at Noon Today—The House Completed Its Reorganization With Republicans in Control—Senate Reorganization Was Deferred Until Later in the Week by an Agreement Between the Republican and Democratic Leaders.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—(AP)—The seventieth congress began work on Capitol hill today with a political tussle in the senate that promises to echo throughout the session and far into next summer's presidential campaign.

Hardly had the bang of the gavels called both houses to order before the long impending Smith-Vare election battle broke in the senate and shoved into the background the consideration of a host of legislative tasks that the new congress will be called upon to tackle.

Even in the house, where stricter rules call for more regular procedure came an indication of discord and political confusion ahead. After some debate a resolution was adopted to investigate the eligibility of one of its new members, James M. Beck of Pennsylvania a republican, elected to fill William S. Vare's seat and chief counsel for Vare in his senate contest.

Despite these first minute eligibility disputes, congress got its machinery into shape to receive President Coolidge's annual message at noon tomorrow. After that has been read by the clerks of the two houses, the house will make a start at its huge legislative task. The senate will plunge into the Smith-Vare fight which may occupy its attention for days and perhaps weeks.

After establishing that 417 of its 435 members were present, the house re-elected Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, as speaker; William Tyler Page as its clerk and all of the other officers nominated by the republican majority, thus reaffirming that party's control in that body.

Reorganization of the senate was deferred until later in the week by an agreement between the republican and democratic leaders, but a chaplain was elected, the Rev. Z. B. Phillips, rector of Epiphany Episcopal church here being selected to succeed the late Rev. J. J. Muir.

Crowds which jammed the senate galleries and corridors in the expectation of witnessing the beginning of a spectacular struggle over the seating of Smith and Vare met with disappointment. Instead of a spectacle they saw only a very tame proceeding, which lasted exactly 35 minutes.

On the other hand, those who comfortably filled the house galleries, but without any idea of anything unusual awaiting them, ran into a partisan battle in which the seat of the former senator general of the United States, Beck, became involved.

Beck was given the oath after the motion to prevent him from doing so had been rejected by a vote of 243 to 157. Subsequently, without a roll call, the house referred to an elections committee the question of whether he was a legal resident of Pennsylvania at the time he was elected to the house in a special election last month.

After a first session lasting only a little more than two and one half hours, the house adjourned with the appointment of the republican and democratic leaders, Tilson of Connecticut, and Garrett of Tennessee, as a committee to act with a similar one from the senate, with Curtis of Kansas, majority leader, and Robinson of Arkansas, the minority leader, in notifying President Coolidge that the new congress was ready to receive his message.

This formal notification was given in mid-afternoon and the expectation is that Mr. Coolidge will send his annual message to Capitol hill by messenger so that its reading may begin immediately upon the convening of the two houses tomorrow.

BUTLER FAVORS KANSAS CITY FOR CONVENTION

WASHINGTON Dec. 5—(AP)—Chairman Butler of the republican national committee today threw his support to Kansas City in its race with a dozen other cities to secure the party's next convention.

The word that Butler favored the Missouri city over San Francisco, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and others in the contest was passed to members of the committee during the day by Louis Kuntz, committeeman for Louisiana, who said he had been authorized by the chairman to make the announcement.

The disclosure of the chairman's views had two distinct reactions—on the one hand, to give encouragement to Kansas City boosters and, on the other to cause resentment on the part of supporters of some of the other cities, chiefly San Francisco, because he had not remained neutral.

Various members of the committee sought to obtain from the chairman a direct statement but for some hours he could not be reached. Early tonight, however, he confirmed Kuntz's statement that he had thrown his support entirely to Kansas City.

Delegations from the various cities will be heard tomorrow and the selection will be made Wednesday.

5,400 RESOLUTIONS AND BILLS IN THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—(AP)—Legislative levees gave way in the house today and a flood of 5,400 bills and resolutions, ranging from individual to national interest, poured into this end of the capitol.

With the exception of the two resolutions by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, seeking to withhold seats from Senators-elect Smith of Illinois, and Vare, of Pennsylvania, the senate was spared the first effects of the deluge until it organized.

Although the first deficiency bill, one of the major appropriation measures to be introduced in the house, will not be offered until tomorrow, estimates totalling $194,605,506 to be appropriated under it, were submitted today by the budget bureau.

The tax bill framed by the house ways and means committee and calling for a reduction in revenue of $336,000,000 was not included in the mass of measures introduced today, now was the measure providing for the return of alien property seized during the World war.

Bills of national or regional importance involved such questions as prohibition, farm relief, flood control, coal, immigration, aviation, national defense and rivers and harbors.

A national referendum on the repeal of the 18th amendment was proposed by Representative McLeod, republican, Michigan, while Representative Oliver, democrat, New York, suggested a similar referendum to determine by local option the alcoholic content of beverages considered "intoxicating." Representative O'Connell, democrat, New York, proposed the repeal of the Volstead act, and the substitution of a similar law to be known as the national temperance act.

Modification of the Volstead act to permit the manufacture of 2 3-4 per cent. alcoholic beverages was proposed by Representative Nedringhaus, republican, Missouri.

Farm relief came in for attention in several bills, one by Representative Sinclair, republican, North Dakota, calling for appointment of a commission by the president to investigate a general system for marketing of farm products.

BRITAIN AND RUSSIA FAIL TO ADJUST GRIEVANCES

GENEVA, Dec. 5—(AP)—Refusal of the soviet government to accept responsibility for any communistic propaganda in England was the main cause today of inability to settle the Anglo-Russia quarrel.

Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Russian delegation to the preparatory disarmament conference, who stayed over for a talk with Sir Austen Chamberlain, is understood to have emphasized to the British foreign secretary that the Moscow government cannot be repeatedly blamed for any agitation carried on by the third international.

The separation of the two statesmen without even discovering the slightest foundation for a possible later agreement leading to resumption of diplomatic relations between the two countries, threw a shadow over Geneva, which was rosily anticipating Russia's return to the European concert of nations, nevertheless the opinion was widely voiced that today's failure should not necessarily be deemed conclusive. Additional efforts are anticipated.

France, Germany Great Britain and Russia are all lending a hand in the effort to reconcile Poland and Lithuania and effect settlement of the quarrel arising from Poland's seizure of Vilna which has prevented the two neighbors from entering into diplomatic relations.

KEEDICK DENIES THAT HE OWES AMUNDSEN $10,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Lee Keedick, American lecture manager for Captain Roald Amundsen, in denying today that he owed the explorer $10,000 threatened to reveal his own theory as to the explorer's hurried departure from this country.

Amundsen in Oslo, Norway, said his failure to fulfill a scheduled American lecture tour was due to the fact that his manager owed him $10,000 from his 1926-27 tour. Amundsen sailed suddenly from New York in October, cancelling, among other engagements, a dinner at the Explorers' club where he was to receive a medal.

Keedick said any statement that he owed Amundsen $10,000 was an "unmitigated falsehood," and offered to make a contribution of that amount to the Explorers' club if Amundsen could prove in any United States court that Keedick owed him a cent when he sailed.

"His last tour was under a contract with me on a profit sharing basis," he said, "and a few accounts receivable from this are outstanding but his share is payable only when I collect them."

PRESIDENT OF PHEASANT AIRPLANE CO. KILLED

MEMPHIS, Miss., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Lee R. Briggs, president of the Pheasant Airplane company, of Memphis, Missouri, and Otin Oliver, student flyer, were killed when their plane overturned after taking off about four miles from here today.

Oliver, who lives at Versailles, Ohio, had purchased the plane yesterday, and together with Briggs was giving it a test. At an altitude of about 1000 feet Briggs attempted a turn and the two men were thrown clear of the plane.

The bodies were found about one-half mile from the flying field by employes of the Pheasant Airplane company, who watched the accident. The plane was found four miles from the field, a wreck.

NAT'L POLITICAL NEWS OF INTEREST IN CONNECTICUT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—The only New England member on the executive committee of the republican national conference is Rorback of Connecticut who is already here. Mrs. Ruse, woman member of the national committee from Connecticut will arrive tonight. Republican headquarters predict a harmonious session as to time and place of holding the convention. Routine business tomorrow will be followed by a banquet at which Floor Leader Tilson will be a principal speaker. Senator Bingham took his oath of office when congress convened at noon as did all the Connecticut members of the house.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

MARSEILLES, France, Dec. 5—(AP)—Bennett J. Doty of Biloxi, Miss., known to the French foreign legion as Gilbert Clare of Memphis, Tenn., was released unconditionally from his enlistment today and free to proceed tonight to Paris and thence home.

LONDON, Dec. 5—(AP)—At the wool sales today 10,122 bales were offered about 9,000 of which were sold. There was a full attendance and demand did not slacken, prices favouring sellers. The top price realized for Greasury Merino was thirty pence. Scoured Merinos were frequently brought in.

PLAN OF REFUNDING THE GREEK WAR DEBT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—(AP)—A refunding of the Greek war debt and a further advance to that country, the whole to be repaid over a period of 62 years have been agreed upon by the state and treasury departments and the minister from Greece.

The debt now totals $19,659,836, representing the principal and interest since 1918 on money loaned to Greece in the war. Under the agreement the United States would advance an additional $12,167,000, payable in 29 years at an interest rate of four per cent and accrued January 1. Greek securities for the larger sum, bearing interest at three per cent, and maturing over the 62 year period.

The proposal will be submitted by President Coolidge for the ratification of congress.

Explaining the arrangements today, Secretary Mellon said that Greece obtained the war advances by virtue of an agreement between the United States and its allies to furnish that country with a much larger sum than was actually delivered.

The United States, he said, tentatively set aside $48,236,989 for advances to Greece, but stopped payments after $15,000,000 had been withdrawn and the Greek government has contended that it was entitled to further loans up to the full amount set aside.

LABOR DISPUTE IN STEEL INDUSTRY IN GERMANY

DUSSELDORF, Germany, Dec. 5—(AP)—Both sides in the steel and iron labor dispute apparently are determined to continue a policy of bluffing while the ministry of labor sets in motion all available machinery to avert the threatened shutdown.

To give greater weight to their argument that labor's demands for higher pay and shorter hours would be ruinous to them, the raw steel and iron producing industrialists have prevailed upon the manufacturers of steel and iron goods to join them in giving notice of a shutdown in January. They have also requested their foreign purveyors of ores to limit December deliveries as much as possible and to cancel them entirely after January 1.

Influential trade union leaders arrived here today to marshal their forces for Wednesday's conversation with the industrialists at Essen. As far as could be learned at present they intend to counter the move of the industrialists by memorializing the government with a request to seize all plants that closed down and to socialize them. The union leaders point out that an eight hour day was promised them even by the terms of the Washington agreement and that it has been a fact in British industry since 1925.

DIED FROM SHOCK WHEN AUTO COLLIDED WITH TRUCK

STAMFORD, Dec. 5—(AP)—Suffering from tuberculosis which had reached the incurable stage, Angelino Purso, 1, of River road, Cos Cob, Greenwich, died of shock tonight after the taxi in which she was returning home from the Shelton sanatorium collided with a truck in Darien.

With her in the taxi which was driven by Harold Schmautz, of Greenwich, was her father Angelo Purso, and her brother, John.

John Terp, of 87 Franklin street, Boston, driver of the truck was arrested and held in $2,500 bonds as was Schmautz.

The crash occurred on the Boston Post road.

ENGINEERING CREW LOST IN BLIZZARD IN MONTANA

SHELBY, Mont., Dec. 5—(AP)—Twenty-five men, members of the Hope Engineering crew constructing a pipe line from Great Falls to Shelby, were lost in a blizzard, seven miles from here late tonight.

Several unsuccessful efforts have been made to rescue the men but none of the rescue parties have been able to get more than two miles beyond Shelby.

The snow was falling so fast that it was impossible to see more than a few feet and the thermometer had dropped below zero.

POLICE CHIEF CHARGED WITH RUM RUNNING

NASHUA, N. H., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Chief of Police Ora A. Swett, of Newport, Vt., was arrested on a charge of rum running today, when federal and county officers who halted his car on the outskirts of this city after a two-mile chase found 27 cases of whiskey in the machine.

Chief Swett was released on bail tonight, pending his appearance in the municipal court tomorrow on charges of illegal transportation of intoxicating liquor.

WOMEN FOUGHT WHEN ROOSTER ATTACKED CHILD

KEENE, N. H., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Two fistic and hair-pulling matches have resulted between two women neighbors recently because a rooster owned by one attacked a child of the other. In court today, Judge Charles A. Madden told Mrs. Addie Towle to pen up the rooster or dispose of it. He reserved decision in the assault charge brought against Mrs Towle by Mrs. Robert Kennedy, mother of the child attacked by the rooster.

D. C. STEPHENSON APPEALS FOR PERSONAL PROTECTION

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Dec. 5—(AP)—Protection from physical violence so that he may make public information which he claims is not now available to authorities and which he contends will enmesh the present state administration, is sought by D. C. Stephenson, life prisoner in a petition for a restraining order filed in the Laporte superior court here today. The petition was filed by Robert H. Moore, of this city, an attorney for Stephenson.

BLIZZARD SWEEPING PRAIRIES OF ALBERTA

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 5—(AP)—One of the worst blizzards experienced in a number of years was sweeping the prairies of Alberta late tonight.

The storm started early this afternoon and extended from Edmonton south to the United States boundary, east as far as Books and Bow Island, and west to Yoho.

Contests Over Seats In Senate and House

Smith and Vare Stood Aside While Other Senators-Elect Took the Oath of Office.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—(AP)—Stopped by a double-barrelled resolution which carried an element of surprise, Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, and William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, both republicans stood aside today in the senate while the thirty other senators-elect took the oath and became full-fledged senators.

When their names were called along with the others, Senator Norris, of Nebraska, a leader of the republican insurgents, offered resolutions which would have the senate declare that they are entitled neither to the oath of office nor to membership in the senate because of expenditures in their primaries.

Both senators-elect stood aside without protest from their friends and the senate agreed to defer consideration of the resolutions until after the reading tomorrow of the annual message of President Coolidge.

While the senate thus was laying the ground work for a protracted fight over two of its seats, the house had one of its members challenged, James M. Beck, republican of Philadelphia, elected to succeed Vare as a member of the house and chief counsel for the Pennsylvania senator-elect. Representative Garrett, the democratic leader, challenged Beck on the ground that he is not a legal resident of Pennsylvania, but after a brief running fire the house voted 243 to 157 to permit him to take the oath of office. Later it adopted a motion by Garrett for an investigation of Beck's case by an elections committee.

The challenge directed against Beck was almost as much of a surprise as was the Norris proposal to exclude both Smith and Vare without any further hearing before the privileges and elections committee or the special campaign fundos committee, which investigated their primary campaigns at extensive hearings in 1926.

The Norris propostion puts squarely up to the senate immediately the question of a final vote on exclusion instead of deferring that vote until after additional hearings, a program which it had generally been expected would be proposed.

Friends of Smith and Vare will oppose the resolution with all the vigor and force they can muster. Their first move will be the offering of a substitute under which the senators-elect would be given the oath of office and then have their cases inquired into fully by the elections committee before the issue of their final right to their seats would be decided.

STATE POLICEMAN SISSON SUSPENDED FROM FORCE

HARTFORD, Dec. 5—State Policeman George Sisson, of New London, attached to the Groton barracks, has been suspended from the force, it was admitted today by State Police Commissioner Robert T. Hurley. Commissioner Hurley said details had not yet been furnished him, but it is understood that the officer's alleged offense arises from his report of an accident in which the state police automobile assigned to his use was involved. State Policeman Sisson is the son of Representative George W. Sisson and Mrs. Sisson, of New London. His father is in charge of the school fund bureau in the state treasurer's office.

Anti-Saloon League To Change Tactics

Dr. Cherrington Chosen to Direct a Department of Education and Publicity.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Under a reorganization plan sponsored by leaders in the Anti-Saloon league in convention here, indications today were that Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, of Westerville, Ohio, birthplace of the organization, would be named to direct a proposed department of education and publicity, which is intended to take over much of the work of the late Wayne B. Wheeler.

The plan, which was submitted to the board of directors, is a departure from the recent policies and returns to the publicity methods used before the adoption of the 18th amendment. Under it, Wheeler's post of legislative superintendent, which he held in addition to being governing counsel, would not be filled, and Dr. F. Scott McBride would be retained as general superintendent. E. B. Dunford, who was Wheeler's legal assistant, is to be named as general attorney, under the plan.

Bishop Thomas Nicholson, of Detroit, president, and other officers are slated for re-election.

At the first general session tonight, Bishop Nicholson declared that the present prohibition laws are enforced better than any legislation "that we have ever had for the regulation of liquor traffic."

The struggle to maintain the validity of the 18th amendment and to secure the enforcement of the Volstead act, he said, is the greatest test of the strength of the constitution since the Civil war.

"Precedent for the use of the army and navy in enforcing the prohibition amendment is provided by the action of the government at the time of the Civil war," Bishop Nicholson asserted.

The United States has registered an economic progress since the enactment of the prohibition laws unequalled in all history, Senator Sheppard, of Texas, told the delegates.

He declared that the "drys" in congress were prepared to halt any attempts on the part of the "wets" during the present session of congress to secure the repeal of the prohibition laws.

MRS. LILLIENDAHL TELLS HER STORY OF THE MURDER

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Dec. 5—(AP)—Garbed in her widow's weeds Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl told between sobs on the witness stand today her story of the manner in which two Negroes killed the aged husband with whose murder she is charged.

And while she told her dramatic tale in a court room tense with emotion her little son, the child of the dead Doctor A. William Lilliendahl, nodded in a spectator's seat and finally toppled over to sleep unconcernedly through his mother's recountal of their family tragedy.

Willis Beach, the elderly chicken farmer who is jointly charged with the widow and whose infatuation for her is put forward by the state as the motive for the crime, listened to the testimony which characterized him as innocent with a twisted smile on his pallid lips.

From almost the beginning of today's session Mrs. Lilliendahl occupied the stand in her own defense and when court adjourned for the day she had not yet completed her ordeal.

HARDSHIPS OF FARMERS RECITED TO THE MEMBERS OF THE FARM BUREAU

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The farmer fears he is on the downward road to peasantry and wonders why he should stick to the plow and hold his children to a calling stigmatized everywhere, declared William E Dodd before the American Farm Bureau federation today.

"With an unprecedented tariff for industrial men, a steadying banking law for financial interests, a transportation act for railroads and an immigration law for labor, the farmers think themselves crowded out of the house of their fathers," said Prof Dodd, who is a member of the history department of the University of Chicago.

"Two millions of them have abandoned their callings the last six years. The conditions of the small home-owning farmer is worse than it has ever been. He receives a little more than a dollar a bushel for wheat, and the city consumer pays ten cents a pound for bread. He receives two or three dollars a barrel for apples and the consumer pays from ten to fifteen dollars a barrel. He receives ten cents a pound for pork on the hoof, while the consumer pays fifty cents a pound for bacon.

"The margin is too great. Something is radically wrong.

"If the tariff be lowered, the cities must suffer. If the railroads be required to lower their rates, railway labor will strike. If the banks be regulated for social purposes, business men will make loud protest. If commission merchants and other city organizations be put under control, the cry of Bolshevism arrives.

"If farmers seek to help themselves, it is socialism.

"A serious problem, and it behooves statesmen to solve it or forfeit their claims on the people."

Among the matters being considered by the resolutions committee for approval of the ninth annual meeting of the farm bureau were flood prevention, Muscle Shoals, the boulder dam project and the McNary-Haugen measure, vetoed at the last session of congress by President Coolidge As to the latter measure, members said, re-election of Sam H. Thompson, president of the bureau, would indicate the organization would put all its force behind passage of the bill in this session of congress, over the president's veto if necessary. No candidates have been mentioned thus far for the presidency.

Eighteen stations will broadcast the speech of General John J. Pershing Wednesday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock, Central standard time, among them WBG, Springfield, Mass., and WBZH, Boston.

ONE PERSON KILLED, EIGHT SHOT IN CHICAGO HOLD-UP

Half a Dozen Masked Robbers Invaded the Parody Cafe—At 200 Merrymakers Attempted to Escape, the Bandits Fought With Pistols, Shotguns and Machine Guns Against Half a Dozen Policemen Who Happened to Be Guests—A Waiter Was Killed—The Bandit Leader and Four of His Companions Were Wounded.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5—(AP)—The wildest wild west holdup in the history of Chicago night clubs brought death to one person and caused the wounding of eight others early today when half a dozen masked robbers invided the Parody cafe and while 200 panic-stricken merry makers attempted escape, fought with pistols, shotguns and machine guns against a half dozen policemen who happened to be guests.

"When they say hello, they mean hello——" sang two girl entertainers above the moaning of saxophones and the laughter of guests in the packed and dimly lighted cafe.

"When they say hello, they mean hello," the gang leader shouted as he entered followed by four others. "Stick 'em up everybody."

A policeman sitting at a nearby table thought it was all part of the show. Then to prod the slow ones, a couple of shots were fired into the ceiling. "Hands up," the leader shouted, brandishing his weapon.

The policeman, Sergeant Charles Cohen, shoved his wife under a table, drew his pistol, fired and missed. The gang leader turned and fired but missed the policeman as one of the girl entertainers who had been singing the "Hello" song, slumped to the floor.

Then there was a fusillade of shots as other policemen joined the fight. The lights went out. When the shooting ended and the lights came on, a waiter lay dead in a corner, killed as he raced for the street to summon help. In the middle of the dance floor was huddled the crumpled form of the girl entertainer, nearby at another table another wounded woman screamed.

The bandit leader and four of his companions lay wounded near the entrance. The terrified guests made a rush for the exits that knocked over tables and chairs and smashed dishes. The police came to find the panic stricken merrymakers hurrying into the dawn.

The gang leader, who doctors said probably would die, was identified as Edward Cummings, married and the father of two children.

The dead waiter was identified as Harry Smith and the girl entertainer, whose condition is critical, as Juna Griffith, 20. Miss Fanny Hillman, a guest, was shot through the hand as she held it above her head. Sergeant Cohen was shot in the exchange with the gang leader. Others wounded, all believed to have been members of the bandit gang included William J. Malone, Abie Schaffer, Benny Silverman and Rocco Rotuno. Another man, also believed to have been involved in the holdup was arrested and he along with the wounded suspects was booked by the police on charges of murder and several charges of assault with intent to murder.

$500,000 SUIT AGAINST NEW YORK AMERICAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Ernest Gruening, editor of the Portland (Me.) Evening News, whose name was mentioned in one of a series of alleged disclosures concerning Mexico, published in Hearst newspapers, brought suit for libel today in which damages of $500,000 were demanded.

The New York American, Inc., William Randolph Hearst, Arthur Brisbane and the editor and managing editor of the American were named defendants.

The complaint brands as false references to Dr. Gruening in these articles and charges the statements concerning him were made maliciously without proper investigation and also charges that the defendants in effect reiterated the statements after they had been explicitly denied by Dr. Gruening.

The article in question alleged that an order was drawn to pay Dr. Gruening for work for the Mexican government in England.

CALIFORNIA BRUSH FIRE CAUSED $1,000,000 DAMAGE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Three hundred men made a final stand tonight near the "rim of the world" highway, far above San Bernardino, against the last blazing front of a series of brush and timber fires in southern California which caused a loss of $1,000,000 in property over the week-end.

Checked on three fronts, the San Bernardino Mountain fire still at its way through fine stands of timber on the crest above Plunge Creek canyon but was expected to be stamped out finally within a few hours.

Blackened areas many square miles in extent marked the path of five other conflagrations. The most serious of the unseasonable fires—that in the Verdugo hills between Glendale and Burbanks, northwest of Los Angeles, was completely out. A hundred houses were destroyed in Sunset canyon in this area and hundreds of men received minor injuries.

TO TEST CONSTITUTIONALITY OF PERSONAL ESTATE TAX

HARTFORD, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The first Connecticut case to test the constitutionality of the federal estate tax, subject of heated ways and means committee hearings recently as the result of a movement among many states of the Union to have it repealed, has been initiated by State Tax Commissioner William H. Blodgett in the Hartford probate court as a preparation to carry the question to the supreme court of the United States.

Mr. Blodgett has raised the question by disallowing as a credit the federal estate tax computed on the half million dollar estate of the late Daniel C. Perkins, of Hartford on the theory that it is unconstitutional and therefore not a "lawful and just" tax for which credit can be claimed in making the return to the state for the purposes of the state estate tax.

GOV. JOHNSON OF INDIANA MUST STAND TRIAL FEB. 7, 1928

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Gov. Ed Jackson, of Indiana; George V. Coffin, Marion county republican chairman, and Robert I. Marsh, a local attorney, must stand trial Tuesday, Feb. 7, 1928, on an indictment charging conspiracy to commit a felony and attempt to bribe.

They lost their last legal opportunity to escape trial late today when Special Judge Oscar H. Montgomery in Marion criminal court sustained a demurrer to a plea in abatement. Previously, the court had overruled a motion to quash the indictment.

The governor and his co-defendants are charged with having tried to bribe Warren T. McCray, when he was governor in 1923, to name James E. McDonald as Marion county prosecutor.

FIVE PERSONS INJURED IN TROLLEY CAR ACCIDENT

MEDWAY, Mass., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Five persons were slightly injured and 35 were shaken up today when a trolley car jumped the icy rails and ran to the edge of a 60-foot embankment. A tree stopped the car from plunging down the embankment. When the car left the rails it ran about six feet to the tree. The impact snapped the tree at the base but prevented the car from plunging down the embankment.

"WHITE SLAVE" REPORT TO COUNCIL OF THE L. OF N.

GENEVA, Dec. 5—(AP)—Accounts of how girls have been lured into lives of vice in various countries on the representations of alleged theatrical managers that they were to have employment as artists in cabarets and theatres are contained in a report submitted today in the council of the league of nations.

The report came from the league's "white slave" committee which, with funds entirely subscribed by the American bureau of social hygiene in New York, engaged investigators who visited cities in 28 countries.

Today's document was part two of an original report of the international white slave traffic. This section was not made public with part one which was the general analysis of the international traffic. Its publication was held up to give countries so desiring an opportunity to refute any of the declarations respecting them and to afford the experts committee opportunity for revision wherever they felt criticism justified.

The report indicates that American officials are making demanded stand against the international traffic in women and children and have been successful in their connection

A NEW ANGLE IN THE REMUS PROSECUTION

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 5—(AP)—The prosecution today bent its energies toward proving that George Remus, wife slayer and "king of bootleggers," himself directed the proposal of properties he has pleaded the woman he killed let go while involved in the immoral alliance with Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., which drove him insane.

With the positive statement from Remus that he would not testify in his murder trial, the state drove at George Connors.

Connors, former bootlegger with Remus and alleged "lieutenant in chief" in the gigantic syndicate, identified himself as secretary to Remus since the second day after the defendant was released from the federal penitentiary in September, 1925.

With that as a basis, Walter K. Sibbald, assistant prosecutor laid scores of documents before Connors for his identification of signatures and contents.

Connors almost invariably, refused however, and equally as frequently he denied that Remus had discussed certain phases of the financial position he found himself in.

SINCLAIR AND BURNS DENY CONTEMPT CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—(AP)—Denial that Harry F. Sinclair, William J. Burns and four associates were guilty of criminal contempt of court in employing Burns detectives to shadow the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy jury, was made today when they faced justice Frederick L. Siddons to explain why they should not be punished.

In answer, the six men demanded that the allegations be dismissed because the charges preferred against them by the government did not constitute a crime and because the court lacked jurisdiction in view of the insufficiency of the charges.

When court convened today the answers of the six men cited for contempt, Sinclair, Burns, Henry Mason Day, Sheldon Clark, W. Sherman Burns and C. L. Veitsch were filed. The district attorney found himself swamped and asked for a recess in which to study the answers the law involved. This was granted and when court reconvened several hours later Wright began the arguments for dismissal of the charges.

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH NARROWLY ESCAPED INJURY

HASBROUCK HEIGHTS, N. J., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh narrowly escaped injury today when one of the wheels of his Spirit of St. Louis struck a hole at the Teterboro airport and tilted the plane sufficiently to damage the propellor, according to information from the Gates Flying Circus company.

According to the company, Lindbergh was taxiing across the field, ready to leave, when the accident happened. Officials believed that if the hole had been slightly deeper, the plan might have been thrown completely over. It could not be learned whether the plane had been repaired so that he could resume his flight.

CHARLES A. GATES ELECTED MAYOR BY 300 MAJORITY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Dec. 5—Under very unfavorable weather conditions the republicans swept on to a sweeping victory in the eighteenth biennial city elections held here today. Charles A. Gates, head of his ticket as candidate for mayor and the entire republican nominations went into office by a majority averaging over 300. The stellar run was made by Arthur L. Clark who polled a majority of 368 in the second of the combined offices of city clerk and treasurer and again ran ahead of his ticket with a majority of 313 for city clerk. Weather conditions alone accounted for a low vote as much interest had been aroused in the elections and the candidates on both tickets were considered good vote-getting timber. It was conceded by those versed in local elections that the drawing power of Charles A. Gates, former mayor for three previous terms and veteran politician, bore much influence in the final results. His opponent, John R. Pickett served as assessor for several terms and he was a popular standard bearer within his party.

Voting was anything but brisk during the forenoon. Some three inches of snow had been wet down by misty rain and most of the electors who came to the polls came in automobiles. Clearing skies in the afternoon resulted in an increase of voters. When the polls closed at four o'clock, however, there had been but 2,274 votes cast, a number smaller than the comparatively light election of two years ago by 301 votes. It had been the hope of the party committees to have at least 4,000 ballots cast today. There are 5,115 names on the four ward lists of the city.

With three aldermen-at-large and four ward aldermen today's elections resulted in a republican common council in support of the election of Charles A. Gates. The democrats elected Arthur J. Dubreuil, incumbent, as alderman of the third ward by a substantial majority over James M. Smith, former first selectman. The other democrat to occupy a common council seat will be John Reilly who ran ahead of his fellow democratic candidate. Three of the four aldermen-at-large nominated are elected. The same situation exists in the positions of assessors.

A bitter battle was waged in the first ward when Herbert I. Sanderson sought election as alderman against William E. Jackson who has been biennially re-elected to that position for several terms. Sanderson ran ahead of his ticket in that ward but failed by 144 votes to defeat his opponent.

The ticket:

* Elected

One candidate on the democratic ticket in today's city elections was not endorsed by the republicans yet he was unaffected by the G. O. P. victory which swept all but the third ward alderman into office and he received an unopposed election. He was John M. Bransfield, incumbent, elected as city auditor. He took the election by "default." The failure of the republicans to nominate for city auditor was due to the interpretations of leaders of that party to a special act of the last general assembly which eliminated the office of city auditor for Willimantic. The special act becomes effective December 8 and inasmuch as the elections came but three days prior to the elimination of the office it was felt that to nominate in this instance would be a superficial nuisance. The democrats, however, looked upon the effectiveness of the special act in a different light. Under the former system both auditors were elected. The general belief is that the new democratic auditor will have his duties automatically lifted from his shoulders next Thursday when the new law becomes effective.

Election officials who presided at today's elections were as follows: First ward: Moderator, George E. Gifford; deputy registrars, Elmer M. Young and O. S. Loveland; checkers, John B. Barstow and William V. Palmer; challengers, John R. Shea and Wilbert C. Jacobs; machine tenders, William Fiche and Richard C. Moseley. Second ward: Lewye G. Gerry, moderator; deputy registrars, John B. Harvey and James Haggerty; checkers, Romeo Benoit and Charles J. Dondero; challengers, Frank M. Lincoln and William S. Congdon; machine tenders, John O'Neill, Charles H. Baker, Charles B. Lamb and Charles Nelson. Third ward: L. Vincent Sweeney, moderator; deputy registrars, John F. Collins and Wilfred Leriviere; checkers, Russell A. Andrews and James Casey; challengers, G. Leroy Howlett and Anthony Meehan; machine tenders, Thomas Tennant and John Shannahan. Fourth ward: Robrt O. Sow, moderator; deputy registrars, James F. Twomey, Sr., and Edward E. Jacobs; checkers, William A. Dawson and Mrs. Marie Simmons; challengers, James F. Twomey, Jr., and Arthur Taylor; machine tenders, Joseph P. Cotter and Arthur P. Ellsworth.

The final results were announced by Chief Moderator Lewye G. Gerry at the second ward voting place on Church street. As a result of the use of voting machines for the second time in local history, the results were ready for announcement within two and one half hours. Having declared the candidates elected Moderator Gerry entertained a motion to adjourn the city meeting until two o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the town building.

This city awakened to the accompaniment of the scraping tune of snow shovels this morning and peered out to find that after a stealthy approach winter had now come into full force on its annual visit. The wintry grip was released later in the forenoon, however, and Superintendent of Streets Edwin O. Sumner and his men were able to make considerable headway in opening culverts and gutters to allow the thawing of some five inches of snow and sleet that had fallen during the night. The mercury rose considerably from beneath the 20 degree mark to which it had dropped during the night.

The only accident of consequence to be reported as a result of the snow and sleet storm was that in which a five-ton Pierce-Arrow truck, owned by the General Baking company of Springfield, Mass., and driven by George Lussier, skidded off the road when pulling out for a snow plow near the A. P. Ellsworth filling station on the South Windham road this morning. The heavy truck slid from the road and crushed several sections of the state highway fence. Other than a smashed tool box the truck was undamaged.

NOANK

Noank Crescents went to Westerly Saturday night to play the fast Battery E team in the armory. The Crescents had three regular men out, Albert Patterson the fast right forward, has water on the knee and Capt. Lefty C. Patterson is under a doctor's care for a week, while Quick Smith the small man with a high jump was missing so two new players, Ricsh and Steward were with the disabled Crescents. The soldiers tried the five man defense but the new Moon boys broke it up many times but the ball would not stay in the round hoop and the rod-chasers of Noank were ahead 5 to 2. The second quarter the Sharp-Shooters of R. I. with Capt. Lamb's fast foot work and his steady aim were too much for the Crescents and Ricsh was put out of the game having four fouls. Stretch Morrison went in as center for the second quarter as the last two games seemed to be unlucky to the Crescents. The first half ended Battery E 23, Crescents 8.

In the third quarter, Capt. Lamb rushed in his second string men to give the regulars a rest. But the fighting Black and Red Jersey men kept right after the ball and their pass work had the ball tossers guessing. It was a fast quarter, both teams working hard, but the Crescents gained some on the Westerly Five lead and the third quarter was over Battery E 30, Noank 16. The fans were looking at a hard fought game and cheering each team. When a good shot was made.

The final quarter came with the Crescents still trying to overcome the big lead of the boys in brown and keeping the ball in their sight. Sure Shot Morgan made the best shot seen on that floor in several years. It was on the right side of the court by the center and he made an overhand shot. it went in clean. The crowd made a noise like a six inch gun going off. Speed Carson told his men to fight and when the final quarter ended the score book read Battery E 35, Crescents 21. The Crescents had started too late on the rally to bring home the bacon. The stars were Battery E, Lamb 7 field goals and Searles for the Crescents Ricsh 3 field goals. Total 7 points, Morgan 2 baskets.

All citizens and inhabitants of Bolivia and foreigners with a permanent residence, except the pure Indian races, are now required to obtain identification cards (carnets de identification) from the police at a cost of 5 bolivianos (approximately $2).

WESTERLY

ACCIDENT MONDAY MORNING DUE TO ICE AND SLEET STORM

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Dec. 5.—The sleet and ice storm of Sunday afternoon and night was the cause of several early morning accidents in Westerly, due to ice-coated roads, streets and sidewalks.

Raymond C. Vars was returning to Westerly from Bradford in his Paige sedan early this morning and while rounding McGowan's corners, crashed into a telephone pole and wires which ice and sleet had caused to sag into the highway. He suffered slight injuries. The auto headlight was broken, the windshield cracked, and the front and top of the auto body was smashed. Michaele Tizziano, of New London, crashed into the same obstruction. The facts were reported to Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown and to the Westerly Automatic Telephone Co., for adjustment.

At an early hour linemen in the employ of the South County public service company were called to Dixon street where a broken electric light wire lay across the street in front of the state armory property.

A large force of sectionmen was put to work removing ice from the platforms and walks about the Westerly waiting station of the New Haven road and scattering salt and gravel on such ice as could not be removed. Men in the employ of the Westerly highway department began work at an early hour on cross-walks and about catch basins, while the state highway trucks were equipped with scrapers.

The December meeting of Westerly town council, Councilmen Burdick, E. Smith, Broughton, Naccarato, I. Smith, Trainer and Fraser present, was held in the council chamber Monday from 9:30 to 11 a. m. On motion of Councilman Trainer, the members were in executive session until nearly noon.

With the presentation of November bills came up for discussion that of the South County Light and Power Co. of $1067.04 for November, mostly for street lights. On this Councilman Naccarato said there was an adjustment which made the bill $1063.06, and it was voted paid.

Councilman Trainer stated that the lights were not giving out the candle-power they should and President Burdick said when he was on the council under a former contract, there was a penalty attached for lights which were out for four hours.

Council Clerk Whipple explained a charge of $275 for town hall roof which had received repairs after doing duty for 14 years and a bill for driveway to the east of the town hall building.

A letter from the Sullivan Granite Co., Bradford, requested that J. Edwin Gardiner and Ray B. Kenyon be appointed weighers of stone. Mr Gardiner, previously appointed, has qualified. Mr. Kenyon on vote of council was also appointed.

The letter from James McCormick, proprietor of a store in the Champlin block on Main street, complained of steep pitch to sidewalk and consequent danger of accident when sidewalks were icy. Councilman Fraser and Mr. McCormick were appointed a committee to confer with the Westerly Highway commission.

From Henry C. Smalley, of Quincy, Mass., president of the Smalley Pink and Red Westerly Granite Co., Inc., came a letter of complaint about the rough condition of Mountain avenue, bordering the Westerly Athletic field over which the company's plant was reached. Referred to Highway commission.

Harry A. Littlefield was voted a victualizing license for two rear rooms in the Potter-Langworthy block. The report of Health Officer Dr. C. Grant Savage showed one case of typhoid fever the only contagious one

John Findley, manager of the United theatre, appeared before the council and spoke in behalf of his petition for the allowance of Sunday evening moving pictures. He said the showing was almost universal throughout the state of Rhode Island and that Sunday night pictures were shown in the theatre across the Connecticut line in Pawcatuck. Solicitor Ferguson declared that under the Rhode Island law, the council had no authority, to which Mr. Findley rejoined should the council then permit under the law Sunday golf playing and drug stores to sell other things than drugs on Sundays.

Highway Engineer A. L. Leon appeared relative to the town rebuilding the dikes along the Pawcatuck river at Varietyville through which gaps the Pawcatuck river overflowed at the last freshet. Councilman Fraser was voted a committee of the council to consult with the highway department and spend $200 if necessary to repair breaches.

Richard Joseph Rooney came before the council to notify the town fathers that his claims for $25,000 damages for death of his wife resulting from injuries when struck by a bicycle ridden by a boy in September, 1924: on the sidewalk at Granite street, had been placed in the hands of Attorney A. T. L. Ledwidge.

Councilman Joseph Fraser brought to the attention of the council the danger to life from the half-way job done by the state in repairing the south stone wall of the courthouse building, where heat from the fire station fire had damaged the stone.

Councilman Trainer of the police committee spoke of the danger to Westerly police officers who used the passageway to the police station directly beneath the dangerous wall. Councilman Fraser was named a committee with Solicitor Ferguson to prepare suitable resolution on the danger to present to Sheriff Fred T. Mitchell, custodian of the building and Finance Commissioner Peck.

Elisha E. Carpenter, who had not qualified by the depositing of a bond required, was reappointed a town auctioneer on vote of the council.

Building Inspector Thomas Wills reported 3 petitions received for granite buildings and granted 30 permits for alterations and 38 total building permits granted for month with 42 inspections; expenses $31.46.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown's November report showed 8 arrests, unregistered auto 1, driving auto without license 1, intoxication 1, reckless driving 1, driving away auto without owner's consent 2, insane person 1, and assault 1.

The report of President Burdick in cooperation with Postmaster Lenihan on renumbering streets, showed changes to be made on Newton avenue, Rocket street, Oak, Pierce, Pond, ayton and the lower en dof Pleasant streets. Committee continued with power to make changes needed.

On motion of Councilman Isaac Smith, a Building Code committee for reference of questions by Inspector Wills was named, consisting of Councilmen Trainer, Naccarato and Broughton.

Renewal was voted of the town note for $23,300, dated Dec. 30, 1927, and due June 30, 1928, for refunding outstanding town indebtedness.

For approval by the town council, a plan was submitted by Engineer Louis J. Rossi, of Winnapeaug Beach par, on the Damarel land.

The following transfer has been recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk: Dec. 3, Maynard Land company of Providence to Cornelia Turco, Lot No. 187 and the westerly half of Lot No. 186, at Melrose Park.

In Providence Monday at the rectory of St. Michael's church, Miss Bessie I. Ahern of Westerly became the bride of Joseph Sullivan of Pawcatuck. John H. Sullivan, of Pawcatuck, was best man for his brother, and Mrs. Bernhardt Anderson, of Providence, attended her sister as matron of honor. After the ceremony, a breakfast was served to relatives at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Anderson. Mr. and Mrs Sullivan will make their home at 24 Chestnut street on their return from their wedding trip.

The funeral of Mrs. Angelo Fazio was held at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning from her home, 72 Liberty street. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock at St. Michael's church, by Rev. Leo Weston. Burial was at St. Michael's new cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Fr. Weston. The bearers were Frank Crispino, Natale C. Emanuel, Angelo Patti, Nunzio Italiano, Joseph Cataffi and qminic Italiano. Mrs Fazio was born in Italy, but came to this country in her youth and had been a resident of Pawcatuck for a number of years. Besides her husband, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Joseph, Amatia.

Associate Justice Charles A. Walsh opened at 11 a. m. Monday the Westerly adjournment of the November term of the superior court for Washington county, in the Union street court rooms. Judge Walsh made the following dispositions of the cases appearing upon the trial calendar:

Frank W. Coy Real Estate Co. et al vs. James M. Pendleton, Westerly town treasurer; ready. William H. Bedford et al vs. Adelbert R. Clarke; passed. United Asbestos corporation vs. James O. CREOMULSION

FOR THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Mother! Do You Know the Danger of that Cough or Cold?

Mother, if the youngsters play hard and "take cold," if for any of a dozen other reasons they get "sick with a cold," stop it as fast as you can. Don't let it hang on. Colds that stay and stay, too often lead into pneumonia or flu or chronic bronchial trouble. Too often a cold leads into a fatal complication.

If any of your youngsters develop a cough or a cold that hangs on, use sensible precautions immediately and give them Creomulsion. Help their strong, youthful bodies to fight coughs and colds with Creomulsion. It is pleasant, easy to take.

Creomulsion is an old remedy now. Millions know its merits and like it. We guarantee that it will relieve stubborn coughs and colds, if you follow directions, or we'll refund your money.

The "World's Best Brakes"

—you'll find them on the WOLVERINE

Four-wheel, hydraulic, internal, two-shoe brakes are regular equipment on the Reo Wolverine as they are on the Reo Flying Cloud. There is no better brake; automotive engineers who know and test all kinds, will tell you this.

You can prove it for yourself. Try a Reo Wolverine—stop it at any speed—on any road. Note how quickly and how smoothly you stop, without jar or discomfort to passengers, without strain on the car.

Stop it on a slippery pavement—you can't skid a Wolverine with these brakes.

Note particularly how accessible the brake pedal is. You don't have to lift your foot to reach it, you don't have to push the pedal down whole inches before the brakes begin to take hold.

Wolverine brakes will continue to be just as effective after thousands and thousands of miles as they are the day you try them first. The fact that they are hydraulic obviates the necessity for equalizing adjustments—they're always ready to work. The fact that they are "internal-expanding" means that the brake drum and the brake shoes are protected from water and dirt. The fact that they are "two-shoe" brakes makes them equally effective whether the car is going forward or backward.

And Wolverine brakes are typical of Wolverine quality throughout. Drive one yourself—you'll find it's the kind of car you'll like to own.

DANIELSON

FAMILY ESCAPES THROUGH WINDOW AS HOUSE BURNS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Dec. 5—A fire loss estimated at between $5,000 and $6,000, partly covered by insurance, occurred at Brooklyn during the early hours of this morning through the destruction of the David Meyers store and apartment in the West Village.

Persons in the neighborhood discovered the fire about 12:15 a. m. When a door leading into the Meyers grocery store in the basement of the building was opened, smoke began to pour out and almost immediately thereafter a burst of flame gave notice that the fire was under strong headway.

So rapidly did the flames spread that it seemed for a time that members of the Meyers family would have difficulty in escaping from the rooms in which they were sleeping on an upper floor. Irving, 12, and Hilda, 9, children of Mr. and Mrs. Meyers, had to be taken from their rooms through a window, but escaped without any serious injury.

Brooklyn firemen came with their chemical and an electrically driven pump with which water can be drawn from wells, but the fire had gained such headway that there was no possibility of checking it. The efforts of the firemen were confined to protecting nearby buildings from igniting.

The fire totally destroyed the Meyers building, which has been in use as a store, under different owners, for years.

Chief A. P. Woodward of the Danielson department was notified relative to the fire and went to Brooklyn, though no apparatus was taken over from Danielson.

Wauregan also experienced a fire this morning, when, at about 6 a. m., the West Wauregan fire department was called out to battle with a blaze that had broken out in a two-tenement house owned by Octave Plankey. The fire may have been caused by a defective chimney, but this is uncertain. It originated in the tenement occupied by Mr. Plankey and his family and was making its way around between the partitions when the firemen arrived. It is estimated that several hundred dollars damage was done before the fire was brought under control.

PETITION FOR BETTER TRAFFIC REGULATIONS

DANIELSON, Dec. 5—A petition was being circulated today that is to be presented to the warden and court of burgesses, requesting that they take some action relative to formulating traffic regulations, chiefly as to parking, in that section of Furnace street between Main and Cottage streets, and putting them into effect.

The point made is that Furnace street, at its junction with Main and for a considerable distance southward is so narrow, because a fence bordering the railroad property, as to be little more than wide enough for safe one-way traffic: that is, one way at a time. Yet cars park in the narrow space. Last Saturday night all the distance of the street covered in the request for parking regulations was so crowded with parked cars as to make traveling through it with a machine a matter of difficulty. It is understood that borough officials will have the petition before them at their next regular meeting.

A mixture of snow and sleet that in many places was four inches deep was the tough-traveling gift of the northeast storm that blew itself out in the early hours of this morning. The detour was unappreciated. Motorists got out their chains and in making some early morning trips hereabouts found them essential to moving a car with any degree of satisfaction or safety. The storm was the first real gesture of winter hereabouts. For pedestrians the going was particularly trying. Cleaning sidewalks was anything but an easy job, for the snow and sleet was packed down so hard it could be moved only with difficulty.

The little flurry that was caused by the appearance of infantile paralysis in Killingly and towns hereabouts early in the fall has died down. No new cases have been reported for some time. In any event, only a few cases occurred in this territory this year, and these were widely scattered.

Representatives of the chamber of commerce continue to give their attention to plans for special holiday street lighting in Danielson. Different plans have been proposed and considered, but up to this morning, it was said, nothing definite had been decided.

It seems entirely likely that Reynolds street will be abandoned as the route of the Providence-Hartford trunk line highway through Danielson for an optional route farther to the north. It will be recalled that the town has voted favorably on the proposal to make such a change and has named a committee to confer with the state highway commissioner relative to the matter. Building of the new route will remove the necessity of cutting down shade trees on the south side of the park, for a heavy percentage of travel will be diverted to the proposed route.

Reynolds street, of course, will remain open to travel, but likely will not be used in near the degree it is at the present time.

For the first time business was being done in the new Dowe block today, though it was business under a handicap and limited. Less than three months after the old building was torn down, the Dowe business, or part of it, was back on the old location this morning. The record made in constructing this building, which is not wholly completed is the fastest for a structure of its size in the history of Danielson. The quarters the Dowe store are to occupy will be fully completed within a few days. The time limit set when construction began was December 15.

For the first time this season state highway snowplows went into service today and did a good job clearing the trunk-lines of an accumulation of snow and slush.

George Gingras and Miss Rhea Gingras of New York were at their home here over Sunday.

Milliville will furnish the opposition to the Danielson Town basketball team in this week's home game.

Today Treasurer Sidney W. Bard of the Brooklyn Savings bank received numbers of congratulations over the fact that he is a grandfather for the first time, the arrival of Robert Knight Bard at Brooklyn Saturday having brought that about.

Quantities of the mail now going through the Danielson postoffice bears the Christmas seals, considerable of this mail originating here.

A meeting of the Girls' Friendly society of St. Alban's church was held at the Parish house this evening.

Tuesday evening of this week the Service battery is to hold one of the two drills it has scheduled for this month, the other coming on December 13.

George A. Willmore of Springfield visited with friends in Danielson today.

Motorists coming into Danielson from points 50 and 60 miles north of here told of there being more snow at these points than in Danielson.

Mrs. Jennie W. Humphrey, who has been ill and in Putnam for some time past, has returned to Danielson.

Today Chief John MacFarland was called upon to do something that has not fallen to his lot many times in the past year—locking up a man who was so intoxicated as to be almost helpless.

L. S. Ingalls of the West Side, and official of the Danielson Rod and Gun club, ranks ninth among the high trapshooters of Connecticut for 1927.

Those who keep tabs on such things assert that with today the length of the afternoon stops decreasing, though the sun will continue to rise later for another fortnight.

The church school council of the Danielson Federation of Churches has a meeting scheduled to be held in the Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening of this week.

Walter Anderson is on a business trip to New York and Philadelphia this week.

This week's cottage prayer meeting of members of the Nazerene church, on Tuesday evening, is to be held with Mr. and Mrs. Grant Jessup at Killingly Center.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"

Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any druggists. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

PUTNAM

C. A. RICHARD ELECTED MAYOR OF PUTNAM

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Dec. 5.—Charles A. Richard was unanimously elected mayor of the city of Putnam here today in an election that evoked very little interest, only 100 votes being cast, 67 republican and 33 democrat. The lack of interest was due to the endorsement by the democrats of all the major republican officers, except those requiring representation on both tickets. All the republican nominees were elected.

The polls were open from 6:30 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and by 5:10, only 10 minutes after the polls closed, the votes had been counted and the results reported. This is the first time that such a thing has happened in Putnam.

The republican nominees elected are; mayor, Charles A. Richard; alderman-at-large, William S. Ames; tax collector, Archie MacDonald, Jr.; city treasurer, Charles H. Brown; aldermen from the various wards, Robert T. Chadwick, ward 1; John M. Dean, ward 2; Leo Delisle, ward 3; Eugene Mignaule, ward 4.

The democratic nominees for aldermen, who were defeated, are: Charles Ryan, ward 1; Edmund Dubois, ward 2; Frank Vadnais, ward 3, and Willis B. Carroll, ward 4.

When a section of the highway on Woodstock avenue from Miller's corner to Harrisville in the town of Woodstock was laid out, it was discovered that the new concrete bridge across the Little River would destroy the Old Swimming Hole where for years every warm day in summer one hundred or more children as well as older people enjoyed the recreation. The work on the highway is now completed, and as a real finishing touch to the improvement of the highway the department suddenly turned its attention to the repairs of the damaged pool. The river was dredged at a point several yards up stream and several loads of gravel were dumped in and leveled off, and as a peace offering to the disappointed children, a substantial platform was erected and for next summer there will be a better swimming hole than ever before.

At the annual meeting of the Quinebaug Lodge, A. F. & A. M., the following officers were elected for the coming year: W. M., William E. Moss; S. W., Allie S. King; J. W., Edwin S. Phillips; treasurer, Lucius P. Merriman; secretary, E. Ray Sherman; trustees, Archibald Macdonald, George E. Brousseau, George P. Miner; S. D., Thomas Bell; J. D., James H. McCulloch; S. S., G. Stanley Shaw; J. S., Edward deCarlo; marshall, George P. Miner; chaplain, Daniel B. Gilbert; organist, Ralph E. Thurston; tyler, Charles M. Nichols.

With the roll call canvass still incomplete, Putnam chapter of the American Red Cross reports the following collections: Ward one, Mrs. E. C. Morse, chairman, $80; Ward two, Miss Jennie Wills, chairman, $44; Ward four, Mrs. S. M. Wheelock and Mrs. Stett Macdonald, $50; Woodstock avenue, Miss Lucy Farrows, chairman, $30; business section, including Providence street, Miss Katherine Byrne, chairman, $103; total for Putnam, $407. Dayville branch—Mrs. William Reddy, chairman, $69; Thompson—Howe-Marot school (100 per cent. enrollment), $88; Thompson Village, $88; East Thompson, $18; Miss Harriet Lewis in charge of the above, $194. Grosvenordale, Wilsonville, Fabyan and West Thompson with Mrs. Dyer S. Elliott, chairman, $109. Total so far received $778. Pomfret and the Woodstocks have not yet been reported.

If anyone has been missed, donations may be sent to any of the above named ladies or to George W. Baker, chairman of the Red Cross, or to Mrs. M. F. Keyes at Pomfret or to Mrs. George M. Sampson at Woodstock.

Mrs. Beatrice Wilbur, a teacher at the Israel Putnam school, has been chosen as a delegate for the Putnam and Thompson teachers district to represent this district at the annual meeting of the State Teachers' association which is to be held at New Haven on Saturday, December 17th.

The girl scouts are to have an interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Maitland. Miss MacDonnell, a trained nurse from Connecticut Agricultural college will give a demonstration of the duties of a nurse. The membership of the scouts now number fourteen and have made some interesting plans for the future.

The auditorium at the Second Congregational church was filled last night for another of the Friendly Evenings. The picture shown was made from the story of A. S. and A. M. Williamson, "An Increasing Purpose." There was music by a quartette composed of Miss Alice Stevens, soprano, Mrs. Mary S. Medbury, contralto, Ralph C. Jenkins, tenor and William Wheaton, bass, with Kenneth C. Sharpe at the organ. These Sunday evening programmes continue to grow in popularity.

Peter A. Gardner has finished the annual enumeration of school children. The number is 1,731 or thirty-seven less than last year, when the enrollment was 1,768.

The Wolf Den grange has elected the following officers for the coming year: Master, John Weatherbee; overseer, Fred Ash; lecturer, Lena L. Weatherbee; steward, Joseph Elliott; assistant steward, Andrew Amidon; chaplain, Annie Davis; treasurer, Howard White; secretary, Addie Hutchins; gatekeeper, John Ash; Pomona, Elizabeth Bennett; Ceres, Bernice Thornton; Flora, Fannie Fuller.

There is to be a special town meeting on Thursday in the town of Thompson to elect by ballot two selectmen to fill the vacancies left by the death of Wilfred Bellerose and the resignation of Charles V. Chase. A most unusual situation was created in Thompson. A few days after Mr. Chase resigned as selectman to accept the town treasurership left vacant by the resignation of Dyer S. Elliott, Mr. Bellerose died after a short illness.

Mrs. Catherine Kerrigan with her daughter, Helen, of Wellesley, Mass., have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gibney, of Bellevue street.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs and two children, of Providence, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Carpenter, of Killingly avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chadwick have returned from a visit with relatives in North Attleboro, Mass.

Mrs. Jacob Rosenwald, of Main street, has returned from a visit with relatives in New York city.

Ralph E. Gahan is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital where he recently underwent an operation. He is maning a good recovery.

Miss Beatrice Garceau has resigned her position with the Perkins, Strongman and company of this city, to accept a similar one with the Powdrell and Alexander company, at Danielson.

Mrs. Clifford Bowen has returned from a visit with her parents in New York city.

Mrs. Charles E. Searles, of Thompson, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank Dearington, at Melrose, Mass. Later she will go to Florida to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Stromberg have been entertaining Miss Florence Cobb and Miss Elizabeth Allen, of Worcester, Mass.

Winifred C. Brown, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has been appointed administrator of the estate of Harriet G. Brown, late of Putnam, by Henry N. Benoit, judge of probate.

JEWETT CITY

TROUBLEMAN MADE TROUBLE BUT HE NEVER GUESSED IT

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Dec. 5—The fire alarm at about noon sent the townspeople to doors and windows, and as the whistle registered 31 the first time, those who could, ran to Mathewson street, between Soule street and Tracy avenue. But as several other toots of varying numbers followed, it was learned that a telephone lineman had inadvertently set off the alarm, while working on a Main street pole. The joke of it was that the lineman was not aware that he had set off the alarm, and remarked "Guess there must be a fire somewhere!"

MATHEWSON, NOT BACKUS, REACHED MARIETTA FIRST

The folowing has been received from 514 Washington street, Wellesley, Mass., under date of Dec. 3:

In the Bulletin of yesterday, under the caption "What do you know of Eastern Conn" is the question: "Who made the first surveys of Marietta, Ohio?" The answer is James Backus, one of the first emigrants to the Ohio river country.

I have before me, on my desk, a survey of the state of Ohio that takes in Marietta and adjoining country, made by Jeffery Mathewson, before 1790. Mr. Mathewson had charge of the survey and he lost half of his men the first winter by Indians. His headquarters were at Bellepre, south of Marietta.

I am enclosing you a letter from him to his future father-in-law sent by hand of Hon. Mr. Chushman, dated Aug. 30, 1791, arriving in Scituate, R. I., Oct. 6, 1791. There are several other letters that have the postmark in the corner "Marietta—Paid 25". These letters are several years later, 1796.

James Backus may have been in Marietta before this time, if so in order to be before Mr. Mathewson he would have to arrive there in the year 1786. Very truly, George A. Ross.

We live on the homestead of the Mathewson family in Lisbon, part of each year and the above mentioned Jeffery Mathewson is the great-great-grandfather of my daughter, Miss Kate Mathewson Ross.

Wellesley is the family's winter home.

WEDDING

Barber-Morgan

At the Baptist parsonage, Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, Rev. E. E. Scates united in marriage Ethel T. Morgan, daughter of Daniel and the late Carrie P. Morgan and Floyd C. Barber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Barber of Griswold. The double ring ceremony was used. The bride wore a maroon georgette dress, with gold lace trimmings, and hat and coat to correspond. Mr. and Mrs. Barber went to New York and other points of interest, for their honeymoon trip. On their return they will reside in a newly furnished home on East Main street. The bride is a graduate of Riverside Grammar school and the Jewett Business college, Norwich. She is a member of the Baptist church and of Pachaug grange. She has been employed in the Ashland Cotton Co. office for several years. Mr. Barber is a member of Undaunted lodge No. 34, K. of P. Court Griswold F. of A. and Pachaug grange. Infant Care

Mothers, you can't start too early to establish a child's serene and tranquil disposition. Even an infant can have a happy, fretless state of uninterrupted health. What will help do this? A simple, purely vegetable product as old as you are: plain Castoria.

A few drops of Castoria will settle all uneasiness in a jiffy. Will dispel colic or ward off constipation; and just as surely check diarrhea.

In real sickness, call a physician. But many physicians urge only Castoria for those little childish disorders that need nothing more. You need never be afraid to give pure Castoria. It is safe and perfectly harmless, for it contains no paregoric, no opiates, no dope of any kind. At least, this is true of the genuine Fletcher's Castoria*—and that is the kind doctors tell you always to buy.

Fletcher's Castoria is fine for any child. All children love to take it. Delicious tasting, and as good as it tastes. Just look for the Fletcher signature on the package and you will know you have the genuine and pure Castoria.

*SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

CAN STRIKE BE ENDED?

There hasn't been anything to indicate an early end of the strike in the soft coal region of Pennsylvania and neighboring states where production has been greatly decreased since the first of April. The desire of the miners to have it terminated was recently indicated by the appear which was made to the president.

With Secretary Davis of the department of labor calling into conference certain heads of the union miners and getting in reports from department conciliators who have familiarized themselves with the conditions in that field it is possible that it will be found feasible to advocate a meeting of the miners and operators that will open the way to an understanding.

From the previous declarations of the operators it seems to be firmly established that there is no possibility of an agreement that will mean a revival of the Jacksonville terms. Insistence upon those has been the obstacle in the way of an understanding since that agreement expired. Inability to compete with the many mines which are being operated on so much more favorable terms makes it impossible for the operators who formerly agreed to those terms to renew them. Even some which started in to carry out the Jacksonville terms were obliged to close their mines because of the competition from the non-union mines. That reason is stronger than ever today with such mines able to meet the public demands for soft coal even though the strike has been in progress for eight months.

This situation indicates that conditions in that region are such that pressure cannot be exerted. Nevertheless the desirability of ending stalled production if there is a willingness on both sides to come to an amicable understanding must be apparent and it is entirely possible that the secretary of labor will be able through his conferences to set in motion the machinery that will result in a new agreement in accordance with the conditions and facts as they exist today. Results will depend upon the character of the encouragement he gets.

WHEN ALIENS REENTER

Aliens who come to this country frequently desire to return to their former home. Those who go with the idea of remaining there have nothing to think of in the way of papers which will permit them to return. But those who intend to come back here must take precautions to obtain re-entry permits if they are to avoid the quota provisions of the immigration law. Even though they have lived in this country for a considerable time, aliens must protect themselves and unless they do so they fall into the same class as other aliens who are seeking entrance for the first time. This means delays in many instances for the quotas from many countries are constantly jammed, it is necessary of course for them to show that they were originally lawfully admitted to the United States, in other words if they comply with the requirements of the immigration law concerning visits to other countries they can expect no difficulties. There must be compliance with the same as at the time of admission if obstacles are to be overcome for not only are re-entry permits obtainable but extensions are also possible.

Not all who apply are able to meet requirements, as is shown by the report for the last fiscal year which reveals that there were over 112,000 who sought re-entry permits from the immigration bureau. For the most part they were granted but there were 5,[illegible] which were denied. Of the applications which were approved there were 9,110 which were later granted extensions.

How many handicapped themselves through failure to find out and meet the requirements concerning permits is not known, but such instances occurred and were probably dealt with in keeping with the requirements of the law. Even those who overstayed and failed to get extensions learned that negligence in that respect meant.

SCHOOL CNSTRUCTION

Keeping school facilities up to requirements with the many extras which are constantly being called for these days is no small problem in any community, but big as it is in cities and towns which are steadily growing it is all the greater in the larger cities.

New York has been experiencing much difficulty in keeping up with the demand for new public schools. It has not been able to build schoolhouses fast enough to supply the needs even though construction is always underway, but now the surprising decision has been made to stop all work of this kind in order that investigation may be made of the charge that faulty construction has prevailed.

Such complaints must of necessity get attention. They ought not to be neglected, but it is a question whether it is a wise move to end all construction work until after an examination has been made of all the school buildings built within the past ten years. When it is realized that this means looking over 256 schoolhouses for the purpose of finding flaws if such things exist it means that a considerable amount of time is going to be required. How long it will take is uncertain. If the examiners find it necessary to spend a day at each schoolhouse in search of faults it is going to mean the best part of a year before such examination will be completed, and if construction is going to be held up all that time it is going to mean a tremendous waste of precious minutes in providing adequate seating capacity for the school children of New York.

It isn't possible to build schoolhouses in a day. It is possible to carry on investigations while construction is underway and by carefully scrutinizing the work in progress it will be possible both to check up on existing structures as well as keep close tabs upon the new ones. But why shouldn't the school authorities know about the condition of the existing schools without stalling all progress to make up for apparent slackness in the past? Faulty construction is bad. It should never have been allowed but after the delayed construction and the investigations will the schoolhouse building work be surrounded by any better oversight in the future? It is too important and expensive to be neglected.

REBUKE TO LAFOLLETTE

After the death of the older LaFollette there was much speculation as to whether his political machine in the state of Wisconsin could be held together. He was a dominant factor in that state. Such was not conceded to the younger LaFollette who had been understudying his father. There were expressions to the effect that the young man could not maintain the control, that he hadn't got the following and that he didn't possess the influence.

With the election of the son to the senate there was provided an opportunity for testing out the situation. There have been indications that the prediction was well founded for LaFollette influence has waned; but probably the most important disclosure in that respect has been furnished by the action of the state central committee in Wisconsin in electing a national committeeman and committeewoman by the regular republicans of that state over the LaFollette candidates. It was a significant victory which was even carried to the point of giving endorsement to the Coolidge administration.

Probably one test is not enough on which to base a positive decision, but there is significance attached to it which cannot be disregarded. Young LaFollette is of course playing with the insurgent republicans. He is taking the attitude of a trouble maker and an opponent of the administration and it is not to be overlooked when one of his effective rebukes comes from his own state. It is quite evident that things are not what they used to be in Wisconsin. LaFolletteism as expounded by the son has suffered a rebuke on its own stamping ground.

READING'S REVELATION

Reading, Penn., has been going through an experience not so different from a number of other cities except it be as to the actual circumstances. That city has had a contested election resulting in a recount with the result that the city treasurer who was declared elected by 74 votes has now been counted out by 886. Reading has had a chance to see what uncertainties prevail where ballots are used in contrast to the accuracies of the voting machines.

But in addition to this Reading has had a situation called to its attention which gives it cause for serious thought. The city treasurer who was counted out made the declaration during those days he thought he had been elected that the salary for the office was too great. He pointed out that the fees that are paid to that official he receives about $20,000 a year. This is within the law but it was maintained by the would-be treasurer that it was unreasonably high and because it was he would accept only $6,000 of it. That he regarded as sufficient for handling the duties of the office.

The recount means that another will be the city treasurer but it also means that Reading will not benefit by that uncollected $14,000 in the treasurer's salary as had been promised. The elected official is going to take all he can get under the law. He has that right and will be doing nothing illegal in collecting all that is provided for in the law but in view of the fact that they have had their attention called to this matter what is going to be the reaction of the people of that city and the people of that state, since it is under a state law that the official's pay is fixed?

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5—A get-together of New England states to protect their common interests seems to be the order of the day. An instance was shown this week, when a delegation of New England men appeared at the white house to urge President Coolidge to recommend an appropriation of $300,000 for the purchase of lands in the White Mountain region, not coming under the Weeks act, but as a protection against floods that would be still more dangerous, if timber was cut from certain tracts along rivers. The land is far up in New Hampshire near Waterville, and the purchase has been recommended by Col. Greeley of the forest service. Not only New Hampshire and Massachusetts men appeared but Connecticut was represented as well, by Charles W. Whittlesley of New Haven, who said the chamber of commerce had sent him to represent it, not only because the measure was a good one, but because Connecticut desired to show how heartily it would cooperate with New England states, when state interests required federal aid. The delegation was presented to the president by Senator Gillett of Massachusetts, and was headed by Philip Ayers, state forester of New Hampshire. The measure has the backing of many chambers of commerce and also of the New England council.

Mr. Whittlesey said Connecticut was deeply interested in preservation of New England forests and the conservation of timber that protected the head waters and surounding country of rivers having their source in the White Mountain region.

President Coolidge is said to have appeared sympathetic with the measure, but made it clear that it was not a matter on which he could act, as it was in the hands of Director Lord of the budget. Members of the delegation then saw Gen. Lord, and the matter of the purchase will be considered by him.

Apparently the New England delegation will stand together for improvement of waterways and harbors, for a tax rate that will be of benefit to that section and by organization and banding together make a strenuous effort to break the trend of the south and west towards measures and policies detrimental to New England's industrial and business interests. The removal of many textile mills to the south, and the tendency of certain groups of men from those sections to work together for local interests regardless of what the effect will be on New England, has roused a sentiment among congressmen and senators, that promises much good to the New England states, which have been hard hit for several years.

The Connecticut delegation in congress is one of the best "working" delegations in congress. Rarely are they found wide apart in their views and as a result, Connecticut's interests are well and ably protected.

Floor Leader Tilson has his plans well formulated, and is being stoutly supported by his colleagues. Whether or not all the proposed reforms and reductions of committee can be brought about is doubtful, but it is certain a long step will be accomplished in doing away with a number of useless committees, thus saving both expense and acquiring more rooms for clerical work.

A speaking knowledge of foreign languages is a tremendous advantage to a senator or member of congress, even though the average foreign official coming to Washington has some knowledge of English. Connecticut stands near the top in that line, through Senator Bingham whose Spanish is as fluent as his English. He also has a speaking knowledge of French. We all remember how a few years ago, Senator Bingham was able to make a speech in Spanish, when a visiting delegation came to Washington. And he did it in good style. Yet, a recently arrived diplomat from foreign shores remarked this week that he found four women to every one man in Washington social circles, who spoke French fluently. The average diplomat coming over here has an excellent knowledge of English and speaks it fluently, but the American people do not put languages in the front rank of education, and as a result, our members of foreign affairs committees, our secretaries of state and persons who mingle officially with foreign diplomats must accept the language of their own country as the only means of conversation or study of diplomatic communications. There are some exceptions, however, of which Senator Moses is a notable one. The senator speaks French fluently, and diplomats hail him with delight, when they meet him officially, as a member of the foreign relations committee, or meet him at social functions. Mrs. Gillett, of Massachusetts, wife of the senator from that state, speaks French with the ease and fluency of a native and is in great demand to meet foreign dignitaries, not only because she can converse with them in their own language, but on account of her personal charm. Mrs. Rogers, member of congress from Massachusetts is also a fluent French conversationalist, having received part of her education in the schools of France.

New prospective troubles are looming in the path of the democrats, as congress convenes and the presidential conventions are drawing near. There is a well grounded rumor here that Senator Tom Teflin of Alabama, widely known as the longest winded speaker, the most frequent speaker and the most persistent twanger of anti-republican harp strings to be found in congress, is to turn his guns on his own party, if they persist in booming Governor Smith for the presidency. Heflin is so dry that his words rustle like oak leaves in the winter. Heflin is such a severe Protestant that the very mention of Roman Catholics brings from him a tirade equaled only by his daily tirades against the republican party. Now Heflin threatens, so it is reported, to head a third party ticket, with democrats the target. If that party nominates Governor Smith. Such a ticket would be anti-Smith, so bone dry that it rattled, and so pro-clan that it might be feared Heflin would appear on the floor of the senate clad in Clan garb.

Vice President Dawes, almost in the same breath that he proclaimed he was not seeking the presidency, asserted that on the women voters of the United States rests the success of the republican party next fall. "No one is better fitted to govern" said he at a recent republican gathering "than you women. Women make a lot of mistakes but never unless they think they are right." Mr. Dawes clinched his argument for women in the halls of government by openly declaring he endorsed the candidacy of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois for congressman at large from that state.

FAIRY PRINCESS STUFF

Fancheon propped the door open with one dispirited foot and languidly dragged her suitcase across the threshold into the cluttered third-floor back. Poppy rose like a radiant, though sleepy flower from the midst of the towsled bed.

"'Lo, Angel. Didja have a good vacation?" she asked.

"No," snapped Fancheon. "It was awful. Just awful!"

"Oh, come now, Fan. A vacation at home among your own folk couldn't be that bad. Why, if I could just go somewhere long enough to have a mother or a grandmother—or even a great-aunt—tuck me into bed one night I'd think I'd had a perfect time!"

"Poppy, it ought to have been wonderful—the most wonderful vacation in the world. Mom said when I was leaving she didn't think a girl could have had a better time. All the girls and boys I used to go to school with were home. Dates and parties every night. Jerry hanging around every minute planning things to do. But, oh gosh! I guess I am just the hankerin' kind." Poppy crept out of her nest and slipped an arm about the drooping Fancheon.

"Whassa matter, honey?" she crooned.

"Poppy, you know all the pretty clothes I had to go home in? That stunning rose taffeta, the silk little green suit, my orchid organdie? You know how I saved for centuries and went without everything to have all those lovely clothes straight from the city? Every one of 'em was bought just for—Jerry."

"Didn't he like 'em, the yokel?" demanded Poppy.

"Loved 'em. Raved about 'em. Said I was getting more beautiful every day. All the girls just purred with envy. I never was such a social success!"

"Well, then, for heaven's sake, why all the tears?"

"Oh-h-h-h Poppy don't you see? I got all those things to make myself into sort of a fairy princess—for Jerry. I wanted to make him think I was the most beautiful, the most desirable girl in the whole wide world. I thought all those lovely things would—be—my—trousseau."

"And he didn't prouose?"

"No, indeed. He never even said anything I could mistake for proposing. So now I am back here in Chicago with all these pretty things—and no place to wear 'em!" Fancheon subsided into tears. And Poppy wept with her. This was tragedy indeed.

Rain. Rain. Rain. Slosh, slosh went Fancheon's limp shoes on the wet pavement as she slopped dejectedly homeward from work. With her once crisp marcel spiritless streaks of straightness, her smart green hat a sodden pudding, she dragged herself into the corner grocery and bought her pint of milk, can of beans and bakery cookie supper. Blinking against the rain—and tears—she turned homeward. Home! What a word for the dingy third-floor-back, where you pushed aside the powder and lipstick to cook supper over an electric grill on the dresser top, and watched furtively both ways while you did hall bedroom washing on the sly.

A taxi slithered past and sent a spray of mud over her feet—her hose, and—woe of woes—her precious green suit. Fancheon choked back a sob, clutched her paper bag more closely and dashed across the street. As she reached her own flight of tall, unwelcoming stone steps the sodden bag gave way. Plop! Smash! Spatter! A pint of milk, mingling with rain water on the sidewalk—and on the front of her skirt.

Fancheon collapsed on the step and let the rain wash away the last vestige of her morale while she put her head down on her arms and wept. The offending taxi drew up almost at her feet. Steps, hesitating before her. Fancheon never budged. If a girl couldn't do a little crying on her own front doorstep without being stared at. Well—! A hand touched her shoulder gently. A voice, big, and rough and comforting.

"There, there, little girl. Don't cry about the milk. You sit right here and I'll run over to the store and get you another bottle and your mother won't scold you."

It was Jerry! Fancheon forgot the vanished marcel, the spotted green suit, and spilled milk, forgot everything except that it was Jerry. She opened her arms and wailed.

"Jerry. It's me, Fancheon. Oh, Jerry, take me—somewhere—anywhere where it doesn't ra-a-a-i-i-n." Jerry took her. Took her in his arms and all but carried her into the dim, damp hallway of her house.

"And to think," he murmured, his lips just above her ear, "that I was just going to leave the rubbers your mother sent at your house and go 'way, because I thought you were a sort of fairy princess who loved the white light and the gayety of the city and would just laugh at Jerry, living in a little old-fashioned town like Elmdale."

"And to think," thought Fancheon to herself, as she nestled closer, "that I was trying to dazzle Jerry into loving me. I should have known this fairy princess stuff wouldn't get by with a real flesh and blood prince like Jerry."—Chicago News.

Stories That Recall Others

The Criterion of Cleanliness

A teacher was trying to explain to Johnny what a mirror is.

"What do you look at when you get your face washed?" she asked.

"The towel," was Johnny's prompt answer.

The Singular Form

A young business woman bought a pair of hose recently. Later she discovered that one of them had a "run" and so she returned to the store to see if some adjustment could be made.

"You see," she explained to the adjustment clerk, "I have never worn these stockings. The thread isn't pulled anywhere; the run just started in the seam."

"That's all right, Girlie," answered the understanding clerk. "The fault is really in the hose."

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The man who faces the colossal task of estimating how much money will be required to keep Uncle Sam's affairs in good running order during the coming year is Gen. Herbert M. Lord, director of the budget, who today celebrates his 68th birthday anniversary. General Lord has held this position since 1922, when he succeeded Charles G. Dawes, who is now vice president of the United States. He is a native of Rockland, Me., and spent most of his early career in active newspaper work. At the time of the Spanish war he entered the United States military service. In time he became finance officer of the army after having served several years as assistant to Maj. Gen. Goethals, who held that post. As chief of finance of the war department he displayed abilities which led to his selection for his present position.

Peter is a Doubter.

Whene'er in doubt of what to do
Sit tight is my advice to you.
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter does have good advice once in a while. You see, Peter has learned much through experience, and experience is the greatest of all teachers. So Peter has learned that when he is in doubt what to do the wisest thing is to simply sit tight.

Another thing that Peter has learned is that he cannot believe everything he hears. So Peter is inclined to be a doubter until a thing is proved. He was a doubter now. His cousin, Jumper the Hare, had told him that he had heard from Chatterer the Red Squirrel that Sammy Jay said that Blacky the Crow had told him that Terror the Goshawk had come down from the North.

"I don't believe it," said Peter.

"What don't you believe?" inquired Jumper.

"That Terror the Goshawk has come down from the North so early in the season. It isn't time for him yet," replied Peter.

"Just the same I am going to keep my eyes wide open for him," replied Jumper. "I am more afraid of Terror the Goshawk than of any other enemy in all the Green Forest. I don't see why he doesn't stay up where he belongs. It is bad enough to be continually hunted by Reddy Fox and Old Granny Fox and Old Man Coyote and Yowler the Bobcat and Hooty the Owl, to say nothing of Shadow the Weasel. But all these folks belong here. They have to live, just as I do. But to have this fierce fellow come down from the North is a litt'e too much."

Peter wriggled his ears and scratched his nose. "True, Cousin Jumper," said he, "quite true. But, as I said before, I doubt if Terror the Goshawk has come down so early in the season. It may be that he will not come at all. I am told that the only reason he comes down here is because there isn't food enough to go around up where he belongs. Perhaps this year there will be."

"But didn't I just tell you that Chatterer the Red Squirrel said that Sammy Jay said that Blacky the Crow said that Terror is already here?"

"And didn't I just tell you that I doubted it?" replied Peter. "When I see him or meet some one who has seen him, I'll believe that he is here, but until then I have worries enough without worrying about Terror The Goshawk. Anyway, he won't see me if he is about."

"Why won't he?" demanded Jumper.

"Because," replied Peter, "I am going straight home to the dear Old Briar Patch and sit tight for the rest of the day. He can't get me in the dear Old Briar-patch and he knows it. He knows it, and he doesn't even try."

"But it is already beginning to be light," declared Jumper. "Suppose Terror should see you on the way to the dear Old Briar-patch."

"I don't believe it," said Peter

"I am not going to suppose anything of the kind," said Peter. "It is too early in the season for Terror to be down here and it will be time enough to worry about it when he does get here. I—" Peter never did finish that sentence. Before he could get the next word out of his mouth something happened.

Doctor Claims CAMPHOROLE Stops Agony of Rheumatism

How the New Discovery Brings the Marvelous Secret of a N. J. Doctor to Every Suffering Man or Woman.

Thousands are suffering from this horrible condition, which is mostly caused by deposits in the joints. The reason for these deposits is because the blood flows more slowly, and the little spaces in these joints where the arteries end, and the veins begin, are smaller than any part of the body. Therefore, the deposits in the blood are more liable to lodge in the joints of the shoulders, elbows, wrists, knees, ankles, toes, hands, etc.

CAMPHOROLE, the new powerful penetrating treatment of Dr. Brigadell's is rapidly absorbed in these areas and aids the joints in driving out these deposits that cause you trouble. From the first application of CAMPHOROLE you will feel a soothing, healing sensation as it penetrates the tissue, going deep into the joints, easing the trouble, stimulating circulation.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 39 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. OBITUARY

Arthur R. Parker

The death of Arthur R. Parker of Providence, formerly of this city occurred here Monday afternoon after several weeks illness. Mr. Parker was the eldest son of the late Frederick F., and Lucy Gardner Parker and was born in the Leffingwell section of Montville, October 12, 1857.

Most of his life was spent in Norwich with the exception of the past 10 years which he passed in Hartford and Providence where he was employed as an automobile painter.

Mr. Parker was well and favorably known in musical circles locally, having been at one time a member of Tubb's Military band. He also sang in local choirs, and in choirs in Hartford and Providence. While a resident of Norwich Mr. Parker was a member of the Old Second Congregational church.

Surviving are two brothers, Clayton E. Parker of Providence, Rev. Hubert E. Parker of Hollywood, Cal., a stepbrother, Frank B. Hazard of this city and four children Chester A., Edgar F., and Ruth F. Parker and Mrs. Grace M. Heinrich, all of this city. There are also two grandchildren.

Mrs. Hiram Hempstead

The death of Emma J. Hempstead widow of Hiram Hempstead, occurred Dec. 1 at Santa Barbara, Cal.

Mrs. Hempstead was born, Feb. 16, 1859 in Ledyard, the eldest daughter of Jonathan and Emily Crandall. She lived at Gales Ferry until 1904 when with her husband she moved to California where they have lived in Santa Barbara.

Mr. Hempstead died there in 1919 and Mrs. Hempstead continued to live there until her death. Her only surviving relative is a sister, Mrs. Charles H. Winchester of this city.

Miss Harriet E. Forsythe.

Miss Harriet E. Forsythe, 73, a teacher in the public schools of New London for 38 years, died Monday morning about 10:30 o'clock at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. George A. Forsythe, of Waterford. Miss Forsythe was retired with pension 14 years ago. For the past two years she had been an invalid and in recent weeks she was under treatment at the private sanitarium of Miss Fannie Davis, of Thames View, Waterford. She suffered a shock last April and since then her health had been considered extremely critical. A few weeks ago Miss Forsythe went to the home of her sister-in-law.

Miss Forsythe was born in this city in October, 1854, and was a daughter of the late George and Julia Forsythe. She attended the public schools of Norwich and at the completion of her elementary education she went to New London to finish her studies in the Young Ladies' High school, a school which later grew into the Williams Memorial institute.

After her graduation from high school, Miss Forsythe taught two terms in the Salem district schools and then came to New London. She first taught in Hill Street school, later in the Harbor school, and finally in the Nameaug school. The greater part of her career as a school teacher was spent in the Nameaug school.

Miss Forsythe was a member of the First Church of Christ in this city. First Church of Christ, New London. She was also a member of Lucretia Shaw chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and was formerly a member of the Teachers guild.

She leaves no immediate surviving relatives. Besides her sister-in-law, Mrs. George A. Forsythe, she leaves five nephews, a niece, six grand nephews and three grandnieces.

Mrs. Archibald H. Kyle.

After a long period of failing health, Mrs. Isabelle Dunce Kyle, 67, wife of Archibald H. Kyle, died Monday morning about 10:30 o'clock, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Clark, No. 260 Asylum street. Mrs. Kyle had been in ill health for a year and a half but had only been seriously ill for about two weeks.

She was born in Holyoke, Mass., and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James unce. In Taftville, August 20, 1881, she was united in marriage with Archibald H. Kyle. For years Mr. and Mrs. Kyle resided in Taftville, and seven years ago removed to this city. Mrs. Kyle was a member of the United Congregational church.

Surviving are her husband, three sons, Archibald J. Kyle, of Longmeadow, Mass., John F. and Richard Kyle, of Norwich, and three daughters, Mrs. Isabelle Potter, of East Hartford, Mrs. George E. Whitford, Willimantic, and Mrs. Harry Clark, of Asylum street. There are also about 15 grand children. Mrs. Kyle, through her long residence in Taftville, had many warm friends in that section of the town. She was also well known to many people in the city and all of her friends and acquaintances extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

CONTRALTO SINGS FOR NORWICH MUSIC ASSOCIATION

For the December meeting of the Norwich Music association held Monday evening at Slater hall annex, Joanne de Nault, contralto, with Miss Margaret Bowman at the piano, gave a programme that was received with warm favor and made a most enjoyable evening for her audience. She sang with a voice of true contralto quality and felicity of expression. For three encore numbers she gave "Danny Boy", "Morning," and an Irish love song.

After the opening number, O don fatale, from "Don Carlos" (Verdi) which was finely rendered, Miss de Nault sang a group which included The Soldier's Bride (Rachmaninoff) and three Gretchaninoff numbers, The Wounded Birch, Cradle Song and My Native Land.

The two concluding groups comprised the following selections:

Mentiva (old Italian) (Tirindelli); A la claire fontaine, (French Canadian folk-song) (Grant Schaefer); Un pajarito, (Spanish Californian folk-song) (Gertrude Ross).

My lover is a Fisherman, Strickland; A Widow Bird Sate Mourning, Lidgey; Little Bare Feet, O'Hara; Today, Huerter.

Charles J. Dyer called especial attention to the coming special concert to be given before the club by Mrs. Edward Thayer, an accomplished pianist.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MAKES H. D. LARRABEE ITS NEXT PRESIDENT

Harold D. Larrabee, general manager of the Eastern Connecticut Power Co., was Monday noon elected the president of the Norwich chamber of commerce, succeeding James L. Case who has held the office for several years. Mr. Larrabee's election took place at a meeting of the chamber directors held at the Wauregan hotel. Mr. Case, the retiring president, opened the meeting and briefly outlined a possible programme for the coming year. He suggested that the new board of directors give careful attention to such things as an industrial survey, industrial revolving fund, revaluation of property, and available air landing fields. Mr. Case expressed the opinion that the chamber directors have a wonderful opportunity to be of service to the community.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Harold D. Larrabee; first vice president, Arthur M. Brown; second vice president, Herbert E. Cary; treasurer, John R. Tarrant.

The newly elected president has been a resident of this city since 1919, coming here as general manager of the Eastern Connecticut Power company which has its home office in this city. Following the announcement of the election of Mr. Larrabee on Monday, members of the chamber of commerce very generally expressed their gratification that he is to head the organization for the ensuing year and spoke with admiration of his high standing in the business community of Norwich and the esteem in which he is held for his recognized experience and ability as a broad-minded man of affairs.

Mr. Larrabee, who is a native of Maine, obtained his technical education in the electrical line at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, graduating there in 1902. For two years after this, he was with the General Electric company in their testing plant at Schenectady, N. Y., following which he was engaged for about a year in operating an electric plant at Mayaguez, Porto Rico.

Returning to the United States, he was with the National Light, Heat and Power company, a New York corporation, which kept him in the middle west for about three years engaged in operating and construction work on plants in Indiana and Illinois.

His next employment brought him to New England where he became manager of the Montpelier and Barre Light and Power company at Montpelier, Vt., and continued there for eleven years until he left this concern to accept the position with the Eastern Connecticut Power company here.

Committees Named.

At 2:30 o'clock, the meeting adjourned until 5 o'clock, when a number of important business matters were aired and committees were named. The first matter was the authorization of the publicity committee to make arrangements for an industrial exposition; also a proposal to create an industrial revolving fund was acted upon. The president was authorized to name a committee, study the latter question and report back at the next meeting of the board. He was also authorized to name a committee on solicitations for the coming year. The question on memberships in other organizations and attendance at conventions was referred to the finance committee.

The committees appointed were: Finance, Roy C. Judd, chairman, John R. Tarrant and Guy B. Dolbeare; industrial survey, C. W. Taggart, chairman, Charles Twist, John J. O'Rourke and Shepard B. Palmer; publicity, Max Hanover, chairman, Henry H. Vignot, Harold Foote, Harold Hannigan and Arthur L. Peale.

CHELSEA CHRISTMAS CLUB IS DISTRIBUTING $82,000

Checks to the members of the Chelsea Savings bank Christmas club were sent out Monday afternoon to make happy the 1,800 members who have followed the plan of systematic saving which will result in placing $82,000 in their hands. Both in number of members and the total amount the bank's club shows a handsome growth over last year.

The club is conducted on the weekly payment plan in units from 25 cents to $5 for 50 weeks with interest added which amounts to a week's bonus. "We don't miss it." is one of the most frequent remarks which the bank officials hear from the members on their weekly visit to the bank to carry out this unique saving plan. So much ready money in the hands of the people at the time most of them need it also means much to the merchants of the city. Miss May Bushnell is in charge of the Christmas club window and the bank officials extend every facility to the club members.

This year the bank will continue the plan it inaugurated a year ago of having a Christmas tree in the lobby of the lobby of the bank, giving an agreeable air of Christmas cheer with its seasonable decorations.

STREET EXTENSION PETITION PRESENTED IN NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 5—At the council meeting tonight a petition for the extension of Green street to Tilley street signed by about fifty property owners, all on the street who could be reached, was presented and referred to committee. Councilor Streeter announced that a petition for the extension of Union street to Tilley would be presented to the next meeting of the council. He said it was in preparation now. The petition was referred to the planning board, that both petitions might be considered at the same time. Councilor Whilton said the whole matter was one of city planning. He declared that the plan was to have all streets radiating from the center to the outside and declared that it was planned to extend Union street on the north end to Richard street and then to the Winthrop cove bridge. He said that theoretically the street extension was related to the city planning scheme as a whole. He also said that ample streets to approach the proposed terminal at east New London should be provided and represented that the whole scheme was a part of the city planning.

Then came a petition for the extension of Harris court and the improvement of Converse place. Both were referred to the planning board.

The Exchange Affiliated clubs notified the city manager in a communication that it stood ready to assist New London in any way to get this port accepted as the western terminal of the proposed four-day line of steamers to and from Europe.

ATTENDED ROUND-UP OF STATE'S SCOUT LEADERS

Norwich Scout Executive F. J. Bielefield, Jr., Charles Colt, Max Hanover and Arthur L. Peale were in Waterbury Saturday afternoon and evening to attend the third annual Scout Leaders round-up of Connecticut. About 210 were in attendance at the sessions which were held in the Wilby High school with the dinner in the evening at the Hotel Elton.

Councils participating were Bridgeport, Bristol, Hartford, Housatonic, Meriden, Middletown, Naugatuck, New Britain, New Haven, New London, Norwich, Stamford, Torrington, Waterbury.

Mr. Bielefield conducted a class session on the programme in the afternoon.

Returns to College at Storrs

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Dec. 5—Dr. Leslie C. Dunn, geneticist for the Storrs Agricultural Experiment station, has just returned to Storrs following a ten months' leave of absence, during which time he pursued advance studies in the animal breeding research department in the University of Edinburgh in Scotland.

Will Work on Room Decorations.

Members of the Four Fold Comrades of the Central Baptist church will work on decorations for the girls' club room after the programme to their meeting this (Tuesday) evening, which will be in charge of Miss Marion Fenison. The girls are also to bring sewing of their own and will discuss giving a play.

Will Show Pruning Methods.

New London county orchardists are to be shown proper pruning methods on Wednesday when Prof. W. H. Darrow, of Storrs, is to be in Lebanon at 10 in the morning at the orchard of W. F. Clark on the Lebanon-Colchester road, formerly owned by L. P. Smith. At 2 in the afternoon, he will be at the farm of E. H. McCall on Goshen Hill.

WILL BE SPEAKER FOR RETAIL MERCHANTS BUREAU

According to an announcement made Monday night by Abner Schwartz, president of the Retail Merchants bureau, Edwin J. Niles, general manager of the Springfield Shopping News, will address the meeting of the Merchants bureau of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce Friday evening at the Wauregan hotel on the subject, Retail Trade Promotion. Mr. Niles was formerly associated with the Springfield Chamber of Commerce as secretary of the Retail Merchants association.

He made such a favorable impression before his hearers at the one-day meetings held here on Sept. 26, when he addressed the women's mass meetings and the round table conference on Credit Bureaus, that it was felt appropriate that a man with his unusual background of experience in dealing with the problems of retail merchandizing would fit in admirably at this month's meeting, when the merchants are considering the program for the year 1928.

The program and budget committee recommendations will be presented at this meeting for consideration and action.

$130,000 FORECLOSURE SUIT AGAINST NEW LONDON CORP.

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 5—Foreclosure of a second mortgage for $130,000 on the entire property of the 325 State Street corporation of this city is asked in a civil suit by the New Haven Bank, N. B. A., a New Haven corporation. The plaintiff brings the suit as trustee for the benefit of bond holders under a mortgage from the defendant corporation executed September 15, 1925. In addition to naming the 325 State Street corporation, defendant, the following co-defendants are named: The Clark Construction company, Waterbury; Franklin M. Stibbs, receiver for the Clark company; The Architectural Plastering company, of New York; Thames Lumber company; The Automatic Ticker Registering company, New York; The American Seating company, Chicago; Rudolph Wurlitzer company, New York and the Garde theatre corporation.

Gave Reading on China

The S. D. club met Monday evening at the home of Miss Esther Wright of Penobscot street. Miss Lillian Sandberg resumed a brief reading on China. The next meeting is the be held at the home of Mrs. Percy Cruthers of Thamesville.

EGG PRODUCTION EASES OFF A COUPLE OF POINTS IN STORRS LAYING CONTEST

Egg production eased off a couple of points during the fourth week of the Storrs laying contest, as the 1,400 pullets shelled out 4,456 eggs or a lay of 45.8 per cent. This is a decline of 214 eggs as compared with the output for the previous seven day period, yet a gain of 832 eggs if compared with the score for the corresponding week a year ago. To the end of the fourth week the contest flock has produced 17,359 eggs, or an average of 12 eggs per bird.

White Leghorns owned by Broadview Poultry Farm from Winsted, Conn., at present the ranking pen in the contest, headed the honor roll for the week with a score of 59 eggs. In the four weeks of the present competition, these Connecticut Leghorns have headed the honor roll twice and placed second twice. Their score for four weeks is 241 eggs, 19 more than the second high team of White Rocks owned by E. A. Hirt from South Weymouth, Mass. The latter pen, incidentally, placed second on the week's honor roll with a score of 58 eggs, just one less than the high score made by Broadview entry. White Leghorns owned by Bournedale Farms from Millerton, N. Y., placed third for the week with a score of 56 eggs, and Rhode Island Reds entered by Charlescote Farm from Sherborn, Mass., were fourth with a lay of 55 eggs. Thus in the four ranking pens for the week there was a difference of only four eggs.

Changes Among the Leaders.

Changes continue to come thick and fast in the standing of the leading pens in each of the principal varieties. In the White Leghorn division, the entry of Henry Rapp, Jr., from Farmingdale, N. J., climbed up into fifth position, displacing the pen owned by the State college of Washington from Pullman, Wash. In the Rhode Island Red division, the entry of Charlescote Farm from Sherborn, Mass., passed George B. Treadwell's entry from Spencer, Mass., to take second place. The pens owned by the Globus Poultry Farm from Attleboro, Mass., each with a score of 200 eggs to their credit, tied for third place in the Red division. In the Barred Rock classification, the entry of Hawes Brothers from Union, Me., moved into third position, displacing the pen owned by Spring Brook Poultry Farm from South Wethersfield, Conn.

"Poultry Night" Comes Wednesday.

The contest management regrets that earlier notice could not be given to another change in the radio poultry programs of WCAC that went into effect last Monday night. The college station shares time with WTIC of Hartford, and by agreement between the two station WCAC will go on the air each Wednesday evening for 15 minutes, beginning at 6.45 p. m. This 15-minute period is being allotted to the poultry department for the broadcasting of poultry information.

The talk for next Wednesday evening, Dec. 7, will be on "One's First Venture With Chickens," by Prof. Wm. F. Kirkpatrick and Wallace S. Moreland. This dialogue is planned primarily for the beginner in the poultry business, and will consider the problems to be encountered in the establishing of a poultry farm. WCAC broadcasts on a wave-length of 535.4 meters.

FUNERALS

John Counihan

At 8.15 o'clock Monday morning the funeral of John Counihan was held from his home, No. 494 Main street and at 9 o'clock there was a requiem mass at St. Patrick's church, Rev. John J. Reilley, celebrant. The attendance was large and there were many beautiful floral tributes. Henry J. LaFontaine presided at the organ and Roderick F. Sullivan sang De Profundis at the offertory, and Lead, Kindly Light at the offertory. At the recessional Mr. LaFontaine played Chopin's Funeral March. The burial took place in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, and Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May conducted the committal service.

John Clifford, Daniel F. McDonald, Robert McNeely, and Michael Kelly were the bearers. Included in the large attendance were mourners from New York, Boston and Lowell, and also a delegation from the Carpenter's union. Undertakers Cummings and Ring had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Santi Ferrigno

At 9.30 o'clock Monday morning the funeral of Mrs. Santi Ferrigno was held from her home, No. 30 Summit street, with many relatives and friends in attendance. At 10 o'clock there was a requiem mass at St. Patrick's church, Rev. Myles P. Galvin, celebrant. Henry J. LaFontaine presided at the organ and at the offertory sang De Profundis, and as the waiting hymn, Abide With Me. The bearers were Antonio Tusia, Guiseppe Micel, Joseph Perrone, Ginerno Giambeluca, Guiseppe Perrone and Joseph Perrone.

The burial took place in St. Joseph's cemetery, where Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May conducted the committal service. There were numerous and beautiful floral tributes and the large attendance included mourners from Westerly, New London, Willimantic and other places. Hourigan Bros., had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Michael B. Downes.

The funeral of Michael B. Downes was held from his late home at 88 Garden street, Forestville, this state, Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock with a solemn requiem mass at St. Matthew's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. William P. Laflin was celebrant, assisted by Rev. Oliver T. Magnell, deacon and Rev. Thomas Lynch, sub-deacon. At the offertory, James Donahue sang "Ave Maria," Harry Coe Olmstead sang "I come to Thee." Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Plainville.

Relatives were present from Staten Island, New York, Northbridge, Mass., and this city.

COLCHESTER FORECLOSURE SUIT HEARD BY JUDGE WALLER

A foreclosure action brought by Martha Cohen, of Wallingford, against Jacob Kalmonowitz, Sadie Borets and William Kaspenia, all of Colchester; the Morris Silverberg Co., of Norwich and the town of Colchester, was tried before Judge Charles B. Waller in the court of common pleas in New London Monday.

Attorney J. N. Manfreda represents the plaintiff, while Attorney Thomas M. Shields appears for the defendant, Kalmanowitz.

The plaintiff claims that on Aug. 1, 1923, Kalmanowitz owed her $425 and that on the next day the note was secured by a mortgage on lands and building in Colchester. The plaintiff claims that the amount is now due with interest from Feb. 1, 1926. Testimony was concluded Monday and Judge Waller reserved decision.

STARTED TRIAL OF SUIT OVER WEATHER STRIPS

Late Monday afternoon in the common pleas court at New London before Judge C. B. Waller, trial was started in the suit of E. T. Burrowes Co., of Portland, Me., against John K. Foran, of New London, on a claim for $300 damages. The plaintiff company claims that the New London man owes for a lot of weather strips for which he contracted, but he denies that any contract was made, declaring that he only went as far as negotiating for the weather strips Attorney Nathan Belcher appears for the plaintiff and Attorney C. V. James for the defendant. After some testimony had been taken before court adjourned, the case was continued for trial to Dec. 16.

Poultry Night by Radio

The college radio station at Storrs now shares time with WTIC of Hartford, and by agreement between the two stations WCAC will go on the air each Wednesday evening for fifteen minutes, beginning at 6.45 p. m. This fifteen minute period is being allotted to the poultry department for the broadcasting of poultry information.

The talk for next Wednesday evening, December 7, will be on "One's First Venture With Chickens," by Prof. William F. Kirkpatrick and Wallace S. Moreland. This dialogue is planned primarily for the beginner in the poultry business, and will consider the problems to be encountered in the establishing of a poultry farm. WCAC broadcasts on a wavelength of 535.4 meters.

Monday Afternoon Bridge Club.

When the Monday Afternoon Bridge club met this week with Mrs. C. B. Lucas, of 58 Otis street, two tables were in play. The first prize was awarded to Mrs. Joseph P. Sullivan and the second to Mrs. J. Raymond Gregson. Luncheon was served by the hostess. Mrs. J. Raymond Gregson will entertain the club next Monday afternoon at her home, No. 151 Boswell avenue.

NORWICH TOWN

Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, pastor of Norwich Town Congregational church, was in Mystic Sunday and preached at the morning worship at Mystic Congregational church, in exchange with the pastor, Rev. F. G. Chutter.

At the Norwich Town church, Rev. Mr. Chutter preached from II Timothy. In recognition of International Bible Sunday, his theme was confined chiefly to the Bible.

The junior Christian Endeavor society had as leaders in the Congregational chapel Sunday afternoon, Rachel Avery and Roberta Matteson. "How Can We Share With Others?" was the topic developed.

Miss Jessie E. Hyde of Washington street, was present at the Christian Endeavor service Sunday evening in Preston City, when a union meeting of the Congregational and Baptist churches was held at the latter church. Miss Hyde assisted in the installation of officers and committees, during the service.

Sunday evening, the Young People's Christian Endeavor service in the Congregational chapel was in charge of Miss Dorothy Waterman. This was a consecration meeting, the theme "What is Prayer?" St. John 6:24-15, Eph. 6:18, 19, was the Scripture reference.

In the study of Advent, for December the theme assigned for this week's meeting of conference and prayer of the Congregational church is "If Christ Came to the City, What?"

At Sunday morning worship at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. Albert E. Whitten, the pastor, preached from Ephesians 5:25, using only this part of the verse—Christ loved the church and gave Himself for it, also used the text Romans 12:4th and 5th verses. For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office; so we being many, are one body in Christ, and everyone members one of another.

During the children's service Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at the Methodist church, Miss Florence M. Bennett gave a blackboard talk from Luke 6:43-44. For a good tree bringeth not forth corrupt fruit, neither doth a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit, for every tree is known by his own fruit. For of thorns men do not gather figs, nor of a bramble bush gather they grapes." The general theme of Miss Bennett's talk was "A Tree Is Known by Its Fruit." There were twenty children present, notwithstanding the severe hail storm. At the service next Sunday afternoon Howard Bushnell of Occum is to give a talk. Mrs. Lewis Aldrich will have charge of the music, something special being arranged.

West Town street school was included among others in the system that had visiting day Monday, the school being closed all day for that purpose.

At the annual meeting of New London County Home and Farm bureau, held recently at Buckingham Memorial, Norwich, Mrs. William Weaver of Huntington Green, president of Norwich Town club, was elected director for the town of Norwich.

The next meeting of the local club will be at the home of Mrs. Wellington Miner, of Vergason avenue, Thursday, December 15th. Mrs. Marion Dakin, from Connecticut Agricultural college, Storrs, will be the demonstrator.

Mrs. William Weaver, president, is to be the hostess Thursday afternoon, to Dorcas Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church, when the December meeting is to be held at her home on Huntington Green.

OCKFORD TEAM OF NEW LONDON HAS UNDISPUTED CLAIM TO GRID TITLE

The Tiger-Ockford game Sunday at New London put an end to the eastern Connecticut grid season. The New London firemen have a firm claim to any championship that may be handed out for they are above the class of the Greeneville, the only other semi-pro machine that performed regularly in this section.

The Whalers lost but one game, that to the East Rocks of New Haven but they beat them on the following Sunday so things were alright again. To match this win the Ockfords can hold up decisions over the Sub Base, Italian-American A. C. of Westerly and others besides the Tigers.

Their powerful aggregation ranked with the best of the semi-pro clubs of the state, they being topped by only the New Britain and Hartford outfits. With Fulford, Gadbois, Brewer, McGowan and Williams for backs and a forward wall of Juliani, Perry, Guagliano, Tony Turrello and others this team can look behind on their work and call it successful.

Our local Tigers, although, had a successful season in their own class, winning four and losing one, that to the Italian-American A. C. Although several of the players had none too much experience, nevertheless, the Greeneville boys did well. A regrettable part of the year was the broken collar-bone suffered by the star halfback, Charley McGrath. He had been doing fine work until laid low with injury in the Bradford game.

"Butch" Mileski was captain and H. Boyd manager. The team lined up with Jim Penton, Gay and Bubbles at the ends, Butts, Jones and Kopp tackles, Rokoski, Bartnicki and Christy at guards with Capt. Mileski at center, Charley Parkhurst, the McGrath brothers, Charley and Frank, Herberts, Nelson and Hudson in the backfield. All home games were played at J. B. Martin park.

The Tigers were outscored 59 to 44 but erase that last game and they had an edge 44 to 20.

Their season's record:—

Tigers 13, Majestics (Westerly) 0.

Tigers 0, Italian-American A. C. (Westerly) 20.

Tigers 13, Blackstone A. C. (Worcester) 0.

Tigers 12, Polish A. C. (New London) 0.

Tigers 6, Bradford A. C. (R. I.) 0.

Tigers 0, Ockford Hose Co. (New London) 39.

Summary—Won four; lost two. Points scored 44. Opponents' points 59.

Charley McGrath led the scorers with 31 points. Three players did the scoring, the record of which follows:

	TD	PAT.
C. McGrath, hb	5	1	31
Fenton, e	1	1	7
Smith, t	1	0	6

The Jewett City Speedboys were another eastern Conn. representative but only for a game or so after which they disbanded.

Likewise, Noank had the Crushers, but after a beating by the Speedboys they practically faded out of the scene. Willimantic also had teams but they figured little in any title race.

AGGIE VARSITY LOSES FIVE BY GRADUATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Dec. 5. — With the close of the Connecticut Aggie grid season last month, five senior lettermen on the squad who will receive their degrees in June completed their days of intercollegiate football.

They are Captain Willard C. Eddy of Simsbury, Carl Geissler of Abington, Howard Kennedy of Mount Carmel, Arthur W. Bergen of East Hartford and Samuel Dorrance of Plainfield. Captain Eddy, Geissler and Kennedy were regulars on the Aggie eleven, while Bergren and Dorrance were first string reserve material.

Captain Eddy is the third brother of a famous Simsbury family that has made athletic history at C. A. C. He entered Connecticut Agricultural college in the fall of 1924, and as a halfback on the freshman eleven soon established himself as the best open field runner at Storrs. He proved to be an ideal triple threat man, showing marked ability from the start to kick, pass and run with the ball. He made his letter as a halfback on the 1925 varsity eleven, and last year shone brilliantly throughout the season, ranking with "Pop" Williams as a sure ground-gainer. A bad ankle injury hampered Eddy in the past season, yet he turned in his customarily shining performances in the games in which he played.

Carl Geissler, the Aggies regular center until forced to the sidelines by a bad arm injury in the New Hampshire game came up from the ranks of the substitutes to win a regular berth in his last year at C. A. C. Geissler played one season with the frosh, and two as a varsity sub before he finally got his chance, which came after John Tully graduated last June. This left the center position open, and Geissler won the berth in hot competition. In addition to his athletic ability, Geissler is one of the ranking students in college, and is a member of Gamma Chi Epsilon, the honorary scholastic fraternity.

Howard Kennedy never played football before coming to C. A. C., as a matter of fact he never tried out for the varsity until his junior year. His "discovery" came about through the annual freshman-sophomore football game in 1925, when Kennedy as a unfried recruit on the soph eleven flashed so brilliantly at end that he was prevailed upon to try for the varsity the following year. So when the 1926 varsity squad reported for work last year, Kennedy was present, and he won a regular berth before the season was two weeks old. He has held that berth ever since, and his graduation next June means the loss of a strong wingman. Kennedy is also a letterman in basketball and captain-elect of the varsity baseball nine.

Arthur Bergen and Sam Dorrance came to C. A. C. with no previous grid experience but work as members of the second eleven has helped to develop them into strong varsity reserves. Both played in most of the games this year, and both have already been voted varsity letters by the athletic council of the college.

ALEXANDER RAISED IN AGGIE STUDENT PAPER

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Dec. 5.—Indicative of the high regard with which the Connecticut Aggie undergraduates regard Louis A. Alexander, newly appointed varsity basketball coach, is the editorial in this week's "Connecticut Campus," student newspaper, in commenting on his promotion.

Under the head of "New Varsity Mentor," the "Campus" editorializes as follows: "Louis A. Alexander, a star performer on the chalked court during his four years as a student at this institution has this year been appointed varsity basketball coach. This appointment comes after four years work as coach of freshman teams in football, basketball and baseball.

"The achievements of his freshmen teams are a monument to his ability to get results from unproven material. Every Aggie rooter has been proud of the yearling teams, with their fighting spirit and sportsmanlike attitude, which was installed by the Frosh Mentor.

"Coach Alexander gives the men of proven ability an opportunity to display their wares with undue fairness. As a stern disciplinarian he takes the "Big Shot" down from his high horse and "Babies" no man. In doing so he has placed teams on the field that have had superior coordination. The gallery players have never had the opportunity to wrest fame at the expense of their fellow-players on teams coached by Alexander.

"The promotion of Coach Alexander meets with the hearty approval of the entire student body and every loyal "Agg-eye" will be on hand at all encounters to back the new varsity Mentor and his teams."

COACHING PROBLEMS HOLD INTEREST OF GRID FOLLOWERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Coaching bombshells dropped into widely scattered football camps over the week end today kept gridiron conversation alive in a season that has waned but for a few post-season and all-star clashes in sun-favored climates.

In the ranks of the east's one time "big three," Princeton and Harvard coaching problems were settled, Princeton's for two years and Harvard's for one. But Yale and New York university were skirmishing for some means of inducing their mentors to reconsider resignations which became effective with the season's final whistle.

In the southwest Rice institute saw the retirement of John W. Heisman, athletic director and head coach of football, after 36 years of master minding in the east, south and midwest. From Ithaca came murmurings translated by some into demands for Gloomy Gil Dobie's removal from the helm at Cornell, despite a contract that has two years to run.

William J. Bingham's "give him air" program at Harvard has assured Arnold Horween of another year at the head of Crimson football in Cambridge, while Bill Roper, who has guided Princeton's football destinies for 14 years, nine of them in succession, has signed a contract that will keep him in harness for another two years.

Chick Meehan's threat to quit N. Y. U. football because of four outside offers and "other circumstances" has started a hasty alumni drive to secure his retention at any cost, be it money, freedom or squashing "grousers."

Yale alumni, awakened by Nick Robetts' annual "win, lose or draw" barn party over in Jersey Saturday night, have started a drive to smoke out an official request from New Haven that Tad Jones reconsider his resignation tendered this fall to become effective with the whistle that closed the victory over Harvard at Cambridge. The party proved to its own satisfaction that the alumni, undergraduates and football players want Jones back, and touched on the faculty attitude with a discreet question mark.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION VOTES AGAINST MAJOR OWNERSHIP

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Adoption of a new constitution, the outstanding clause of which is designed to operate against major league acquisition of American Association baseball clubs, marked a harmonious annual meeting of the association officials here today.

The meeting unanimously adopted a provision that the board of directors of the league must approve any sales, or must be given an opportunity to purchase any franchise for the league, in case the sale is not approved. Henry Killilea of Milwaukee was made a member of the league finance committee.

Minor leagues showed great interest in a decision tonight by the national board of arbitration blocking the efforts of the Tulsa and Oklahoma City baseball clubs to bolt the Western league and join the Texas circuit. The board ruled the teams occupied territory belonging to the Western and it could not be transferred to the Texas.

Many baseball teams were represented here for the National Professional Baseball association meeting tomorrow announced they were in the market for players, but not a single deal developed during the day. Lobby talk was that cash deals in preference to trading was holding up exchanges of players.

Reports to the association meeting indicated the league is looking forward to a record-breaking year. President Hickey reported 1,700,000 persons clocked the turnstiles in 1927, and that three parks are to be improved this winter, giving the circuit greater seating capacity. Indianapolis is building a new park, and Toledo and Milwaukee are rebuilding their parks.

FIERCE SPRINTING IN SIX DAY BIKE RACE

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Frenzied jamming just as wild and spectacular as the opening night of the 43rd International Six-Day bike race marked the evening sprint hour of 15 teams second night on the long grind to nowhere.

Rivaling the record of 31 laps stolen within the opening three hours of the race last night, the tireless masters of the drumming wheels pilfered 30 laps in little more than two hours of frantic pedalling.

Despite the fruitless bursts of speed displayed by trailing riders, Gaetano Belloni, of Italy, and Gerard Debaets, of Belgium, maintained a one lap lead over Dave Lands, of Irvington, N. J., and Klas Vannek, his partner from Holland. Petri and Hill trailed a lap behind in third place and the veterans Reggie McNamara and Franco Georgetti could gain no better than a fourth place tie with Walker and Beekman, four laps behind the leaders.

Lands and Vannek stole four laps in the furious jamming as did Belloni and Debaets. Three other teams stole a trio apiece. There were no serious accidents.

HAGEN TO CAPTAIN AMERICAN PRO TEAM

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Walter Hagen was advised today that he had been appointed captain of the 1928 American professional golf team by the directors of the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

Hagen said that the association had not yet determined if a team would be sent to Great Britain next year. He said he expected to participate in the British open championship himself and that if men selected to represent the United States could make the trip, a match would probably be played

TRINITY AND SPRINGFIELD NOT ON AGGIE GRID SLATE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

STORRS, Dec. 5.—Announcement of the Connecticut Aggies' 1928 football schedule here today shows the state college athletic authorities still willing to tackle a schedule that would test the resources of any small college.

Eight games are listed on the Nutmegger's slate, only three of which will be played on the home field and the remainder away. Every one of the New England state colleges will be played with the exception of the Massachusetts Aggies with whom athletic relations were suspended a year ago. Of the eight contests scheduled, only two—the ones with Lowell Textile and the Coast Guard Academy Cadets—can be regarded as "resting games," and sometimes those affairs develop into the hardest scraps of the year. The Aggies have only to look at the Trinity and Rhode Island games of the past season for proof of that statement.

Announcement that Wesleyan will sent its eleven to Storrs for the opening game of the season will be received with much satisfaction by Aggie followers in general. The state college grid team has journeyed to Wesleyan for three straight years, beginning back in 1925, and it was felt by the undergraduate body and other Connecticut followers that a home and home arrangement of games would be more satisfactory. Such an arrangement has been agreed on, and it will go into effect on a two-year basis beginning next October.

Trinity and Springfield are the only two elevens played this fall that will not be met another year, and inability to secure playing dates agreeable to both institutions is the only reason why they will not meet in 1928. Indications are that they will resume grid relations in 1929 according to recent reports.

The University of Vermont is the only newcomer on the Aggies' 1928 slate and this team has been scheduled in accordance with Head Coach Sumner Dole's policy of playing as many as possible of the New England state colleges. Boston college will be played on Braves field, Boston, in the final game of the season, and that contest will mark the termination of the Aggies' two-year contract with the Eagles. At this writing it is impossible to say if the athletic authorities at C. A. C. will attempt to arrange a similar contract with Boston college for 1929 1930; much will depend upon the outlook for those seasons as may be shown by the material available. As a general rule, the athletic council at C. A. C. is opposed to the football eleven going out of its class to schedule games. Heretofore the policy has been to schedule games with the stronger New England small college elevens.

Besides Wesleyan, two-year home-and-home agreements have been entered into with Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire. Under this arrangement the Aggie-New Hampshire game at Manchester, as played during the last three years, will be discarded in favor of games alternated between Storrs and Durham, with next year's game at the latter place. This means either New Hampshire or Rhode Island, both strong New England conference rivals, will come to Storrs for a November game on alternate years.

The schedule: Oct. 6, Wesleyan at Storrs; Oct. 13, Maine at Orono; Oct. 20, Lowell Textile at Lowell; Oct. 27, Vermont at Burlington; Nov. 3, Coast Guard Academy at Storrs; Nov. 10, New Hampshire at Durham; Nov. 17, Rhode Island at Storrs; Nov. 24, Boston college at Boston.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament daily grows more complex and mysterious to the "experts" with the choosing of Jack Delaney to face the winner of the Jack Sharkey-Tom Heeney match and Paulino Uzcudun favored to battle the ultimate winner. Critics now interpret rules governing the eliminations something like this.

Three defeats constitutes complete elimination.

A headliner is not eliminated until twice whipped by Johnny Risko, Cleveland baker boy.

By consecutive victory over Delaney and Uzcudun, Risko eliminated himself.

Defeat of Phil Scott, British champion, such as Knute Hanson scored, constitutes self elimination.

Football players want to know who is going to do the interfering for Andy Kerr's all-eastern backfield in the East-West charity game on the Pacific coast this month. The team will have a sensational squad of tackle-thrusters, end-turners, and line-smashers in Caldwell, Lane, Howell, Amos, and Presnall but they are all ball-carriers and a few linesmen are beginning to hark to the old "blast the signals, give me the ball" remark of a famous back of years ago.

Johnny Hoben has decided that fame isn't all its cracked up to be. From solicitous friends the little Yale quarterback learned that about the time he was being overhauled in the New Haven infirmary after the Yale-Army game an unsteady gentleman rose from his box chair in a Broadway theater and announced that he was "Johnny Hoben, the bes' quar-back Yale ever had even if I am drunk."

HOELKELMAN PICKS HIS ALL-OPPONENT TEAM

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 5—(AP)—Captain Harold Hoekelman, quarterback of the 1927 Cornell football team, today named an all-opponent eleven for the Associated Press. Five members of the Pennsylvania squad that beat the big Red team Thanksgiving day were in the lineup, chosen on the basis of form displayed in games with Cornell.

The first team: F. Scull, Penn., and Furey, Columbia, ends; Hake and Smith, Penn, tackles; Adler, Columbia and McGinnis, Penn, guards; Lambart, Columbia, center; Wittmer, and Miles, Princeton, Marsters, Dartmouth, and P. Scull, Penn, backs.

Mello to Box Malone

BOSTON, Dec. 5—(AP)—Al Mello, of Lowell, holder of the New England welterweight championship has been signed to meet Jock Malone, of St. Paul, Minn., in a 10-round bout here on Monday, December 12. It will be Mello's first bout as a middleweight.

EASTERN CONN. BOWLING LEAGUE OPENS WITH AETNA SETTING RECORD

What is taken to be a local record pinfall for a five-man team was hung Monday night at the Aetna alleys by the Aetna five in swamping the Palace five, 1746 to 1462, in the opening game of the Eastern Connecticut bowling league. The Aetna five bowled in rare form right from the start and swept into a commanding lead of 75 pins in the first string. To this they added 119 pins in the second string and would have piled up a greater score had not Mike Aldi run into a streak of hard luck. In the third string, which was the lowest of the three, they won by 90 pins, beating the Palace team by 284 pins.

As far back as can be recalled no five-man team in Norwich has ever exceeded this mark of 1746 made on regulation duck pins. Every man on the Aetna team with the exception of Aldi had strings of 100 or better, Zulka having the high string with 148 and high three with 384. Combies was second high with two strings of 132 each and one of 108 for a total of 372, both scores being near the record high three strings.

With a record like this to shoot at the six teams in the Eastern Connecticut league will have to travel at a high rate of speed to prevent the local team from copping the title. A 20-game schedule has been arranged with teams bowling every Monday night. The six teams in the league are: Aetna and Palace of Norwich, Peerless and Lawrence of New London, Taftville and Niantic. The standing is to be scored on a point basis the same as last season and cash prizes will be offered to the number of ten and are awarded as follows: first, second and third places in the standing, high team single and high team total, high individual single and total, first, second and third high individual averages.

The scores for Monday night's game follow:

MICHIGAN WILL HAVE TWO VARSITY ELEVENS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 5.—(AP)—The University of Michigan will be represented by two football teams next fall playing a schedule of 16 games, Fielding S. Yost, athletic director announced today.

Theoreticcally the two teams will be of varsity caliber but due to the fact that most conference teams have completed their schedules for the 1928 season, one team will bear the heavier burden of the conference competition. Eventually it is hoped the two teams will be of comparatively equal strength, one playing at home while the other team is engaging an opponent elsewhere.

The western conference last week decided to permit each university in the group to be represented by two teams.

Mr. Yost said he was now corresponding with schools in and out of the conference for games for his secondary team. The plan is in line with Yost's and President Clarence Cook Little's scheme of enlarging intramural and major sports competition.

Exactly how the student and alumni bodies will react to a plan which breaks tradition is a matter of conjecture. It is pointed out, however, that the scheme will give many good athletes a chance which the limited personal of the varsity squad forbids.

ALL-NORWICH FOOTBALL TEAM IS PICKED

A fan has suggested the following All-Norwich eleven including the three teams that have competed of local extraction, the Academy, Tigers and Academy Alumni.

Here it is and this probably officially closes the All-team for this section for 1927:

Ends, Tombari, Alumni and Greene, Academy.
Tackles, Polsky, Alumni and Kahn, Academy.
Guards, Gilman, Alumni and Steinman, Alumni.
Center, Mileski, Tigers.
Quarterback, Hinrichs, Alumni.
Halfbacks, McGlone, Academy and C. McGrath, Tigers.
Fullback, Marks, Academy.

The above should be some Rose City representative with five of the Alumni, four of the Academy and two of the Tigers.

Holds Hole-In-One Record

Tom Washington, professional golfer at Caldwell, N. J., who is the champion of the hole-in-one record, having scored 17. Recently while playing he scored a hole-in one over a 186-yard hole and the same afternoon scored another hole-in-one over a 225-yard hole on another course, which is also another record no golfer can boast of

NUMBER OF GOOD BOUTS IN GOTHAM THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—(AP)—The new Manhattan Casino, another indoor boxing arena, will throw open its doors Thursday night with an all star card featuring George Courtney, Oklahoma cowboy middleweight, against Jack Pry of Pittsburgh in a six round bout.

Roberto Roberti, the Italian slugger who knocked out Romero Rojas last week, will oppose King Solomon, Panama heavyweight in a 10-round event at the new Broadway arena in Brooklyn tonight.

On Wednesday, Benny Touchstoe, the Florida battler, trades wallops with Tiny Jim Herman in a main 10-round clash, at the pioneer.

On the same card, Ted Sandwina, Sioux City, Ia., will meet Gus Berger of Brooklyn in another bout of the same distance.

Closing the week's boxing slate on Saturday, Bruce Flowers, Negro puncher, will oppose Globe Trotting Eddie Elkins in a ten rounder at the Olympia.

DELANEY MAY BE SIGNED TO MEET GENE TUNNEY

CHICAGO, Dec. 5—(AP)—The first step in the campaign to bring Gene Tunney back to Chicago for a match in defense of his heavyweight championship wil be taken Friday night when Jack Delaney and Paul Berlenbach meet in a 10-round affair.

If Delaney can register two or three impressive victories here, it is figured he would become a "logical" opponent for the heavyweight king.

Both Delaney and Berlenbach are former light heavyweight champions.

Tunney is to attend a Christmas charity banquet here next week, and he may be signed at that time by Promoter Jim Mullen, with Delaney as the opponent, if Delaney wins impressively over Berlenbach.

CHAPMAN GETS EASY VERDICT OVER KRAMER

BOSTON, Dec. 5—(AP)—Red Chapman, of Boston, won an easy decision over Danny Kramer, of Philadelphia, in their 10 round bout here tonight. Chapman carried nine of the ten rounds, and floored Kramer in the fifth. He left jabbed the Philadelphian almost at will. Chapman weighed 126 3-4 pounds and Kramer 127 1-2.

Johnny Sheppard, of Woburn, defeated Jackie Donohue, New York, in the eight round semi-final. Johnny Glennick, of Nashua, N. H., defeated Wee Willie Woods, of Scotland in six rounds. Joe Barlow, of Dorchester, knocked out Billy Bruinsma, of Worcester in the final round of a six round preliminary. Tommy Murphy, of Somerville, knocked out George Anderson, of Nashua, N. H., after 30 seconds of fighting.

STATE GOLF BODY TO MEET IN NEW HAVEN

BRIDGEPORT, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The executive committee of the Connecticut Golf association will hold its annual mid-winter session on Thursday, December 15, at 4 p. m., at the Graduates' club in New Haven, it was announced today by Robert R. Pryde, of Orange, secretary of the association.

The adoption of a schedule for 1928 and the awarding of the 29th state golf championship tournament will be chief business to be transacted. Malcolm Farmer, New Britain, recently elected president of the association, will preside.

TWO NORWICH BOYS GET MAJOR LETTER AT STORRS

Pheno Tombari and Murty Gilman, Norwich's two representatives on the Connecticut Aggie varsity football squad, were among the 21 who have been awarded varsity letters in football. Tombari played a substitute wing position with credit, getting into a number of the major contests during the season, especially the Boston College game. Gilman is one of the lightest guards playing college varsity football this season, but although light he made up for a lack of poundage by his aggressive playing.

Other eastern Connecticut boys to receive letters were Arthur V. Williams of Danielson, Samuel Dorrance of Plainfield and Carl Geissler of Abington.

L. B. McCRANN, VETERAN SPORTS PROMOTER DEAD

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 5—(AP)—The funeral of Leonard B. McCrann, one-time Connecticut Sports promoter, who died suddenly in New York city today, will be held Wednesday from the home of his mother at 596 Howard avenue.

Mr. McCrann was one of the first sports promoters in the state to rally to the cause of legalized boxing. After the law recognizing boxing as a legal sport had been passed he promoted a bout between Jess Willard and George "Boer" Rodel at the old Casino here. Willard won in four rounds and received $1,000 for his share. A short time later, Willard took the championship from Jack Johnson.

Alf Lynch, Canadian featherweight champion also fought here for McCrann. Joe "Kid" Shea, of Waterbury was his opponent and defeated him.

NEIS PICKS ALL-COLLEGE SOCCER ELEVEN

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 5.—(AP)—A. L. Neis, soccer coach at Princeton university in collaboration with other league soccer coaches today picked the following "All-Collegiate" soccer team:

Stewart, Princeton, outside left; Fleath, Yale, inside left; Packard, Princeton, outside forward; Squires, Princeton, inside right; Estes, Haverford, outside right; Maier, Haverford, left half; Edgerton, Penn State, center, half; Frazier, Haverford, right half; Fhu, Cornell, left back; Crocker, Princeton, right back; Allen, Cornell, goal.

BASKETBALL

The weather of the past few days brought back basketball thoughts.

The game between the two Emps—Norwich and Willimantic—at the Y Saturday showed surprisingly good teamwork for an opener. The local boys seem to be improved quite a few degrees over last year and under Coach Leslie Conklin, they should go far this season.

There is a meeting of the two church leagues called for tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

The meeting of the Industrial league last week failed to bring out a quorum. Only six team representatives were present. New London started Saturday night and although a tentative opening night has ben slated for Dec. 17 for the local league there is nothing to assure of its getting away then.

New London has a City league with industries and various detachments of the naval forces about the city included with independent teams. That's probably what will have to be done here to get things going. Last year's local City league was a success and there is no reason why another season could not be of the same kind. If eight industries cannot be located to enter teams then, why not have the Y, Seniors, C. F. C., Smoke Shop, etc., to fill in? Once things get moving it should not be hard.

In defeating All New Britain Saturday the Plainfield Pros only added foundation to the prophesy made earlier in the season when they were dropping those close ones that once they hit their stride it would take a good team to pin a defeat on them. However, they seem fairly certain of meeting one of those good teams Wednesday at the Community house when the Boston Whirlwinds, with Fiddle Morley, Nig Curtin, Kiley, Martin and Crotty, form the invasion.

The Y. Outlaws challenge the Plainfield Buddies for a game in Norwich at the Y Saturday night Dec. 17. A return game is promised. Arrangements may be made by getting in touch with the Y. M. C. A.

State scholastic basketball got a start Saturday when Torrington and Naugatuck both won their games. However, the former club had a tough time with Drury (Mass.) high, winning by one point on a last-second shot. Naugatuck girl's and boy's teams had it easy with Collinsville, the girls scoring a 45 to 0 shutout. Increased activity is expected this wek although many schools will not open until after the Christmas vacation. Windham, with bright prospects, starts Dec. 16 against the Alumni.

The C. F. C. open their season away this year, meeting the Battery E outfit at Westerly Saturday. The Rhode Island club had the advantage of several games experience over the locals but that didn't matter last year when the C. F. C. defeated the soldiers.

The Y. Seniors are now getting in trim for a busy season. With such men as Rabbit Gauthier, Enos Eccleston, Roland Harris, Al Grebe, Finlayson, Al Fineault, Tut Dahl and others they seem well fortified for such a campaign. It is understood that Coach McKean already has several games lined up, including tilts with Meriden and New Britain.

Y. M. C. A.'s and their bitter rival, the New London Coast Guards.

Joe Belair is a referee in the New London city league.

Eddie Nichols, Windham star, is seeing quite a bit of service for Plainfield Pros.

Basketball in these parts this week, so far as is known at present seem to be confined to the Plainfield Boston game Wednesday at Plainfield.

Taftville, long a factor in local basketball circles will from all appearances, have no representative this year as the Celtics do not plan to operate. Several of her players will be down in the city campaigning.

YOUNG MAN ASKED DANBURY COP TO LOCK HIM UP

DANBURY, Dec. 5—(AP)—A well dressed, refined appearing young man walked up to Policeman Harry Lewis here tonight and asked to be locked up "because I'm afraid I might kill somebody." Lewis took him to police headquarters where he told the officer in charge that he does not know his own name nor anything about himself with the exception that he dimly recalls escaping from an asylum in California two years ago.

MEX. TROOPS SEEKING ARCHBISHOP JIMINEZ

NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 5—(AP)—Dispatches from Guadalajara to the Nogales Herald tonight reported government troops were seeking Archbishop Francisco Orozco Y Jimines, ranking Catholic prelate in Mexico and alleged leader of a small band of "religious fanatics," with orders that he be taken dead or alive.

The churchman and his followers were said to have retreated into the hills near Los Altos. A heavy detachment of cavalry has been concentrated in the Los Altos district, charged with the task of trailing Archbishop Jimines until he is taken.

Fighting step by step as they fled from federal forces, the advices to the Herald said the group finally evaded capture following an encounter with troops near Los Altos last week, in which both sides suffered heavy casualties. The main fighting lasted four hours, it was reported. Federal forces were under General Jesus M. Ferreira, commanding the Jalisco zone.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway.

The late World war furnished plenty of material for motion picture stories but at the same time it has brought about an exactness in pictures heretofore unknown, according to Emory Johnson, who directed the Universal war epic, "The Lone Eagle," which will be shown at the Broadway theater today and tomorrow.

"In making a war picture such as "The Lone Eagle," explained Johnson, "every detail must be perfect. In the United States alone there are close to three million potential movie patrons who saw service in France during the war. When we depict a street scene in a French village, for instance, if there is one little thing out of place these men who have an indelible memory of France stamped in their minds, are bound to notice it. Add to this the millions of people in Europe who will see the picture and you have an idea what a slip-shod production would mean to the producer."

"The Lone Eagle," a story of the allied forces during the conflict, is said to be the most historically correct war picture ever filmed. It was written by Lieut. Ralph Blanchard, a member of the U. S. air service, who saw two years of actual service at the front, and the majority of the actors are ex-soldiers.

The leading roles in the picture are played by Raymond Keane and Barbara Kent, two of the younger school of players who have made rapid advancement during the past year, while the supporting cast includes Nigel Barrie, Jack Pennick, Don Stuart, Cuyler Supples and many others.

BROAD LIST OF DECLINES IN STOCKS WITH A SCORE OF IMPOSING GAINS

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed in today's stock market. The sudden shift in speculative sentiment was not associated with any weekend news or trade developments, although the opening of congress invariably has acted as a temporarily retarding influence on speculative operations. Net declines of 1 to 3 points were distributed over a fairly broad list, but there were also a score of rather imposing gains.

One of the most interesting developments of the day was the announcement after the close of the market that stock exchange member loans had crossed the $4,000,000,000 mark for the first time, the gain last month running over $145,000,000. Money rates, however, indicated no strain on the credit situation, call loans dropping to 4 per cent. after renewing at 4 1-2, while time money was freely supplied at 4 to 4 1-4 and prime commercial paper was available at 3 3-4 to 4.

Much of the liquidation probably was inspired by commission house advices that the market was entitled to a breathing spell after the tumultuous trading of last week. Some confusion also developed as a result of the abbreviated quotation system which was used again in an effort to speed up trading. The ticket was only 19 minutes late in recording the final quotation, although the volume of trading was considerably below that of the closing days of last week.

General Motors and U. S. Steel common were in rather free supply all day, the former showing a net loss of 2 1-4 at 127 5-8, the day's low, while the latter closed 1 5-8 lower at 144 1-2 after fluctuating between 144 5-8 and 146 1-4. Air reduction, which was strong last week, broke 3 points and American Linseed preferred, Case Threshing, Dupont, People Gas, Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Timken Roller Bearing sold down 2 points or more.

Renewal of selling pressure against the oil and baking shares was accompanied by unfavorable dividend rumors. Atlantic Refining broke from 112 1-2 to 106 1-2 and then rallied to 107 3-4, off 4 7-8 net; Houston Oil and Continental Baking A sold down about 4 points and the Pan-American issues sunks to new low levels for the year.

Operations for the advance were particularly effective in Ajax Rubber, American Retubdics, Associated Dry Goods, Brooklyn Union Gas, Continental Insurance, Crex Carpet, General Refractories, International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, National Biscuit, J. R. Thompson and White Motors, some of the gains running as high as 12 points.

Rails yielded with the industrials, although the selling was held in check by expectations that President Coolidge would renew his stand in favor of railroad consolidations in his annual message. Canadian Pacific advanced 4 points and lost 3, while Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio, Erie, Wabash, and several others closed 1 to 3 points lower.

The leading commodity markets went around. Wheat and cotton futures both sold off in reflection of lower Liverpool prices as there was no crop news to explain the decline. Sugar prices held steady, but coffee futures sold down 13 to 19 points.

With the exception of Sterling, which registered a new peak of $4.88 1-4 for cables on London, speculative interest in the foreign exchange markets centered largely in the South American currencies with the Argentine, Uruguayan and Chilean rates of new high levels. Spanish pesetas broke more than 20 points to 16.45 cents.

CARD OF THANKS

For the many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us by our friends at the time of our late bereavement, especially to Palmer Bros. and the people of Fitchville, we extend our sincere thanks. These attentions helped us greatly in our great sorrow.
MRS. ROY BASHAW AND CHILDREN.
FRED BASHAW AND SON.

RESOLUTIONS

At a meeting of the directors of The Dime Savings Bank of Norwich, held Monday, December 5, 1927, the following minute was adopted:
The directors of The Dime Savings Bank wish to record their sincere sorrow at the loss of their associate, Frank H. Fullen, and to express their personal sympathy for his family.
Mr Fullen had been a member of the corporation for more than twenty-one years, and a director for nearly six years. From the time of his election he was deeply interested in the welfare of the bank, always doing everything in his power to promote its growth.
He was a loyal friend, a genial companion and a model citizen, and while he will be greatly missed, his example will continue to be a good influence with all who knew him.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS
JOHN JORDAN.

Now is the Time to Buy Farm Realty

"I think this is the time for farmers to buy farms and if they already own them, to hold farms," W. M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, said recently. "Agriculture has been in despair for a number of years, but has begun to come out of it. It is improving, and will continue to improve in coming years. Consequently it is an opportune moment for farmers, not speculators, to invest in farm real estate." This being the opinion of such reliable authority, I have a choice number of farms for sale. One in particular being a very desirable farm at a very low price if sold at once.
For all particulars inquire of
JOHN A. MORAN
Real Estate Broker

LEGAL NOTICES

ATTENTION SIDEWALKS

The ordinances of the city of Norwich impose a penalty of $5 upon any owner, occupant or person having the care of any land or buildings abutting the public highways of the city where there is a sidewalk, either graded or paved, who fails to have removed therefrom all snow, sleet or ice within three hours after it shall have been deposited, or within three hours after sunrise when the same has fallen in the night season, and also upon any such party who fails to have the snow on such sidewalk removed or properly sanded within two hours of its becoming so deposited during the daytime, for each successive period of four hours thereafter that it so remains after proper notice given.

This will give notice to all affected by the foregoing ordinances that the same will be strictly enforced and anyone failing to comply therewith prosecuted from this time forward.

POETRY

The Little Red Stamp

I'm the little red stamp with George Washington's picture,
I have the right of way;
And the mail train thunders from under the stars
And rattles into the day.
Now clear the rail for your Uncle Sam's mail;
Ye freight trains, stand aside!
Spur your iron-lunged horse to his fullest speed,
For the little red stamp would ride.
So vomit your flame on the startled night
And your smoke in the face of the day
For the little red stamp with George Washington's picture
Must have the right of way.

The engine plows, when I start on my ride,
Through the drifted banks of snow
But we hasten to climes where the fires are melt
And climes where the roses blow.
First the pines of Maine, then the Kansan plain,
Then whiffs from the Western bay,
Till I drop in the hands that have reached for me
A thousand leagues away.
Pull open the throttle and loose every brake,
And dash through the night and the day;
For the little red stamp with George Washington's picture
Must have the right of way.

I'm the little red stamp with George Washington's picture;
And I go wherever I may,
To any spot in George Washington's land,
And I go by the shortest way.
And the guns of wrath would clear my path,
A thousand guns at need,
Of the hands that should dare to block my course,
Or slacken my

NEW LONDON BOY'S BODY FORWARDED TO MEET FATHER'S BOAT AT BOSTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 5.—George R. Roubaud, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Roubaud, 102 Ocean avenue, died today at the Mitchell ward of Lawrence-Memorial hospital from scarlet fever. The boy's father is a chief machinist's mate at the submarine base, but at present he is at sea. The boat is expected to arrive in Boston late today. The body was forwarded to Boston tonight and there the funeral and burial will take place.

Mrs. Delbert Wict and infant daughter, of Uncasville; Mrs. Horace Learned, 587 Ocean avenue; James Ellingsworth, United States Coast Guard academy; Minnie Aldrich, Westerly; Mrs. Raymond Canto, Mystic; Mrs. Donald Grover and infant son, Hotel Lafayette and Mrs. Wheeler Way and infant daughter, Saybrook, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital were discharged today.

Eagle Realty company has sold to Alva and Mary Jane Wright three building lots on the former Burrows Homestead plot Bayonet street extension.

A tree, corner of Douglass and North Bank streets, was knocked over by the high wind early this morning, falling across North Bank street and stopping traffic. Several police officers with axes removed a number of the limbs so that vehicles could pass. Today city employes cut the tree into sections and carted it away.

The funeral of Mrs. Mabel P. Rainey, wife of Sullivan P. Rainey, of Waterford, was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at 48 Shapley street, the services being conducted by Rev. Arthur Wagner, pastor of the Huntington Street Baptist church. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Fred L. Martin, 44, died Sunday night at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, where he had been a patient for several weeks. He is survived by his wife and a son, James Martin, of this city. Mr. Martin resided at 73 Stewart street and was a chauffeur, having been employed for several years by Dr. Thomas W. Woodruff and attorney Henry E. Russell. Mr. Martin was born in Norwich.

Aurora C. Pennella, 8 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donato Pennella, 58 West Colt street, died this morning at the residence of her parents, 58 West Colt street.

Bolesław Habarek, of 30 Winthrop street, was in the police court this morning charged with breach of the peace and was fined $10 and costs. Habarek was arrested Saturday night when he went to the residence of his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Habarek and created a disturbance. Mrs Habarek would not allow her brother-in law to abuse her an dwhen he refused to abuse her and when he refused ed his arrest. Patrolmen Frank Philopena and Harry Watterson went to the house and finding Habarek there, locked him up.

Charles Pijeaux, colored, a former member of the United States Coast Guard, and Elizabeth Santos, also colored, were presented on charges of lascivious carriage. Pijeaux was fined $25 and costs and the young woman was committed to the State Farm for Women at Niantic. Pijeaux and the young woman were arrested last night by Patrolmen Clarence Wells and George Cockell upon evidence lodged with Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin. The couple several months ago cohabitated at a house on Tilley street and as a result of the intimacy the young woman is now in a condition where medical treatment is needed. Relatives of the young woman placed the facts in the case in the hands of the prosecutor and the arrests resulted.

WATER DEPT. EARNINGS SURPRISE TO CITY COUNCIL

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 5—The city council broke its record by holding a session of two and a half hours' duration this evening. The matter before it principally concerned the auditors' report for the year to October 1, 1927, which disclosed principally that the water department was earning sufficient money so that a large sum could be set aside for the retirement of outstanding bonds. This brought emarks from Mayor May and Councilor Streeter that the water department should reduce the cost of rents for water. The matter was argued for some time.

A change in the system of keeping track of unpaid taxes was suggested by the auditors and that will be given consideration, as will the subject of providing more clerical help for the office, that the work may be done as suggested. The report showed that the fire apparatus of the city is not insured and the positive statement was made that such property should be protected by insurance. The report was an excellent one and was so regarded by the council, as the work of White and Alexander. The report was received for record.

A claim of about $4,000 against the city for the death of Hector Sharon by accident was recognized by the city at the suggestion of the director of law Young Sharon was in the employ of the street department and was injured fatally last October. His mother put in a claim for compensation and an agreement was entered into that the city shall pay the young man's mother at the rate of $12 for a period of not less than 312 weeks, shall pay $200 for funeral expenses and $5 hospital expenses.

The whole amount will aggregate $4,000. This raised the question of the city carrying compensation insurance for all its employes. Such insurance was carried at one time, it was said but some of the persons covered by the insurance were later made exempt—that is the city did not continue to carry the compensation risk it was regarded as too expensive. Councilor Streeter suggested the resumption of the insurance.

WINTHROP TRUST COMPANY GETS CHECKING ACCOUNT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 5—Four New London banks submitted bids for deposit of money in checking accounts of the city of New London, opened this afternoon in the office of City Treasurer Herbert G. Huntley. The Winthrop Trust company was the highest bidder. The bidders and their respective bids were: Winthrop Trust company, 3.01 per cent; Union Bank & Trust company, 3 per cent; National Bank of Commerce, 2 1-2 per cent; New London City National bank, 2 1-2 per cent.

Louis Senecal, chief water tender, submarine base, was in the Groton town court this morning charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and was fined $100 and costs, the latter amounting to $16.50. Fifty dollars of the fine was ordered remitted. Edward Fuller, rhipfitter, also submarine, who was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, was not prosecuted on that count, but on a simple charge of intoxication. He pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty and fined $10 and costs, the latter amounting to $12.15. Senecal and Fuller were arrested Nov. 23 by State Police Officer Arthur Whitmarsh and Patrolman C. Fay Chapman, Groton. Senecal was asleep behind the steering wheel of the automobile and Fuller was seated with him. They were in court last Monday when part of the testimony was heard, the case being continued to today. When court convened today counsel for Senecal asked that the case be dismissed as the state had failed to show that Senecal was the driver of the automobile, which had been found beside the Military highway with lights on. The request was denied. Today Edward W. Cody, another sailor, was a witness for Senecal. He told that he was the driver of Senecal's auto and that he and Senecal found Fuller with the latter's auto wrecked and that the three sailors drove to a point near the railroad cut where the auto was stopped and Cody went to a garage to attempt to arrange for a wrecking outfit to tow the car of Fuller to a repair shop. He said that when he returned, the auto was missing. Officers Whitmash and Chapman testified tha at no time since the arrest of Senecal and Fuller was the name of a third person mentioned in connection with the case.

WESTERLY-MYSTIC SHEIKS NO SUCCESS IN THEIR ROLES

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Dec. 5.—A young man from Westerly and another from Mystic came to New London this evening and assumed the role of sheiks. They drove along Bank street and attempted flirtations with young girls. They were observed to make two trips for the purpose of obtaining female companionship and finally Patrolman Carlos Selesnitsky performing traffic duty, corner of State and Bank streets held the car up and questioned the driver. It was then revealed that the driver had borrowed the car from a patron of the garage where he is employed and he did not have registration. He was arrested and held for trial in the police court tomorrow for driving without a registration.

A. Putnam Burhol, of Gales Ferry, was charged with reckless driving. A nolle was ordered when Burhol agreed to pay the costs of the court, $11.25. Burhol was driving near the submarine base Dec. 2 and a marine, Henry Evnich, was performing traffic duty there. Burhol's auto was following a car driven by John Shelburn. After Shelburn had been given a signal to drive to the military reservation, Burhol attempted to pass Shelburn's auto and the act nearly caused an accident for Burhol was compelled to guide his car abruptly to one side in order to prevent a crash. Evnich made complaint to the state police and Burhol was arrested by State Police Officer Peter Busch.

Benjamin L. Jones, of Church street, this city, was charged with reckless driving, but the charge was nolled. Jones was driving his auto on the military highway Nov. 10 and the auto collided with a car owned by Lieut. William Fry, United States Marine corp. Jones was arrested by State Police Officer Russell Gavitt. In court there was no apparent desire of Fry to press the charge against Jones, so the nolle was ordered.

The case of Bernard F. Stuart, of Mystic, charged with reckless driving was continued to Dec. 19. Stuart's automobile and a car driven by Louis Barber, Westerly, collided at Poquonoc Bridge Nov. 26, both cars being damaged.

Charles A. Wheeler, 21 Chester street, was charged with driving with defective lights. He was arrested Nov. 21 by State Police Officer Donald Brown when the officer detected Wheeler driving with but one headlight. Wheeler testified that both lights were functioning when he left New London and that one of the connections had become loose on the trip from this city to Groton.

Another continuance in the case of Charles Eglise, Minor Lane, Waterford, was granted, this time for a week. Eglise is charged with driving with defective tail light.

Dwight Peck of Groton Long Point was charged with driving without a taillight. Peck said that he did not have knowledge that the light was not in proper working order. A nolle was ordered.

Carl Albano, 91 Truman street, was charged with driving an automobile truck that was equipped with defective brakes and lights. Albano was driving a National Guard truck and upon orders of a superior officer. The court contended that Albano was not the owner of the truck and that in driving it he was carrying out orders of his superior.

Max Bendett, 3 Grove street, Mystic, was charged with driving an automobile equipped with defective taillight. Prosecuting Attorney Warren Burroughs said that he was not in possession of testimony that would tend to show that Bendett had knowledge that the light was not in proper working order and asked for a nolle, which was ordered.

Herbert Maynard, 25, a machinist, residing at 12 Viets street, was arrested on a warrant this evening by Acting Sergeant Augustus Ray charged with non-support. He will be in the police court tomorrow. Mrs. Maynard caused her husband's arrest and in her statement to Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin, declared that her husband had not supported her nor their daughter, Priscilla, 18 months old, for several weeks.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the return of the driving license of Charlotte E. Keevil, 86 Washington street.

A fire of mysterious origin this afternoon threatened to cause much damage to the big wooden residence owned by the Frank B. Brandegee estate on Hempstead street. About 5:15 o'clock a neighbor observed clouds of smoke issuing from the cellar and first floor and realizing that the house is not tenanted, he sent in an alarm from Box 172, corner of Williams and Fremont streets. Chief Thomas Shipman and several companies responded. When the firemen reached the house, entrance was forced and the fire was located in the caller, in accumulation of rubbish. The blaze was quickly subdued with chemicals and damage of an inconsequential nature resulted.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater.

Skeets Gallagher, well known on the vaudeville stage for years, and recently the star of such musical comedies as "No, No Nanette" and "Lucky" makes a bid for recognition in pictures in the cast of "For the Love of Mike."

Ben Lyon, Ford Sterling, George Sidney, Hugh Cameron and Claudette Colbert are featured.

Other subjects on this bill include a two reel comedy feature, an educational subject entitled "Trip Through Toyland," Topic of the Day and the up-to-the-minute news reel.

Palace Theater.

Headlining on the current vaudeville program at the Palace theater the first three days is the Shuron D'Vries Revue, a dancing spectacle consisting of seven girls and one man, presenting a series of classical dance interpretations that have won for them great success, wherever they have played. Other acts on the bill include Roy and Stone in an hilarious comedy skit presented for laughing purposes only. Wardell and LaCoste have an amusing comedy playlet called, "Once But Not Twice." Nadda Norraine, a clever songster entertains with her singing in a delightful manner. Tarreila and Clark conclude the program with a novelty wire presentation.

Venice with its romantic settings, dark moonlight nights, gondolas, strumming guitars and youthful serenaders form the background of Florence Vidor's latest picture, "Honeymoon Hate" which is now being shown on the Palace theater screen. The story opens with Miss Vidor as the daughter of a millionaire American steel magnate. She is used to having her own way in everything and is very much surprised when she meets a charming young prince who is determined to have things his way. In order to tame and humiliate the prince, she marries him and then the real battle commences. The prince is determined and so is the heiress. However everything turns out for the best and the picture ends with all concerned, satisfied.

Motion Picture, The Greater Glory

Through an error the true story motion picture, The Greater Glory, was advertised in the Monday editions of the Bulletin and Record for Tuesday evening. The picture was shown Sunday evening in Pulaski hall before a fair sized audience, and the advertisement for the picture should have appeared in the papers Saturday.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theater.

A daring treatise on the marriage problem, stripping the guilt from society's gold, tearing the sham and hypocrisy from convention, ripping, slashing, cutting straight to the heart of a great evil. This is If Marriage Fails, now showing at the Strand. A different sort of a picture that will be remembered for a long long time. Jacqueline Logan and Olive Brook have the leading roles.

Plain Jane is the second picture of the series we are showing here each Monday and Tuesday night. Each picture is a complete story. We also show a two reel comedy that is a scream.

The New Idea of Cancer

Many Cases Can Be Cured If Reported Promptly

BULLETIN No. 7

HOME REMEDIES IN CANCER.

One of the reasons why cancer is so frequently fatal lies in the fact that those who are attacked are at first inclined to temporize with it.

Some try home remedies, others put their faith in the advice of persons who know little or nothing about this subject. It is surprising to see how many persons are ready to stake their lives upon the prescriptions of old women, Indians, quack doctors and gypsies.

A typical home remedy reposed in the form of a written recipe in the back of a family cook book for several generations. It consisted of white arsenic and a number of herbs which were without medicinal properties. It was the arsenic which produced the effect, and the effect was not always beneficial, by any means. Yet the older it grew, the browner and more tattered the paper became, the more valuable the recipe was held to be. At best, it could be used only for external cancerts. This fact applies to nearly all home remedies, and external cancers constitute only three per cent. of all the fatal cases of this disease. If the public could but know the pain, disfigurement and misery produced by so-called home remedies for cancer, the existing superstition in favor of them would disappear.

The testimony which people offer to prove that cancers have been cured by home remedies and the recipes of old Indians and gypsies is utterly unreliable. Often the condition treated was not cancer at all.

Coffee and "Punkins"

A New England lady said, a good many years ago, "It takes more than a punkin to make a good punkin pie." True enough—it takes sugar, milk, flour, seasoning. But most of all—how to use them.

And it takes more than coffee beans to make a good coffee. It takes skilful knowledge and art to blend them—the art so perfectly and deliciously expressed in YUBAN.

How to Make Yuban

Use a rounded tablespoonful of ground YUBAN to each cup of fresh water, briskly boiling. Pour the water into the percolator, then place coffee in the filter and let water percolate over the coffee five to ten minutes, depending on the temperature of heat and strength desired.

GREENEVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marthers of 462 Boswell avenue celebrated their 32nd wedding anniversary by having a dinner party with their children and their families present. They were married Dec. 4, 1895, at East Lyme by Rev. H. E. Martin. Those present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marthers and son, Charles, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Marthers and son, Robert, Mrs. Edward Wilkinson and daughters, Norma and Arline of Norwich Town.

John McClafferty has returned to Southbridge, Mass., after spending the week end at his home on Hickory street.

Earnest White has returned to South Manchester after spending the week end at his home on Convent avenue.

The Greeneville Tigers closed their season in football Sunday by playing the fast Oxford Hose of New London and were defeated by 39 to 0.

Mary Mahoney has returned to the Baltic academy after spending a few days at the home of her father, William Mahoney of Convent avenue.

The children in the village were treated to their first sliding of this year Monday. Boswell avenue was like a sleet of ice, which made sliding perfect for the kiddies. Street Commissioner John Donovan had one of his big snow plows at work early Monday morning scrapping North Main street, which was reported dangerous early in the morning.

The masses Monday morning at St. Mary's Memorial church were at 5 and 7 o'clock and holy communion was given at 8 o'clock, hundreds of communicants being found at the altar railing. The visitations were quite numerous Monday morning and evening. The 5 o'clock mass Monday morning was said by Rev. Father Coholan and the 7 o'clock mass by Rev. Father Keefe, who administered the sacrament to those prepared. The church remained open for visitation until Tuesday morning when the devotions close after the 8 o'clock mass. The devotion covers the period in which the Saviour's body was taken down from the cross and placed in the tomb.

The devotion is held but once a year in each parish church of the diocese; for St. Mary's parish the second Sunday of Advent.

OBITUARY

Francis X. Marchesseault

The life of Francis X. Marchesseault came to a peaceful end at his home at 94 Prospect street Monday morning at 11:10 o'clock after an illness of three months. He was the son of Francis X and Mary A. Marchesseault and was born in Canada, July 4, 1842. He received his education in Canada and came to this country when a young man. In 1865 he was united in marriage at Baltic to Josephine Curtier, who died three years ago. He was a blacksmith by trade and worked 30 years at the Shetucket mills. Mr. Marchesseault was a member of St. Mary's parish, also belonged to the Holy Name society of the church. He was the father of sixteen children, ten of whom are living; six sons and four daughters, Frank of Baltic, Joseph E. and John B. of Norwich, Dr. Frederick of Baltimore, Henry of Springfield and Clarence Marchesseault of Indianapolis, Mrs. Jeremiah F. Gleason of Perth Amboy, N. J., Mrs. Joseph R. Portelance, Mrs. William Evans and Miss Ida Marchesseault of Norwich. There are twenty-nine grandchildren, Mrs. Harold T. Desmond, Mrs. Edward Riordan, Arthur, Joseph R., Jr., Raymond, Teresa Portelance of Norwich, Mrs. John Leclaire of Jewett City, Joseph Jr., Anna May, Courtney and Paul Marchesseault of Norwich, John Jr., Frank, David, Catherine and Donald Marchesseault, Mrs. Edward Woodmansee, Mrs. Norman Soules, Wilfred Marchesseault and Eva Marchesseault, Francis, Joseph, William Gleason of Perth Amboy, Francis and Robert Marchesseault of Springfield and William and Robert Evans of Norwich; also four great-grandchildren.

Mr. Marchesseault will be greatly missed by his friends in the community, where he was well and favorably known and always ready to serve and aid anyone in trouble. He was a kind and loving father and his place in the family will be deeply missed by the children.

Forty hours devotion opened at St. Mary's Memorial church Sunday morning at the high mass at 10:30 o'cloc. The blessed Sacrament was exposed for public adoration during the afternoon and evening until 9:30. Several hundred people received holy communion at the 7:30 and 9 o'clock masses and during the day and evening, the church was crowded with reverent visitors. The sanctuary and altar were beautifully decorated by the Sisters of Mercy. Visiting priests assisted the local clergy in hearing confessions Sunday and Monday afternoons and evenings. For the accommodation of the hundreds who will receive holy communion early masses were said on Monday and will be held Tuesday at 5 for the people who have to get to their work early; 7 o'clock for the people who work in stores, and 8 o'clock for the older people. Steady streams of people were seen all Sunday afternoon and evening making their regular visits which are required at the forty hours of devotion. Members of different societies of the church kept vigil for an hour.

WOULD NEED EXTRA APPROPRIATION TO PROVIDE SPECIAL TRAFFIC OFFICERS

Following a meeting of the board of police commissioners Monday evening announcement was made that an extra appropriation will be necessary to provide for a special traffic officer whose sole duties would be the enforcement of the local traffic rules. At the present time the police department has no available men to assign to such special duty, and the police department's appropriation is not sufficient to allow for the appointment of an additional regular patrolman.

The commissioners met for the purpose of considering a communication from the City Attorney Lee Roy Robbins suggesting that a patrolman be detailed as a special traffic officer to enforce the local regulations. While fully in accord with Mr. Robbins' suggestion, the police commissioners are not able at this time, to detail an officer for this special duty. As the holiday season is at hand, the commissioners do not think it advisable to transfer any of the regular officers from their beats to special duty. However, the police department, the commissioners announced, will endeavor to enforce the regulations to the best of their ability.

It was pointed out that if the citizens of the city authorize a sufficient appropriation, the police commissioners will be only too glad to provide a special traffic law enforcement officer.

PETITIONS ACTED ON BY COMMON COUNCIL

At the regular monthly meeting of the court of common council Monday evening William H. Aldrich was appointed city weigher. Action on petitions and reports took up the greater part of the half hour session. The meeting was called to order at 8:20 o'clock by His Honor, Mayor Milo R. Waters and in the absence of City Clerk Weston C. Pullen, Corporation Counsel William H. Shields, Jr., kept the minutes of the meeting. Petitions were received and acted on as follows:

From Irene Gatrousis, et al., for suitable electric lights on Golden street extension; referred to the police commissioners with power.

From Wolf Blinderman, et al., for an electric light opposite his house on Thames street; referred to the police commissioners with power.

From George Brend, et al., for a bug light on Corning road; referred to the police commissioners with power.

From Charles W. Burton, for a bug light on Boswell avenue, opposite Burton's court; referred to the police commissioners with power.

The monthly reports of the street department and city treasurer were received and accepted.

The police commissioners reported that they had granted the following petitions for electric lights. Petition of Harriet Tubbs for a light on Boswell avenue; petition of James Ibbison for a bug light on Whittington avenue; petition of Edward Connelly to change a bug light to an arch light on Central avenue; petition of Frank Blinderman for an arc light and a bug light on Grant's court.

The council accepted an invitation from the Norwich Poultry and Pet Stock association, Inc., to attend the association's fourth annual poultry show.

William H. Aldrich was appointed city weigher on a ballot vote, after which Mayor Waters called attention to the dilapidated condition of the electric light on the fountain, just north of Chelsea Parade stating that it is not necessary and suggesting that it be removed. The council voted to request the gas and electric department to remove the light.

The council voted the following tax refunds: to Stanislaw Prezjkop, $12.25, paid in error; to Clarence G. Thompson, $28.75, (soldier exempt).

Two amendments to the traffic rules were proposed, and the council named the evening of January 2nd, as the date for a hearing. The proposed amendments are to Section 28 and Section 36 of the traffic ordinances, as follows:

Section 28—No person shall park any vehicle on that portion of the east side of Broadway that is directly in front of the real estate owned by the Dime Savings Bank of Norwich for a longer period than five minutes or on that portion of the east side of Broadway from Main to Bath street which is not in front of the real estate of the Dime Savings Bank of Norwich for a longer period than 40 minutes.

Section 36—No person shall park any vehicle on either side of Thames street southerly of Thames square for a distance of one hundred feet and no person shall park any vehicle on the easterly side of West Thames street from the city line northerly to a point on said easterly side of West Thames street two hundred and ten feet southerly of the junction of the southerly line of Shipping street and the easterly line of West Thames street.

Department bills were approved as follows: Public works, $12,824.73; Deep River reservoir, $10,271.32; fire dept., $6,982.53; water dept., $4,457.96; police dept., $6,222.65; street lighting, $3,894.72; gas and electric dept., $70,334.99; finance dept., $34,494.99; park dept., $1,051.75; cemetery dept., $840.65; recreation commission, $4,507.16. The meeting adjourned about 8:45 o'clock.

STREET DEPARTMENT CLEARS SNOW FROM THE STREETS

Three ploughs and a gang of men in the employ of the street department have practically cleared the city streets of the snow and sleet that fell Sunday and Sunday night. All the main streets and many of the side streets had been cleared up at an early hour this (Tuesday) morning. The ploughs were put to work at 3.30 o'clock Monday morning and were kept going throughout the day and all night.

Monday and Monday night Main street from Shetucket to Market, part of Franklin street, Franklin square, Bath street, lower Broadway, Shetucket street were cleared of ice and snow which was carted away and disposed of through the manhole in Franklin square or thrown over Preston bridge into the river. The night gang will be kept at work until 7 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning and the day gang, it is expected will be practically through work clearing the streets by noon today.

The extra work owing to the storm has delayed the collection of ashes and garbage. Monday's and Tuesday's routes will be covered Wednesday by doubling up and Wednesday's route will be covered Thursday, and Thursday's and Friday's routes will be covered Friday by doubling up, that is, provided the weather man does not deluge the streets with another fall of snow before the end of the week. Street Commissioner John C. Donovan was personally in charge of the day and night gangs.

BAR MENTAL DEFECTIVES FROM OPERATING AUTOMOBILES

A state-wide system to provide a check-up on all mental defectives as a bar to their receiving licenses to drive automobiles is advocated by Commissioner Robbins B. Stoeckel in an article in the December bulletin of the state motor vehicle department. He believes that it could go into effect at once, when it concerns present or former inmates of institutions for defectives, and that drug takers should be included in the list.

"It would seem," his article says, "that mental defectives should be absolutely and finally ruled out wherever the condition is ascertainable. In the near future it will be necessary, in order to protect the public, that closer cooperation be established and maintained between all officials having mental defectives in charge and those officers who have charge of motor vehicle operators.

"There might be a definite method devised whereby every member of the medical profession had to report the names and addresses and general condition of defectives to a central state authority which, without publicity, could give the information to the motor vehicle licensing authorities who could then refuse a motor vehicle operator's license."

There would always be plenty of latitude in such a procedure, the article says and there would be no injustice, curtailment of liberty, or infringement on rights of citizenship. "Any person who is honestly and fairly cured, and who has regained his mind faculties and reason and can establish that such is the case, can thereupon be licensed."

Commissioner Stoeckel's article is the third of a series on the general subject of "Faulty Mind Actions as Fundamental Causes of Accidents." Theories advanced on accident causation in this series have occasioned much comment, editorials and letters reaching the department indicating that the interest is nation-wide.

Temper, timidity, mental reactions, the more common mental defects and the party they play as contributors to the increasing number of motor vehicle accidents are discussed in the current article. A succeeding article will discuss "Automobile Criminals."

Bad temper, the commissioner says, occasions a large number of breaches of traffic rules and makes for a fairly good sprinkling of accidents, either by reason or having his temper get the best of him, or through disgust or annoyance, whether justified or not. When any one of those conditions exist that man is not a safe driver for the time being, if he allows them to become extreme enough so as to make his attention to his driving less accurate and careful."

The discussion of timidity is directed to women especially, the article setting it forth as more characteristic of them than of men. The commissioner does not find it synonymous with fear, as applied to driving in traffic, but rather "undue apprehension" or a "daytime nightmare" resulting from too much pessimistic foresight.

He said that when timidity is of the kind constructed by the imagination into fancied trouble which might occur because of the actions of other drivers in traffic it can be overcome. "The mind can be kept strictly to its task and when reason directs certain operation it is safe to go ahead with it in the full expectation that every one else will reasonably do his part. There is apparently no remedy for extreme cases so the only suggestion which can be made is that any person who had any doubt as to his or her ability to keep cool should not drive but ought to be riding with another operator or traveling by other means of transportation than a motor vehicle."

The solution of the problems brought about by the majority of "mental slips or lapses" while driving a car lies with the individual, says Commissioner Stoeckel in concluding his article. "Self-government and self-discipline are the sole forces which can be used by an individual to make himself more fit and more able from day to day. It looks like an ideal and an accomplishment, so far distant and so altruistic as possibly never to be attained. But in the experience of the past there is nothing in the subject of self-government which cannot be expected to come to pass.

"In the meantime, it is the duty of each man to assure himself that he is able to operate, and then if it be proven that he is mistaken, he must expect to be classed with those persons who, for one reason or another, not by any means shameful, ought not to have an operator's license to participate in traffic."

ABSOLUTE NOLLE ON CHARGE OF BURGLARY

An absolute nolle was ordered entered in the case of Jan Seretny of 120 Otrobando avenue by Judge Arthur F. Libby at the Monday morning session of the city court. Seretny was charged with theft. He is an employe of the United States Finishing company and was arrested in the plant Sunday morning at 3 o'clock by Officers Quinn and Sullivan on complaint of the watchman.

In court it was explained that Seretny, an old employe of the company in charge of one of the departments had been given permission to sleep there. Sunday he was going to his room and the watchman spotted him. Not knowing who he was the watchman summoned the police and a search was started. Seretny became frightened and hid under one of the machines in the beetle room with a cloth pulled over him.

Officials of the company vouched for the man's reliability and his discharge was ordered.

ARMY ENGINEERS ASK $770,000 FOR THE THAMES

New London harbor is in sufficiently good condition to meet all requirements of its present commerce, Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, declares in his annual report submitted to congress Monday.

Additional funds of $120,000 for the maintenance and improvement of the harbor project in New London harbor will be needed for its completion in the future, Major Gen Jadwin said. There were no operations during the present fiscal year, the only expenditure being $57.37 for administration, charged to maintenance.

The present project, provided for in several acts of congress, the latest of which was passed in 1916, calls for an entrance channel 600 feet wide, 33 feet deep and about three and one-half miles long from Long Island Sound to the natural deep water in the upper harbor; a channel 400 or more feet in width, 23 feet deep and about 6,000 feet long skirting the water front of the city; and for dredging Shaw's cove to a depth of 15 feet. The estimated cost of the new work, revised in 1921, is $587,000, exclusive of amounts expended under previous projects.

Deep-Draft Traffic Increased

The state of Connecticut, in cooperation with the federal government has completed at an expense of approximately $1,000,000, the essential portions of its terminal development in New London harbor, consisting of a pier 1,000 by 200 feet in size, provided with approach channels and vessel berths, affording depths of 35 feet at low tide, the report says. The chief army engineer's report shows that the effect of the improvement has been to materially reduce rates on water borne freight, and has resulted in an increased use of the harbor by deep-draft, ocean-going vessels.

The present project for harbor improvement is about 60 per cent. completed, Major. Gen. Jadwin's report states. The channels along the water front and in Shaw's cove were completed in 1913. The entrance channel is about 83 per cent. completed. To complete the project requires the further deepening of the entrance channel. Expenditures under the present project have been $467,457.35 for the new work and $3,694 for maintenance, a total of $476,151.83.

Thames River Work

Although there were no operations by the army engineers on the Thames river project this fiscal year, the government report, shows that the development is about 48 per cent. completed. The project calls for a channel 200 feet wide and 20 feet deep from New London to Allyn's Point; thence of the same width and 18 feet deep to Norwich; the construction of five training walls along the course of the river, and the removal of obstructions in the Shetucket river at Norwich. The estimated cost of new work, revised in 1927, was $649,200, exclusive of amounts expended under previous projects. To complete the project required the deepening of the 18-foot channel above Allyn's Point.

Connecticut Nearly Finished

Major Gen. Jadwin's report shows that the Connecticut river project is approximately 93 per cent. completed. During the fiscal year the channels, through the river bars were kept open by constant dredging and 51,425 cubic feet of earth was removed from 17,000 feet of channel from Long Island Sound to Hartford, at a total cost of $47,467.88. No work is being done on the Connecticut river above Hartford.

Mystic Conditions Good

The Mystic river project, except for slight deficiencies in width above the highway bridge at Mystic, was completed in 1913. No additional work is proposed and the channels are reported to be in good condition to meet present commerce.

A total of $1,001,050 is sought for improvement and maintenance work on Connecticut waterways and harbors during the coming fiscal year, which will begin next July 1. The chief of engineers recommends congressional appropriations of $350,000 for completing and $300,000 for new work in the Thames river project; $64,300 for completion of the Pawcatuck river project; $120,000 for completion of the New London project; $30,000 for the maintenance of the Connecticut river development below Hartford; $1,400 for the completion of the Milford project, and $41,150 for the completion of the Housatonic river project.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Briggs are in New York for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Parker have returned from Poughkeepsie.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE PRACTICALLY ELIMINATES HIMSELF FROM THE PRESIDENTIAL SITUATION IN 1928

Mr. Coolidge Amplifying His "I Do Not Choose" Statement, Informed the Republican National Committee That He Hoped His Decision Would Be Respected—Advises His Party to Continue the Serious Task of Selecting Another Candidate From Among the Numbers of Distinguished Men Available—Mr. Coolidge Also Told of the Aims of the Administration and Plans For the Future, With Code of Political Principles.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—President Coolidge informed the republican party and country today that he regards himself as "eliminated" from the presidential campaign of 1928.

He declared his "decision" would be respected, and advised his party to set itself seriously to the task of "selecting another candidate."

The announcement was made in a speech delivered by the president to members of the republican national committee, who called on him at the White house. The immediate effect was to electrify a meeting which had been expected only to produce a polite exchange of generalities.

Mr. Coolidge's words fell with particular force upon those of his friends who have maintained that despite his "I do not choose to run" statement, he had by no means eliminated himself and would be "drafted" in 1928. There remained some mumbling of speculation, but for the most part friends and opponents alike received the pronouncemento in silence.

It took but a few words for the president to dispose of his intentions toward a renomination. He did it in these six sentences:

"This is naturally the time to be planning for the future. The party will soon place in nomination its candidate to succeed me.

"To give time for mature deliberation I stated to the country on August 2 that I did not choose to run for president in 1928. My statement stands. No one should be led to suppose that I have modified it. My decision will be respected.

"After I had been eliminated the party began, and should vigorously continue, the serious task of selecting another candidate from among the numbers of distinguished men available."

Only a few of the committeemen, who are in Washington to select next year's convention city, had any inkling that such a declaration was coming. It had been generally understood among them that they might expect from the president no elaboration of the statement of August 2, but would listen only to a general discussion of party issues.

Such a discussion, prepared in advance, was delivered by the chief executive, and as he went ahead defining some of the party issues the impression seemed to grow among some of his listeners that he might be outlining a platform upon which he could stand in 1928.

Then, at the very end of the speech, he turned suddenly from general issues to pronounce the words that reaffirmed and elaborated what he said in August about his own intentions.

It was not disclosed whether Mr. Coolidge's close friend, Chairman Butler of the republican committee, was in on the secret of what was to be said. On several occasions Mr. Butler has been among those who have predicted an irresistible "draft Coolidge" movement.

Not only does the president's new declaration come at the moment his party leaders are assembled in the capital to make their first plans for 1928, but it finds congress just getting under way for a session wherein each of the major parties hopes to write a record to put before the voters in the next campaign.

Only today the president's annual message, outlining a legislative program, was placed before the new senate and house. Doubtless politics will furnish much of the background for the session, and some of Mr. Coolidge's friends think he may have decided that his own part in the legislative developments of the next few months would be less open to partisan attack if it were understood now that he regards himself as eliminated from the field of candidates.

However, the president's words may be interpreted by those who thus far have persisted in advocating his renomination, it seems certain that one effect will be to stimulate activity on behalf of those who have been brought forward to succeed him.

Already campaigns of considerable proportions are under way for Secretary Hoover, Frank O. Lowden, and others. Senator Curtis, of Kansas, has definitely announced his candidacy, and another group, including Vice President Dawes, Speaker Longworth, Senator Willis, of Ohio, and Senator Watson, of Indiana, has been actively talked of among the party leaders.

The announcement today was the first public pronouncement to be made on the subject by Mr. Coolidge since he issued his "I do not choose" statement on Aug 2 from his vacation offices at Rapid City, S. D., although recently the White house did take steps to indicate its displeasure at the circulation of petitions in New England calling on the president to stand for another term.

Political Policies.

Speaking in the east room of the White house, Mr. Coolidge reiterated his belief in a high protective tariff, freedom of private interests from government interference in the operation of industry, agriculture and business pursuits in general, and the necessity of economy and reduction of the national debt.

"We wish our banking institutions to be strong and profitable," he added, "in order that they may serve the needs of the nation. We believe they should assist other people in supplying their credit requirements. We do not, however, think this should be done by sacrificing any other desirable domestic interest. We could not look with favor on putting in jeopardy our industry, or our agriculture, to serve the needs of foreign debtors. Here again we must maintain an even balance, while looking first to the welfare of our own people."

Building up of the American Navy, the president said, was imperative but in this endeavor no one need see a threat of aggression. While he believed this country is committed to the policy of naval armament limitation, he declared that "unless I misread the convictions of my countrymen, we are likewise determined to enter no covenant that assigns to the United States any secondary place among the naval powers of the world."

Mr. Coolidge declared that agriculture as a whole is in better circumstances than some divisions of industry.

"If we do permit selfishness to prevail," he added, "if we do not all undertake to make all the money there is in the country in one year, but are willing to proceed with moderation, intent on fair dealing, our economic prosperity should go on indefinitely."

HOW SOLONS REGARD THE COOLIDGE STEATEMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—While with a single exception—Fess of Ohio—congressional leaders construed President Coolidge's amplication of his Rapid City announcement as definitely eliminating him from the 1928 republican presidential situation, some members of the republican national committee had a different view.

William M. Butler, chairman of the national committee, and close personal friend of the president, repeatedly refused to make any comment, but Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, of Kentucky, and Charles D. Hilles, of New York, vice chairmen of the national committee, were outspoken.

"I don't think it adds much to what he said last August," Hilles declared. "What he said then was intended to be a definite declination. He has reaffirmed that declination. I am convinced that he is absolutely sincere."

Senator Curtis of Kansas, the only avowed candidate for the republican presidential nomination; Watson, of Indiana, and a number of others whose names have been mentioned in connection with the nomination, took the same view as Hilles.

"I am not surprised at all by the president's statement," Curtis said. "It bears out the conclusions that I already had reached that he would not be a candidate in 1928."

Vice President Dawes said:

"I had accepted the statement of President Coolidge at Rapid City as final and I am not surprised at the reiteration of his decision."

Senator Fess said the president's statement "simply means that he does not care to run."

"He does not say that he will not accept the nomination if it is offered him by a convention deadlock.

"He has not said like McKinley did: 'I will not be a candidate and will not accept if nominated.'

"I still hold that if the convention should get in a deadlock he will accept the nomination."

Besieged as they were by newspapermen as they emerged from the white house, some of the national committee members were voluable while others like Butler were silent. Those members who have always insisted that Mr. Coolidge was out of the race were quick to say "I told you so" and many others replied quickly: "He is out."

HOUSE DEFICIENCY BILL CARRIES TOTAL OF $198,876,264

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—With the president's message out of the way, the house, at another short session today, went through the preliminaries which usually precede the launching of big and important business.

Three major bills, the $236,000,000 tax reduction measure, the first deficiency appropriation bill carying nearly $200,000,000 and the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam proposal, were presented to the body together with a score or more of federal building and bridge measures.

In the senate, nearly 50 minor pension and claims bills were introduced.

The deficiency bill provided a total of $198,876,264, which was $6,662,593 les than the budget estimates, but $63,000,000 more than the items included in the two bills that failed last session.

Among the larger provisions were $43,000,000 for tax refunds, $46,000,000 for army and navy pensions, $19,400,000 for veterans' compensation, and $7,000,000 for emergency flood control on the Mississippi. A reappropriation of $35,600,000 from unexpended balances for former service men also was provided.

COPELAND TO SUPPORT THE M'NARY-HAUGEN BILL

CHICAGO, Dec. 6—(AP)—The McNary-Haugen farm relief bill may be economically unsound, but it is no more so than the protective tariff system or other price-fixing methods used in America, in the opinion of Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York.

"I feel that the farmers must be given an equal chance in the economic world and I am going to support this measure," he told members of the American farm bureau at their ninth annual meeting here today.

"In my judgment, it will give the farmer his fair share in the national prosperity. When the country thrives he will thrive. He will be on the same plane as every other producing citizen."

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

LONDON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The [illegible] of Gosford was granted a [illegible] against her husband, the [illegible] Gosford, in Divorce court.

LONDON, Dec. [illegible]—(AP)—Premier Baldwin was inreceptive to a suggestions of labor members of the house of commons that the house should be afforded an opportunity to discuss Russian proposals for complete disarmament.

ROME, Dec. 6—(AP)—Scandal news from American divorce courts and filmdom menaces not only fascist youth, but the whole structure of fascist ethics, declares the newspaper Il Tevere in a violent first page editorial. If the flood of scandal news continues, says the paper, "we shall have made a port of New Yorkish cesspool out of Italy, and an ignible reservoir of shameless women and spineless men. We fear that Italian taste, mentality and morals are in peril."

SINCLAIR AND BURNS MOTIONS OVERRULED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, wealthy oil operator and his associates on trial before Justice Frederick Siddons, on criminal contempt charges must show by testimony that they are not guilty if they wish to escape punishment.

Justice Siddons late today overruled without prejudice the motions made by Sinclair, his assistants, Henry Mason Day and Sheldon Clark and by William J. Burns, his son Sherman, and C. L. Veitsch, of the Burns Detective agency, to dismiss the charges. The justice, in whose court the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy charges ended in a mistrial out of which grew the contempt proceedings declared he was concerned and believed the entire country was concerned with whether a jury in a United States court could be shadowed by detectives.

The court at one point interrupted District Attorney Gordon to inquire whether he believed any defendant in a criminal case had the right to provide intensive surveillance of a jury where there was no suspicion that the jurors would act improperly. He stressed this point frequently during the arguments for dismissal advanced by counsel for the respondents.

Sinclair, Burns and their associates were charged by the government with using Burns detectives to shadow the oil jury with the intent to "spy upon, to bribe, intimidate and influence" the jurors. In their answers to the charges Sinclair and Day admitted that they had employed Burns detectives to shadow the jury but contended that they had the right to do this and contended that such surveillance was lawful.

NEW ANGLE IN THE REMUS PROSECUTION

CINCINNATI, Dec. 6—(AP)—George Remus as a wife slayer to prevent revelation of hidden assets the federal government might claim to meet more than $10,000,000 in tax claims rather than as a demented love killer was the picture the prosecution sought to sketch in his murder trial today. George Connors, once "Lieutenant in chief" of the former "king of bootleggers" was undergoing his third day of cross examination when the state reached the high point of its case.

"Mrs. Remus before she was going into the divorce court had been in communication with the internal revenue commission giving information as to holdings of you with Remus and Blanche Watson, hadn't she?" asked Walter K. Sibbald, assistant prosecutor.

Connors affirmed that he knew Mrs. Remus had been in communication with the commissioner, but asserted with heat that Remus "hasn't got a dollar" and that neither he nor Miss Watson had secreted Remus' assets."

"You knew Remus did want to get possession of papers Mrs. Remus had because he did not want her to reveal his property holdings for the government's knowledge for taxation, didn't you?" pursued Sibbald.

Connors asserted he knew Remus wished to get possession of the papers in order to use them against Mrs. Remus and Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., in a Mann act case and to recover property he alleged the two had taken and hidden.

Connors has termed himself secretary to Remus for the last two years. Miss Watson is another Remus secretary.

Dodge is a former department of justice agent who obtained the conviction which wrecked Remus' rum ring and sent him to prison. In his plea of transitory maniacal insanity Remus set up that he was driven to madness by an association his wife and Dodge formed after his incarceration.

READY FOR SUMMATIONS IN LILLIENDAHL CASE

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Dec. 6—(AP)—The testimony on which Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl and her friendly codefendant, Willis Beach, will stand convicted of the murder of the woman's husband or else go free was completed before court adjourned tonight.

The seven men and five women of the jury tomorrow will hear the summations of the opposing counsel and the judge's charge before the case is handed to them to find the solution of justice.

That both defendants have doubles was developed today just before the last witness was heard. Early in the trial A. J. Rider, "Cranberry king" was produced as the double of Willis Beach, the defendant accused of the actual shooting of Dr. A. William Lilliendahl.

Today a woman was put on the stand to testify that Alice Longley, a nurse, was the "image" of Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl, widow of the doctor who is charged with plotting his murder with Beach.

WEST THOMPSON WEAVER KILLED BY ELECTRIC TRAIN

MONSON, Mass., Dec. 6 (AP)—Aimee Beiasle, 21, a weaver whose home is in West Thompson, Conn., was instantly killed today by an electric train on the Central Vermont railroad. He attempted to cross the tracks in front of the train when on his way home from work and was hit. He had been here only two days.

Vare-Smith Debate Opened in Senate

Regular Republicans Are Seeking to Placate the Five Independents.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Congress moved into high gear today after listening to the reading of the annual message of President Coolidge without waiting to complete the formalities of actual organization, a problem still worrying the republican majority in the senate because of factional strife.

The senate launched eagerly into the long awaited contest over the right of Frank L. Smith of Illinois, and William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, both republicans, to occupy seats to which they were elected while the house received the $236,000,000 tax reduction bill prepared by its ways and means committee along with another mass of new measures, including the $198,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill.

First attention was given in both chambers to the reading of the president's message which was received by the senate in silence, followed by some caustic comment from southern senators and with frequent burst of applause by the more demonstrative house.

While the clerks in the senate and house were reading his lengthy message, the president sent to the senate for approval most of the great number of recess appointments he had made during the congressional recess. The batch of nominations included those of numerous federal circuit and district judges, the new ambassadors to Mexico, Cuba and Turkey, Dwight Morrow, Noble B. Judah and Joseph Grew, respectively; the new assistant secretaries named in the state, treasury and commerce departments along with many other positions.

The list, however, did not include the nomination of W. S. Hill, of South Dakota, who was given a recess appointment as a member of the shipping board, nor that of W. J. Tilson, a brother of the republican leader in the house, who was given a recess appointment and his confirmation had been blocked in the senate.

In the senate, Norris, republican, Nebraska, opened the Smith-Vare debate before a crowded chamber. Both Smith and Vare were present. Mr. Norris demanded approval of his resolutions to deny the oath to both men without further hearing. Senator Deneen, republican of Illinois, spokesman for Smith, followed and the debate was then carried over until tomorrow.

Meanwhile, senate organization was delayed again while republican regulars sought to iron out difficulties with the five independents from the west who hold the margin of the slim majority of the party in the organization fight with democrats.

Senator Curtis, the republican leader, put before a conference of senate republicans the proposals of the independents for assurances from the party for early votes on a farm bill similar to the vetoed McNary-Haugen measure on a proposal to limit jurisdiction of the court in issuing injunction and on a resolution for an inquiry into the administration's policy in Latin-America.

After some pointed remarks by some of the old guard about these demands the conference instructed Curtis to confer with the group which includes Senators Nye and Frazier of North Dakota; LaFollette and Blaine, of Wisconsin, republicans; and Shiustead, farmer-labor, if Minnesota. Mr. Curtis previously had given assurance to the independents that as leader of the party in the senate he would agree to their proposals.

Confidence was expressed tonight, however, that the situation had reached a point virtually assuring republicans of the majority necessary to re-elect Senator Moses of New Hampshire, president pro tempore; Edward P. Thayer, of Indiana, secretary, and David S. Barry, of Rhode Island, sergeant at arms, and to give them control of the senate committees.

Meanwhile, the row over the Smith-Vare case promises to hold the attention of the senate for many days and the house is ready to plunge along on the heavy course marked out by its leaders calling for immediate action on tax reduction and appropriation bills.

LEFKOWITZ SENTENCED TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(AP)—Joseph Lefkowitz, who plotted the death of 20-year old Benjamin Goldstein to collect $70,000 insurance, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of Jan. 9. Irving Rubinzahl, an accomplish was sentenced to prison for 20 years to life.

Goldstein drowned in Gravesend bay last August after Rubinzahl had pushed him from a rowboat and left him to die. The victim and Lefkowitz, it was established, had planned to fake Goldstein's death and split his insurance. The plan culminated in Goldstein's murder.

Harry Greenberg, who was in the boat when Goldstein was pushed out, was acquitted in a joint trial with Lefkowitz. Rubinzahl turned state's evidence and was permitted to plead guilty to second degree murder.

Counsel for the family of the murdered youth announced today that he would seek to collect Goldstein's insurance for his parents.

MUSIC TEACHER COMMITTED SUICIDE IN MIDDLETOWN

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Dec. 5—(AP)—Peter W. Hancock, 32, a music teacher shot himself through the head tonight and died almost instantly Hancock came here from New Britain recently with Mrs. Mary Tisco, a widow. It is said that they were to be married at some future date and for the present, Hancock was boarding with the woman. Tonight he came home in a more or less drunken condition, according to the woman, and she told him that she could not marry him while he continued to drink His answer was to draw a revolver and to take his own life.

Alec Schurman, who was in the house, which is in the Westfield district, at the time of the affair, confirmed Mrs. Tisco's version of the affair to Coroner L. A. Smith.

BANDIT SLAYER OF A POSTAL EMPLOYE ARRESTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—(AP)—Frank Kickart, sought for more than a year as a member of the bandit gang that killed a postal employe and wounded three other persons in a $100,000 mail truck robbery in Elizabeth, N. J., October 14, 1926, was arrested by postal inspectors in Baltimore, Md., today, postal authorities announced here

Republicans Sweep Election in Meriden

Mayor De Bussy Defeated His Democratic Opponent by Majority of 1,200.

MERIDEN, Dec. 6—(AP)—Mayor Wales L. De Bussy, republican, was reelected today defeating his democratic opponent, Henry T. King by a majority of 1,200. It was the third consecutive race between the two candidates, De Bussy winning two years ago and King coming out ahead four years ago. In the latter two contests the margin of victory was less than 200 each time. The vote was De Bussy 6,518, King 5,318.

All other republican candidates for major offices were elected. Eight of the ten aldermen elected were republicans.

P. O. CLERKS SENTENCED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

HARTFORD, Dec. 6—(AP)—A campaign against violators of the postal laws resulted in the return of five indictments by a federal grand jury at the opening of the December term of the United States district court here today. Four other true bills were found and a number of prohibition law violators were presented to the court.

Judge Edwin S. Thomas presided and disposed of the majority of the cases before court adjourned tonight.

Leniency was extended by the court in the cases of two young post office clerks charged with embezzling money from letters, when residents of their respective communities appeared in their behalf.

A sentence of five years in the Atlanta penitentiary was imposed on Henry A. L. Stiles, 37, of 245 Mt. Prospect avenue, Newark, N. J., who was indicted on five counts of passing and possessing stolen money orders. Stiles pleaded guilty to the charges.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney George H. Cohen, who presented the cases, told the court that Stiles had served a four year sentence in Leavenworth prison for the same offense. Stiles and a confederate stole a book of money orders in Binghamton, N. Y., and subsequently passed the orders in various cities in the east. Stiles was apprehended in Waterbury when he attempte dto negotiate one of the stolen money orders.

Judge Thomas declared that Stiles had evidently not learned a lesson from his previous imprisonment and imposed the five year sentence. Credit of four months spent in the Hartford county jail since his arrest, was applied to the sentence.

James Keough, 31, of 535 Burritt street, New Britain, was given a suspended sentence of one year in the Hartford county jail when he pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzling $950.32 from post office C O. D. packages. He was placed in charge of Probation Officer Edward C Connolly, of New Britain.

POLISH-LITHUANIAN DISPUTE UNSETTLED

GENEVA, Dec. 6—(AP)—The "big five" have failed to settle the Polish Lithuanian dispute and it must be fought out before the council of the league of nations tomorrow or Thursday.

Foreign Ministers Briand and Stresemann, and Foreign Secretary Chamberlain, met with representatives of Italy and Japan this afternoon to discuss Lithuania's complaints against Poland but failed to accomplish much toward solution of the problem. As the big five delegates left the meeting they gave the impression that only questions of procedure involved in presentation of the dispute to the council were discussed but it is known that some of the statemen reluctantly acknowledged that their direct efforts at conciliation had failed.

The combined political pressure of these great powers, and also Russia has not caused the little Lithuanian dictator, Premier Waldemaras, to budge from his position. He told the Associated Press tonight he was ready to give the council every guarantee of Lithuarnian's pacific intentions and his willingness to set up a neutral zone between Lithuania and Poland, but said he could not go into the question of immediately restoring diplomatic relations with Poland or allowing the Poles untrammeled entry into Lithuania.

37 NICARAGUAN REBELS KILLED NEAR EL CHIPOTE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Dec. 6—(AP)—American aviators, operating with a joint patrol of United States marines and national guardsmen, killed 37 rebels in an encounter near El Chipote about a week ago, instead of four, as originally reported. Colonel Mason Gulick, commander of the marine corps, has just received dispatches containing that information.

Colonel Gulick also reports two national guardsmen killed yesterday in a sharp encounter with rebels between Jicaro and San Fernando. The casualties among the rebels are not known.

Major E. H. Brainard, who recently flew from Miami, Fla., to Managua, piloted a giant transport plane to Octogal today. The plane has a capacity of 20 men, or a ton of cargo and will be used in this service, carrying men and provisions.

A SUBPOENA FOR FORBES FOR NARCOTIC STATEMENT

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Dec. 6—(AP)—Instructions to issue a subpoena for Col. Charles R. Forbes, recently released from Leavenworth penitentiary, were received today by United States Attorney A. P. Williams from Attorney General Sargent.

The district attorney was advised that the former veterans' bureau head be summoned before the federal grand jury for questioning concerning purported statements since his release to the effect that narcotics are easily obtainable at the prison.

The statements attributed to Col. Forbes were made in a copyrighted story in a New York newspaper. Col. Forbes is said to be in Massachusetts visiting his mother.

DOTY IS BEWILDERED BY LITERARY AGENTS

MARSEILLES, France, Dec. 6—(AP)—Bennett J. Doty, free from firing squads and the foreign legion and anxious to "see everybody and talk to everybody," still is a bewildered prisoner, this time of certain friends and literary agents.

The Mississippian feels that some writers are born, some are made and some have writing thrust upon them. He found himself in the latter class when he came from Sidi Bel Abbes to have his status changed from that of a soldier of the legion to an American going home.

COOLIDGE CAUTIONS ECONOMY IN HIS ANNUAL MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

The President Favors Retirement of Debt Over Heavy Tax Reduction—Still Opposed to the McNary-Haugan Farm Relief Bill—Suggests U. S. Farm Loan Board to Administer a Revolving Fund to Help Co-Operatives—Urges Legislation to Permit the President to Act During Coal Strikes—Would Turn Merchant Marine Over to Private Capital as Second Line of Naval Defense—Favors Army Large Enough For National Defense With a Generous Supply of Officers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Firmly reiterating the administration's policy of economy but suggesting a moderate expansion of the national defense, the annual message of President Coolidge was received today by the new congress.

Transmitted to Capitol hill by special messenger, it was read simultaneously in both houses and then ordered printed as a public document.

In the house there was applause as William Page, the chief clerk, read the concluding words, asserting that America by "doing good, walking humbly, in sustaining its own people," would work out "its own mighty destiny." In the senate these phrases brought only silence.

There was applause but one other time and that also in the house, when the sentence that urged the American people as well as the public officers "to observe the sanctions" of the prohibition amendment was read.

The message, one of the longest Mr. Coolidge ever has written, touched upon practically all the issues that face the new congress. It set forth clearly that the president was prepared to back up the positions he has taken on such subjects as farm relief, Muscle Shoals, the development of Colorado river, tax reduction and a host of others.

He reiterated his policy of eco omy by declaring that "the nation must make financial sacrifices by a stern self-denial in public expenditures, until we have conquered the disabilities of our public finances."

The president again declared against the equalization fee, proposed by the McNary-Haugen farm bill which he vetoed at the last session, and recommended the creation of a federal farm board to administer a revolving fund to help co-operatives.

He advocated a policy of flood control for the Mississippi river, involving the construction of dikes and emergency spillways on its lower waters. A part of the expense, he said, should be borne by the lands to be benefited.

A well officered army large enough for national defense, additional cruisers for the navy, tax reduction as proposed by the treasury, and congressional supervision of revenue expenditures in the Philippine Islands were among other recommendations of the chief executive.

"It was a typical Coolidge message, just straight business," declared Chairman Snell of the house rules committee as soon as the reading had been finished. This view, coming from the head of the committee that defines the legislative program for the house, was echoed also by a number of republican members at both ends of the capitol.

Representative Tilson, the republican house leader, said that the president as usual had shown sound judgment, and a "remarkable understanding of public needs."

Both Tilson and Snell declared, too, they were especially impressed with the chief executive's suggestion for the national defense and agriculture.

On the other hand, Senator Robinson, the democratic senate leader, said the message was a disappointment to him, and that he could not indorse the proposals for Mississippi flood control, and now feared that politics might be given a place in the flood control problem.

Representative Garrett, the democratic house leader, regarded the communication as "somewhat hazy upon many of the questions on which definite recommendations could have been wished for," while Representative Dickinson, republican, Iowa, one of the farm leaders in congress, felt that the message so far as farm relief was concerned, made "no constructive suggestions."

Chairman Haugen of the house agriculture committee, and co-author of the fram bill which Mr. Coolidge vetoed, said that the president's recommendations "do not meet the needs of the farmers," while Senator Longworth said that the message "covered clearly and fully a number of problems which are important to the nation."

SENATOR WILLIS ENTERS PRESIDENTIAL CONTEST

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Senator Willis, of Ohio, tossed his hat into the political ring tonight immediately after President Coolidge told republican national committeemen that he had "eliminated" himself from the 1928 presidential slaution.

"Numerous friends in Ohio and some in other states have been good enough to mention by name in connection with the republican nomination for the presidency," Senator Willis said in a formal statement.

"If the republicans of Ohio feel that I can creditably represent them as their candidate in the forthcoming national convention, I shall feel it a great honor to do so."

This puts two avowed candidates in the field, both members of the senate, the other being Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the republican floor leader, whoannounced his candidacy some weeks ago after he had become convinced that President Coolidge was definitely out of the running and in response to urgent requests from friends in his own and other states.

CONTROVERSY OVER ASSETS OF DANIEL BOONE MILLS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Sensational charges disturbed the usually placid atmosphere of the supreme court today as oral arguments were brought to a close in the contest as to whether federal or state court receivers should have control over the assets of the Daniel Boone Woolen Mills, Inc., of Chicago.

Edward R. Johnston, counsel for the company, sought to reply to charges of "fraud, perjury and collusion," which he asserted had been made yesterday by Lloyd C. Whitman, as counsel for the state court receivers. He was diverted, however, by a constant stream of questions from members of the bench who confined him to a discussion whether the company had not obtained delay in receivership proceedings until the state court had an opportunity to decide whether it would apoint receivers.

WILL SELECT CITY TODAY FOR REP. NAT'L CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Assured that President Coolidge had no preference, delegations representing a number of cities seeking the next republican convention fought hard today to retain the support of national committee members they had received before Chairman Butler announced that he favored Kansas City. The committee which will make a selection tomorrow heard arguments of the contesting groups at lengthy sessions today.

Chairman Butler held out for Kansas City, despite a white house statement that President Coolidge had no choice and believed that Butler also actually was sneutral.

GOV'T "HANDS OFF" IN THE COAL MINING CONTRVERSY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Federal government agencies refrained today from any definite intervention in the bituminous coal mining controversy existing in northern fields, and President Coolidge was represented as adoubting the advisability of calling a conference of operators and union leaders, as had been suggested by the labor organization.

It was said at the white house that the president considered that labor department conciliation if persisted in might bring about better results than such a conference

COLD WAVE IN THE WEST IS TRAVELING EASTWARD

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Winter laid its first bitter siege on the northern Rocky Mountain region today and traveled eastward tonight on the crest of a far-flung cold wave.

Heavy snows, blizzards and tumbling temperatures were left in the path of the storm that blew in from Canada across Montana and concentrated its fury on Wyoming today en route to the middle west. Wyoming faced a forecast of 14 below zero weather tomorrow.

Sharp breaks in temperatures to new lows for the season also were in store for parts of Kansas, Colorado, Texas, Oklahoma, South Dakota and other states. Zero levels were reached today in some sections and enthal South Dakota was lashed by a blizzard.

Montana, still enveloped in zero weather, dug itself out from last night's heavy snowfall which affected telephone and telegraph lines. No loss of life was reported in the blizzard which swept a part of Montana last night but 25 members of an engineering party spent an uncomfortable night after becoming lost near Shelby. All had found their way to safety today.

SERIOUS DISORDERS REPORTED IN RUMANIA

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 6—(AP)—Reports from the Hungarian-Rumanian frontier indicate that serious disorders occurred Monday in the town of Nagyvarad. This was formerly in Hungary, but is now annexed to Rumania.

Many persons are said to have been seriously injured in the disorders and a Hungarian actor, unnamed, stabbed to death in the street. The streets of Nagyvarad have been deserted since yesterday; the tamway services have ceased and all shops are closed. Soldiers and police are reported to be patrolling the streets, the citizens being afraid to leave their houses.

Demonstrations, in which many were roughly handled, are also reported at Arad, Transylvania.

The disorders developed into somewhat sanguinary conflicts, and the attendance of several thousand students from various parts of Transylvania for a congress was the occasion of demonstrations, which were first anti-Jewish, but became anti-Magyar. The offices of two Hungarian newspapers, together with the printing plant, and also the offices of the Catholic Union society and the residence of Chief Rabbi Leopold Kecsemeti were destroyed. The police were helpless, but, reinforced by gendarmee and a troop of cavalry, finally restored order.

ASKS THAT DRY LEADERS CEASE TO BE POLITICIANS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Anti-Saloon league, on the eve of adopting a plan of reorganization, tonight was told by Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington of westerville, Ohio, that dissemination of truth and the creation organization and crystallization of public sentiment are the most important functions of the organized movement against alcoholism. He asked that prohibition leaders cease to be politicians.

Prohibition forces of America must begin the advancement and organization of anti-alcohol sentiment in foreign countries because by so doing Dr. Cherrington explained, foreign liquor manufacturers would be kept so busy defending their situation at home that they will be unable to attempt to destroy prohibition in this country.

"My appeal to the temperance hosts of America is that they cease to be politicians," he declared.

WILLIMANTIC BUDGET CUT $76,000 AT CITY MEETING

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Dec. 6—Slashing cuts amounting to $76,000 were made at the adjourned city meeting held in the town hall this afternoon in the annual budget as proposed by previous action of the common council. The budget now adopted amounts to $318,905, the $76,000 cut being brought about by the reduction of amounts called for in several items and the taking of no action on other submitted appropriations. The reductions were $3,000 in the police police department appropriation, $5,000 for the fire department, $2,000 for the street department, $500 for ice houses, $5,000 for the contingent fund, $5,000 for sidewalks and gutters, $5,000 for new streets, $500 for the footbridge, $3,000 for interest, $3,000 for bond principal and $15,000 for sewer construction.

Motions for no action were approved as the purchase of a lot for a city yard at the corner of North and Valley streets for $16,000, the purchase of a street truck for $5,000, installing traffic signals for $3,000 and the purchase of a snow and sand loader for $2,500. Among those to introduce amendments to the submitted figures for reductions were Mayor-elect Charles A. Gates and Aldermen-elect Oliver L. Willard, William E. Jackson, William E. Webber, Eugene B. Lewis and Cyril A. Lamoureux. Several explanations were made by Alderman Walter R. King, retiring councilman, who was chairman of the finance committee of the board during the past term. Mayor John C. Tracy presided at the meeting and Acting City Clerk Miss Hilda M. Berard read the warning. The budget items were presented for vote by Corporation Counsel William A. King. The meeting was one of the best attended city meetings held in some time. The budget as adopted:

Police department $27,000; fire department $30,000; fire alarm $1,500; street department $33,000; trap rock $3,000; cutting trees $1,100; oiling streets $12,000; police court $500; garbage collection $5,000; salaries $5,000; library $3,500; ice houses $1,500; ice account $3,000; contingent fund $5,000; engineering $5,500; sewer maintenance $3,000; snow and ice removal $3,000; sidewalk and curb $20,000; new streets $5,000; lighting streets $20,000; printing, advertising $1,000; footbridge $500; interest $12,000; principal on bonds $7,000; collecting taxes $1,000; plumbing inspector $300; rent $505; parks $100; police pension fund $2,000; permanent roads $16,000; election expenses $2,500; sewer construction $10,000; total $218,905.

Activities and interest are on an increase here today in furthering preparations for the institution of Yembo Sanctorum No. 261, Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans in this city next Friday and Saturday. Korum Sanctorum No. 195 of Hartford will play the leading role in carrying out the ceremonials many of which will be in keeping with the merry-making and recreational objects of the sanctorum. The institution will be in I. O. O. F. hall on Main street at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening and will include the election of officers. The public installation will be in the town hall Saturday evening. Supreme Monarchos Edgar S. Mosher of Auburn, N. Y., Supreme Counsellor Frank W. Whiton of Hartford and Supreme Secretary John L. Hayden of Schenectady, N. Y., will be the officials directly in charge of the institutional ceremonies and they will be assisted by officers of Ahab Sanctorum No. 296 of Mystic.

District Deputy John McIntyre of Hartford and his entire staff including the "seven daughters" will have charge of the installation. The staff includes: D. S. Visier, Frank W. Arnold; assistant visier, Milese Johnson; D. S. stentores, H. E. Harrington; D. S. treasurer, J. B. Woodruff; D. S. secretary, E. M. Griffin; D. S. prince, H. C. Bronson; D. S. counselor, George C. Eck; D. S. khilifah, G. P. Hurd; property man, W. L. Henderling; wardrobe, Mrs. N. M. Harper; and the Misses Grayce Harper, Doris Dewey, Eleanor Mabeo, Catherine Harris, Betty Bronson, Natalie Kostinski, Edith Moodie and Ruth Waterhouse. A concert at Lincoln Square by the Korum band of Hartford is included in the festivities for Saturday.

A series of three excellent talks on Fellowship were given at the weekly meeting of the Willimantic Rotary club held in the Nathan Hale hotel this noon with President Richard E. Dodge presiding. Albert B. Smith, chairman of the Fellowship committee introduced the speakers; James P. Mustard on The Basis of Fellowship; Daniel F. Daley on Its Benefits and Justice George E. Hinman on Its Responsibilities. The combined talks were considered among the most inspiring ever given by members of the club. Guests included Rotarian Sydney W. Bard of Danielson, Fred Robin of New Haven with John C. Frazier and Dwight E. Abel of this city with Justice Hinman.

The record for long service in the common council will be held by William E. Webber, alderman-elect of the second ward, when he assumes his seat in the council chamber at the initial meeting of the new board Monday evening, December 12th. Mr. Webber will be entering upon his sixth term, having served as alderman from the first ward for one term, 1906-'08, and alderman-at-large for four terms. His term as alderman of the first ward was during the first administration of the late Mayor Daniel P. Dunn. It was under subsequent Dunn administrations that he served two terms of two years each as alderman-at-large and he served another term under the first term of administration under Mayor Charles A. Gates in 1913-'19 and again during the third term of Mayor Gates. During Mayor Gates' second term Mr. Webber served as tax collector. Mayor Gates enters upon his fourth term.

A battle in jitney fares is imminent here according to tentative plans revealed today by two young men, believed to have come from Webster, Mass., who consulted with Mayor John C. Tracy and Police Chief Thomas F. Brady with a view of giving a 15 cent taxicab service to the community. The jitney men informed Mayor Tracy that they planned to take up their residence here and form a company to begin with a fleet of three automobiles at the rate of 15 cents for local trips. Two fares, one of 25 cents for smaller cars and one of 50 cents for larger automobiles have predominated here for some time.

Aided by thawing temperature employes of the street department were making headway today in clearing away the snow and slush left over from Sunday night's and Monday morning's snow and sleet storms. Sidewalks were cleared in the morning and pedestrians found travelling somewhat more comfortable.

Michael Gavar, 17, of West Willington, who confessed that he had never held an operator's license, was fined $5 and costs for driving without one at the session of the Stafford borough court presided over by Judge Williams H. Heald Monday. The young man was arrested near Forestville by State Policeman Stevens.

A public meeting was conducted in the Salvation Army citadel here tonight by Brigadier Albert Bates, Adjutant A. Pickering and Captain G. Noel of Hartford. Brigadier Bates is head of the army work in Connecticut and Vermont. The meeting was in connection with the annual financial drive of the corps, which has been launched this week.

The precedent of many years has been broken this year through the appearance of a loss in the school enumeration returns for the town of Windham which have been filed with the state board of education. The loss, however, represents a loss of but 31 names from last year's list which showed a total of 2,538. This year the first district shows 1,249 names; the second 1,826 and the Windham districts 432. There is a gain of 49 in the first district, a loss of 59 in the second and a loss of 21 in the Windham districts.

The Misses Mildred Pickett, Mabel McQuillan and Bridget Moriarty were hostesses at a whist of seven tables given at the Windham Girls' club rooms Monday evening. Prizes were awarded to the Misses Alice Peterson, first, Mabel Dinnick, second and Mrs. Beatrice Peloquin consolation.

Haskell Rosen of Windham road was discharged from St. Joseph's hospital today following a minor operation.

Mr. E. B. Latham has returned to his home from Cambridge where he had finished a contract and Mrs. Latham has returned from Boston where she has been visiting.

MRS. GEORGE H. THORNTON DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

JEWETT CITY, Dec. 6—Mrs. Mary Medbery Thornton, wife of George H. Thornton, 61, died early this morning, at her home on Taylor Hill, after two weeks' illness with pneumonia.

Mrs. Thornton was a most highly esteemed woman in the community, her unfailing cheerfulness and faithful attention to the duties which came to her in private or public ways, causing her many friends and associates to feel her loss very keenly. In her home she was a most devoted wife and mother, and to the close of her life it could truly be said of her, "Her children arise and call her blessed. The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her."

She was born in Jewett City, January 8, 1866, the daughter of Edward and Hannah Palmer Medbery. Thirty years ago she became the wife of George H. Thornton, of Jewett City. She possessed much musical ability, and in her younger days was the organist of the Methodist church for years. She had a very powerful and sweet soprano voice, and sang in the choir for a long period. She was a devoted member of the Methodist church, and active in the various church organizations. She was a past noble grand of Ruthie Rebekah lodge and a member of Thames Past Noble Grand association, also a member of Dorcas Circle of The King's Daughters.

When the American Legion auxiliary was organized, she was elected secretary, and has filled that office with painstaking faithfulness ever since. She was a member of the Woman's Relief corps.

Mrs. Thornton is survived by her husband and three children, Irving, Edward and Everett Thornton, all of Jewett City.

DANIELSON

M. H. BERTHIAUME ELECTED CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HEAD

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Dec. 6.—Moses H. Berthiaume was re-elected president of the Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Attawaugan hotel tonight. W. H. F. Herberts was named vice president for 1928, and Walter Anderson as secretary. Tonight's meeting was the final one for 1927, which year, under Mr. Berthiaume's administration, has witnessed the remarkable growth of the organization and more activity than in any year out of memory.

Having the co-operation of the great majority of the business people of the community, Mr. Berthiaume and his committees have worked steadily and enthusiastically to brighten Danielson's place in the sun, to keep it out front as a merchandising center in this section of eastern Connecticut and to make the town of Killingly, insofar as has been possible, a community marked by its progressiveness and fine spirit.

Numbers of matters have been taken up by the Chamber during 1927, with a view to civ' betterment and public improvement and in a number of instances the efforts made have borne fruit. For 1928, a program equally effective will be worked out and will be put into effect in January.

Early this morning at her home, in Foster, the death of Mary A. H. Pierce, 75, occurred. Mrs. Pierce was born in Foster, a daughter of Charles and Phoebe Bennett Pierce, and had lived all her life there and in Scituate. She was the widow of John Pierce. Mrs. Pierce survived her sister, Mrs. Phoebe Gorton by exactly four weeks and became ill at the latter's death, though in feeble health for several years. She was the last of her immediate family, leaving no relatives nearer than nieces and nephews.

Over in Moosup there is general satisfaction over the development of the Moosup Trust company, established about a year ago. Information given out in Moosup indicates that the deposits of the bank have grown to the vicinity of the $400,000 mark in the brief period since the institution started to do business. Moosup people are very proud of this fine showing, and it is also indicative to all residents in this part of the state of Moosup's progressiveness and ability to build up capital.

It has taken only the first snow storm of the year to bring a recurrence of a winter problem that arises every year. This has to do with children sliding on streets where there is heavy motor traffic, with great danger to themselves and giving operators an additional worry. This year instances of children being particularly reckless have been reported. The matter of control appears to rest largely in the hands of parents; they, at least, can direct where the children are to slide.

Among the many tributes paid to the memory of Joseph Raymond whose death occurred recently in Wauregan, is one in the current issue of The Film Reporter: "This publication was indeed sorry to learn of the sudden death of our dear friend, Joseph Raymond, an exhibitor of Wauregan, Joe, as he was better known to the boys, was a regular fellow and always had a good word for everyone. We liked him a lot, and offer our sincere condolence to his family. Art is long, but life is short."

This morning, the funeral of Mrs. Angelina Robideaux was held from her home in Wauregan with funeral services at the Sacred Heart church in that place at nine o'clock. Rev. T. H. Quinn, the pastor, was celebrant of the solemn high mass of requiem, with Rev. Joseph A. Demers, M. S., of Danielson, as deacon, and Rev. Oscar Norman, of Moosup, as sub-deacon. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery. The bearers were Frederick Daigneault, Eusebe Robideaux, Albert Robideaux, Andrew Robideaux, Rene Lavallee and Arthur Daignault. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

When the Men's club of the Westfield Congregational church meets on Friday evening the program will have some unusual features. For instance, gentlemen prominent in mercantile, professional, financial and manufacturing life will relate amusing personal experiences. There is to be singing by a talented quartet—and something different to eat. At this meeting something will be said about The Every Member canvass that is scheduled for next Sunday.

During last night the death of James Ellis occurred in Moosup. He was 70 years of age and a native of the town of Plainfield, within the limits of which he has spent practically all of his life. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shea. Mr. Shea had worked about Moosup for a long time and up to the time his health became seriously undermined a year ago, had been a dealer in cows. He is survived by two sisters.

Getting rid of the hail and sleet that came Sunday and during the early hours of Monday morning is anything but a brisk bit of exercises for a bright winter's morning. The stuff had packed down and congealed to the consistence of near-concrete, and results being moved about most mightily. Incident to mention of this fact came the expressed wish of business men here this morning that the high accumulation of the stuff along streets in the business section be taken away by the state highway department.

Men from the plant department of the Southern New England Telephone company are engaged in running cable from the underground line through Main street to serve through rear-way connections the new Dowe building and adjoining business structures. This arrangement will allow of the elimination of poles in the rear of these buildings from which the services have been distributed in the past.

Upwards of 1,000 Christmas club checks and representing more than $[illegible] will be released Thursday of this week by the Danielson Trust company. These checks range upwards from $12.50, according to the weekly amount paid in since last December. The checks will get a wide distribution in this territory, going to all communities of the towns of Killingly, Plainfield and Brooklyn as well as into other sections.

Plainfield chapter of the American Red Cross is holding its annual roll call during the current week.

Miss Laura Jacobs, who has been ill at her home here, is improving.

Up to early this evening only minor accidents have been reported in this territory as due to slippery traveling conditions. Hills on trunk lines hereabouts have been sanded by the state highway department crews.

The advice to do Christmas shopping early has been heeded by a very considerable number of people, it was indicated in stores here today, and it is hardly necessary to repeat that they are having a splendid time picking from the fresh, complete stocks.

"Chet" Nichols, famous baseball player, is a member of the Millville basketball team that is to play the Danielson Town team this week.

Members of the Service battery felt again tonight that it is rather pleasant to be included in the organization, and the special reason for this was that it was pay night as well as drill night. About $1,200 was distributed to the members of the command, this covering nine drills.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Peters and family have removed from their place of residence on water street to their newly built home on Reynolds street.

It will be a full month on Saturday since Jerome Vincent Sheldon lost his life when his car went into a mill pond at Wilsonville, yet the body of the young woman who many believed was with him when the accident occurred has not been given up by the waters.

Rene Peloquin of this town is attracting considerable attention to himself as a boxer in the 110-pound class, and is steadily improving, which fact may be accounted for in a measure through his numerous recent bouts.

Wednesday evening of this week, when officers of McGregor, Woman's Relief corps meet, officers are to be elected for the ensuing year.

Miss Frances Jessup and friend recently visited with Mr. and Mrs. Grant Jessup at Killingly Center.

There are to be special masses in observance of the feast of the Immaculate Conception at St. James' church on Thursday.

While Coroner Arthur G. Bill has not completed his finding in the death of Leslie Gauthier at Central Village on Thanksgiving day, the result of a gunshot wound from a weapon in the hands of his chum, Alex Darbie, he idicated that he would find that the death was purely accidental.

A delegation from this section will be in Hartford Thursday attending the meeting of the Connecticut Vegetables Growers' association. DeForest Wells, of Brooklyn, is to be one of the speakers

PUTNAM

WOODSTOCK WOMAN RECEIVES RECOGNITION FOR HER POETRY

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Dec. 6.—Miss Harriet Sampson, of Woodstock and New York city, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Sampson, of Woodstock, has again achieved unusual distinction as a writer of verse under conditions where merit alone counted. At a meeting of the Poetry society in New York city recently, which was attended by about fifty of its members, many of them writers of note, poems were submitted without the name of the writer disclosed.

These poems submitted were commented on freely and then two prizes were awarded by vote to the ones that were considered the best two of the collection. A list with the names of the authors was then taken from a sealed envelope and it was found that Miss Sampson had written what was considered the second best poem of the evening. This is the second time that her work has been recognized in the same way.

Mrs. George M. Sampson, who has returned from New York, where she has been the guest of her daughter, was at the meeting which was held in the old Roosevelt home on 20th street.

Plans for a membership drive are being made by the Oscar W. Swanson post, American Legion. The campaign will open next month and arrangements are being made to enter all of the veterans of the World war who are residents of the town of Thompson.

The committee in charge of the work is composed of the following: Phillips L. Duhamel, Patrick Malloy, Philip Croteau, N. V. Rawson, Norbert Blain, Ernest Barrette, F. A. Pelletier, L. Blanchard, Edward N. Rawson. Arrangements will be completed at the next meeting of the post.

Funeral services for the late Nori Coderre were conducted from St. Joseph's church at North Grosvenordale yesterday morning. Rev. John Mathieu, pastor of the church, officiated at the solemn high mass and was assisted by Rev. Fr. Donnelly and Rev. Fr. Lavallee. During the mass, special music was given by the choir. The bearers were chosen from the members of the police departments of Putnam, Webster and Danielson.

Holy Night, the Christmas Nativity Play, which has become celebrated the world over, is to be presented this year in Pomfret hall on the evening of Sunday, Dec. 18th. There will be a performance every hour, until all who come have witnessed it.

There is no book of the play. The same actors, so far as possible, take part each year. No admission is charged. It is a community presentation of the events and mysteries celebrated at Christmas.

MYSTIC

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Lewis of Waterford, who are spending the winter with their son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. William J. Evans, at Fortress Monroe, Va., celebrated their golden wedding Nov. 27. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are natives of Mystic, the former the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lewis, who lived more than a quarter of a century on the farm now owned by Mrs. Walter Morgan, on Mystic road. Mrs. Lewis was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. N. Truman Chipman and lived above Warren Lewis on Mystic road on the farm now owned by Mrs. L. D. Boynton where the wedding took place. A. Orville Lewis of Mystic is a nephew of Ernest Lewis.

The first annual meeting of the Every Man's Bible class of the Union Baptist church was held in the vestry Monday evening. Supper was served at 6.30, the menu being ham, mashed potato, cabbage salad, rolls, pickles, doughnuts, cheese and coffee. Elmer Hall was chairman. After the supper Rev. George R. Atha of Groton spoke in a most entertaining way, holding the close attention of the 50 men present. C. W. Gildersleeve called the meeting to order and the secretary, Arthur Rathbun, read a detailed report of the activities of the class for the year. The treasurer, Harold C. Main reported a balance in the treasury. Officers were elected as follows: President, Seymour Stoddard; vice president, George H. Griswold; secretary, Herbert Gremley; assistant secretary, Earl Cutler; treasurer, Russell Potter. Plans for the coming year were discussed and it was voted to change the meeting night to the last Monday in the month instead of the first. The next meeting will be January 25, 1928.

STONINGTON

QUAINT BOOK PRESENTED HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Judge William A. Wilcox of Pawcatuck has presented Stonington Historical society a small book printed in 1844 entitled "The Early Baptists of Connecticut." This is a discourse delivered by Dr. Albert G. Palmer, who served the denomination here and in North Stonington. The volume is full of quaint and historical data in relation to the denomination in New England and particularly in this section.

At the last meeting of Ruth chapter, O. E. S. No. 44, the following officers were elected: Worthy matron, Mrs. Florence Glover; worthy patron, Samuel Counsell; assistant matorn, Miss Edith Jones; conductress, Mrs. W. Dunbar; assistant conductress, Mrs. Elsie Counsell; secretary, Mrs. Charlotte Joseph; treasurer, Estella Wadsworth.

The New London county farm bureau wil hold a demonstration in the parlors of the First Baptiste hurch Thursday. The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. B. J. Robinson, who will give a talk on heat-giving foods and a demonstration on the making of Christmas candy. All women interested are privileged to attend. The usual picnic dinner will be eaten.

A party was given by Miss Virginia Joseph at her parents' home, Saturday evening. The guests were Connecticut college classmates and former classmates of Miss Joseph, including Misses Dorothy Bassett of Hartford, Evelyn Geralds, Chicago, Janet Morris, Philadelphia, Wilhelmina and Carolyn Derricks, Margaret and Ruth Monjo, Evelyn Hoxie, Emily Robinson and Florence Buck, of Stonington.

The meeting of Calvary Fellowship is to be held in the chapel this (Wednesday) evening with Louis Hermes, leader.

The Women's Mission society of the First Baptist church is to meet in the lecture rooms on Friday at 2:30.

The Travel club met at the library Tuesday at 4 p. m. with Rev. William F. Williams as the lecturer. His topic was "Rambles in England and France." Mr. Williams will also speak at the next meeting Dec. 13th.

Mrs. H. H. Doty has returned to her home in New London after spending a few days here.

Sherman J. Swallow is entertaining his brother Arthur G. Swallow, of Lynn, Mass., at "The Hill."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Kuznack, of New London, have been spending a few days with Mrs. T. Kuznack.

Henry M. Gardiner and family have returned to Hartford, after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Byron Gardiner.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Porter of Hartford were visitors here Sunday.

EAST WOODSTOCK

Mrs. Wendell Bosworth is in Boston to be near her mother, Mrs. Irving Paine, who underwent an operation for stomach trouble at the Homeopathic hospital last Saturday.

Several children are out of school with chicken pox.

Chandler Hubbard had a relapse last week, after measles, being quite ill.

The Christmas sale conducted by the Ladies' Aid society in the chapel last Friday evening was not largely attended owing to weather conditinos. Fancy articels, home cooked food, candy, plants, grabs and ice cream were a source of revenue. Mrs. Everett May was chairman; she was assisted by Mrs. F. A. Jordan, Mrs. L. H. Lindeman, Mrs. J. S. May, Mrs. Lester Beard, Mrs. H. D. Baker, Misse. Ethel Upham, Evelyn Converse, Elsie Hibbard, Marion Cady and Mildred May.

Several from her attended the concert at Harrisville, R. I., given by the Glee club Monday evening.

Services at the Congregational church will be held at 10:30 o'clock for the remainder of the winter. Miss Louise Pike was organist last Sunday.

N. T. White, of Brookfield, Mass., spent the week-end with his family here.

Jessie and Olin Shead have the contract to lay the new floor in the Community house.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is at the opening of congress that the president is called upon to indicate to that body the state of the nation. This he does through his annual message and this year he had opportunity to point to many conditions, explain the needs, indicate what has or has not been done and express his opinion as to what should be done to meet the various situations. In all of these instances he speaks with the welfare of the nation firmly before him and he presents his views in a sensible and convincing manner.

Reporting the state of the nation to be good he is confident that if the people "maintain that confidence which they are entitled to have in themselves, in each other and in America, a comfortable prosperity will continue." But he takes care to point out the importance of constructive economy in government, the need of financial sacrifices, and stern self denial in public expenditures until the liabilities of our public finance are conquered.

With telling effect he proceeded to show the excellent progress that has been made in the reduction of the national debt and the advantages which are steadily accruing to the government as the result. We are able to get tax reduction because of the policies concerning economy and debt retirement that have been put into effect. He stressed the importance of keeping the budget balanced, avoiding a deficit and the application of any surplus to debt reduction which is tax reduction. He urged the measure recommended by the treasury department, and while he welcomed information from any quarter he emphasized the need of congress exercising its own judgment.

To meet our responsibilities the president declared we need a substantial sea armament, but reliance will be placed upon fair dealing and good will rather than force for the maintenance of peace. Having failed to keep up our navy as we had a right to we must supply our needs. He deplored the result of the recent disarmament conference at Geneva but "we know now that no agreement can be reached which will be inconsistent with a considerable building programme on our part." Whether it is at home or abroad "Wherever our flag goes the rights of humanity increase."

Concerning the merchant marine the president declared public operation is not a success, all investigations have recommended speedy transfer to private ownership and we should get rid of them and avoid any new construction. The desirability of giving more attention to the merchant ships as an auxiliary of the navy was stressed.

What he had to say concerning commercial aviation, air mail and good roads was to the point and he paid a deserved tribute to the work of General Wood in the Philippines.

Devoting a considerable part of his message to agriculture the president directed attention to the dangers of price fixing and subsidy and maintained that through organizations the troublesome surplus crops could be dealt with by reducing the surplus acreage, and that the government can help in orderly marketing and in handling a surplus by setting up a federal board thereby equal advantages would be granted to the various agricultural commodities and sections of the country encouragement given to the cooperative movement and a revolving loan fund be provided for the necessary financing.

The dangers of tinkering with the tariff were dwelt upon and the need of disposing of the Muscle Shoals problem indicate.

After referring to the efforts which have been put forth to meet the flood situation in the Mississippi valley and terming it a national disaster he urged a plan that would be adequate for preventing the recurrence of such a disaster but warned against making it a vehicle for carrying other projects. This is an important matter for however vital other projects are they should be made to stand on their own feet.

As for prohibition he declared that the "federal authorities propose to discharge their obligation for enforcement to the full extent of their ability" and called attention to the fact that cooperation by local governments would greatly help the situation.

Adoption of legislation for the return of alien property was recommended and the speeding up of railroad consolidation urged, while the need was set forth of legislation that would authorize a system of fuel administration in case of actual or threatened interruption of coal production.

Hope was expressed for the success of the efforts to bring about a full understanding with Mexico, the president insisting that we are committed to amicable adjustments of disputes and that it is our policy to promote peace. Our relations with other countries have improved in the year and we have made much progress at home in the opinion of the president.

The message presents the sentiments of the head of the nation upon outstanding conditions. It is a characteristic Coolidge message filled with sound counsel, calmly and carefully presented and it is entitled to serious consideration on the part of the members of congress as they settle down to dealing with the various problems.

MR. COOLIDGE DECIDES

Overtopping the message for the time being was the statement which President Coolidge made to the members of the republican national committee assembled in the white house. Speculation had been rife as to whether he would say anything to amplify his statement of last August when he said: "I do not choose to be a candidate for president in 1928." That it is now for the most part satisfied seems probable.

By his words to the national committee he considered that he had eliminated himself last August. Now he declares that there has been no modification of it and when he says "My decision will be respected" he indicates his determination.

There has been no reason to believe that the president has been quibbling. He was sincere when he spoke in August. The only question was whether he could be made to respond to a nationwide demand and there is undoubtedly a very strong sentiment in his behalf.

His added statement will cause disappointment to the great number who have such confidence in the chief executive and who, though they realize it is not a one man country or party, do not like the idea of losing his valuable leadership. That has been why there has been so much reluctance in turning to others. This latest statement, however, will clear away the uncertainty which has existed concerning other candidates and those whose names have been mentioned. There remains of course uncertainty as to what a deadlock would develop.

A THOUGHT FOR NORWICH

A Norwich citizen who is ever mindful of the interests of Norwich has forwarded to The Bulletin a clipping from the New Haven Register which he believes "might contain a thought for our own chamber of commerce." The item follows:

Guilford, Dec. 5—If plans now under way materialize this town will have one of the branch plants of the Johnson Motor Company of Waukegan, Ill., manufacturers of Johnson outboard motors and marine engines. The concern would employ approximately 50 men when starting operation and when at full speed a payroll of approximately 150 hands would be employed. F. H. Rolf, chairman of the Guilford board of trade, says the concern has representatives considering the location.

The suggestion is respectfully submitted and it is believed it will be kindly received.

Much can be accomplished through cooperation. Every citizen has an opportunity to enter into it, when it comes to the advancement of the community's welfare and the example of the Norwich citizen in recognizing what might well be attracted and invited to inspect Norwich advantages is commended to others.

WHAT FOREST FIRES DO

Many people are disposed to take the attitude that forest fires are only the burning up of a lot of leaves and underbrush and the disposal of a lot of waste. If nothing more resulted it would be fine, but those who think forest fires are beneficial cannot have experienced one or seen the effects.

Reports from California tell a story which throws an entirely different light upon such fires, for even though reference is made to brush fires in the southern part of that state they are so extensive as to get beyond control and to cause the destruction of 150 mountain homes, defy the efforts of 3,000 to check them and cause damage estimated at from $500,000 to $10,000,000.

The most sensational of the fires started from a spark from a small refuse heap and it is just such small beginnings that repeatedly lead to large losses. These losses are not all included in the homes burned and the lives taken, for it is to be remembered that there are heavy investments in timberland and once fires get started therein they mean the quick dissipation of valuable possessions simply waiting to be converted into cash.

Forest fires are a serious menace and the ease of prevention requires that it be kept constantly in mind. Forest fires are real and involve severe and unprotected losses.

MOTHER GRAY COMES BACK

Mother Gray polished off the last of the triplets and stepped out of the nursery. The three set up a chorus of astonished protest, but Mother Gray was not to be coerced. Things had not been doing so well in the back yard since she had not been there to supervise. The sparrows had taken possession of the currant bushes. The Old Mr Hen had marshaled her chicks right up to the back porch. And that dog had pre-empted Mother Gray's sun spot on the wooden top on the cistern. It was high time she was getting back.

Mother Gray stepped majestically across the shadowy woodshed and out upon the sun-drenched threshold. Up went the sparrows in loud alarm from the currant bushes.

She was frankly worried. Boy was nowhere in sight. For five whole days—ever since the arrival of the kittens—she had neither seen nor heard him. Something was wrong—very wrong.

Trotting low to the ground, Mother Gray made the rounds of the back yard. Not at the sand pile. Nor the swing. Nor the barn. Nor the throne high in the box elder tree. The kitchen door opened with an interrogating wail. Like a flash Mother Gray sped across the yard, up the steps, and with an agile twist shot between the clumping feet in the doorway straight into the kitchen.

"Scat!" commanded the voice above the feet. But Mother Gray shot through that devilish death trap, the swinging door that divides the nice, food-smelling kitchen from the interestingly crummy dining room. No Boy here! In fact no crumbs about his chair. Mother Gray hesitated, ears up, tail straight as a pine tree. Boy—Boy who could always be depended upon to attend to those matters of getting in and out of doors, or cream between meals, and of those delicious bedtime moments when you crept close to his warm little person and snuggled.

Stealth she went up the stairs. Smells, sharp, unfamiliar smells! Like a wraith along the hall, like the ghost of a shadow across the familiar floor of Boy's room, Mother Gray sought the security of the dust and shadows underneath his bed.

Voices! The voice of Boy's mother, thick with tears.

"Doctor, he just lies here like this all day long and doesn't even seem to notice us. Just turns his head away and whimpers. Can't you do something?" The deep voice of the doctor: "It's the shock Mrs. Evans. His actual physical injuries are relatively slight. But it's the shock of being hit by the automobile we must fight. If we can't bring him out of it—I am afraid. Try bringing him his favorite books or toys, or some one he is fond of."

"We have, doctor. Over and over again. But he just turns away and whimpers. It seems as though the whole world has stopped now that we don't hear him romping and laughing through the house."

They were gone. Stealthily Mother Gray emerged. With a quick, soft-footed spring she was on the bed, purring softly, sniffling gently over the still little form. With a gentle paw she patted the white cheek. Slowly the blue eyes opened. Slowly they closed again. Mother Gray stopped in mid-purr. Could this be her Boy? This still, white little chap who couldn't even smile at her? It certainly was well that she had come back to take care of things.

Thud sounded her four feet on the bare floor. Like a gray arrow she sped off down the hall, down the stairs, across the sunny yard into the cool shade of the woodshed. The kittens, tiny curled balls of fur, were asleep.

"Let's see. All-Gray—Gray-Striped—Gray-and-White." Personally she preferred all gray; it was more aristocratic. But Boy always liked the kittens with the white feet. With a deft paw she rolled Gray-and-White to the edge of the box, grabbed him firmly by the back of the neck and sped to the house. She knew her duty to Boy.

"Scat!" shouted the voice in the kitchen. Mother Gray settled low to thump, thump, up the back stairs. Breathless, she brought up at the bedside, took a quick look around, grabbed Gray-and-White more firmly and leaped to the coverlet.

Almost into the little inert white hand she dropped her burden and sat back, purring. Slowly the fingers closed over the wee furry ball. Slowly the hand moved upward with its find.

Voices at the door. The kitchen voice loud in protest.

"Ma'am that cat has dragged her dirty little kitten right up stairs." She of the clumping feet. Boy's mother, the doctor, all crowded into the doorway. A subdued babble of voices. Mother Gray settled defensively and watched them.

Suddenly above the babble the shrill treble of Boy himself.

"Oh, mother, look! Kittens! Can't I have 'em here so's I can watch 'em while I get well?"

Mother Gray settled down and purred fatuously. It certainly was well that she had come back on the job.—Chicago News.

Peter Is No Longer a Doubter.

You'll find that no one e'er denies
A thing he sees before his eyes.
—Mother West Wind.

Peter Rabbit was sitting with his cousin, Jumper the Hare, in the Green Forest. It was just after break of day and already past the time when Peter should have been at home in the dear Old Briar-patch. Jumper had just told Peter that it was rumored that Terror the Goshawk had arrived from the North. Peter had promptly doubted it. He insisted that it was too early for Terror to be down from the North. He was right in the middle of saying something about Terror when something happened and Peter never did finish what he was going to say.

Jumper in his white coat looked like nothing more than a little mound of snow as he crouched at the foot of a hollow stump. Peter was sitting just inside that hollow stump. Both happened to be looking in the same direction. There was a sharp hiss of air cut by the stiff feathers of great wings and like a great thunderbolt a great bird shot down just in front of them. At that same instant there was a whirr of stout wings and Mrs. Grouse, whom they had not seen, shot into the air, dodged around a tree and crashed down into a bramble tangle.

It all happened so quickly that Peter and Jumper didn't have time to draw a breath.

It all happened so quickly that Peter and Jumper didn't have time to draw a long breath. They knew instantly who that great gray bird was. It was Terror the Goshawk. How he came to miss Mrs. Grouse in that first swoop no one but Mrs. Grouse will ever know. But he did miss her. As she rose into the air he turned like a flash and was after her. Had it not been that that bramble tangle happened to be just where it was Terror certainly would have caught Mrs. Grouse. But Terror knew better than to try to follow her in there. He couldn't fly in a bramble tangle. He would have to walk there, and in walking he was no match at all for Mrs. Grouse with her handy snowshoes. You know, Old Mother Nature gives her a pair of snowshoes every winter. They are not real snowshoes like you and I wear, but they serve the same purpose. They are little horny points that grow out between the toes and so give her a broad surface to keep her from sinking into the snow.

With a scream of disappointment Terror flew away. He knew it was useless to hang around there, and he was hungry. He would find his breakfast somewhere else. No sooner had he departed than Peter hurried over to the bramble tangle to see his old friend, Mrs. Grouse.

"My land!" exclaimed Mrs. Grouse as Peter appeared. "Did you see what a narrow escape I had?"

"Yes," replied Peter.

"I didn't know that Terror had come down from the North," said Mrs. Grouse. "I wasn't looking for him at all. It was my good fortune that I saw him when I did. My! My heart is still going thumpety-thump. Did you know that Terror had arrived?"

"I had heard that he had arrived," replied Peter, "but I didn't believe it. No, sir; I didn't believe it. He has come early this year. Now, I wonder how I am going to get back to the dear Old Briar-patch. If I hadn't seen Terror with my own eyes I wouldn't have believed that he was here. But now I know he is. Just as if we little Green Forest people and Green Meadow people didn't have worries enough without having this robber to think about. It doesn't seem fair. No, sir; it doesn't seem fair. I wish one of those hunters with a terrible gun would drive him away."

YOUR HEALTH

DISTURBANCES IN SWALLOWING.

By L. Winfield Kohn, M. D., New York Member Gorgas Memorial.

(The following is one of a series of articles prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial as part of its Better Health and Longer Life program. President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Memorial, which has been organized and endowed by prominent doctors and laymen throughout the country to perpetuate the work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 400 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago).

It is exceedingly important to swallow properly. When a disturbance in the art of swallowing occurs, the cause of its production should be sought for promptly. Neglect in this direction may result in a very sad ending for the individual so afflicted.

The disturbance may be of a painful nature or it may not be attended by suffering. Very often it may merely be an interference with the proper execution of the act itself. This disorder in execution may be either of a slight, moderate, or marked degree, depending upon the amount of variation in function occasioned.

Often patients will complain of a lump in the throat when resorting to the act of swallowing or immediately after its completion and frequently this has been regarded as of little or no significance by the patient as well as by those in attendance. Improperly the condition may be termed a hysterical manifestation although it is true that such a symptom frequently occurs in nervous or hysterical individuals. A more thorough investigation, however, may bring out the fact that a lump in the throat may be due to disease within the chest, gullet, or stomach.

Pain during or after the act of swallowing may vary in type and degree. It may either be primarily the result of an involvement of the tissues locally in the structure of the gullet or stomach, or secondarily the result of sympathetic influence over the nerves that control these organs. The pain may be felt anywhere along the course of the gullet in the front of the chest or it may penetrate or radiate to the back. It may vary from a sensation of pressure to that of a mild or aggravated pain. It is very important that such a symptom as pain be immediately investigated.

Regurgitation, which implies a return of food material after having been swallowed, must not be confused with vomiting but indicates a disturbance in the function of either the gullet or stomach. The disorder may often be of a momentary or temporary character and not necessarily indicative of serious disease but occasionally it may bespeak an affection of a severe nature and the sooner this is recognized the better. When regurgitation becomes a frequent happening, diseases of the gullet and stomach should be suspected. Cardiospasm, which implies a nervous spasm of that portion of the gullet immediately adjoining the stomach, may be linked with this symptom regurgitation.

Anyone unable to swallow properly should have a thorough early examination made of the throat and gullet. Direct observation is accomplished by the use of special instruments known as laryngoscopes, oesophagoscopes, and gastroscopes. The gullet and stomach may be directly inspected through X-ray illumination. This is done in a dark room under the rays of light furnished by the X-ray apparatus. The patient swallows a substance of fluid consistency, yet capable of producing a shadow which outlines the gullet and stomach. If an interference with swallowing occurs, the point of obstruction will probably be seen. An X-ray film may be made for further study and reflection.

Pressure or encroachments upon the gullet or stomach may be caused by conditions outside both organs. Such conditions may include different affections involving the lungs, heart and glands within the chest as well as organs within the abdomen such as the liver, gall bladder, large bowel, and pancreas.

Diseases of the gullet and stomach proper which may give rise to difficulty in swallowing may consist of inflammations, ulcerations, adhesions, defects, constrictions, dilatations, growths, and spasms.

The public should be made to understand that difficulty in swallowing must not be regarded too lightly.

CUT WESTERLY FIRE STATION TOTAL COST TO $111,000

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Dec. 6—The second adjournment of the annual meeting of Westerly fire district was called to order at 8 this evening in the town hall by Moderator Lewis Stanton. Clerk Carl E. Burdick read the call. Nearly 400 attended.

By a vote of 118 to 116, the district voted down the proposition to build and equip the large sized central fire station of granite, at a cost of $142,-000.

The final vote was to build the larger five-door building with equal sized upper story, a brick structure, fireproof, with granite trimmings, the cost of building and equipment, fixtures and furnishings not to exceed $111,000. The same committee on investigation, C. W. Campbell, chairman, is to continue with the construction work of the building, for which George E. Robinson is architect. The building will be constructed by Thomas Morrison, a Westerly contractor, the lowest bidder for the building proper at $77,500.

To finance the project the tax rate was voted raised from 15 cents to 35 cents per hundred dollars, with no discount. Authority was voted the fire district to adopt a seal, to be in the custody of the treasurer and affixed to all necessary papers.

The present finance committee, Arthur L. Perry, chairman, was voted continued to supervise the issue of 20-year serial bonds to finance the project, the issue to be reduced $5,000 yearly. The finance report showed a total fire district valuation of $8,800,-000 which at a 35 cent tax would yield a $29,800 income. The district's obligation now is $32,000 and bills to May 1st will amount to $5,000 with expense on bond issue of $2,000 making a total of $39,000, to be deducted from the limit of indebtedness of $150,000. This leaves a working balance of $111,000.

At the beginning of the meeting Moderator Stanton requested visitors to occupy the east section of the hall and the voting by ballot was decided, if question was raised, by the last fire district tax book in charge of Collector Whipple. It was after 10.30 when adjournment was taken for the third session of the annual meeting to Thursday evening, Jan. 5, 1928.

OBITUARY

Rev. George Carlyle Sauer

Rev. George Carlyle Sauer, formerly pastor of the Third Baptist church, this city, lately of Norridgewock, Maine, died in Preston late Tuesday, following an illness of some duration. About 1898 Rev. Mr. Sauer came to Norwich as pastor of the Third Baptist church, and remained here something over five years. In September, 1903, he accepted a call to the pastorate of Calvary Baptist church, Torrington. In December of that year he was united in marriage with Miss Barbara G. Macdonald in Greeneville, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Charles H. Rickett, pastor of the Greeneville Congregational church. Following their marriage Rev. and Mrs. Sauer took up their residence in Torrington.

Following his pastorate at Torrington Rev. Mr. Sauer went to Bridgeport, as assistant pastor at the First Baptist church, that city. In April, 1908, he became pastor of the Memorial Baptist church in Bridgeport.

Rev. Mr. Sauer, a native of Shelburne Falls, Mass., was a graduate of the Newton Theological seminary, and for two years and a half was pastor of a church at White Hills, Conn. He will be remembered by many of the older members of the Third Baptist church and also to many residents of the city.

Besides his wife Rev. Mr. Sauer is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Annie Chapin of Greenfield, Mass., and Mrs. Mary Bissell of Hamden, Conn., and a brother, Fred Sauer of Antrim, N. H.

Mrs. A. E. McDonald

Word was received Tuesday by Miss Mabel Burke of the death of a former resident of Norwich, Mrs. Albert E. McDonald, at the home of her daughter in Harrisburg, Pa., on Dec. 1st, burial taking place in Biddeford, Me.

Mrs. McDonald was the wife of Albert E. McDonald for many years connected with The Falls company of this city and resided on Williams street in the former Costello Lippitt house.

Upon leaving Norwich the family moved to Massachusetts, later going to Atlanta, Ga., where Mr. McDonald was engaged in the mill business, and a few years ago on account of failing health they took up their residence with their daughter Mertie, the wife of Dr. Jesse Luther Lenker, a prominent physician in Harrisburg, where Mrs. McDonald received every care and attention possible.
